SCHOOL OF LAW

DEAN'S MESSAGE

OUR STUDENTS' ANNUAL ARRIVAL AT THE LAW SCHOOL felt especially sweet this fall, as we returned to fully in-person classes for the first time in three semesters. Though we continue to navigate the challenges of the ongoing pandemic, we are also looking past those challenges—envisioning and enhancing our school and community for the long term. As ever, the extraordinary generosity of our friends and alumni have made it possible for UVA Law to both meet our current needs and plan for a bright future.

Last year, 9,522 donors contributed $21.87 million—the third highest total in our history. I am grateful to the friends, law firms, corporations, foundations, and 8,369 alumni who made those gifts. Separately and together, the impact of these donations has been remarkable. In the past year, we have launched several new clinics, bringing our total to 23. We have hired a raft of stellar new faculty, increased our scholarship support for incoming students, and expanded our summer funding and loan forgiveness programs for students entering public service. All of this furthers our mission of preparing our students for careers of distinction, leadership, and service and helps us make a transformative legal education accessible to students from every background.

This year's annual report celebrates the people who make UVA Law what it is today and what it will be in the future. It also highlights some of the opportunities and initiatives that your gifts have made possible. As we chart our return from the pandemic and rekindle our connections with each other, we are grateful for all the ways your support enables us to provide a world-class education, foster an unparalleled student experience, and facilitate path-breaking and engaged legal scholarship. Thank you.

Risa Goluboff, Dean

LEADERSHIP REPORT

WE ARE PLEASED TO SHARE THE RESULTS OF THE 56TH ANNUAL GIVING CAMPAIGN during an interesting time. After quickly shifting to an entirely online spring and summer experience, the University reopened its doors in the fall of 2020. Student and faculty experiences took place in creative new ways, with roughly half of the Law School's classes conducted in person or through a hybrid model combining in person and virtual teaching.

The 2020–2021 Annual Giving Campaign finished with 8,369 alumni donors, a 47.11% participation rate, and the third-highest gift total in the school's history, with $21.87 million. These results are a testament to the dedication of alumni, friends, volunteers, and staff.

Alumni engagement was also transformed. To stay in touch with our alumni, the school turned to Zoom. Dean Risa Goluboff attended virtual receptions in Atlanta, the Bay Area, Birmingham, Los Angeles, New York City, Northern New Jersey, and Northern Virginia.

In December, the Law School hosted an alumnae panel in honor of the centennial of coeducation. And in March, the Dean and Blair Wimbush '80, Chair of the Board of Trustees, hosted a Washington, D.C., Black Law Alumni reception.

While we had planned to host reunions in Charlottesville, it was not to be. For the first time in the school's history, Law Alumni Weekend took place online—giving alumni everywhere the opportunity to participate.

The weekend included a Black Law Alumni Reception, CLE offerings, and the Dean's State of the Law School address. A diverse group of faculty engaged virtually through an interactive panel titled "In the Classroom-UVA Law, Then and Now."

The Class of 2020, from locations near and far, celebrated with an online reception hosted by Rachel Staub '20 and Tim Sensenig '20, and featuring a toast from Elizabeth Finn Johnson '87, vice president of the Alumni Council.

With renewed optimism, we are planning for reunions to take place in person May 13-15, 2022. All alumni, as always, are welcome to attend the weekend events.

This year's Annual Report highlights alumni support for today's UVA Law students:

- A public service scholarship in memory and honor of former Professor Bill Stuntz '84 funded by Ted '92 and Keryn Mathas.

- Brothers William '74 and Richard '77 Engel, along with other family members and foundations, have funded scholarships for more than 165 students, over 40 years of consecutive giving.
- Clinics, academic journals, student organizations, and affinity groups are directly supported by alumni gifts, helping fund the Law School's sense of community with a purpose.

Fall of 2021 has reinforced the importance of the UVA Law community. Students and professors are back in classrooms, guest speakers are welcomed on Grounds, and meetings and interactions are taking place throughout the building.

Thankfully, the Law School community is an enduring one. Please accept our deepest thanks to all of you for your generous and dedicated support.

With our best wishes,

100%

PARTICIPATION

Initiated in 1993, the 100% Participation Program challenges and recognizes firms and companies (with at least five Virginia Law graduates) that achieve 100% participation in annual giving. Because many firms and companies are in multiple cities, offices with five or more graduates are recognized in the program. Those interested in achieving 100% participation should contact Helen Snyder '87, Chief Operating Officer, at (877) 307-0158, or at snyder@law.virginia.edu.

WHY YOU GIVE

SUPPORTING OUR STUDENTS

“I CAME FROM A FAMILY THAT HAD VERY LIMITED financial means. We kids earned much of the money to pay our tuition at college with summer jobs. It was an era when that was possible.

“I was thrilled when I received the offer of a full-tuition scholarship at the Law School. It turned out to be a life-changing event. I did very well at UVA and wound up with a job at Cravath, Swaine & Moore, doing tax work in New York City.

“With a UVA degree and law firm experience, I found myself having my pick of jobs at a number of law schools. My wife and I, seeking out a university town, decided on the University of North Carolina.

“It has been a good life, a life which was made possible by a scholarship and a UVA Law education.”

THE ENGEL FAMILY'S INVOLVEMENT WITH THE LAW

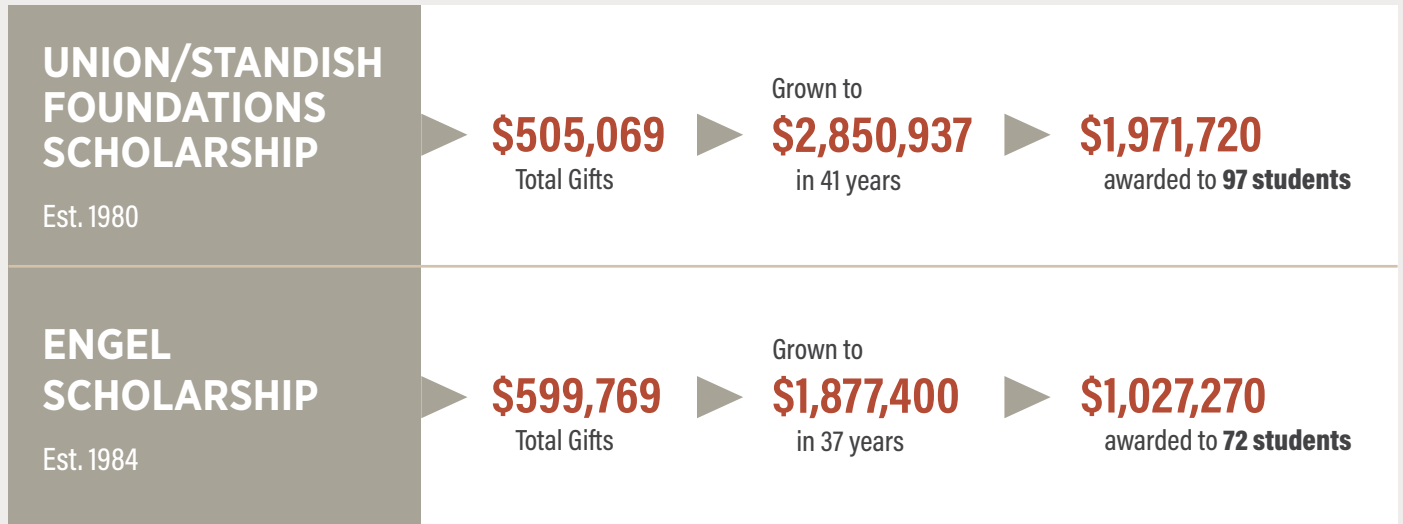

School began with William's admission to the class of 1974. He was followed by his brother, Richard, class of 1977, his late sister-in-law, Brenda Farr Engel, class of 1978, and two other close relatives over several years. All family members have felt a strong attachment to the Law School, valuing the education received and the close personal relationships developed, including two marriages.

More than 40 years ago, William and Richard's father facilitated a $1,000 grant from a foundation on which he served, establishing the Union/Standish Foundations Scholarship. That foundation made regular grants to the Law School for many years, none exceeding $10,000 in any one year. Two other foundations made modest grants over a period of years. Additionally, in the 1980s, William and Richard's parents established a charitable lead annuity trust, with the Law School as its beneficiary, which paid out contributions over a number of years and established the Engel Scholarship. Members of the family continue to support this scholarship.

Both scholarships are directed to out-of-state students. "The aim of these funds is to give the Law School the financial ability to attract the very best students from all over the country, both in terms of their academic strength and also the personal characteristics that differentiate UVA from the other top law schools," Richard said. "We were very fortunate to have graduated from law school with no debt and want to give as many students as possible the same chance so that their career and life decisions do not have to be restricted by financial factors," William added.

"What these scholarships have shown is that donors of relatively modest means can, with the skilled investment management of the Law School Foundation, build significant resources to meaningfully assist current and future students," said William. "The lives of our family members have been greatly enhanced by our attendance at UVA Law. We want to give as many people as possible, from all backgrounds, the same opportunities."

THE POWER OF ENDOWMENTS

Having financial aid was genuinely a game-changer for me. During the law school application process, I'd been facing so many choices: Do I want to stay in Atlanta or start my legal career in a new geographic area? I knew I wanted to do patent law, but what kind—litigation, prosecution, something else? What is clerking, and do I want to do it?

“Receiving a scholarship made it an easy choice to attend UVA, and that in turn opened so many doors and gave me so much flexibility in terms of my career choices. Had I gone elsewhere, I don't know if I would have had the same freedom to explore my interests and options with less pressure and fewer restrictions.

“I'm so happy I had this opportunity, and I don't know where I'd be if I hadn't gone to UVA. I met my fiancé there, made so many lifelong friends, had so many incredible experiences, and ended up exactly where I wanted to be career-wise. It truly has been a blessing, and financial aid made that possible.”

HONORING A TEACHER AND MENTOR

Bill Stuntz '84

TED '92 AND KERYN MATHAS HAD BEEN THINKING ABOUT WHAT THEY COULD DO for the Law School for quite some time. Sharing in the school's belief that it was important to attract high-caliber students who want to pursue careers in public policy, they realized a public service scholarship in honor of Bill Stuntz '84 was the answer.

"Economic realities are working against students who want to go down this path," Mathas said. "Three years of law school is expensive. And if you graduate with a large debt hanging over your head, it's hard to ignore the allure of what the private sector can offer you.

"The William J. Stuntz Bicentennial Public Service Scholarship is aimed at eliminating that burden and making it easier for young men and women to follow their passion and engage in this important work for our society."

Stuntz, a teacher and mentor to Mathas, died in 2011 at the age of 52. Stuntz taught law for 25 years—the first 14 at UVA, the last 11 at Harvard. "I always enjoyed Bill's classes and took a number of them," said Mathas. "But I really got to know him when he served as my Note Advisor. That experience gave me an up-close glimpse into the person he was.

"Scholarly work in public policy often gets reflexively tagged as 'liberal' or 'conservative.' And as everyone knows, Bill was conservative. And yet he gave us some of the most powerful, fact-based work passionately advocating for criminal justice reform.

"I was in awe of the intellectual integrity and raw objectivity he brought to his work. And he was never driven by self-interest," Mathas attested. "He just wanted to do good work for the right reasons. That's what he pushed me and countless others to do. I remember him once telling me that his chosen life work would never get his name etched on a wall, and that was totally cool with him because he felt really good about his work. That's why Keryn and I decided to call this the Bill Stuntz Public Service Scholarship. We need more people to follow in his footsteps. And it may not be a wall, but now his name is deservedly etched on this scholarship."

Mathas is chairman and CEO of New York Life Insurance Company, the nation's largest mutual life insurer. Their core business includes life insurance, retirement income, investment management, and long-term care insurance.

SUPPORTING STUDENTS

SENSE OF COMMUNITY

THE SENSE OF A COMMUNITY WITH PURPOSE is everywhere at UVA Law. The classrooms, library meeting rooms, and hallway benches overflow with conversations that will be backed up by actions.

More and more that action takes the form of clinical training. Students perform lawyer functions while taking part in one of the school's 23 clinics, including client and witness interviews, factual development, legal research, preparation of pleadings, and negotiation. Last year the Law School dedicated $2.2 million to funding clinical training.

In one very visible clinic, the Virginia Innocence Project, casework will span years to free wrongly imprisoned Virginians. Students investigate wrongful convictions, review case files, collect records, and search court files—much of the time with the help of private investigators. Each hour of private investigator time costs the clinic $90. It takes hundreds of hours to turn a client's life around. This year, three Innocence Project clients were granted absolute pardons by the governor.

Another opportunity for engagement and action are the school's 10 student-edited journals. The Virginia Law Review has been published for more than 100 years and the Virginia Journal of International Law is the oldest continuously published law review in the U.S. devoted exclusively to public and private international law. Every year, dozens of alumni allocate all or part of their annual gifts to support a journal.

The school currently underwrites more than 60 student organizations and affinity groups. Some groups advocate for others, such as mentoring undergraduates; some work to build current friendships and future career networks; and others play softball or take part in the Libel Show.

From organizations like the Black Law Students Association, Law Weekly, and Moot Court, to newer ones, including First-Generation Professionals and the Virginia Law Prison Project, alumni gifts have always supported their missions. Gifts cover expenses for receptions, lunch with faculty members, travel to and from national conferences, distinguished visitors, and more. In 2020–2021, more than 540 gifts were directed to more than 40 student organizations.

Each occasion for action outside of the classroom enhances the UVA Law student experience, and alumni gifts are there at every turn to offer support.

CLASS OF 2021

GRADUATION PLEDGE CAMPAIGN

*Class Pledge Campaign Co-Chairs
Savanna Williams and Maria Luevano*

THE CLASS OF 2021 GRADUATION PLEDGE DRIVE, Shape the Future, kicked off in March of 2021. While their second year didn't finish as planned due to COVID, the class had the option of returning to the Law School for their third year.

Although the Class of 2021 did not have the usual Law School experience, the legacy of the class gift remains. Led by Class Gift Co-Chairs Maria Luevano and Savanna Williams, the campaign's 25 class agent volunteers reached out to every classmate to ask for a pledge of support as a graduation gift to the Law School.
