

Julie Woodson

Select Language

Powered by  Translate

Support Julie

Read Julie's blog

My name is Julie Woodson, and I will be graduating from Wofford College in Spartanburg, South Carolina, this May. While at Wofford, I have been studying art history and have a business minor and gender studies concentration. I love art, hiking and frequenting local coffee shops. I am passionate about traveling and love learning about new cultures. Most recently, I went to Nepal and Tibet, where I hiked out to Everest Base Camp. While I love grand adventures, I also love to take life a little slower and truly savor all the goodness of the Lord. I am so excited about this opportunity to serve and live in intentional community and can't wait for everything this next year holds!