

COSEWIC Assessment Summary

Assessment Summary – November 2003

Common name
Slender collomia

Scientific name
Collomia tenella

Status
Endangered

Reason for designation
An annual herb present at a single sandy site near Princeton, British Columbia. The population fluctuates widely from year to year. At risk to stochastic events, roadside development, sand removal, and invasion by alien species.

Occurrence
British Columbia

Status history
Designated Endangered in November 2003. Assessment based on a new status report.