CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

MICHAEL R. GALLAGHER,
BA 67, MBA 68

Chair

Haas School Board

“Collective giving is a key reason the Haas School is one of the world’s most dynamic educational environments.”

Dear Fellow Haas School Supporters:

During this time of year, many of us pause to reflect on what we have accomplished while gearing up to tackle a new set of goals. Our shared achievements in support of the Haas School are noteworthy. But our work is never done. We must always look to the future and continue raising the bar.

Together, the more than 5,000 gifts we made over the past year are helping the school improve its online career and networking services, supporting students through scholarships and experiential learning programs, and funding more groundbreaking research. Capital gifts are supporting faculty chairs in finance and general business management, a state-of-the-art classroom designed to promote collaboration, and the new Center for Teaching Excellence.

Collective giving is a key reason the Haas School is one of the world’s most dynamic educational environments. When combined with the strong leadership of Dean Rich Lyons, we have the power to equip the world with business leaders who are change agents of conscience, carrying forward Berkeley values, on the vanguard of innovation. Thank you for being an integral part of this important legacy.

With best wishes,

Michael R. Gallagher, BA 67, MBA 68
Chair
Haas School Board

DEAN'S MESSAGE

RICHARD K. LYONS, BS 82

Dean

Haas School of Business
University of California, Berkeley

“Thank you for your support during a year of tremendous change.”

Dear Fellow Alumni and Friends:

I want to express my gratitude to everyone who contributed in some way to our Haas School this past year. Our annual report is much more than a record of fundraising success throughout 2008-09: it is a testament to the powerful and growing tradition of giving within our Haas community. Your generosity has enabled us to stand strong during a period that brought unprecedented budget cuts for the University of California system. On behalf of everyone at the Haas School, you have our deepest thanks.

That our school is extraordinary is due in no small part to your generosity. Your gifts have enabled us to embark upon more pioneering research, fund unique experiential learning programs, and attract the brightest faculty and students. As a result, we are able to build on our considerable strengths and differentiate ourselves among the world's top business schools.

Thank you for your support during a year of tremendous change. As momentum around The Campaign for Haas keeps growing, I am eager to continue working together in taking our school to new heights.

Sincerely,

ANNUAL GIVING AT HAAS

Despite a difficult economy, annual giving remained stable in FY09 due to the tremendous generosity of our donors. The 4,141 Annual Fund donations made this fiscal year by 2,560 alumni, students, corporations, foundations, and friends of the Haas School of Business totaled $2.4 million. These vital funds enable Dean Lyons to support key initiatives that build on the reputation of our school, add to the strength and value of our Haas Alumni Network, and enhance undergraduate and graduate learning opportunities.

IMPACT: YOUR ANNUAL FUND GIFTS IN ACTION

Our excellence in teaching, research, and public service is maintained each year thanks to contributions to the Haas Annual Fund. Haas Annual Fund gifts from alumni, friends, and corporate partners are immediately put to work on projects that will have an important and significant impact. The following are just a few examples of investments made possible by contributions to the Haas Annual Fund.

CAREER SERVICES LINK ALUMNI TO OPPORTUNITY

Students, MBA Career Services, and Alumni Relations all created new ways to provide an edge in the volatile marketplace by strengthening student networks and reinforcing career skills. Second-year full-time MBA students Jason Topel and Peejay Ronquillo, and evening and weekend MBA student Satadip Dutta launched new events that brought students and potential employers together. Career Services account managers continued nurturing relationships with recruiters to ensure strong bonds through good times and bad. Their customer care efforts, including a summer spent meeting with more than 80 companies and the new provision of valet parking for campus interviewers, earned them a #4 ranking by corporate recruiters in a BusinessWeek nationwide survey of MBA career services operations. The Haas School also expanded career services offerings for alumni in response to the economic downturn, adding evening career advising, job search teams for alumni in career transition, and new programs for New York alumni. A weekly job posting email kept thousands of alumni current on new opportunities.

COMPANY EXECS TAP MBA TALENT THROUGH HAAS@WORK

Students Feng Xu, MBA 10; Oliver Strutynski, MBA 09; and Christine Rhinehart, MBA 10 collaborate on ideas for Visa.

From credit cards and Clorox to consumer electronics and financial services, Berkeley MBA students continued to tackle key business challenges for corporate clients through Haas@Work, an applied innovation program supporting the school's Leading Through Innovation brand. Haas@Work sends students to companies to generate fresh recommendations that capitalize on current opportunities. The program can then dispatch smaller teams to implement the ideas green-lighted by company executives. Haas@Work grew this year to incorporate students from all Berkeley MBA programs and to serve a record four clients in one semester: Clorox, Panasonic, Visa, and Wells Fargo. These spring 2009 semester projects followed previous assignments with Cisco Systems, SunPower, Disney, and Lam Research.

CASE COMPETITIONS HONE PITCHING SKILLS

Case competitions are a key component of the learning experience at the Haas School by helping to instill the importance of working in teams and sharpening the skills needed to pitch new business ideas. Both undergraduate and graduate students at Haas have opportunities to participate in case competitions. This year, a team of Haas undergraduates won the 12th annual Investment Banking Case Competition by proposing the immediate sale of Alameda-based tech firm Wind River to semiconductor giant Intel. The winning team consisted of Wynne Chyou, BS 10 (Business and Bioengineering); Jordan Xu, BS 11 (Statistics); Yi Yu, BS 11; and Yew Khor, BS 11 (Material Science and Engineering). Each team consisted of three to four UC Berkeley students, including at least one non-business major.

The competition was judged by Wind River CEO Ken Klein and CFO Ian Halifax; Lev Finkelstein, a vice president in Goldman Sachs' investment banking division; Nick Giovanni, a managing director in Goldman Sachs' investment banking division; and Haas Lecturer Steve Etter, BS 83, MBA 89. The competition was hosted by Goldman Sachs and the Haas Undergraduate Program.

THE HAAS ALUMNI NETWORK STRENGTHENS CONNECTIONS

Students made more alumni connections than ever this year. Initiatives to connect members of the 36,000-strong Haas Alumni Network (HAN) to current students and to each other included enhanced interactions online and in person. A new online alumni database with a Web 2.0 approach, Haas@Cal, was unveiled last spring. Students and alumni also met up on various social media sites, including Facebook and LinkedIn. In addition to an increased online presence, a wide variety of regional in-person activities opened up connections around the globe for students – from Southern California to Shanghai to New York. Campaign kick-off events were held in the Bay Area, Singapore, New York, and Los Angeles; the first-ever Haas Asia Business Conference took place in Singapore; and quarterly industry-focused “Supper Clubs” in New York connected alums in finance, consulting, media, and marketing.

FACULTY RESEARCH FUELS INNOVATION

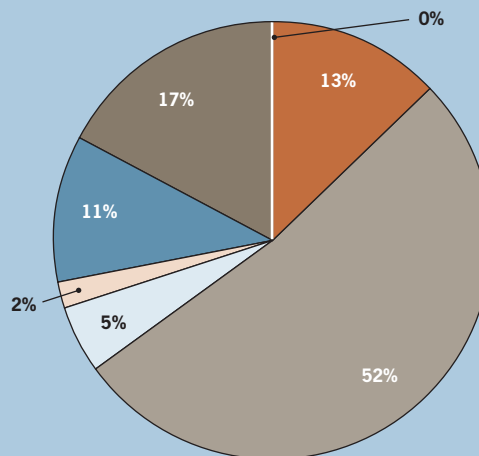

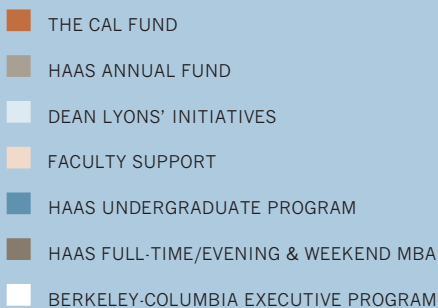

Haas Finance Professor Hayne Leland was recently honored with a $100K financial economics prize.

Haas School faculty members are committed to outstanding teaching and dedicated to seeking new knowledge, ideas, and best practices. Several faculty members earned distinction this year for their research, such as Adjunct Professor Hank Chesbrough who was honored as one of the top 50 authors in the field of technology and innovation management by the International Association of Management of Technology; Assistant Professor Waverly Ding who was awarded the highly competitive Kauffman Junior Faculty Fellowship in Entrepreneurship Research from the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation; and Finance Professor Hayne Leland, who was honored with the Stephen A. Ross Prize from the Foundation for the Advancement of Research in Financial Economics (FARFE) for his research in corporate debt pricing and capital structure.

FY09 REVENUE BY HAAS ANNUAL FUND DESIGNATION

“It’s exciting to think about how my annual gifts make it possible for students and faculty to continue creating a positive impact in the world.”

—Jeff Baum, MBA 99

LEADERSHIP GIVING

We express our deepest thanks to the individuals who have generously supported the Haas School with a leadership contribution during our 2008-2009 Haas Annual Fund campaign. The Haas Leadership Society recognizes donors who make annual leadership gifts of $1,000 or above or who give for ten consecutive years to the Haas Annual Fund. MBA, MFE, and PhD graduates from the classes of 2005 to 2009 may enter the society with a minimum gift of $500. BS graduates from the classes of 2005-2009 may enter the society with a minimum gift of $250.

There were 519 Haas Leadership Society donors who invested a total of $1,761,225 into the Haas Annual Fund, making up 73% of the annual giving revenue raised during this fiscal year. Haas Leadership Society members play an instrumental role in driving the current and future strength of our school through their generous investments. Haas Leadership Society membership comes with special privileges such as invitations to exclusive events, inclusion in key communications, and opportunities to connect directly with Dean Lyons. In fiscal year 2009-2010, Haas Leadership Society levels and benefits will be further enhanced to better recognize our generous supporters.

GLOBAL GALA CELEBRATIONS LAUNCH THE CAMPAIGN FOR HAAS

UC Berkeley Chancellor Robert Birgeneau and his wife Mary Catherine help launch The Campaign for Haas in New York.

Haas Alumni Network chapter leaders John Bernard, MBA 83; Frances Chou; and Barton Young, MBA 75, kick-off The Campaign for Haas in Los Angeles.

2008 Haas School Business Leader of the Year Shantanu Narayen celebrates with Dean Rich Lyons.

The Campaign for Haas was officially launched in November 2008 at the Haas School's annual gala in San Francisco, followed by a string of celebrations around Asia and the U.S. The $300 million capital campaign pursues four transformational goals – focused on curriculum enhancements, faculty growth, campus improvements, and annual giving – that will reshape the Haas School for the next generation of business leaders.

More than 500 people attended the gala at the Ritz-Carlton San Francisco, where Adobe Systems CEO Shantanu Narayen, MBA 93, was named the Haas School Business Leader of the Year. During the gala, Dean Rich Lyons also presented the Raymond E. Miles Service Award to Jack Russi, BS 82, Deloitte's vice chairman and national managing partner, corporate development. The Chapter of the Year Award was presented to the Haas Alumni Network's East Bay Chapter, which has served as a model of productivity and creativity for the school's 22 alumni chapters.

A month after the San Francisco gala, the Haas School headed to Singapore, Hong Kong, and Shanghai to host the conference and launch The Campaign for Haas in Asia. More than 300 people attended the conference, titled "2008: Managing Family Business in a Global Marketplace," at the Ritz-Carlton, Millenia Singapore.

Asia Business Center Director Teck-Hua Ho called the conference a "high impact success" to increase the Haas School's visibility and to energize the school's alumni in Asia.

The conference welcomed S. Iswaran, Singapore's senior minister of state for trade and industry, as its guest of honor. Sessions such as Haas Professor David Vogel's on managing growth in a global economy provided thought-provoking content. The conference was followed by a gala in Singapore to launch the campaign in Asia. Both events were generously hosted by Haas alumnus Liong Seen Kwee, BS 74. The festivities in Singapore were followed by well-attended alumni celebrations in Hong Kong and Shanghai.

A series of kick-off events in the United States started with a gala in New York where record attendance showed the strength of east coast support for the campaign. Among the nearly 200 guests were many important constituents of the Haas community, including former board members and alumni from a variety of business industries, such as finance, marketing, and clean-tech. UC Berkeley Chancellor Robert Birgeneau and his wife, Mary Catherine, also came to celebrate the start of the public phase of the school's campaign. A keynote address was delivered by John Whitehead, former chairman of Goldman Sachs and former deputy secretary of state.

Alumni in Southern California were introduced to The Campaign for Haas at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art on May 30. Guests enjoyed cocktails, a dinner reception, and a private viewing of the blockbuster art exhibit Pompeii and the Roman Villa.

"The warm reception Dean Lyons received from the Haas School alumni in Southern California illustrates how invested they are in their connections with each other and our school," says Tenny Frost, executive director of Alumni Relations and Annual Giving.

More than 160 members of the Haas community came to the celebration in Los Angeles. The gala was made possible in part through the generous sponsorship of Horacio Valeiras, MBA 87, and Linda and Michael Gallagher, BS 67, MBA 68. Gallagher, the retired CEO of Playtex, is chair of the Haas School Board.

CLASS VOLUNTEERING AND GIVING

The success of the 2009 Haas Annual Fund depended largely on the efforts of our Class Giving Committees. The Haas Class Giving Committee classes represent only 5% of the total alumni population, yet represent 25% of all donors—alumni, friends, and corporate partners—and account for 25% of all dollars raised. The entire Haas community is greatly indebted to these volunteers for their efforts. Student giving reached new heights this fiscal year. The Senior Gift Campaign raised $10,545 and achieved a record 60% participation among graduating seniors. Likewise, the Lifelong Connections Campaign set new records, raising $59,285 and for the first time achieving 100% participation among graduating Full-time MBAs.

UNDERGRADUATE PARTICIPATION

Winning Class Giving Committees for the undergraduate classes of BS 2001-2008 are:

1ST PLACE: BS 08 for participation (11%) and BS 04 for annual dollars raised ($9,289).

2ND PLACE: BS 01 for participation (10%) and for annual dollars raised ($6,865).

3RD PLACE: BS 03 and BS 06 for participation (9%) and BS 06 for annual dollars raised ($6,815).

SENIOR GIFT CAMPAIGN BREAKS RECORDS

A team of 28 Haas undergraduate seniors reached out to their classmates through one-on-one solicitations and raised a record-breaking $10,545 for the Haas Senior Gift Campaign.

As a result of the Senior Gift Campaign Committee's high-touch efforts, 60 percent of the graduating class of 2009 contributed to the 14th annual campaign. That's up from 48 percent participation by the class of 2008, which raised $8,700.

Adam Melero, BS '09 Gift Committee Chair, presented the class's check to Dean Rich Lyons at the school's end-of-the-year celebration on May 15. Melero said the goal of the committee's efforts was to educate classmates on the importance of staying connected and supporting the Haas School.

Dean Lyons commended the committee for its efforts and noted that many students made donations that qualified them to join the Haas Leadership Society, which he said, "represents our school's most invested annual supporters."

FULL-TIME MBA PARTICIPATION

Winning Class Giving Committees for the MBA classes of 1992-2008 are:

1ST PLACE: MBA 00 for participation (38%) and MBA 96 for annual dollars raised ($72,672).

2ND PLACE: MBA 99 for participation (31%) and for annual dollars raised ($69,740).

3RD PLACE: MBA 04 for participation (29%) and MBA 01 for annual dollars raised ($39,357).

ENTIRE MBA 09 CLASS GIVES TO HAAS

A video produced by this year's Lifelong Connections Campaign (LLC) Committee urged fellow students "Don't forget where you came from." They didn't: Every member of the Full-time MBA class of 2009 made a pledge to the campaign, achieving a 100 percent participation rate for the first time in the campaign's 21-year history.

Technically, the class even exceeded 100 percent participation because an exchange student from London contributed to the campaign. Despite tough economic times, the Full-time Berkeley MBA class of 2009 pledged a total $59,285. The first $25,000 in pledges was matched by Dean Rich Lyons, bringing the campaign's total pledges to $84,285. Money raised through the Lifelong Connections Campaign directly benefits the Haas School through the Haas Annual Fund. Nora Tucker and Mahta Eghbali, both MBA 09, co-chaired this year's LLC committee, which invigorated the campaign with a viral video entitled: "You. Us. Haas. Stronger." They also used competition as a motivator, bestowing the cohort that completed pledging first with extra funds for year-end celebrations. The Oski cohort seized the opportunity.

When the LLC committee presented the class of 2009's check to Dean Lyons he said "I am inspired by your commitment. Your participation as active alumni will continue to be important as we make Haas even stronger."

REUNIONS FORGE DEEPER CONNECTIONS

Every spring, the Haas School welcomes alumni back to campus for an all-alumni symposium and a special celebration of MBA Reunions. In the fall, Haas joins with the campus to celebrate undergraduate reunions during Homecoming. Reunions are a time to reconnect with classmates and friends, Haas faculty and staff, and once again experience and share in the intellectual life and dynamism of the Haas community.

Reunion anniversaries are important milestones that serve as a reference point for students to take stock in what they have learned and how they have benefitted — personally and professionally — from their associations with the Haas community. They also present a special opportunity to give back to Haas to ensure future generations of Haas alumni can access the same benefits.

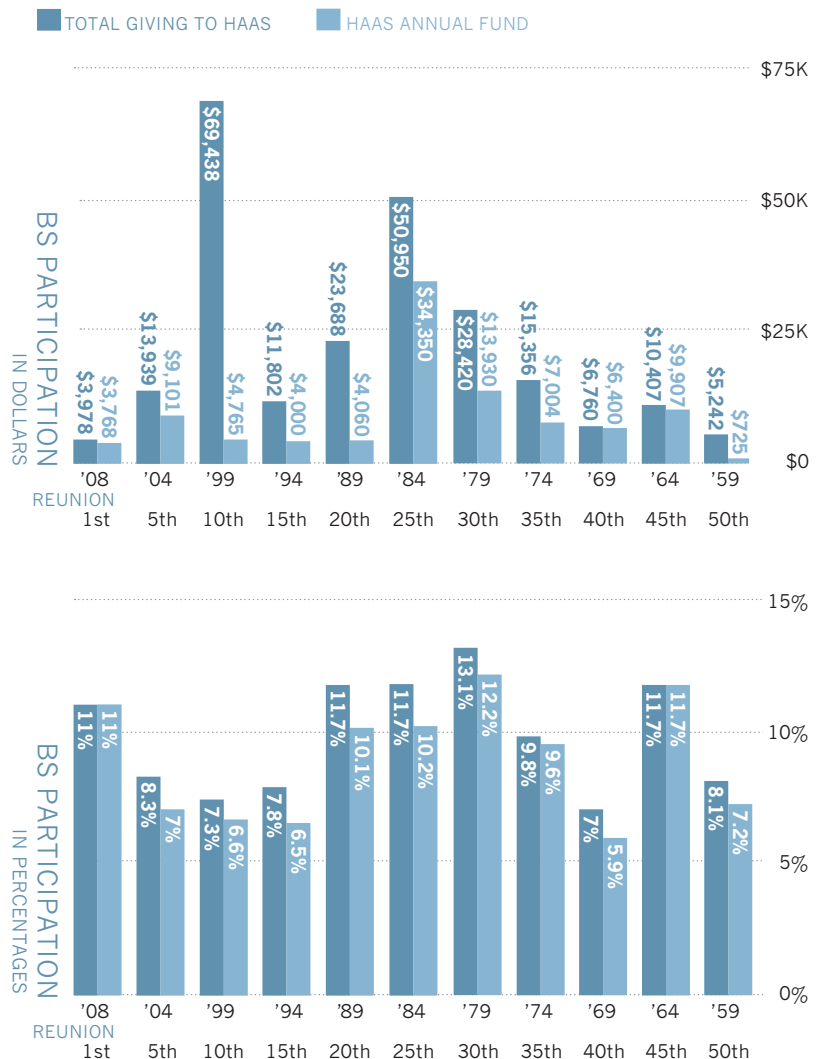

Members of the MBA Class of 2004 reconnected at a picnic held during their five-year reunion in the spring.

“Haas has shaped my views on management of business, collaboration, and influence. As a student, I benefitted directly from alumni giving. I want to continue this tradition of giving to extend this opportunity for future students and alumni.”

—Satadip Dutta, MBA 09

UNDERGRADUATE ALUMNI REUNION GIVING

“I give back to Haas because it has given so much to me – an incredible education that had a profound impact on my career, enduring friendships, and opportunities to continually learn and grow.”

—Kati Miller, BA (Psych) 74, MBA 82

EVENT REUNITES BERKELEY-COLUMBIA MBA ALUMNI

Jacqueline Singh

applauds Dean Lyons
during the live auction.

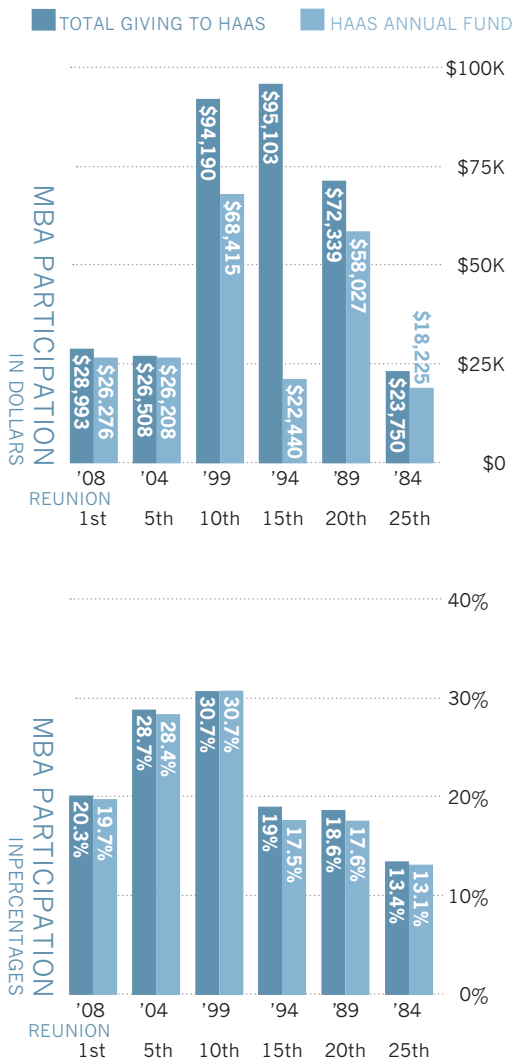

A gala celebration organized by co-chairs Steve Hartman, MBA 06; Gabriel Kra, MBA 05; and Jennifer Schaeffer, MBA 08, reunited Berkeley-Columbia MBA alumni at the Claremont Hotel & Spa on September 13, 2008. Showing their support of the Haas School, attendees raised a total of $24,325 through silent and live auctions. The annual event draws a big crowd because it strengthens the Berkeley-Columbia MBA network and celebrates the uniqueness of this remarkable degree program.

The Berkeley-Columbia Executive MBA program brings together two extraordinary faculties from two top-ranked business schools in two of the world’s great business centers: New York City and the San Francisco Bay Area. This unique program exposes professionals to solid general management fundamentals as well as the latest ideas in business theory and practice from both coasts—and around the world. Taught in a convenient format on both campuses, the program draws on the unparalleled intellectual resources of Berkeley and Columbia.

Molly Rosen; Seth Rosen, BA 90, MBA 06; and Marjorie DeGraca, BS 87, Director of Part-Time MBA Admissions, share a happy moment during the Berkeley-Columbia gala.

FULL-TIME MBA REUNION GIVING

DONORS BY CLASS YEAR

Our alumni donors invest in the success of the Haas School by maximizing the support of public higher education, seeding new initiatives, and helping the school maintain its status as one of the leading business schools in the world.

The following list of individuals are placed in club levels based on all gifts, pledge payments, new pledges, and matching gift pledges received from July 1, 2008, through June 30, 2009.

*Names highlighted in color are members of the Haas Leadership Society. Ten-year consecutive givers are marked with an .

STEVE AND SUSAN CHAMBERLIN INVEST IN NEW HAAS CENTER FOR TEACHING EXCELLENCE

Former Haas School faculty members Steve Chamberlin and his wife Susan, MBA 87, invested $750,000 to help launch the Center for Teaching Excellence (CTE) at Haas. The center was established to promote teaching of the highest quality, to foster a teaching culture, and to deliver exceptional instruction to students.

This program will provide resources and services to professional and research faculty at Haas. The goals of the CTE resonated with the Chamberlins because of their own experiences in the classroom.

The thinking behind the CTE is that if all professors have the resources needed to support their teaching efforts, students will engage more fully in their classes. "The goal is to get students excited about learning and to prepare them effectively for the real world of doing business," Steve says. As part of that objective, Steve serves as a mentor for students in his role on the Policy Advisory Board for the Fisher Center for Real Estate and Urban Economics.

Steve currently is chairman for Chamberlin Associates, a commercial real estate development firm based in Pleasanton, Calif., and Rouse/Chamberlin Homes, a Pennsylvania-based home builder. In addition to earning her MBA from Haas, Susan is an architect and is currently managing the renovation of the Oakland Museum of California in her role as a member of the Foundation Board of Trustees.

2009 HAASKI INVITATIONAL GOLF TOURNAMENT PUTS ANNUAL FUND ABOVE PAR

Haaski Leadership Award recipient Grant Inman, MBA 69

Alumni, students, faculty, and friends came to Oakland's Claremont Country Club to play golf, connect, and support the Haas Annual Fund during the seventh annual Haaski golf tournament. This event provides an important means of support for the Haas Annual Fund, which is a significant part of the school's overall campaign goal to raise $300 million by the year 2013. This year, the tournament raised $120,000 for the Haas Annual Fund through live and silent auctions and the generosity of corporate and individual sponsors. The Koret Foundation played a key role by matching all gifts made to the Haas Annual Fund during the event. The match provided strong motivation for reunion classes to give back to Haas.

A strong supporter of Haas, Koret recently provided the school with grants totaling $1.7 million to help fund a high-tech classroom and to seed a dean's discretionary fund. During the reception following the tournament, event sponsor and former Haas School Board member, Grant Inman, was awarded the Haaski Leadership Award for his long-time support of the tournament and the school.

ON THE CASE

MBA Student Wins Beijing Case Challenge

First-year Full-time MBA student Khan Yow and a team of seven students from other top international business schools won first place at the inaugural FirenzeChina East-West MBA All-Star Case Challenge, held in Beijing last January.

Yow and teammates won a $20,000 cash prize and $10,000 in additional funding to implement their winning campaign: "Yes, I Will," which allows mobile phone users to post ideas for resolving global problems.

The competition pitted school teams against each other, then shuffled competitors to create new teams, tasked with promoting a philanthropic Microsoft initiative through a mobile solution or service and a viral marketing campaign. "This was a great opportunity not only to compete against, but also to get to know MBA students from other top schools," Yow says. "The competition really forced us to operate across cultures, nationalities, and backgrounds to get a task completed."

“I give time and money to Haas for several reasons: (1) I received a tremendous education that has served me well, (2) my involvement in Haas has resulted in special, enduring friendships, (3) the network is powerful and invaluable, (4) the Haas administration and staff have been very supportive, and (5) giving back is an essential part of my success equation. I encourage everyone to give back in his or her own way. Individually, you can make a difference. Collectively, we can make dreams come true!”

CORPORATE PARTNERS

The Haas School enjoys a successful public-private partnership in business education because Corporate Partners support our efforts in three important areas: degree programs, student programs, and faculty research. The involvement of Corporate Partners ensures that Haas will continue to be a preeminent business school that attracts top students and faculty, and leads the way in new programs and research.

Corporate Partners provide support to specific programs and initiatives at the Haas School of Business beginning at the $1,000 level. There are four levels of Corporate Partners:

- Dean's Lead Partner [$50,000+]
- Senior Partner [$20,000 - $49,999]
- Partner [$10,000 - $19,999]
- Junior Partner [$1,000 - $9,999]

The Haas School recognizes the following corporations, foundations, and organizations for their generous gifts to the school as Corporate Partners. Haas Investors are indicated in bold. Haas investors meet one of the Haas School's greatest needs by proving unrestricted operating funds. Membership in the Haas Investors Program begins at the $10,000 level.

KORET FOUNDATION FUNDS INTERACTIVE LEARNING CENTER

Dean Rich Lyons swung the first sledgehammer earlier this year to begin construction on the new Koret Interactive Learning Center, a project funded through The Campaign for Haas.

Dean Rich Lyons gets construction underway on the new high-tech classroom.

The Koret project includes a 65-seat high-tech, air-conditioned classroom and two breakout rooms. The classroom will be equipped with state-of-the-art video conferencing, dual-screen projectors, document reader, extensive white boards, and a high-tech lectern with touch screen controls. A “confidence monitor” will allow the instructor to face the class and, at the same time, see what the students see on the boards and screens behind the instructor.

The classroom also will have moveable chairs and individual microphones and electrical and cable access connections at each seat. The plans include many acoustical enhancements, such as foam insulation in the floor, robust acoustical paneling, and window blocking.

The breakout rooms will feature 65-inch display screens; electrical and cable access in the table; and cameras to record class sessions, mock interviews, presentations, and behavioral laboratory research.

The high-tech classroom is being funded in part by a $1.5 million grant from the Koret Foundation, a private philanthropic organization created by the estates of Joseph and Stephanie Koret, who founded the Koret of California sportswear line.

“At Haas, we are standing on the shoulders of giants. It is humbling to think that your thought partner in a particular discussion is a Nobel Prize winner or a chairman of the Federal Reserve. What are you going to be when you grow up?”

Investing in the Future

The Haas School values its relationship with the corporate and foundation communities and is dedicated to strengthening these collaborations. One of the most important ways for corporations and foundations to affiliate with the school is to join the Haas Investors Program.

Haas Investors meet one of the Haas School's greatest needs by providing unrestricted operating funds. The flexible financial support of Haas Investors enables the school to strengthen research and educational programs and to create innovative learning opportunities. Haas Investors enjoy a mutually beneficial partnership with the school by participating in the exchange of ideas within the Haas community.

Membership in the Haas Investors Program begins at the $10,000 level, and benefits of membership include the following:

Recognition and Visibility

- Visibility among top MBA students – future potential employees, partners, and customers
- Recognition in school publications and on the website
- Prominent placement on the Wall of Honor in the MBA Career Recruitment Center for employers hiring MBA graduates
- Access to top talent with recruiting support from Career Services

Access to Events

- Invitations to school events, such as Homecoming and the Haas Gala
- Invitations to campus events, such as guest speakers and special exhibits
- Opportunities to interact with the dean, faculty, and students in formal and informal settings
- An exclusive invitation to the Haas Investors Luncheon with the Dean
- An exclusive invitation to the Haas Investors Research Roundtable, highlighting key faculty research

Education and Services

- Free subscriptions to school publications, such as the award-winning California Management Review
- Subscription to the Corporate and Foundation Relations quarterly update, abridge.
- Central contact person in the development office for concierge-level service
- Access to school parking spaces during campus visits

Three other categories are recognized annually as Haas Investors:

1. The corporation hiring the most Haas graduates within the fiscal year
2. The corporation providing the highest amount of matching gifts to the Haas School of Business within the fiscal year
3. The corporation providing the highest amount of student activities sponsorship within the fiscal year

CUMULATIVE GIVING

For more than a century, significant gifts from friends of the Haas School have built our remarkable facility, endowed faculty chairs and scholarships, and funded world-class academic programs. We are proud to recognize those individuals and institutions that have each contributed more than $200,000 cumulatively. This recognition includes all cash, stock, and in-kind gifts, as well as pledges and irrevocable planned giving through June 30, 2009.

MATCHING GIFT COMPANIES

Companies that share in their employees' support of higher education can do so by offering a program that matches contributions. Matching gifts are a wonderful way to increase the value of personal contributions. We are grateful to the following companies that supported the Haas School of Business and encouraged the charitable giving of their employees through matching gifts.

“Giving to Haas is not just a way to contribute to the school – I see it as an investment in my career. The stronger my network becomes, the more opportunities I have to connect with great alumni. Giving to Haas is an excellent long-term investment!”

HAAS SCHOOL ENDOWMENTS

Endowed funds are essential to the future of the Haas School, as they provide a base of permanent financial resources for the school's programs. This critical source of funds benefits all areas of the school, including faculty recruitment and retention, research, and student support. These endowments also provide essential flexible funding that allows the school to create new programs and grasp unexpected opportunities. Our goal is to increase the school's endowment to the same level that our private school counterparts enjoy. This year we were fortunate to receive seven new endowments, which are highlighted in green.

“We each have to carefully choose where we spend our resources. For me, I want to help develop the next generation of leaders. Every hour and dollar spent supporting the Haas School of Business is leveraged many times over through the many new graduates who will become the next wave of innovative business leaders.”

— Ezra Roizen, MBA 04

FRIENDS OF THE HAAS SCHOOL

The Haas School of Business thanks the following donors and acknowledges their vital support. Private giving is essential to the success of the Haas School. The generosity of loyal friends provides the resources to maintain a competitive edge in the market for excellent faculty and students, cutting-edge programs, and top-tier facilities for learning and research.

The following list of individuals are placed in club levels based on all gifts, pledge payments, new pledges, and matching gift pledges received from July 1, 2008, through June 30, 2009.

Names highlighted in color are members of the Haas Leadership Society. Ten-year consecutive givers are marked with an.*

FROM PATENT TO ELEVATOR PITCH

C2M Teams Students with Scientists to Fast-Track Clean Tech

Biomass may be one step closer in the move from field to fuel tank, thanks to an innovative new collaboration between scientists at Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory (LBNL) and members of the student-led Berkeley Energy and Resources Collaborative.

(l. to r.) Dwight Crabtree, MBA 10, and Adam Lorimer, MBA 10, with researcher Blake Simmons, VP of deconstruction for JBEI

The partnership, called “Cleantech to Market,” or C2M, dispatched eight cross-disciplinary student teams, each including Berkeley MBA students, to evaluate the commercial viability of new LBNL technologies. Students worked to assess such projects as a novel solar-chemical storage device and the use of ionic liquids to pre-treat biomass for conversion to biofuel.

C2M began with the efforts of BERC student leaders, including co-chair Naveen Sikka, MBA 09, who teamed up with LBNL’s Technology Transfer Department to create the program. Associate Professor Catherine Wolfram, co-director of the Energy Institute at Haas played a key role.

“LBNL and BERC are not only catalyzing the commercial pathway for technologies at the lab, but also providing opportunities for MBA students,” says Sikka. “Haas students are working with researchers, scientists, and other graduate students in a way that channels their potential to become leaders of the world’s sustainable energy future.”

“For scientists, new business considerations are really on the back burner,” says Blake Simmons, vice president of deconstruction for the Joint BioEnergy Institute (JBEI), which developed the ionic liquid technology and whose inventions are managed by LBNL’s Technology Transfer Department. “Working with students interested in business planning right out of the gate offers a refreshing perspective.”

“I’m based in Shanghai and wherever I travel, I meet interesting, engaged alumni whose minds have been positively shaped by their years at Berkeley. Learning to think critically, creatively, and globally allows Haas students to go out into the world and effect positive change. I’m proud to count myself among such incredibly aware and effective business leaders. I also understand how essential it is to support Haas financially, so that we can attract faculty and staff who will keep influencing future students and continue this important legacy of informed leadership.”

—Beau Giannini, MBA 94

“A community is only as strong as the relationships within it. For that reason, I do my part in helping to create a Haas community where powerful relationships can be developed and nurtured.”
