ABOUT US

Imbibe Melrose has been in the drinks distribution business for over 30 years. We started out as Gandhi Wine Suppliers Ltd in 1985 and as the company steadily grew and expanded into multiple markets, we became Imbibe Drinks (from Latin "imbibere" - to drink in). In 2012 we merged with Melrose Wines, and today we take pride in being London's premier drinks supplier.

We have an effective team at Imbibe Melrose with the experience and "can do" attitude to look after our customers. From advising on quantities, sourcing a specific product, providing gift sets, or simply delivering on time, this is our customer service proposition.

Our network and relationships with the major brewers and brand owners means we can offer choice and variety in our range of beers, wines, spirits, and drinks. We understand that our customers have a commercial need, so our range is designed to suit all budgets and requirements - we will help you "crunch" the numbers to ensure your business can grow profitability. We are also the sole agent for several respected brands such as Sylvius Gin, Prosecco Fiorita, Bavarian Gold and Mongoose Premium Beer.

At Imbibe Melrose, looking after the customer is at the heart of everything we do. We are large enough to be competitively priced, but small enough to still offer a personal and attentive service.

Our Sales Managers, Customer Service Team and Drivers are here to help. Please take a look at our catalogue and if you need something else, just ask! We are happy to assist.

IN PARTNERSHIP WITH IMBIBE MELROSE

Wine

[noun] An alcoholic drink made from fermented grape juice.

This year's brochure has a special focus on wine. Navigating through the wide variety of wine can be a challenging task so we have created a guide to help you on your way.

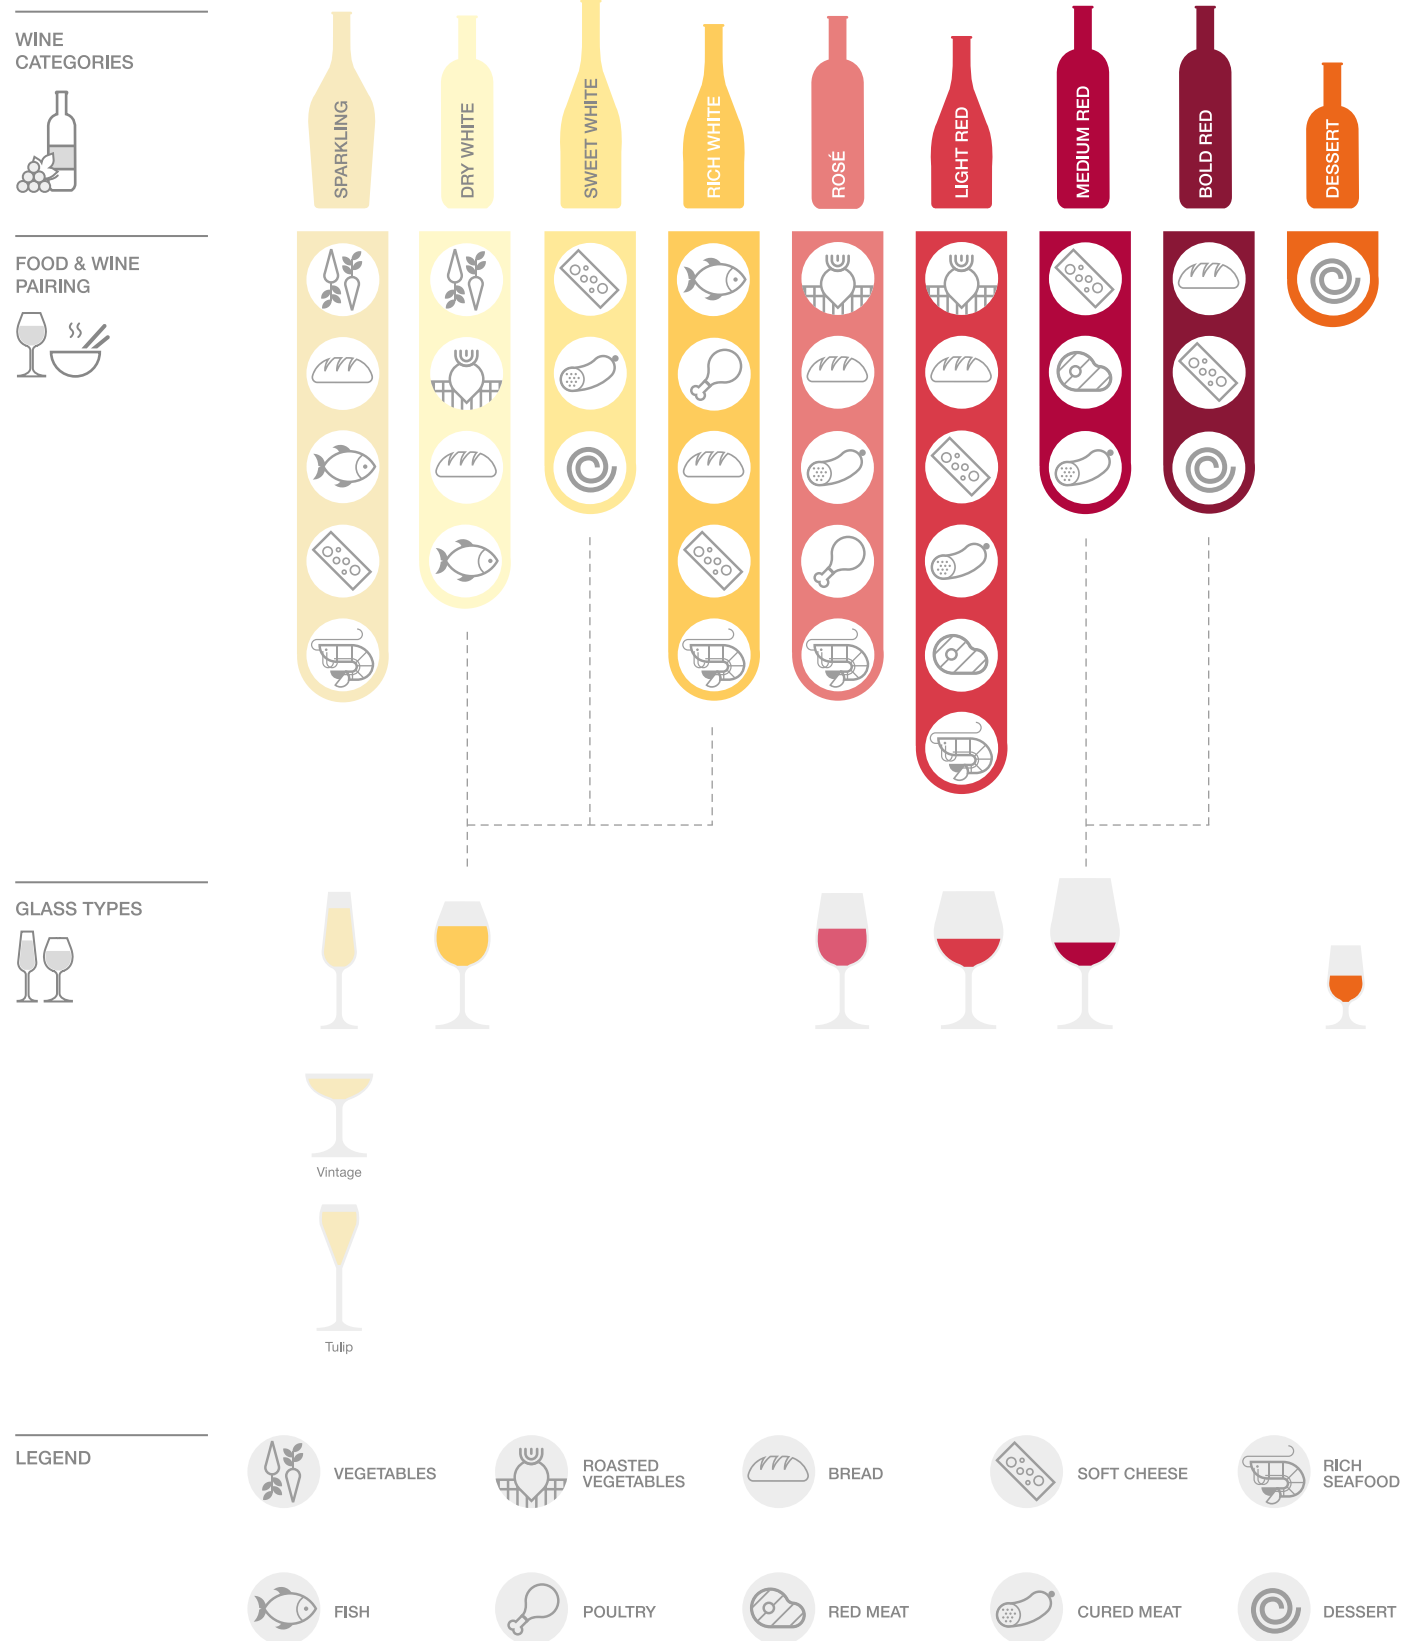

Organised by wine colour, you'll find a bottle for all occasions from your favourite countries and regions.

WINE - TASTING GUIDE

Trying to decide which style of wine will match your menu? Unsure of which is the correct glass for a specific wine? This chart, categorised by the wine's pigment, provides a guiding hand on food pairings as well as the corresponding wine glass.

Refer to the legend below to see what the icons represent.

WINE - SERVING GUIDE

This chart, categorised by wine glass type, provides the ideal serving temperature and consumption time as well as the calorie content of a standard glass of wine (175ml).

WINE - GENERAL RULES OF THUMB

WATCH YOUR WEIGHT

Matching by weight should be the basis of your choice. Wine comes in all dimensions. The higher alcohol level and more tannins make for a more full-bodied (heavier) wine, similarly more robust flavours contribute to 'heavier' food.

Lighter dishes and heavier meats should be paired with more delicate wines and full-bodied wines, respectively.

WHAT GROWS TOGETHER, GOES TOGETHER

To fully immerse yourself in a cuisine, you should try the wine from the same region. Following this rule is also your safest bet. Usually, the grapevine and agriculture share the same terroir, meaning the produce have the same flavours and are developed with each other in mind.

THE HIGH-POWERED COUPLE; FAT AND TANNIN

A high-fat dish generally desires an equally rich, intense and structured wine. Tannin, the astringent compound that gives wine structure, can "cut through the fat" and act as a palate cleanser to rich, luxurious meats. The pairing is mutually beneficial as the fat softens the impact of the wine's tannin.

DOUBLE DOWN WITH ACID

Sometimes you need to double down rather than contrast. Dishes consisting of citrus or vinegary flavours should be paired with a wine of similar or higher levels of acidity to accentuate the acid in the dish, whilst reducing the taste of acidity in the wine. Super tangy foods can make less acidic wines taste flat.

SWEET OR SALTY

Whether you are eating food that is sweet or salty, the wine should always be sweeter. If the wine is less sweet than the food it's matched with, it will tend to taste bitter. Sweet and salty is a magical combination - sweet wine tastes less sweet and more fruity, and conversely salty food tastes less salty and more savoury.

WINE - CREATING THE PERFECT WINE LIST

Although our high-quality 'House Wines' offer remarkable value for money, a good wine list allows the customer to experiment instead of simply choosing the cheapest or safest route.

With a careful selection of wines tailored to suit you, we are confident that you can create a perfect wine list that will ensure your customers' dining experience is enjoyed as well as profitable for yourself.

HERE ARE A FEW HINTS AND TIPS:

- The most important consideration is to think about your consumers, your establishment and what is fit for your purpose! You will want to provide something that reflects your own business personality.
- Create a portfolio from the world's most familiar wine varieties as well as lesser known types - thus embodying an array of styles for all tastes.
- Give it structure with clear categories – sparkling, white, red, rosé. Make sure you display the name, country, grape variety, description and price for each wine. In addition, you may add any other categories/beverages, such as cocktails.
- Serving wine by the glass allows for a broader choice, the chance for one to experience a wine that suits their taste better, and can also be matched perfectly to a meal.
- Offer wine by the carafe and bottle to encourage trading up, and show clear price steps within the wines to reflect quality and diversity.
- To complement your wine list, make sure you have the correct glassware (see pages 12-13), the wines are kept at optimum temperature and poured to the right level.

SERVING WINE BY THE GLASS ALLOWS FOR A BROADER CHOICE

6 x 125ML GLASSES PER BOTTLE

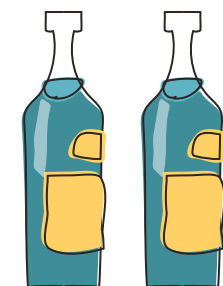

4 x 175ML GLASSES PER BOTTLE

3 x 250ML GLASSES PER BOTTLE

OFFER WINE BY THE CARAFE AND BOTTLE TO ENCOURAGE TRADING UP

2 x 750ML BOTTLES

=

3 x 500ML CARAFES

MAKE SURE THE WINES ARE POURED TO THE RIGHT LEVEL

POUR TO THE WIDEST POINT

Sparkling Wine

Vintage sparkling wines are produced only in years when the producers feel that the grape has the complexity and richness to warrant it.

Non-vintage champagne accounts for approximately 90% of all champagnes produced.

HOW SPARKLING WINE IS MADE

TASTE

This depends on the grapes used:

CHARDONNAY

A white grape with fresh and elegant characteristics - which adds finesse and ageing ability.

PINOT NOIR

A red grape with complex, red berry and earthy flavours - which provides body and structure.

PINOT MEUNIER

A red grape with fruit flavours and floral aromas - which contributes substantially to overall aroma and is ideal for younger sparkling wines.

CLASSIFICATION

In terms of grape varieties:

BLANC DE BLANC [WHITE OUT OF WHITE]

Made only from Chardonnay grapes with floral aromas.

BLANC DE NOIRS [WHITE OUT OF BLACK]

Made from red Pinot Noir and Pinot Meunier with aromas of dry fruits, timber and tobacco.

ROSÉ

Made from specially processed red grapes. Refer to Rosé Wine section to see how they acquire their rosy hue. Smells like berries and baked bread.

CLASSIFICATION

In terms of sugar content (grams per litre):

0-6	Extra Brut, Brut Nature (Absolutely Dry)
<15	Brut (Extra Dry)
12-20	Extra Dry, Extra Sec (Dry)
17-35	Dry, Sec (Semi-Dry)
33-50	Demisec (Semi-Sweet)

White Wine

A breadth of flavours bringing a depth and taste to ones cooking.

Light-bodied dry whites (i.e. Pinot Grigio) are the norm due to their high acidity and citrus flavours which complements seafood amazingly.

Herbaceous dry whites (i.e. Sauvignon Blanc) work best with dishes that feature fresh green herbs as well as light-flaky fish or chicken.

FLAVOUR PROFILE COMPARISON

CHARDONNAY

The grape itself is neutral, meaning the flavour can be manipulated by various influences like geographical elements and oak. Flavours range from lean and crisp to oak and tropical. Always dry and tends to be full-bodied.

SAUVIGNON BLANC

The flavour is highly dependent on the climate, ranging from light citrus, grassy notes to rich tropical fruit. Usually this high acidity, crisp and dry wine is consumed young.

PINOT GRIGIO

An Italian clone of the French Pinot Gris, produces a light-bodied, aromatic wine with light sweetness. Although the same grape, Pinot Gris is a lot more fruit-driven compared to the more minerally and dry Pinot Grigio.

RIESLING

Amazing range of delicate yet persistent aromas and flavours. Offers developed lime minerality with flowery notes and can develop toasty nuances of honey as the wine ages. Used to make dry, semi-sweet & sweet wines.

VIIGNIER

A varietal that requires a good deal of warmth to ripen and develop fully, thus striking a balance between its delicate floral quality and rich texture. Full-bodied with notes of peach, violets, blossoms and honey nuances.

CHENIN BLANC

A versatile zesty, dry white whose flavour profile commands a more medium style with passion fruit, green apples and lime present. Common in table wines, light sparkling wines and nectar-like dessert wine.

Red Wine

Red wine boosts several health benefits, such as helping prevent coronary heart disease and promoting healthy cholesterol levels, due to flavonoids - an antioxidant.

The sweeter the wine the lower the flavonoid levels, whereas red wines with a dry flavour profile boast higher levels.

MALBEC

CABERNET SAUVIGNON

Most dependable grape for ageing. Bold, high tannin levels and dark fruit flavours mellow into a smoother bouquet. Over time, nuances of cedar, violets, tobacco and leather are present. This full-bodied wine usually has a high alcohol content.

MERLOT

A versatile varietal dependant on location and how it's vinified. In cool climates, it's more structured with a higher presence of tannins and earthy flavours of tobacco and in warmer climate, it is more fruit driven. Possesses red fruits and a soft finish.

ZINFANDEL

Debatably the most versatile grape, producing blush wine to rich, robust red. The taste of the wine depends on the ripeness of the grapes. The lighter zinfandels are to be drunk young, and ones with a serious tannin structure are built for ageing.

PINOT NOIR

The most charismatic but most susceptible to failure. When grown in the ideal climate, seductive red fruit aromas are present in the youth. As the wine ages, gamey aromas develop, contributing to the complexity of this soft, light red wine.

SYRAH

Possesses the highest level of healthy antioxidants due to the high level of tannins. Notes of blackberry and pepper are present with savoury notes like leather surfacing with age. Characteristics of this full-bodied wine varies with climate.

MALBEC

Rejuvenated in Argentina, it is smooth and lush with all sorts of plummy, red berry and earthy fruit flavours to tar, leather and game-like characters. Possesses a sweet, smoky, tobacco finish depending on the amount of oak ageing. Dark inky-purple.

KNOW YOUR ROSÉS

PINOT NOIR

Bright acidity, as well as being cool, crisp, elegantly fruity and dry. This varietal has subtle aromas of wet stone, raspberries, cherries, orange and lemon zest. Most commonly found in California and France.

SANGIOVESE

SYRAH

TEMPRANILLO

This pale pink rosé gives flavours of strawberry and raspberry with refreshing acidity, similarly to Tempranillo red wines. Usually originates from Spain's famous wine growing region, Rioja.

WHITE ZINFANDEL

Technically a rosé wine with strawberry and green melon aromas. This rosé gained huge popularity for its off-dry style. Most commonly found in United States.

PROVENCE

The most famous rosé producing region with aromas of strawberries, watermelon and rose petals as well as a salty and distinctive minerality. A specific blend of grapes (Grenache, Mourvèdre, Syrah and Cinsault) gives fresh, crisp and dry characteristics.

PRODUCTION METHODS

When it comes to making rosé wine - there are four main methods that produce very different styles:

LIMITED SKIN MACERATION

The most popular method of producing quality rosé. The grape's skin possesses colour, thus when crushed the grape juice remains in contact with the skin until the desired colour/style is achieved. The skins are left to soak for a limited amount of time, determined by the winemaker - anywhere between 6-48 hours. The rose-tinted grape juice is separated from the skins to avoid deeper colouration and moved into another tank where the full fermentation process begins. This method can make a variety of style of rosé depending on grape variety and length of maceration.

PRESSING

Winemakers generally press the grapes manually to have a controlled pressing. The pressing is done slowly and lightly at first to achieve the desired colouration. Then the winemaker uses the pressed juice to make the wine.

SAIGNÉE

One of the best methods to producing high-quality rosé wines. The grapes are piled into a tank and are crushed naturally under their own weight. The grape juice trickles down the pile of grape skins to the bottom where it is bled off early in fermentation. This process usually produces very pale pink rosé wine due to the limited contact between the juice and the skin. The remaining juice is left to vinify into a concentrated red. Although natural, this process lacks technical control on the tint, depth and degree of colouration for the winemaker.

BLENDING

Red Wine + White Wine = Rosé Wine. Although simple, this process produces inexpensive, inferior quality wines and is more commonly used to produce sparkling wines or in new world regions, where they have less-strict vinification rules. The style produced depends heavily on the blend used.

HOW ROSÉ WINE IS MADE

GROW SOME RED GRAPES & HARVEST

GRAPES ARE CRUSHED

MACERATION

The grape juice is left in contact with the dark coloured skin for a brief period of time

The longer the skin and the juice are in contact for in the macerate, the deeper the colouration will be

STRAINING

The grape juice is separated from the grape skins

ALCOHOL FERMENTATION (WITHOUT THE SKIN)

Sugar + Yeast

Alcohol + CO<sub>2</sub>

STABILISATION

The wine is stabilised for a brief period of time

BOTTLING

KEY POINTS

Shorter Maceration Period

Possesses the fruit characteristics of the grapes. These rosés are generally more fruit-forward, with bolder citrus notes and citrus acidity

Longer Maceration Period

Attractive ripe peach, apricot and honey on the nose with elegant, sweet, stone fruit flavours mingled with ripe apples and spices. Quite subtle but plenty of length with a persistent acidity which gives freshness.

MUSCAT DE BEAUMES DE VENISE TERRE BLONDE, 2014 75cl 15.0%

This Muscat has a pale golden hue with green highlights. The nose is predominately floral and consists of fresh fruit such as Muscat, peach, acacia. The palate is full and silky.

PORT &amp; SHERRY

BLANDY'S DUKE OF CLARENCE RICH MADEIRA 75cl 19.0%

Deep golden brown colour with honey and raisins on the nose. Rich, full-bodied and soft textured; a great after dinner drink.

BLANDY'S DUKE OF CUMBERLAND RICH MADEIRA 75cl 19.0%

A deep, luscious, medium rich Madeira; tangy with crisp fruit, excellent with dessert and cheeses.

COCKBURN'S FINE RUBY PORT 75cl 19.0%

A blend of several young wines from different years to give this Fine Ruby the richness and fresh fruit that you would expect of a zesty young Port. It is then matured for a few years in large vats, which gives it both its lovely softness and its ripe red fruits flavours.

COCKBURN'S SPECIAL RESERVE PORT 75cl 20.0%

This Special Reserve still has the lusciously ripe, vibrant fruit of youth and lovely tannins, which give it the slightly peppery spice on the tongue. But it also has the elegance of age: the softness and smoothness that can only be achieved by slow ageing in old oak barrels.

GRAHAM'S FINE WHITE PORT 75cl 19.0%

Graham's White Port has appealing flavours of grape and delicate almond. A gorgeous pale, golden colour.

HARVEYS BRISTOL CREAM SHERRY 75cl 17.5%

Deep chest nutty and amber tones, the nose is full, fragrant, pungent and elegant all at once. On the palate, it delivers a full-bodied experience with rich yet mellow notes leaving a long lasting and velvety finish. A complete, balanced and surprising compendium of wine.

HARVEYS AMONTILLADO MEDIUM DRY SHERRY 75cl 17.5%

A blend of Amontillados with a light, elegant nutty taste. Made from a delicate blend of Palomino grapes and Pedro Ximenez. Its nose is a strong union of fine wood and hazelnuts. The nutty undertones continue through to the palate and leaves a satisfyingly smooth finish.

REYNOLDS ROBERT REYNOLDS RESERVA 75cl 19.0%

Dark colour with powerful aromas, combining hints of spice, black olives and red fruit jam. It is a fresh wine with a persistent finish.

SANDEMAN LATE BOTTLED VINTAGE PORT, 2011 75cl 20.5%

Intense, complex aroma, with notes of plum, blackberry, tobacco and cedar. A touch of mint, pepper and ginger and attractive hints of cocoa from its wood-ageing. This full-bodied wine has evident but agreeable tannins, bright acidity and a long, harmonious finish.

TAYLOR'S LATE BOTTLED VINTAGE PORT, 2011 75cl 20.0%

Pungent aromatic nose with heaps of black woodland fruit, dark cherry and plum. Lovely clean, crisp freshness to the bouquet. The palate is rounded, smooth and perfectly balanced. Flavours of redcurrant, raspberry and blueberry, with a delicious hint of black liquorice.

TIO PEPE FINO SHERRY 75cl 15.0%

The world's best selling Fino - uncompromisingly dry, fresh and crisp. Tio Pepe is the ideal partner for savoury nibbles such as Jamon Iberico, chorizo, olives, nuts, Manchego cheese and bread and oil.

Line Cleaning

HEINEKEN recommends a non-pressurised line cleaning system. Line cleaning should be done every 7 days to ensure the quality of dispense. The following safety equipment must be used at all times:

1. Safety goggles
2. Rubber gloves
3. A warning sign must be placed to warn staff and customers that line cleaning is being carried out.

Line cleaning procedures:

1. All keg couplers must be cleaned thoroughly with line cleaning solution and a stiff brush prior to commencing the line clean as the cleaning sockets will clean the line only
2. Flush the lines with fresh, cold water
3. Re-fill the cleaning bottle and add the cleaning solution as per manufacturers instructions
4. Draw the fluid through the lines
  - Leave for 10 mins
  - Draw 3-4 pints which will cause agitation
  - Leave for 10 mins
  - Draw 3-4 pints which will cause agitation
  - Clean any HIT/Pourtal taps by pressing the button for 30 seconds
  - Leave for 10 mins
5. Draw through the remaining fluid from bottle
6. Wash out the bottle thoroughly with fresh water and draw through a minimum 5 litres of fresh water per tap

NOTE: Do not touch the liquid with bare hands as it will burn the skin

Guardian

1. Clean your beer lines as normal
2. Guardian is a product which was developed to protect lines which are not in service for a period of time
3. Fill the cleaning bottle with approx. 10 litres of water
4. Add the Guardian to the water at 3% solution and allow the powder to dissolve. Top up with water, again ensuring all the Guardian powder is dissolved
5. Bleed the Guardian solution into the fob detector bleed valve
6. Open the dispense tap and draw the Guardian solution through
7. Make sure all nozzles are cleaned and store them away until required

Recommissioning

1. Fill the cleaning bottle with clean, cold water and again bleed the fob detector to ensure the cleaning solution has been flushed from the bleed valve
2. Open the dispense tap and flush through the volume within line + 1 gallon of water e.g. if the line contains 3 pints then 11 pints of water are required through the tap.

NOTE: If the line is split, then the first tap which is dispensed will contain more volume as it will include the fob detector and keg drop line.

3. Connect back to product and draw through to the dispense tap.

TYPES OF VODKA

Vodkas can be split in two broad categories;

CLEAR VODKA

Falls into two further sub-categories. 'Eastern' vodkas generally have a more complex flavour than the 'Western' vodkas, which are neutral. Originally the terms used were to describe the region, but today it refers to the different styles.

FLAVOURED VODKA

Blended or infused with various essences. Traditionally, flavours were added to mask the flavour of the spirit.

Contrary to popular beliefs, although vodka is generally rectified to a very high degree, there are still differences between vodkas made from the various ingredients, in both taste and mouthfeel.

WHEAT

The most common raw ingredient for vodka, especially in Russian vodkas. Wheat vodkas usually possess a subtle aniseed and pepper finish with a clean flavour.

CORN

Generally only used in American vodkas. These vodkas have a buttery, corn-on-the-cob taste.

RYE

Popular in Polish vodkas due to their nutty sweetness. Rye bread flavours resonant on the nose with touches of spice on the palate.

BARLEY

The least common of all the grains. These vodkas have a smooth, lightly nutty, brioche sweetness.

POTATO

Small potatoes usually chosen due to their high starch content which produces a creamy texture and a fuller, weighty mouthfeel.

GRAPE

Mainly found in vodkas from Southern Europe – weirdly possess a subtle honey, lemon zest character.

Whisk(e)y

[noun] A spirit distilled from malted grain, especially barley or rye.

1405: Aqua Vitae

"Whisky" is first noted down in the Irish Annals of Clonmacnoise, where it states that the head of the clan died after "taking a surfeit of aqua vitae".

1541: The Disbandment of Monasteries

King Henry VIII dissolved the monasteries in Scotland, leading to newly unemployed monks to start private production of whisky.

1600: Colonisation

The practice of distilling whisky began to spread in America as European colonists settled in their new surroundings and began distilling whisky.

1494: Eight Bolls of Malt

Distillation of whisky was well-established in Scotland with the Exchequer Rolls stating, "Eight bolls of malt to Friar John Cor wherewith to make aqua vitae" which can produce almost 1,500 bottles.

1608: Bushmills Distillery

The Old Bushmills Distillery was licensed in Northern Ireland and holds the title as the oldest licensed whisky distillery in the world.

1707: Great Britain Formation

Act of Union is passed and the creation of Great Britain results in a dramatic rise in taxation on any unlicensed alcohol brewery.

1725: Moonshine

English Malt Tax led to whisky moving underground with thousands of secret illegal distilleries, working through the night when visibility was low to hide the smoke— hence giving whisky the nickname "moonshine".

1775: Whiskey Currency

During the American Revolutionary War, American distillers would use whisky as a form of currency.

1783: Evan Williams

The first commercial distillery was founded in Kentucky.

1791: Whiskey Rebellion

With import duties already excessive, an excise tax on domestically produced distilled spirits was imposed. This tax, nicknamed the Whisky Tax, caused great dissatisfaction among US farmers, leading to the Whisky Rebellion.

1820: Johnnie Walker

A Scottish grocer began distilling his own whisky.

1823: Legalisation and Innovation

The Moonshine period ended and via payment of a fee whisky production became legal. This led to technical innovations, such as the "continuous still", which produced higher quality whisky faster.

1831: Coffey

Aeneas Coffey, patented the "Coffey still" which manufactured whisky more efficiently and at a lower cost.

1840: Bourbon is born

Old Bourbon County was the first corn whisky that most people tried. When distiller Jacob Spears labelled his product "Bourbon Whisky", the name caught on and became official.

1850: Blended Whisky

Andrew Usher mixed traditional pot still whisky with that of the new Coffey still batch to give birth to the first blended whisky.

1920: American Prohibition

Distilleries became illegal overnight and all production, sale and use of alcohol remained illegal for the next 13 years. However, the consumption remained at the pre-prohibition levels as everything moved underground.

1923: Yamazaki Distillery

The first Japanese commercial whisky distillery was founded.

1964: America's Official Spirit

American Congress declared Bourbon whisky the country's official distilled spirit.

TYPES OF WHISKY

LOCATION

SCOTCH WHISKY

Distilled from malted barley or grain, aged in oak casks no bigger than 700 litres for a minimum of 3 years in Scotland. Flavour profiles vary depending on location; Speyside produces honey, vanilla and fresh fruit flavours compared to the subtle, floral notes in the Lowlands.

IRISH WHISKEY

Produced in Eire (Rep. of Ireland) or Northern Ireland from yeast-fermented mash. Unlike Scotch, any malted cereal grain can be used in any proportion to produce a distillate which embodies the ingredients used, in terms of taste and aromas.

BOURBON

Made in the United States, using unmalted grains that are at a minimum 51% corn. Kentucky was the birthplace of Bourbon, due to the perfect natural mix of climate and pure limestone water. Once distilled, it must be aged in charred oak barrels. "Straight bourbon" is produced from one state and must be aged for a minimum of 2 years as well as containing no additives or colourants.

TENNESSEE WHISKEY

Can only be produced in Tennessee. Process is similar to bourbon except that it undergoes the Lincoln County process, where the whisky is charcoal-filtered before it is filled into casks, producing a smoother taste.

STYLES

MALT WHISKY

Made from malted barley and distilled in batches in pot stills. The whisky is distilled twice and then matured in oak casks for at least three years. If all the casks have come from a single distillery, then the whisky can be described as a "single malt".

GRAIN WHISKY

Can contain any types or mixtures of grains, such as wheat, corn (maize) and barley. Grain whisky is produced in a continuous still, which gives a lighter, subtle flavour. If produced from a single distillery, then the word "single" can be applied.

BLENDED WHISKY

Produced from a mixture of different whiskies (malt, grain). These differ in type and origin. The character and flavour profile is determined by the ratio of the various whiskies. The advantage of blending is that it ensures the flavour and quality remains the same. The age statement refers to the youngest whisky used in the blend.

RYE

Rules differ depending on location. In the United States, it must be fermented from a mixture of malted grains that is at least 51% rye. In Canada, the rules are looser and can contain far less Rye. Usually possess a spicy, aromatic taste.

Gin

[noun] A clear alcoholic spirit distilled from grain or malt with a predominant flavour of juniper berries.

The first gastronomic gin brought to you by celebrated chef Jonnie Boer from De Librije Restaurant *** and Onder de Boompjes Distillery in Schiedam Holland. Let this gin inspire you to create new culinary uses for gin and introduce a little bit of gastronomy in your bar.

STYLES OF GIN

LONDON DRY

Taste: Very dry with a pungent aroma and juniper flavour with hints of citrus.

What: Can be produced anywhere in the world. Distillers inject different sets of aromatic ingredients to create unique tastes during the 2nd/3rd distillation process.

Drink: Martini, G&T, Aviation

PLYMOUTH

Taste: Similar taste profile to London Dry, but less dry with sweeter and earthier flavours.

What: Injected with a heady mix of roots that give it that unique earthy flavour and can only be produced in one place in the world - Plymouth, England.

Drink: G&T

OLD TOM

Taste: Similar to London Dry, but with a less of a juniper bite and a more mouth-coating malty sweetness.

What: Midway between a London Dry and Genever due to the sweeter flavour but dry body. Despite not many brands in the market place, it's still enjoying a revival due to the popularity of inventive cocktails.

Drink: Tom Collins, Martinez

GENEVER

Taste: A viscous mouth-feel and flavours of malt and savoury botanicals. Similar taste to botanical flavoured whiskeys.

What: The original style of gin. Oude (old) style Genever is made with at least 15% malt, imparting a richer mouthfeel than its jonge (younger) counterpart.

Drink: Straight, chilled, Old Fashioned

FLAVOURED

Taste: Taste profile depends heavily on the flavours added. The most common is Sloe gin (made from sloe berries) which gives it a juniper-laced berry flavour.

What: Many brands have a flavoured variation, meaning there are some great flavoured-enhanced gins on offer.

Drink: Sloe Gin Fizz, Negroni

NEW WESTERN / INTERNATIONAL

Taste: Focuses more on botanical flavours (such as floral, citrus and cucumber) and fragrances with less emphasis on juniper.

What: No legal classification for the group of modern craft gin distillers but can be grouped together by their stylistic similarities.

Drink: Depends on unique botanical profile

Boompjes Genever is made in Schiedam by Onder de Boompjes Distillery since 1658. The 4 key ingredients of genever are malt spirit, like whisky, a distillate of botanicals, like gin, and pure wheat alcohol and water.

It's all distilled and bottled in our own distillery. Discover our genevers in mixed drinks with Ginger Ale or in tantalizing cocktails such as a Collins, Fizz or Aviation!

Syrups, Purées & Sake

[sake, noun] A Japanese alcoholic drink made from fermented rice, traditionally drunk warm in small porcelain cups.

Sake, although known as a rice wine, possesses a brewing process most akin to that of beer, due to starch being converted into sugars which ferment into alcohol. For sake, this process occurs simultaneously, unlike beer where it happens in two very distinct steps.

Syrups and purées are essentials for every bartender. They provide the platform for your drinks to excel.

Cocktails

[noun] An alcoholic drink consisting of a spirit or spirits mixed with other ingredients, such as fruit juice or cream.

When making a cocktail, the first step is to decide what spirit you are in the mood for and then whether you want something refreshing or strong.

In this section, we have provided a list of cocktails by spirit with an easy step-by-step methodology to bring these products to life. We always encourage experimenting but here is a helping hand from our own mixologist, Vincenzo Apicella.
