NATIONAL UNIVERSITY

A PRIVATE NONPROFIT UNIVERSITY SERVING THE PUBLIC GOOD

National University was founded in 1971 to serve the emerging needs of non-traditional learners. It is among the largest private nonprofit institutions of higher learning in California, in terms of full-time graduate and undergraduate enrollment.

The men and women participating in commencement today will join an impressive alumni community of more than 185,000 graduates, including numerous prominent leaders in business, industry, government, military, law enforcement, education, and the nonprofit sector.

For the past 50 years, National University has been guided by its core values of quality, access, relevance, accelerated pace, affordability, and community. National University consists of three colleges, the College of Letters and Sciences, College of Professional Studies, and the Sanford College of Education.

National University is an affiliate of the National University System, which was established in 2001 to meet the diverse and evolving demands for education in the 21st century. In addition to National University, the affiliates of the National University System are: City University of Seattle, Northcentral University, the Division of Pre-College Programs and the Sanford Programs (see page 9).

National University is proud of its commitment to diversity. It's among the top five universities nationally providing master's degrees in education to underrepresented students and ranks third in California in granting master's degrees to women.

In each of the past 21 years, National University has prepared more teachers for credentialing than any other single institution of higher education in California, according to the Commission on Teacher Credentialing.

True to its mission, National University is dedicated to promoting continuous learning by offering a diversity of instructional approaches, encouraging scholarship, engaging in community service, and empowering its constituents to become responsible citizens in an interdependent, pluralistic, and global community.

RECESSIONAL

ABOUT THE NATIONAL UNIVERSITY SYSTEM

The National University System (NUS) is a network of accredited nonprofit education institutions serving higher education and K-12 students. Established in 2001 to meet the emerging challenges and demands of education in the 21st century, the network's complementary universities are uniquely aligned to connect a diverse population of students to a network of innovative educational programs that are relevant to their lives, careers, and the marketplace and are delivered in a format that respects competing life priorities.

With programs available both online and at its many campus locations, NUS offers a comprehensive suite of academic programs from the pre-college to doctoral level to more than 45,000 students across the United States, with additional students in more than 40 countries.

NUS affiliates include:

- National University: A veteran-founded institution that serves a diverse population of adult learners through innovative educational solutions
- Northcentral University: A graduate-level focused institution, with expansive doctoral offerings, featuring weekly starts and a one-to-one learning format
- City University of Seattle: Emphasizes master's, doctoral and international programs, while establishing choice through workforce partnerships

The System is also leading the national expansion of education initiatives to address critical needs in the education and nonprofit sectors. Harmony SEL, Inspire Teaching & Learning provide innovative resources for the PreK education, and the Fundraising Academy Cause Selling Education offers educational programs to help nonprofits become more effective at fundraising and donor relationships.

Connected by shared values of academic excellence and integrity, the affiliates of the National University System are committed to expanding academic pathways and opportunities for students to attain professional and terminal, and to exploring innovative, personalized approaches to learning that guide students to successful completion of their academic and career goals. Through its Workforce Education Solutions initiative, the National University System establishes partnerships with industry groups to align degree programs with employer-defined professional competencies, offering students more affordable degree pathways and developing market-ready employees to meet the needs of the 21st-century economy.

Going forward, the National University System will continue to expand its reach, bringing together the individual strengths of each affiliate to provide a growing and more diverse range of students with vital and dynamic educational opportunities while giving back to the communities it serves.

THE NATIONAL UNIVERSITY MACE

Centuries ago, monarchs went to battle accompanied by soldiers armed with swords and bishops armed with maces. Both swords and maces served the same purpose: they were brutal weapons designed to protect the monarch in battle. Over time, as the protective role of bishops diminished, the mace became a ceremonial scepter which represented the monarch's authority. While the original maces were heavy clubs constructed to break armor, the ceremonial maces were magnificent pieces assembled from precious metals and jewels that beautifully displayed the monarch's coat of arms. Over time, the mace was adopted by universities to represent the authority of the university to confer academic degrees and honors. As such, a mace represents the unique values and culture of a university.

In celebration of National University's 25th anniversary year (1996), Carol Hinton of the San Diego-based Hinton Group was commissioned to design a mace (for the University) which would serve the traditional function of representing academic authority and capture the fresh, innovative spirit of a young university serving a unique population of non-traditional learners.

Constructed by Barton Ward of Montbleau & Associates, San Diego, the mace is comprised of wood, granite, and etched glass with accents of pewter and lapis. The mace was conceived as a scaffold to highlight the University's seal, which portrays National University as a traditional yet innovative institution.

Other significant components include:

- The open framework, representing access to the learning environment which the University provides to all students
- The crown, representing the learner's lifelong quest for knowledge
- The globe, representing the University's diversity and its status as a global institution of higher learning
- The inscription of the Latin motto, DISCENDO VIVIMUS — "We live through learning"

When not in use, the mace is displayed at the University's Spectrum Business Park campus.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The pageantry of commencement exercises dates from the Middle Ages and the traditions of Europe's first universities.

The gown is an adaptation of the medieval priest or friar robe and is distinctive for each degree. The bachelor's gown is yoked with a closed front and long pointed sleeves. The master's gown can be worn open and has long sleeves slit above the elbow to allow the forearm to protrude. The doctoral gown has velvet panels down the front and three velvet bars on each of the full bell-shaped sleeves. The color of the velvet may indicate the academic discipline: purple for law, dark blue for philosophy, light blue for education, white for humanities and arts, gold for science, and orange for engineering.

The hood evolved from a priest's cowl and is worn by master's and doctoral candidates. The lining color or colors are those of the college or university granting the degree. At National University, the hood is light grey and blue.

The monk's skullcap became the mortarboard cap or tam. Black is accepted in the United States but many foreign universities have distinctive and colorful headdress.

Tassels vary in use and color. Doctoral tassels are usually gold; master's and bachelor's are black at National University, all bachelor's and master's candidates wear blue tassels. Honor graduates wear silver. Military graduates wear a red, white, and blue cord.
