Anarchy on NALC's doorstep

Fredric V.
Rolando

I have always taken great pride in the NALC's headquarters, the Vincent R. Sombrotto Building. It sits kitty-corner to the United States Capitol, a magnificent and inspiring structure that has become a global symbol of freedom and democracy. Our headquarters places us in the heart of our nation's capital and provides a platform to make the voices of our members heard in Washington, DC. On Jan. 6, I watched in disgust and horror from my eighth-floor office as a riotous mob attacked the U.S. Capitol, interrupting the certification of the election of Joe Biden and Kamala Harris by the Electoral College.

Over the years, I have seen countless protests, demonstrations and rallies on the grounds of the Capitol—and NALC has participated in our fair share of them. Such exercises of our First Amendment rights as citizens to petition our government for redress are fundamental to our system of government. But what happened on Jan. 6 was not a peaceful protest or a principled example of civil disobedience. It was a traitorous assault on our country's institutions, less than two blocks from our building. The rioters constructed gallows and hung a noose. They smashed windows and doors, attacked police officers, ransacked the Capitol, and even threatened to hang Vice President Mike Pence. Six people, including two police officers, lost their lives.

The attack was a disgraceful betrayal of our democracy, our elected officials and the law enforcement personnel who protect them. That it was incited by the outgoing president of the United States, who claimed that the presidential election had been marred by fraud and irregularities, makes it even more appalling. As I noted in a statement I issued on that day: "Letter carriers, like our fellow American citizens, are diverse, opinionated and passionate about their values and politics, which NALC appreciates and celebrates. But a line has been crossed that can never be excused, accepted or repeated."

The U.S. Capitol riot has added to the crisis our country faces—on the day of the insurrection, 4,000 more Americans died from the COVID-19 virus as we entered what are likely to be the deadliest months of the pandemic. A few days later, the U.S. Department of Labor reported the loss of 140,000 jobs in December, pointing to a stalling of the economic recovery from the coronavirus-induced recession. A week after the attack, a bipartisan majority of the House of Representatives voted to impeach President Trump for a second time, for his role in inciting the riot at the Capitol.

These developments have left our nation shaken. Our political divisions are raw, and there now is great uncertainty about the future. This will certainly complicate our efforts to advance our legislative agenda in the now-restored U.S. Capitol. But there is reason for hope.

First, we should take solace in the fact that the attack on our democracy utterly failed. After order was restored later that evening, a joint session of Congress reconvened and certified the results of the 2020 election by accepting the votes of the Electoral College. As this magazine goes to press, President-elect Biden and Vice President-elect Harris will be inaugurated next week on Jan. 20.

Second, the terrible news of Jan. 6 overshadowed a truly historic and positive conclusion to the runoff elections for two U.S. Senate seats in Georgia on Jan. 5. The election of two Democrats, the Rev. Raphael Warnock and Jon Ossoff, to the Senate with a record turnout for a runoff election—facilitated by vote-by-mail—showed that our pluralistic democracy has considerable underlying strength. I know that many of our Republican members in Georgia were disappointed by the results, but the pickup of two seats in the Peach State does shift control of the Senate to a majority leader who supports the NALC's legislative agenda. Progress on postal reform has been blocked by the former leadership in the Senate for years; now we finally have a chance to mobilize a bipartisan majority in Congress to strengthen the U.S. Postal Service, a beloved institution that binds our nation together in so many ways. In this moment of pandemic fatigue, recession and political polarization, never have such institutions been more important.

I am not naïve. Our society, our economy and our democracy have deep-seated problems that require fundamental reforms. We must work in good faith with each other, recommit ourselves to democratic values, engage in honest debate based on common facts, and find a way to see our fellow Americans as brothers and sisters—despite our differences. That is what we do in the NALC and in the labor movement. And that is what we need to do in the country as a whole.

We congratulate President Joe Biden and Vice President Kamala Harris on their inauguration. NALC vows to work with them and both parties in Congress to repair our country and to overcome the general crisis we face. President Biden's capacity to work with leaders in both parties to make progress and build unity is needed now more than ever. We urge congressional leaders to work with him to overcome the poisonous partisanship that has plagued our country for so long.

I hope that every member of our union will join me in doing our part to heal the deep divisions that led to the tragedy at the U.S. Capitol on Jan. 6. That is how we can move the country forward.

Higher ground

Philip
Dine

There are public events that leave you remembering where you were, regardless of how much time has elapsed. Little as I was, that was the case with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in 1963. The same occurred just five years later when in rapid—and tragic—succession, the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy were shot as they were trying in their own ways to lift our nation to a better place.

All three were my political heroes, all three were gunned down as young men—Jack Kennedy was 46, his brother 42, King not yet 40.

On the wall of my office at NALC Headquarters, a place I haven't been to for 10 months, are framed letters from the president and the senator delivered by a letter carrier to a very young fan of theirs.

By Sept. 11, 2001, I had three little kids of my own, and I had just dropped two of them off at school when the World Trade Center was attacked. I was a defense reporter at the time, so I called a source at the Pentagon to ask if they would be holding a press conference. In words I remember two decades later, he told me that they planned a briefing shortly, unless "...we're overtaken by events."

Minutes later, a plane piloted by terrorists set the Pentagon ablaze.

Wandering that afternoon through Washington, DC—a city simultaneously awash in chaos, in fear and in security forces—seeking a functioning newsroom to file a story and wondering what I would file to capture the moment, I spotted David McCullough walking with his wife and another couple.

The historian was a few feet from me, as history exploded around us. I asked for an interview. He politely but firmly told me he was going to the Washington Mall to speak at the inaugural National Book Festival (which somehow was not canceled) and was running late.

I thanked him, told him I understood and mentioned in parting that my late parents, Joe and Laurie Dine, had always spoken highly of him and of how much they enjoyed their friendship with him in the Massachusetts town where they had retired.

He stopped on a dime, confirmed that they were indeed my parents, then motioned to the others to proceed without him. "I'm going to do this interview," he said.

In the nation's capital, on a day unlike any other in U.S. history, I found myself on the sidewalk interviewing the greatest living American historian about what it all meant.

I am not drawing a comparison with the events that transpired in the U.S. Capitol less than a week ago as I write this. Nor do I pretend to know what impact those events will have moving forward or what importance historians will bestow on them.

What I do know is this: That place that was attacked by that mob is personal to me.

I reported from the halls of Congress for a dozen years before joining NALC. I knew lawmakers of both parties, liberals and conservatives and moderates, and I knew their staffers. I teased them for their political views and their policy positions; they teased me right back as an unkempt journalist. I tried to treat them fairly in print. They often approached me with exclusive stories, though they could have gone to more important reporters at bigger newspapers. When I wrote a book, one of them wrote the foreword; others from across the political spectrum wrote blurbs. I loved the place, and I loved the people I dealt with.

One of my daughters lived in a Capitol Hill apartment in the summer of 2018 and worked as a congressional intern, soaking up knowledge—and spouting terminology I hadn't learned.

My brother retired five years ago as chief of police of the United States Capitol Police, and I cannot think of many media outlets that over the past week haven't sought his views on what happened on Jan. 6, and why.

Decades ago, after my father retired from journalism, he served as a congressional staff member for a legislator who was on the House Veterans Affairs' Committee, using his background as a World War II veteran to advise her.

And I work at a union a stone's throw from the 535 lawmakers we affectionately (sometimes, anyway) dub our employer's board of directors.

I watched those events unfold at the Capitol, and I felt almost as if my home were being invaded.

As those two men in the spring of 1968 were trying so valiantly to do, we need people to lift us to higher ground.

Ratification balloting update

Every active letter carrier eligible to vote in the election to ratify the tentative 2019-2023 National Agreement between NALC and the U.S. Postal Service was mailed a copy of the proposed agreement, a letter from NALC President Fredric Rolando, a summary of the contract's provisions, a ballot and secrecy envelope, a return envelope and instructions for casting a vote. For a ballot to be counted, it must be received by noon on Feb. 16.

As previously reported, President Rolando appointed a Ballot Committee to conduct the ratification vote, pursuant to Article 16 of the NALC Constitution. The committee arrived in Washington, DC, on Jan. 11, and monitored and observed the mailing of the ballots. The committee will return to Washington on Feb. 15 to monitor and observe the receipt of the ratification ballots and tabulation of votes.

Honoring heroic carriers

Heroism, like the mail, comes in many packages—think of police officers or firefighters. But for some citizens in need of assistance, their heroes come in the form of concerned letter carriers.

Letter carriers are members of nearly every community in this nation and know when something is wrong. Spotting fires and injuries, they often are the first to respond. The following stories document their heroism. For them, delivering for America is all in a day's work.

Carrier shows bravery in the face of fire

"It was a regular day," New York, NY Branch 36 member Michelle DeCosta recalled about her route on Aug. 21, 2020. Suddenly, she spotted smoke hanging over one of the neighboring city blocks. "It was summer, so I thought some customers might be having a cookout," she said.

As she turned onto the street, however, she saw that the smoke was emanating from the first-floor window of a house. The five-year carrier quickly realized that she was looking at a house fire. "[The residents] have two little girls," she remembers thinking, "and the kids are usually home."

Frantic to alert the family, "I started trying to break down the door," DeCosta said. "I was choking on smoke and screaming." A carrier on a neighboring route called 911 while DeCosta tried to gain entry.

After she was unable to get through the door, the carrier realized that others in the neighborhood also were in harm's way. "The neighbors are elderly," she explained, so she ran next door to warn them about the fire.

Once the next-door neighbors evacuated, DeCosta continued down the street, warning residents of the danger. "The houses are so close together," she said. "If one catches, they all might go."

It was then that firefighters arrived. "They started bashing down the door [of the burning house]," the carrier said. Once inside, firefighters determined that nobody was in the house, though they did rescue several trapped pets.

Firefighters also were able to keep the house from burning down and the fire from spreading to nearby residences.

DeCosta, meanwhile, continued on her route, but returned later to check on her customers. The homeowners of the house that had caught fire told her that everyone on the block was saying, "It was the mail lady [who told us to evacuate]—if it wasn't for her, it could have been really bad."

Later, a neighbor told DeCosta that he, too, had assumed that the smoke was coming from a grill, and so he ignored the smell. The house had been on fire for almost two hours by the time emergency services were contacted.

At the time, the carrier says, she felt terrified—but not for herself. "I was scared thinking that the little girls were inside the house," she said, and added, "I was just doing what I thought was right—and I had to do what I had to do."

Carrier's quick thinking helps apprehend burglar

"I was driving back to the office" after finishing her route on July 17, 2020, Buffalo-Western New York Branch 3 member and city carrier assistant Sarah Garner said, "when I noticed a guy with a hammer hanging around" one of the local businesses. The carrier knew that the store was closed due to the COVID-19 pandemic, and she was suspicious as to why he was lurking at the company's front door.

She pulled over in front of the store, Garner said, and watched as he began breaking down the door with his hammer. The carrier rolled down her window and yelled at him to stop, but the man turned around and began advancing toward her.

Eye on the elderly

In June of 2020, Royal Oak, MI Branch 3126 member Scott Backer was making deliveries on his route when he noticed an older customer doing yardwork near her driveway. After Backer put the woman's mail in the box on her front porch, he turned to wave at her. Horrified, he saw her lying, motionless, on the ground, and raced to her side. She had fallen and hit her head on the pavement. "When I got to her, I thought she was dead," the 25-year carrier said. "There was a pool of blood behind her head." However, after a few moments, she regained consciousness. Backer immediately called 911, and spoke to and comforted the woman until paramedics arrived. After she was taken to the hospital, it was determined that the woman had fractured her skull. Both the woman and her family credited Backer with saving her life. "Where she was lying, she wasn't visible from the street, and she was in direct sun," the carrier explained. The local postmaster wrote in a letter to USPS: "The customer lives alone and could have been there for a very long time before anyone else may have noticed she was badly hurt." Backer said that the customers on that block now refer to him as the "neighborhood hero," but he added that he simply was glad to have been able to help. "It feels really good, knowing that I might have saved her life," he added.

Harrisburg, PA Branch 500 member and city carrier assistant Bill Stokes was driving down the street on Oct. 23, 2020, when he spotted one of his older customers sitting down by the curb on the opposite side of the road. The man had a leaf blower on his back and had clearly just been doing yardwork, but something about his posture struck the carrier as unusual. As Stokes watched, "he was hunching his back more and more," the carrier recalled. Stokes pulled over and parked, and then jumped out of his vehicle to investigate. But as he approached, the man collapsed. "He was just lying in the street, and he was shaking profusely," the carrier said. Stokes quickly realized that the man was having a seizure and called 911. "[The operator told me] to keep talking with him and be prepared to do CPR," he said. "I kept rubbing his back and telling him that help was on the way." The man lives in a remote area, so it took the emergency responders a while to arrive at the house. While he waited, Stokes made sure that the man's airway was clear and that he was still breathing. The carrier stayed by the man's side until an ambulance took him to the hospital. Stokes said that, even though he was "panicking" during the situation, he was happy he had been able to help. "It felt good," he added, "because it could have gone a different way."

Kansas City, MO Branch 30 member John Stratton was delivering to a hospital on his route on Dec. 3, 2020, when "I saw a lady picking up a gentleman [who lives] on my route from the hospital," he recalled. As the 23-year carrier completed his route, he was making deliveries on that customer's street when he saw the elderly man get out of the woman's car and begin moving toward his house with his walker. "I was at the house next door when I heard a 'boom,'" Stratton said, and he immediately guessed what had happened. Rushing over, he saw that the man had fallen off of his porch steps. "He was lying on the ground, saying 'I'm OK!' over and over," the carrier said. "I got behind him and got him picked up, and then we got him and the walker up the steps" and into the house, he continued, where they were able to get him settled in his wheelchair. Stratton repeatedly asked him if he needed to go back to the hospital, but the man insisted that he was fine, so Stratton left to finish his route. The customer was "super appreciative" of the carrier's assistance, but Stratton was modest about his role. "I just said, 'I'm glad I was here; it's what we do,'" he said.

New York, NY Branch 36 member Nailah Yorke was delivering on her route on Sept. 25, 2020, when she noticed something unusual. One of her customers, an elderly woman, always picked up the mail from her mail slot. The eight-year carrier and her customer had worked out a system where "I don't push the mail all the way through the slot," Yorke said, so the woman wouldn't have to bend over to collect her mail. But on that day, "I saw that she [hadn't] taken the mail from the day before," the carrier recalled. Concerned, Yorke peered inside the mail slot, and was horrified to see that the customer was lying on the floor. The carrier called out to the woman, but she was unresponsive. Yorke immediately called 911, and waited until paramedics arrived. The woman was taken to the hospital, but subsequently died from a long-standing illness. "She was one of my favorite customers," Yorke said. "I looked forward to her coming to get the mail every day." PR

Garner decided to drive away, given the risks to her safety, but saw that there was only one car in the parking lot, which presumably belonged to the burglar. She quickly wrote down the license plate, and then drove back to the office.

Once there, she called 911 to alert police about the situation. She also gave officers the license plate information and a description of the suspect.

Police called back a few hours later to let her know that the man had been arrested. The shop owner credited Garner's quick thinking with reducing the damage done by the perpetrator.

Garner said that the whole experience felt surreal. "You don't expect it; you can't believe that this is really happening," she explained. "I just felt like I should do something." PR

LETTER CARRIER POLITICAL FUND

2020 LCPF RECOGNITION

Many organizations, including labor unions, have political action committees (PACs), which pool contributions from members and donate those funds to campaign efforts for or against candidates, ballot initiatives or legislation. Campaign finance, including PACs, is an area that is heavily regulated by the Federal Election Commission (FEC), pursuant to the Federal Election Campaign Act.

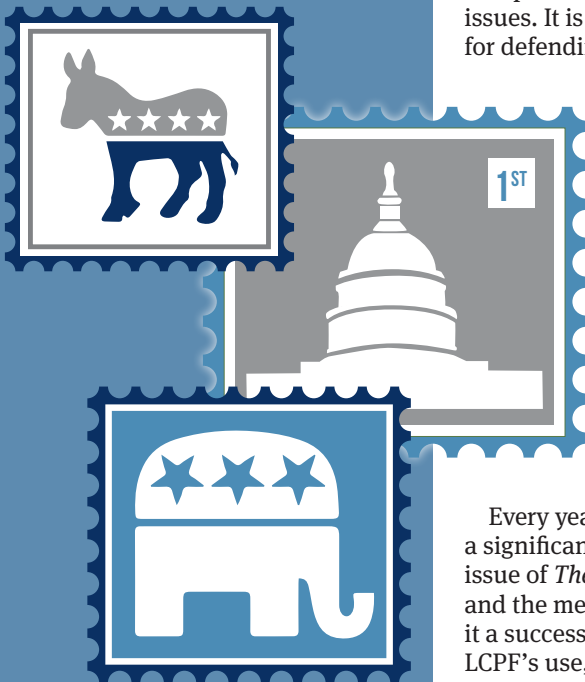

NALC's PAC is used to support letter carrier-friendly candidates and our issues. It is called the Letter Carrier Political Fund (LCPF). NALC's PAC has a long history of supporting candidates in both parties, as well as independents, who support us and our issues. It is one of our strongest tools for defending our rights and protecting our jobs in the legislative and political arena, where elected representatives can affect letter carrier jobs and the Postal Service, both now and in the future.

Union dues cannot be used for political campaign contributions, due to the regulations mentioned above, so the LCPF relies solely on voluntary contributions from our members.

Every year, we typically dedicate a significant portion of the February issue of The Postal Record to the LCPF and the men and women who make it a success. We normally talk about LCPF's use, growth, limitations, ways to actively support it and our mission in supporting those who support us.

In light of recent events and out of respect for this solemn period in American history, we think it is best to simply recognize NALC members who contributed to the LCPF in 2020. Their contributions demonstrate a commitment to standing up for the future of our jobs and the Postal Service. For more information about the Letter Carrier Political Fund, please visit nalc.org/pac.

By making a contribution to the Letter Carrier Political Fund, you are doing so voluntarily with the understanding that your contribution is not a condition of membership in the National Association of Letter Carriers or of employment by the Postal Service, nor is it part of union dues. You have a right to refuse to contribute without any reprisal. The Letter Carrier Political Fund will use the money it receives to contribute to candidates for federal office and undertake other political spending as permitted by law. Your selection shall remain in full force and effect until canceled. Contributions to the Letter Carrier Political Fund are not deductible for federal income tax purposes. Federal law prohibits the Letter Carrier Political Fund from soliciting contributions from individuals who are not NALC members, executive and administrative staff or their families. Any contribution received from such an individual will be refunded to that contributor. Federal law requires us to use our best efforts to collect and report the name, mailing address, occupation and name of employer of individuals whose contributions exceed $200 per calendar year. Any guideline amount is merely a suggestion, and an individual is free to contribute more or less than the guideline suggests and the Union will not favor or disadvantage anyone by reason of the amount of their contribution or their decision not to contribute.

NALC recognizes its brothers and sisters for their long-term membership

NALC members who have completed 50 years of membership in NALC are awarded a Life Membership Gold Card that entitles them to all privileges of membership in NALC without payment of dues. To receive a gold card and 50-year lapel pin, the branch secretary must write to the NALC secretary-treasurer and request the award for the member. This is in accordance with Article 2, Section 5 (a) of the NALC Constitution.

Additionally, the national secretary-treasurer's office handles branch requests for lapel pins. Accordingly, the secretary-treasurer's office can only provide suitable lapel pins "when receiving proper notification by the Branch Secretary" in the year when a member is to complete the following number of years as a member: 25 years, 30 years, 35 years, 40 years, 45 years, 50 years, 55 years, 60 years and 65 years. Special plaques are available for members who complete 70 years and 75 years. This is also per Article 2 of the NALC Constitution.

All requests must come from the branch secretary. Longtime members are encouraged to inform their branches when they reach a longevity benchmark.

How to place a Mutual Exchange ad

The cost of Mutual Exchange ads is $15 for up to 30 words and $25 for 31-50 words per month.

Ads must be received by the 5th of the month preceding the month in which the ad will appear, e.g., February's deadline is for the March publication. Mail ad with check (payable to NALC) to: Mutual Exchange Ads, Postal Record, 100 Indiana Ave. NW, Washington, DC 20001-2144.

Ads are published for NALC members only. A branch officer or steward must endorse the ad to certify membership. Ads without endorsements will be returned.

Include your name, address and branch number. Ads must be received in the same format and wording as they will appear in the magazine. Begin each ad with your state abbreviation, city and seniority date.

Ads should be typed in upper/lower case (or, if this is not possible, printed clearly) on a full sheet of 8.5 x 11" paper. Make certain the numerals 0 (zero) and 1 (one) can be distinguished from the letters O and I in e-mail addresses.

Note: Specific route information or mention of three-way transfers will not be published, nor any wording that offers cash or property to facilitate an exchange. Mutual exchanges must be approved by both postmasters involved. Seniority of carriers involved shall be governed by Article 41, Sec. 2E of the National Agreement. Carriers may not exchange assignments, since vacated positions must be posted for bids in accordance with local and national agreements.
