

The 135th Commencement

Commencement

I offer my warmest congratulations to our graduates!

You have worked diligently to get to this moment. You, the Class of 2020, completed your rigorous course work and research at RIT, during a pandemic.

Today's world needs people who know how to create and innovate, analyze and implement, collaborate and lead. You, the Class of 2020, are those people.

Completing your degree marks not just an end; it is also a beginning. Upon leaving RIT, you will have opportunities for lifelong learning and achieving new goals. Many of you will immediately enter productive careers, while others may go on to further your education.

We hope when you reflect on your time at RIT, your memories will be of favorite professors and staff, lasting friendships, and a feeling of pride and fulfillment.

All of us at RIT—faculty, staff, and trustees—congratulate you and your families and wish you much continued success.

David C. Munson, Jr., Ph.D.
President

Congratulations to the Class of 2020!

You have achieved an important milestone — you earned your RIT degree!

You will be remembered for your strength and resilience during the coronavirus pandemic. We are all very proud of you!

On behalf of the faculty and staff, thank you for giving us the opportunity to be your teachers, mentors, and friends.

You are ready to embark on the next chapter of your life and career. As you leave RIT, we urge you to stay curious and socially conscious. Added to the foundation of your RIT education, this mindset will help you continue to shape the future wherever you go.

We look forward to maintaining a close relationship, as you are now RIT for Life. Please keep in touch and let us know how we can continue to support your academic and professional journey.

Sincerely,

Ellen Granberg
Provost and Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs

Whether recent or long graduated, alumni fill a forever role with their alma mater. A lifelong relationship with RIT begins from day one; students becoming alumni while forging bonds with each other and the university each step along their individual journeys. Year after year, our RIT family grows with each alumni member further bolstered by the opportunities and connections gained both at and after RIT. We are all Tigers and our great alumni make us proud.

Congratulations!

On behalf of the RIT Alumni Association, it is our pleasure to welcome you to the alumni family. As you leave campus to embark on the next phase of life, know that you are joining a thriving network of over 135,000 alumni worldwide.

Your relationship with RIT doesn't end this weekend. The Alumni Association works to promote life-long connections between alumni and the university. We invite you to join the thousands of other alumni who volunteer, attend events, participate in continuing education, take advantage of alumni benefits, and support an area of RIT that means the most to them. Your active participation in the Alumni Association helps strengthen our network and preserve the excellence of the university.

Stay Informed. Stay Involved. Stay Connected. Be sure to update your contact information with the Office of Alumni Relations, follow us on Instagram (@rit.alumni), and connect with the Alumni Association on LinkedIn.

Once again, congratulations and best wishes for much success in the future.

Academic Ceremonies and Dress

The colorful ceremonies of Rochester Institute of Technology's Commencement derive from practices originating in the Middle Ages. The academic dress and the processional reflect the costume and influences when the first universities were organized in Bologna, Paris, and Oxford, and the first convocations of faculty, clergy, and students were held. Old prints and engravings reveal an astonishing similarity between academic costume worn at the early universities and the gowns, hoods, and caps worn today. Civilian dress, as well as clerical garb, has affected the development of academic costume, and in recent years colleges and universities have instituted a code governing collegiate dress in order to ensure a reasonable conformity.

Gowns and caps, or "mortarboards," are worn by those being awarded or holding the associate and bachelor's degrees; gowns, caps, and hoods are worn by those holding master's and doctoral degrees. The usual color is black, and the fashion of the gown designates the degree held by the wearer: the associate and bachelor's have long, pointed sleeves; the master's has an oblong sleeve, open at the wrist; and the doctoral has bell-shaped sleeves. There are no trimmings for the bachelor's or master's gowns; the doctoral has a facing of black velvet down the front and three bars of the same material across the sleeves. The tassel on the doctoral cap is gold, while the colors for associate, bachelor's and master's degrees are black and orange.

Hoods are faced with velvet in the color of the degree to be awarded: white for arts and letters, orange for engineering, brown for fine arts, yellow for science, tan for business, and light blue for education. The color lining the hood is that of the institution granting the degree; in the case of RIT, it is black and orange. Customarily, bachelor's degree candidates do not wear a hood at the academic ceremonies; the holders of master's and doctoral degrees wear hoods, and that of the doctoral is longer. Various colored hoods denote student honor societies.

The dress of the university students who are candidates for the associate and bachelor's degrees is relatively similar. Candidates for the master's degree wear hoods with the distinguishing colors of the academic discipline pursued as trimming. The faculty dress reflects the variety of degrees held and the diversity of educational institutions from which they have received their degrees.

Academic Honors

Undergraduate students graduating with honors are indicated with an asterisk (*). The designations that appear in this publication are based on a student's GPA at the end of the preceding fall semester. Final honors designations will be posted to the undergraduate student's academic record and reflected on his/her transcript based upon the cumulative GPA upon certification of the completion of degree requirements. Because the final honors designations cannot be computed until all degree requirements are fulfilled and final grades are processed, honors designations may differ on the student's diploma.

The numerical criteria for graduation with honors is as follows:

- Cum Laude is equal to a cumulative GPA of 3.40-3.59 (*)
- Magna Cum Laude is equal to a cumulative GPA of 3.60-3.79 ()
- Summa Cum Laude is equal to a cumulative GPA of 3.80-4.0 ()

Undergraduate students graduating from the RIT Honors Program are designated in the Commencement Book with the § symbol. To graduate from the RIT Honors Program, students must fulfill all degree program requirements and Honors Program requirements as outlined below:

- GPA of 3.6 or higher
- Successful completion of 12 honors points, either Honors courses or other activities
- Successful participation in 20 hours of Complementary Learning activities annually

The designations that appear in this publication are based on the undergraduate student's progress in the RIT Honors Program as of the end of the preceding fall semester. Final RIT Honors Program designations will be noted on the student's transcript and may be different than the designations in this book.

Commencement Book Listings

Please note that the names in this program are not an official listing of degree recipients. Students must be certified for their degrees following the posting of their final grades.

Only those students who filed their diploma request by the publicized deadline (April 1) are included in this publication. The names of those students who missed the deadline are not included.

ALMA MATER

Hail, RIT! Together stand
Creating good with mind and hand;
Inspired to learn 'til life is done,
As teachers, learners, all are one!

With pride in our diversity,
A spirit of community,
We are the ones, the people of
The future, here, at RIT!

From RIT, our course is set;
We celebrate a promise kept:
A life, a living you have taught;
Let new horizons now be sought!

RIT History

Respected internationally as a world leader in career-oriented and professional education, Rochester Institute of Technology has been setting an innovative pace since 1829, when a Revolutionary War veteran and the city's namesake, Col. Nathaniel Rochester, became the first president of the Rochester Athenaeum. Founded as a reading society, the Athenaeum charged members a five-dollar annual fee to hear lectures by some of America's best-known orators, including Oliver Wendell Holmes, Horace Greeley, and Ralph Waldo Emerson.

In September 1885, a group of Rochester businessmen founded Mechanics Institute to establish "free evening schools in the city for instruction in drawing and such other branches of studies as are most important for industrial pursuits of great advantage to our people." Henry Lomb was Mechanics Institute's first president.

Mechanics Institute merged in 1891 with Rochester Athenaeum to form the Rochester Athenaeum and Mechanics Institute (RAMI). Comprehensive instruction in mechanical subjects was RAMI's hallmark. The institute's builders responded to both industrial and societal trends in Rochester, and each year the institute graduated increasing numbers of expertly trained professionals who found work in industry, both in Rochester and around the world.

In 1944, in recognition of the increasingly specialized professional nature of its programs, the university adopted the name it holds today: Rochester Institute of Technology.

During each RIT presidency, the university moved to another plane of achievement. Carleton B. Gibson, who took office in 1910, implemented a system that became central to the education of every future student—the cooperative education program, begun in 1912.

When Gibson retired in 1916, America was on the brink of involvement in World War I. His successor, James F. Barker, guided the university during the war years, when its classrooms were filled with military trainees in intensive six-week practical programs. Barker retired when the war ended, leaving Royal B. Farnum to run a school that devoted a large part of its efforts to the rehabilitation of veterans. The first alumni association was formed during Farnum's presidency, a health service was begun for students, and a faculty council was established.

John A. Randall took the reins of the university in 1922. He helped form a balanced vision for RIT as the source of a technical education every bit equal to the classical education available from a traditional university, offering a blend of practical and liberal arts instruction.

In 1936, a young economics professor, Dr. Mark Ellingson, was named to what would become the longest presidency in RIT's history—33 years. During Ellingson's presidency, enrollment at RIT skyrocketed. He brought the Empire School of Printing to RIT from Ithaca. The downtown campus became larger.

During World War II, RIT lost numerous students to military service, but at war's end many returned, and the university's form of education became more popular than ever. The School for American Craftsmen was added, and the university began offering the associate degree. In 1953, RIT received permission to award the bachelor of science degree and, in 1966, the university was approved as the home campus of a new, federally established college, the National Technical Institute for the Deaf. The Ellingson years also saw other changes, such as the establishment of the College of Business (now Saunders College of Business) and the Graphic Arts Research Center.

When the New York State Department of Public Works decided it would build the Inner Loop through the downtown RIT campus, the decision was made to build a new campus in the suburbs. The year RIT moved to its 1,300-acre campus in Henrietta (1968), Ellingson announced his retirement. During his tenure, the assets of the university had grown from $2.3 million to more than $40 million.

In 1969, sociologist Dr. Paul A. Miller became RIT's sixth president. Miller, formerly an assistant secretary of education at the federal level, supervised RIT's maturation. Enrollment increased from 10,000 students to more than 15,000, and programs multiplied extensively. The Nathaniel Rochester Society was founded, and a major fundraising campaign was launched.

RIT's 150th year, 1979, saw major campus celebrations and the first year of Dr. M. Richard Rose's presidency. Dramatic growth and the development of RIT's worldwide reputation as a provider of high-quality education occurred over the next 12 years. Programs in microelectronic engineering, telecommunications, computer engineering, and biotechnology, among others, became examples of RIT's response to industry needs. In 1991, the first students at RIT—and in the nation—in the field of imaging science began their studies. Many campus buildings, including the Hale-Andrews Student Life Center, were completed during Rose's term.

RIT welcomed its eighth president, Dr. Albert J. Simone, in 1992. Under his leadership, RIT grew dramatically. The physical campus underwent a transformation through numerous renovation projects and the addition of several buildings, including the B. Thomas Golisano College of Computing and Information Sciences and the Gordon Field House and Activities Center. Enrollment continued to grow and new academic programs, including four doctoral degree programs and programs in Croatia and Kosovo, were added. One of Dr. Simone's greatest accomplishments was the successful completion of the Campaign for RIT, which raised $309 million in gifts and commitments.

In September 2007, Dr. William W. Destler became RIT's ninth president. With his emphasis on creativity and innovation, RIT began hosting Imagine RIT: Creativity and Innovation Festival. Each spring, this campus-wide event showcases the innovative and creative spirit of RIT students, faculty, and staff. More than 35,000 visitors experience the breadth and depth of RIT through interactive presentations, hands-on demonstrations, exhibitions, and research projects set up throughout campus.

Dr. David C. Munson, Jr., became RIT's tenth president in 2017. Dr. Munson, the former Robert J. Vlasic Dean of the University of Michigan's College of Engineering, brings 38 years of experience in higher education as a professor, researcher, and dean.

Today, RIT enrolls approximately 19,000 full- and part-time students in its nine colleges, the School of Individualized Study, and the Golisano Institute for Sustainability. RIT offers international programs at its global campuses in China, Croatia, Dubai, and Kosovo. Its cooperative education program is recognized as one of the nation's oldest and largest, offering students the opportunity to gain valuable experience and earn funds to support their education. The university has achieved international recognition for its quality career and professional programs, and it has over 135,000 alumni around the world.

College Delegates

Each college selects one undergraduate student and may also select one graduate student to represent degree candidates from the college—students whose overall personal achievement demonstrates the ideals of RIT including, but not limited to, academic achievement.

College of Art and Design

Elizabeth Dettmann

From Bel Air, Md., Elizabeth graduates with a BFA in film and animation. While at RIT, she created two short films called Feets and Jack. Both have been screened in multiple film festivals, including the Animation Block Party in Brooklyn, N.Y. In addition to being a member of the RIT Honors Program, Elizabeth is a founding member and former president of the Animation Club as well as a recipient of the Outstanding Undergraduate Scholar Award. In 2019, she served as a production intern on the Cartoon Network series Craig of the Creek. Elizabeth plans to pursue storyboarding or character design in the animation industry after graduation.

Granville Carroll

From Bothell, Wash., Granville graduates with an MFA in photography and related media. Prior to this, he graduated with a BFA in art photography from the Herberger Institute for Design and the Arts at Arizona State University as well as an associate in arts from Mesa Community College. Granville's photography has been displayed in numerous shows across the country, including two solo exhibitions in Phoenix, Ariz. At RIT, he received the Richard Stanley Award and served as the president and co-chair of a photo arts collective called The Draft. Granville plans to pursue artist/teaching residencies and will be teaching photography online after graduation.

Saunders College of Business

Jarod Farchione

From Lexington, S.C., Jarod graduates with a BS in management information systems. While at RIT, Jarod re-established the Business and Technology Professionals Club. Within one semester, the club had more than 30 members. In 2018, he served as the president of Phi Kappa Psi. During his term, Jarod helped the fraternity improve its national ranking on community service, professional development, and academic accreditation. It went from #97 to #2 nationally. Additionally, Jarod completed co-ops at Google and Napatech and volunteered with Habitat for Humanity as well as the Boys and Girls Club in Rochester. Following graduation, he plans to work at Google in San Francisco.

Carmyn Gomez

From Bronx, N.Y., Carmyn graduates with an MBA. In 2019, she graduated magna cum laude from RIT with a BS in international business. Carmyn is the recipient of numerous awards and honors, including the RIT Trustee Scholarship as well as the Alfred L. and Ruby C. Davis Leadership Award. Her professional experience includes an internship at Canon U.S.A. as well as a co-op at BMW Manufacturing.

While at RIT, Carmyn worked as a student financial assistant with the Division of Marketing and Communications and a graduate resident assistant with the Center for Residence Life. After graduation, Carmyn plans to work at BMW Manufacturing in South Carolina in the Engineering and Operations Management Development program.

Golisano College of Computing and Information Sciences

Barrington Campbell

From Montclair, N.J., Barrington is graduating with a BS in game design and development. His professional experience includes co-ops at RIT's MAGIC Spell Studios, 20th Century Fox, and Unity Technologies. During his time at RIT, Barrington worked on a variety of projects, including one called MetroGnome. He presented it at the Intel University Showcase and won first place in the Microsoft Image Cup Game Jam. Additionally, Barrington was a member of the RIT Honors Program and served as a Unity Ambassador, IGM Ambassador, and Triseum Educational Games Ambassador. Following graduation, he will work as a technical artist on the Graphics Research and Development Team at Unity Technologies.

Nishi Prasad

From Chennai, India, Nishi graduates with an MS in computing security. Prior to this, she graduated from SASTRA University with a degree in electronics and communications. Her professional experience includes working in India at the Ministry of Defense, Freshworks, Inc., and Photon Interactive. At RIT, Nishi volunteered at several events, such as the Girls in STEM Fair and the Rochester Security Summit. As the co-captain of the university's Collegiate Pentesting Competition team in 2019, Nishi helped her team place second internationally. She also completed co-ops with Eaton Corporation and Signify. Following graduation, Nishi plans to continue working as a penetration tester at Signify.

Kate Gleason College of Engineering

Anthony Iannuzzi

From Shrewsbury, Pa., Anthony graduates with a BS/MS in mechanical engineering. His professional experience includes an internship at the U.S. Naval Research Laboratory in Washington, D.C., where he created a new event algorithm and expanded the applicability and efficiency of Henon's Method for event detection. During his internship, Anthony wrote and presented a conference paper at the 2019 AIAA/AAS

Astrodynamics Specialist Conference. Additionally, Anthony has interned at Stanley Black & Decker as well as Moog Inc. At RIT, Anthony served as the lead on a multidisciplinary senior project that is building RIT's first prototype ground station. Anthony plans to pursue a full-time position with the Department of Defense after graduation.

Sergei Voronkin

A Fulbright scholar from Siberia, Russia, Sergei graduates with an ME in sustainable engineering. Prior to this, he graduated with a master's degree in chemistry and a bachelor's in chemical engineering from Siberian Federal University. His professional experience includes working at RN-Vankor in Krasnoyarsk, Russia, as the chief specialist of the Gas Infrastructure Development project. In that role, Sergei was responsible for two complex investment natural gas projects. Sergei has also worked as a process engineer at JSC Achinsk Oil Refinery of Eastern Oil Company in Achinsk, Russia. At RIT, Sergei discovered his passion for renewable energy. Following graduation, he plans to pursue a position in a solar energy company.

College of Engineering Technology

Katy Cortez

From Ewing, N.J., Katy is graduating with a BS in computer engineering technology. In addition to being a member of the RIT Honors Program, Katy is a recipient of the Outstanding Undergraduate Scholar Award. Since 2018, she completed four co-ops as a computer engineer for the U.S. Department of Defense (DoD). At RIT, she worked as a learning assistant for a Multivariable Calculus and Differential Equations course and as a tutor through the RIT K-12 program. In addition, Katy has volunteered with Women in Technology and the Pentecostal Assembly of Christ Church. After graduation, she will work full time as a design engineer for the U.S. DoD.

Raynier Fernandez Salomon

From the Dominican Republic, Raynier graduates with an MS in manufacturing and mechanical systems integration. He also graduated from RIT with an MBA in 2016 and a BS in industrial engineering from Pontificia Universidad Catolica Madre y Maestra in the Dominican Republic. At RIT, he worked as a teaching assistant for the Automation Control Systems laboratory and as a graduate research assistant at the Center for Electronics Manufacturing and Assembly. In 2019, Raynier interned at HP. Prior to that, he worked as a lean manufacturing engineer at CooperVision as well as a process and manufacturing engineer at Eaton Corporation. Raynier plans to pursue a career in program management and/or systems engineering in a leading technology company after graduation.

College of Health Sciences and Technology

Madeline Gibbs

From Albion, N.Y., Madeline graduates with a BS in dietetics and nutrition. She is a recipient of the RIT Trustee Scholarship and served as the president of the RIT Student Dietetic and Nutrition Association. As a nutrition educator, Madeline provided nutrition education and counseling to fellow students at RIT. In 2019, she worked at the University of Rochester Medical Center as a patient menu assistant. While serving in this role, she received the Employee of the Month Award for Strong Staffing and the Strong Star Award. Madeline plans to pursue her dietetic internship at Cleveland Clinic and an MS in Human Nutrition and Functional Medicine after graduation.

Bridget Bowman

From Mechanicsburg, Pa., Bridget graduates with a BS/MS in physician assistant. She is a recipient of the RIT Presidential Scholarship and Nathaniel Rochester Society Scholarship. In addition to being a member of RIT's Honors Program, Bridget also served as the student program representative of the New York State Society of Physician Assistants and worked for RIT Sports Medicine. Since 2019, Bridget completed 10 clinical rotations in New York and Pennsylvania. Most recently, she completed an emergency medicine rotation at Highland Hospital in Rochester, N.Y. Following graduation, Bridget plans to pursue a career in surgery.

School of Individualized Study

Amanda Zaremski

From Rochester, N.Y., Amanda graduates with a BS in applied arts and sciences. Amanda is the founding CEO of WinutRx, Inc., which developed a medication interaction application to help those with chronic illnesses adhere to precise diet restrictions in order to maintain optimal health. The software educates patients, making it easier for them to adhere to their prescribed medications. Due to her efforts, Amanda has received numerous honors, including being named as one of the Top 50 Healthcare Technology CEOs by Technology Innovators and a recipient of the RIT Austin McChord Gap Year Scholarship. Following graduation, Amanda will continue running her company and pursuing a master's degree in health informatics at RIT.

Karl Christopherson

From Orchard Park, N.Y., Karl graduates with an MS in professional studies. He currently works at Fisher-Price as a lead staff designer. Since he started in 2005, Karl has designed products for the preschool, infant, and baby gear categories. Among his many accomplishments, Karl has led product development that has added $60 million of incremental growth for Fisher-Price's infant market category in Asia. Karl also designed the Kid Tough Digital Camera, which received the Toy of the Year Award in the preschool electronics category. Previously, he worked at Hasbro on brands such as NERF, Tonka, GI Joe, Star Wars, and Transformers. Following graduation, Karl plans to pursue new careers paths that will contribute to Fisher-Price's product development efforts.

College of Liberal ArtsBrienna Johnson-Morris

From Ithaca, N.Y., Brienna graduates with a BS in museum studies. In 2018, she completed an internship at Strong National Museum of Play in Rochester, N.Y., where she cataloged a collection of role-playing games. The following year, she interned at the Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C. At RIT, Brienna served as a consultant on an engineering senior capstone project. Her findings from the project were presented at the Museum Association of New York's annual conference. Following graduation, Brienna plans to attend graduate school for linguistics.

ings from the project were presented at the Museum Association of New York's annual conference. Following graduation, Brienna plans to attend graduate school for linguistics.

Emily Hawk

From Rochester, N.Y., Emily graduates with an MS in communication and media technologies. She works at Manning & Napier as an RFP information specialist, where she writes, researches, and completes requests for proposals (RFP), requests for information, and due diligence questionnaires as well as working on other external communications. Prior to this, Emily held a position as a mid-market client services associate at the same firm (2015-2017) and completed an internship at the Smithsonian Institute's Office of Advancement, where she worked on the launch of the museum's 2014 fundraising campaign. Following graduation, Emily plans to continue her current career in finance writing and communications.

National Technical Institute for the DeafTruc Nguyen

From Vietnam, Truc graduates with an AS in applied liberal arts. She also graduated with an associate of deaf education degree from Dong Nai University in Vietnam. While attending school overseas, Truc served as an instructor for Deaf students in Grades 4 and 6. She taught them how to read and write in Vietnamese. During her time at RIT, Truc has served in numerous capacities, such as a teaching assistant for the American Sign Language for New Signers program, summer transition education program assistant, and peer advisor for freshman seminars in 2018 and 2019. Following graduation, Truc plans to acquire a BS and MS from RIT before returning to Vietnam to teach.

College of ScienceAlaa Abdelmageed Ahmed

From Cairo, Egypt, Alaa graduates with a BS in biotechnology and molecular bioscience. She is a recipient of the United States Agency for International Development STEM Undergraduate Scholarship. In Egypt, Alaa interned at the Biomed Pharmaceutical Company and in the Molecular Department of Royal Blood Diagnostic Lab. As a research assistant, she worked in RIT's Virology Lab as well as the Cancer Biology Lab. Her research has been presented at the Rochester Academy of Science and the American Society of Cell Biology. Following graduation, Alaa plans to pursue a Ph.D. in genetics.

Spencer Richman

From Santa Clarita, Calif., Spencer graduates with a BS/MS in bioinformatics. In 2016, he graduated with an associate in the arts in math and sciences from the College of the Canyons. Spencer is a recipient of the David M. Baldwin Memorial Scholarship and the RIT Presidential Scholarship. During his time at RIT, Spencer served as a graduate teaching assistant for a Molecular Modeling and Proteomics course as well as a laboratory technician assistant and bioinformatics systems administrator at Gosnell School of Life Sciences. Spencer also served as a BRITE REU undergraduate researcher at Boston University and a graduate researcher at Rochester General Hospital. Following graduation, Spencer will work at the Center for Clinical Systems Biology at Rochester General Hospital.

Golisano Institute for Sustainability

Leah Przybylski

From West Cape May, N.J., Leah graduates with a master's degree in architecture. She graduated with a BA in archeology, technology, and historical structures as well as psychology from the University of Rochester. Leah is the recipient of numerous awards and honors, including the 2019 AIA NYS Student of the Year Award, 2017 & 2018 Achievement in Architecture Award, and a Special Mayoral Recognition in 2017 &

2018. As the president of the local American Institute of Architecture Students (AIAS), Leah has pushed for greater community involvement. Her thesis was focused on homeless shelters for LGBTQ+ youth. Leah works as an architectural designer for Passero Associates in Rochester, N.Y., and plans to continue exploring the intersection of architecture and psychology.

RIT China

Baisong Li

From Weihai, China, Baisong is pursuing a BS in management information systems from RIT China. Baisong completed internships at PeakValley Capital, MasterCard, and China Asset Management, where he assisted in industry and market research. In addition to being the recipient of three National Scholarships of China, Baisong conducted research on the applications of financial technology (fintech) in China and published one paper in the Journal of Computational and Applied Mathematics. Baisong plans to pursue an advanced degree and found a startup company for fintech and related applications after graduation.

RIT Croatia

Domagoj Rade

From Karlovac, Croatia, Domagoj graduates with a BS in web and mobile computing. Among his many achievements, Domagoj is the recipient of the Outstanding Undergraduate Scholar Award. In addition, he has served as a tutor for Mobile Application Development I and Software Design Principles and Patterns courses. Domagoj gained a rich professional experience through an internship at King-ICT and as an external associate for Kelteks d.o.o., where his team designed and implemented an industrial process optimization solution. Following graduation, Domagoj plans to obtain a Ph.D. and run his company, Embeddeberry, along with his business partner.

RIT Dubai

Irina Palaioudi

From Dubai, United Arab Emirates, Irina graduates with a BS in international business. She completed a co-op with Global Seaways S.A. in Greece, working in operations and accounting. At RIT Dubai, Irina served as the vice president of Student Government and as the captain of the women's volleyball team. She is a recipient of the President's Cup and was part of various volunteer activities on and off campus. Following graduation, Irina plans to pursue a career in management consulting.

RIT Kosovo

Ibrahim Jetullahu

From Vushtrri, Kosovo, Ibrahim is graduating with a BS in applied arts and sciences. He is the recipient of the United States Kosovo Diplomatic Observer Mission Scholarship, the RIT Outstanding Undergraduate Scholar Award, the Excellence in Student Life Award, and the RIT Kosovo Ambassador Scholarship. He was also the first third-year student to receive the RIT Kosovo Outstanding Student Scholarship. During his studies, he worked at RIT Kosovo's Admissions Office as an admissions assistant, and as the head tutor and office coordinator in the Academic Support Center. Most recently, Ibrahim worked as a human resources assistant at IPKO Telecommunications and in RIT's Human Resources Department. Ibrahim is eager to pursue an MS degree in strategic management after graduation.

Arrows pointing in many directions signifies the diverse activities of Saunders College of Business.

The arrows, a common symbol in business, reflect the financial, marketing, and entrepreneurial directions of business. The multiple directions in which they point intimate two-way transaction and constant exchange in the global marketplace.

This strong mechanical symbol represents the many facets of Kate Gleason College of Engineering. Its configuration suggests a structured, cohesive system with connectivity, interaction, and movement. The circular terminals at the ends of the intersecting stems suggest a balance of humanistic-social subjects, physical sciences, and professional studies.

Candidates for Doctor of Philosophy Degree

Miguel Alexander Dominguez

Dissertation: High Capacity Directional Graph Networks

Adviser: Raymond Ptucha, Ph.D.

Poornima Kalyanram

Dissertation: Interaction of Photosensitizers with Model Membranes and their Applications in Photodynamic Therapy

Adviser: Anju R Gupta, Ph.D.

Rounak Singh Narde

Dissertation: Millimeter-Wave Interconnects for Intra- and Inter-Chip Transmission and Beam Steering in NoC-Based Multi-Chip Systems

Adviser: Jayanti Venkataraman, Ph.D.

Alyssa Noelle Owens

Dissertation: A Patient-Specific Infrared Imaging Technique for Adjunctive Breast Cancer Screening: A Clinical and Simulation-Based Approach

Adviser: Satish Kandlikar, Ph.D.

Pritam Poddar

Dissertation: Additive Manufacturing of Engineered Fiber Composite Lattice Structures

Adviser: Denis Cormier, Ph.D.

Yashar Seyed Vahedein

Dissertation: Methods and Algorithms for Cardiovascular Hemodynamics with Applications to Noninvasive Monitoring of Proximal Blood Pressure and Cardiac Output Using Pulse Transit Time

Adviser: Alexander S. Liberson, Ph.D.

Fatemeh Shah Mohammadi

Dissertation: Machine Learning-Enabled Resource Allocation for Underlay Cognitive Radio Networks

Adviser: Andres Kwaskinski, Ph.D.

Karen J. Soule

Dissertation: Electrical Performance Retention of Doped Carbon Nanotube Conductors for High Current Applications

Adviser: Brian J. Landi, Ph.D.

Abdullah M. Zyarah

Dissertation: Energy Efficient Neocortex-Inspired Systems with On-Device Learning

Adviser: Dhireesha Kudithipudi, Ph.D.

Microsystems Engineering

Bruce W. Smith, Ph.D., Director

Microsystems Engineering

Candidates for Doctor of Philosophy Degree

Mohadeseh Asadolahi-Baboli

Dissertation: Catalyst-free Heteroepitaxy of III-V Semiconductor Nanowire Arrays for Photovoltaics

Adviser: Parsian Katal Mohseni, Ph.D.

Michael Larry Fanto

Dissertation: Nonlinear Optics in Photonic Ultrawide-bandgap Circuits

Adviser: Stefan Preble, Ph.D.

Anthony P. Leggiero

Dissertation: High Conductivity Metal-Carbon Nanotube Hybrid Conductors via Chemical Vapor Deposition and Electroplating

Adviser: Brian Landi, Ph.D.

Cheng Liu

Dissertation: Polarization Engineering for Deep-Ultraviolet Light-Emitting Diodes

Adviser: Jing Zhang, Ph.D.

Elisabeth Lynne McClure

Dissertation: Optimization and Characterization of Low-Cost Substrates for III-V Photovoltaics

Adviser: Seth Hubbard, Ph.D.

Thomas Scott Wilhelm

Dissertation: Semiconductor Nanofabrication via Metal-Assisted Chemical Etching: Ternary III-V Alloys and Alternative Catalysts

Adviser: Parsian Katal Mohseni, Ph.D.

Yali Zhang

Dissertation: Prediction of Gas-hydrate Equilibrium, Stability and Kinetic Nucleation in Porous Media

Adviser: Patricia Taboada-Serrano, Ph.D.

Concentric circles around a nucleus exemplifies the interrelationship among different programs within the College of Engineering Technology. Each pathway flowing around the center is linked, showing bridges that allow for many different career paths. The mechanical nature and precision of the pathways suggest science, technology, engineering, and service.

SOIS embodies a holistic ideology in the rapidly evolving world we inhabit. The inner circle, with lines sliced through the center, represents the constant change of a world always in motion, and the unique paths individuals choose to navigate that world. The outer circles represent the many opportunities surrounding innovative studies within the local and global community.

ASSOCIATE VICE PRESIDENT FOR ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

Emanating rays of light personify deaf and hard-of-hearing students, each an individual, yet preparing together for technological careers, ready to go in all directions in a global society, represented by the circular shape. The allusion to an eye conveys the importance of visual communication, and the center represents the beacon that is the National Technical Institute for the Deaf.

The classic symbol of the atom as the fundamental building block of matter represents the College of Science. The symbol signifies an inner core with outer rings that orbit the central nucleus, conveying the perfect harmony through which physics, biology, chemistry, mathematics, and statistics coexist.

DIRECTOR

With an image representing water, wind, and the Earth, this insignia symbolizes the energy of the sun, which powers clean energy, healthy environments, and pollution prevention. The inner gear, surrounded by leaves, reinforces the central ideas of sustainability: remanufacturing, diverse and productive ecosystems, nanopower, government and society, and the management of human consumption.
