I am very pleased to present to you my first annual report as CEO of Second Harvest Food Bank of Santa Clara and San Mateo Counties. In fiscal year 2006-2007, the Food Bank experienced one of the most successful years in its 33-year history by distributing 6% more food to those in need and raising nearly $3 million more dollars than the previous year. The Food Bank's ability to grow and reach even more hungry people in Santa Clara and San Mateo Counties is a direct result of the many years of consistent support from donors like you. We continue to spend your money wisely, maintaining our efficiency level of returning 96¢ of every $1 donated back to the community in the form of food for those in need.* Thanks to my predecessor Dave Sandretto, who retired last year after serving for eight years as Executive Director, and the Board of Directors for their hard work and foresight that laid the foundation for many of the successful programs we have today.

This past year was one of much change and growth. We conducted over 18 focus groups with our partner agencies throughout the counties we serve. The goal was to better understand the challenges they face. We identified three major issues from these focus groups:

1. Some of our clients faced challenges accessing enough food
2. Our senior clients had special nutritional needs that needed to be met
3. Our family clients needed more food to adequately feed themselves and their children

New programs were developed to respond to each of these issues. To address the issue of access, we launched the Mobile Pantry program. This program delivers food to select sites and is designed to reach clients who live in communities that are relatively isolated because there are no full-service grocery stores within walking distance and residents often lack transportation. To address the nutritional needs of our senior clients, we augmented our Brown Bag program to regularly provide calcium-rich dairy products and foods that are low in salt and sugar. And, to address the quantity issue of our Family Harvest program, we added an additional monthly distribution to select sites.

As with all new programs, additional funds were required for implementation. Fortunately, we had a very successful 2006 Holiday Food & Fund Drive chaired by Jen-Hsun Huang and Chris Malachowsky, co-founders of Nvidia. Their leadership, combined with a creative and enthusiastic approach, raised a record amount of funds which provided the seed money to launch these new programs.

I am grateful to the many corporations - their leaders and their employees; service clubs; schools and scouting organizations; city, county, state and federal elected officials; faith-based organizations; volunteers; and the media that continue to support Second Harvest Food Bank and our mission. We could not do it without you.

Last, but by no means least, I am proud to say that the Food Bank received a four star rating from Charity Navigator, the highest rating possible.

With much friendship and great hope for the future,
Warm regards,

Hunger in Santa Clara and San Mateo Counties

Thank you for hearing our call to action and for supporting Second Harvest in record numbers last year. Because of unprecedented support from caring community members we were able to attack local hunger in bold, swift strokes.

Every person, every donation, every voice matters.

Access to enough nutritious food each day feeds more than the body. The food Second Harvest provides is sprinkled with hope and dignity. Those who receive food from us are given the opportunity to volunteer, they provide continual feedback to help shape our programs and speak out as advocates, driving important public policy initiatives forward.

Without food, children lose focus in school, seniors deteriorate in silence and hard working adults wonder if there is more to life than paying rent and utility bills.

For a family of four with two parents working full-time in Santa Clara or San Mateo Counties it costs $77,069 a year simply to cover basic necessities. This figure does not include a variety of expenses such as major auto repair bills, long-distance phone calls, entertainment or educational materials. The average household income for a family of four receiving food from Second Harvest Food Bank is $16,056 a year.

Individuals who work two or three minimum wage jobs, or rely on modest social security checks, often have no choice but to go without eating. Second Harvest feeds those who cannot feed themselves. We also feed the programs that feed the people.

Aside from introducing several new initiatives that improve access, quality and quantity of food distributed, Second Harvest Food Bank built new relationships and strengthened existing partnerships with local non-profit agencies serving low-income households.

Through our network of 400 community based agencies at 821 distribution sites, we distributed 31.7 million pounds of food in FY 2006 – 2007. Our efforts and efficient distribution model, provided an average of 163,000 individuals with food each month. Still, only half the need was met.

With the support of the community behind us, Second Harvest Food Bank is fighting the battle against hunger in Santa Clara and San Mateo Counties. Thank you for believing in us and for partnering with us year after year to alleviate hunger.

HOW WE WORK

Second Harvest Food Bank of Santa Clara and San Mateo Counties operates two food distribution warehouses 1 located at 750 Curtner Avenue in San Jose and 1051 Bing Street in San Carlos.

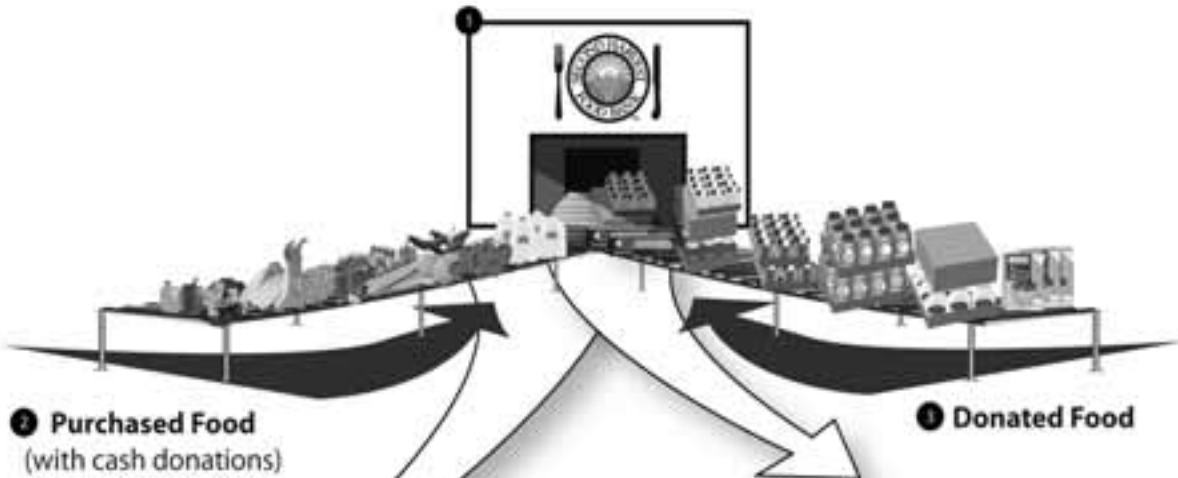

Food comes into these warehouses in the form of donated food 3 and purchased food 2. Donated food comes from growers, processors, wholesalers and retailers, food drives and the government through USDA allocations. Additional food is purchased to supplement donated items and includes fresh fruits and vegetables, milk, meat, and cheese. We also buy large quantities of staple canned and dry goods at wholesale prices.

Last year we distributed more than 31 million pounds of food to 163,000 local residents through our core services model 4 and our unique programs 5. Our core service model mirrors that of most food banks. Ours is called the Food Assistance Program and involves partnerships with more than 400 non-profit agencies including shelters, pantries, soup kitchens, counseling centers, educational organizations and community based safety net organizations. These agencies service low-income populations from Daly City to Gilroy, and the Coast to the Bay. Food is either delivered by the Food Bank directly to these partner non-profits or representatives from the organizations visit the San Jose or San Carlos Distribution Center to pick up items, which they take back to their location and provide to their clients.

In addition to partnering with local non-profits, Second Harvest Food Bank of Santa Clara and San Mateo Counties is unique because we address underserved geographic areas and populations through our own Direct Service Programs. We established these direct service distribution sites in specific geographic areas because we determined the food needs in those neighborhoods were not being met with existing programs. Our direct service programs include:

- 6 Summer Nutrition provides 20,000 children a month with free meals during their summer vacations.
- 7 Produce Mobile delivers fresh fruits and vegetables to 4,000 individuals each month.
- 8 Partners in Need provides weekly food assistance to 700 Food Bank volunteers each year.
- 9 Family Harvest provides 100 pounds of food to 3,000 families with children on a monthly basis.
- 10 Operation Brown Bag supplies one large bag of free groceries to an average of 12,600 seniors each week.
- 11 Mobile Pantry provides geographically isolated communities with 100 pounds of food each month.

FOOD STAMP OUTREACH PROJECT

Food Stamp Outreach was conducted in collaboration with the Santa Clara County Social Services Agency and the Homeless Coalition. The Food Bank is one of the few non-profit organizations in the state authorized to process and expedite such applications. By signing up through Second Harvest, applicants receive benefits in days rather than weeks. Resources for Food Stamp benefits are also provided through the Food Bank's "Food Connection Hotline."

AGENCY RELATIONS CONFERENCES

Agency Relations Conferences were organized by the Food Bank to support local non-profit service providers with education in grant writing, advocacy, volunteer management, food safety, nutrition, disaster preparedness, and cultural competency. Representatives from 300 non-profit organizations attended. Both conferences were made possible through sponsorships from: Applied Materials, Oracle, and the Silicon Valley Community Foundation.

MOBILE PANTRY

Mobile Pantry started as a pilot program in Spring 2007. This new program is designed specifically to improve access to food for low-income individuals living in isolated communities without full service grocery stores and limited access to free food assistance programs. Recipients receive large boxes filled with nutritious foods such as fresh milk, eggs, produce, and meat. Our partners include the Santee Neighborhood Association (San Jose) and Puente de la Costa Sur (Pescadero).

High

CHILDREN'S SUMMER NUTRITION

Children's Summer Nutrition provides food for students during the long summer vacation when they do not receive subsidized meals at their schools. During the summer of 2007, Second Harvest provided additional food to 20,000 children a month, lifting much of the burden off of parents whose limited resources are already strained.

THE STATE SUMMER FEEDING PROGRAM

The Food Bank conducted a pilot program in 2007 that allowed a local soup kitchen (Martha's Kitchen) and a safety net organization (Samaritan House) to prepare nutritious meals for low-income children during the summer months. Second Harvest handled the administrative process needed for both organizations to receive government reimbursement for the meals they provided to children. Meals were provided to low-income children attending recreational and day camp programs at Sacred Heart Community Services and the Martin Luther King Center.

Thousands of donors supported these efforts through contributions to the Food Bank's "Share Your Lunch" campaign. All funds raised were directed to our children's summer feeding program and the purchase of food for children.

LEGISLATION AND ADVOCACY

Anti-Hunger Advocacy and Legislation is a unique way that Second Harvest can promote systemic change aimed at fighting the root causes of poverty. The Food Bank nominated State Assembly Member Jim Beall for the Hunger Fighter Award, which he received at Hunger Action Day in Sacramento. In partnership with the Food Bank and the California Food Policy Advocates, Assembly Member Beall introduced Assembly Bill 433 to reduce the barriers that low-income households face when applying for Food Stamp benefits.

Nancy Amidei, former Director of the Food Research and Action Center, conducted a workshop at Second Harvest for local community members interested in anti-hunger advocacy. The workshop was made possible by MAZON: A Jewish Response to Hunger.

The reauthorization of the Federal 2007 Farm Bill impacts a range of programs including Food Stamps and the Emergency Food Assistance Program through which the Food Bank receives a food allocation. Second Harvest collaborated with federal representatives to move this important legislation forward. In addition, Second Harvest staff, volunteers and clients traveled to Sacramento for the Hunger Action Day in May to discuss concerns about hunger and nutrition with elected officials.

NUTRITION, HEALTH AND CULTURE

The Food Bank understands the connection between poor physical health and food insecurity. Low-income individuals must stretch their dollars as far as possible, which often means purchasing high fat, inexpensive foods such as fast food. By distributing fresh produce and protein-rich foods, the Food Bank promotes healthy eating behaviors that are cost prohibitive to our clients. When appropriate we also include culturally specific foods. This allows clients to prepare the food they receive in a way that is familiar and culturally relevant to them.

PRODUCT DISTRIBUTION

We receive food from growers, wholesalers, retailers, community food drives and the government through USDA allocations. The following is a graph showing the breakdown of the types of food distributed by the Food Bank.

OUTREACH TO PEOPLE IN NEED

- Individuals who need food call the Food Connection hotline. Operators speak English, Spanish and Vietnamese
- An average of 2,653 referrals for food assistance programs were made to callers each month
- Food Stamp outreach efforts allowed eligible households to receive benefits within days instead of months
- Low-income seniors benefited from 132 nutrition and health education workshops

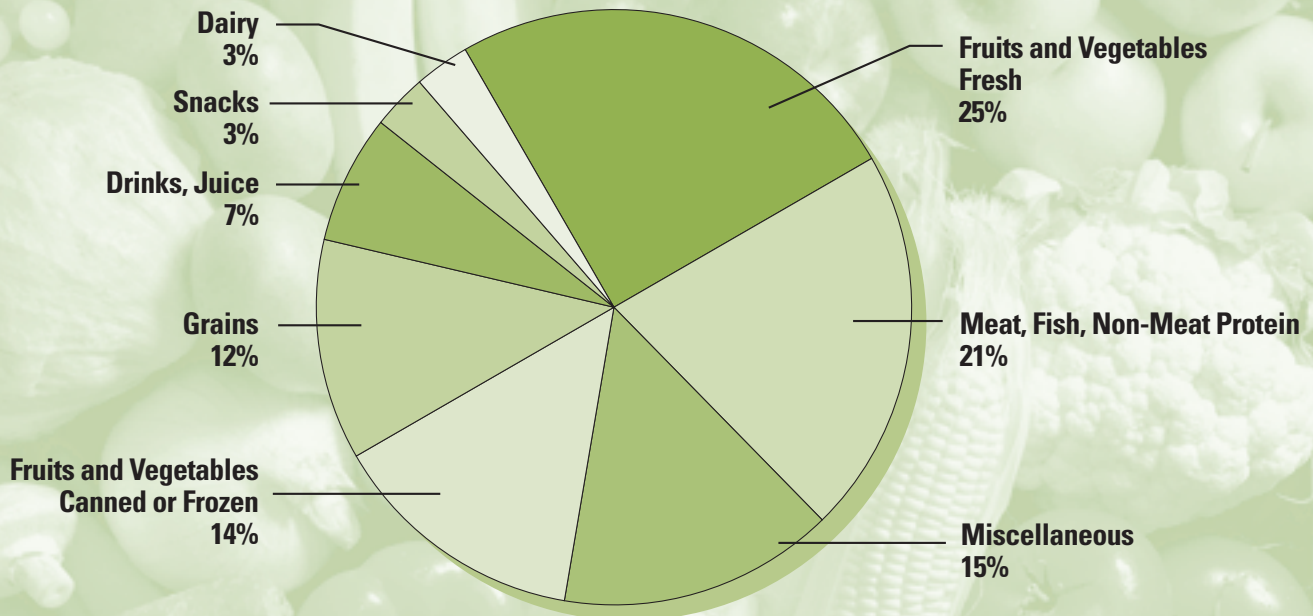

- Our program partners benefited from 414 nutrition education, food safety and menu planning workshops

VOLUNTEERS

Volunteers make it possible for the Food Bank to maintain its four-star Charity Navigator efficiency rating. In FY 2006 - 2007 volunteers donated 187,294 hours of their time which is equivalent to 90 full-time employees.

NOTE FROM THE CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

Our heartfelt thanks goes to you, our very special donors and volunteers. You touched our hearts with your generosity for the hungry here in Santa Clara and San Mateo Counties. In fiscal year 2006–2007, volunteers contributed the equivalent of 90 full-time positions (more people than we employ) valued at $3.1 million in wages. Food donations and cash contributions provided 31.7 million pounds of food, equivalent to approximately 24.8 million meals. The 15.3% increase in donations and contributions allowed the Food Bank to:

- Provide low-income families, seniors, and individuals with more food
- Deliver wholesome, healthy food including protein, calcium-rich dairy products, and foods low in salt and sugar
- Expand and launch new programs such as the Produce Mobile, a refrigerated truck that brings high-quality, fresh produce to Family Harvest sites, and the Mobile Pantry that delivers food to low-income housing areas that lack transportation and a local supermarket.

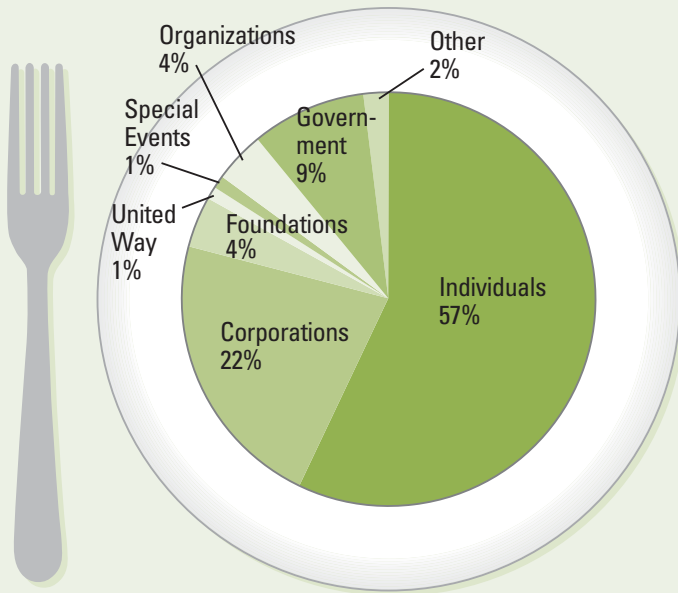

The 2005 Hunger Analysis of Santa Clara and San Mateo Counties challenges us with the number of people that continue to go to bed hungry. Our capacity for food distribution must grow significantly over the next few years to enable us to meet the needs of our neighbors and reduce the hungry among us. We appreciate the continued support of you, our partners, as together we work diligently to provide local solutions to hunger in our community.

SALLY J. PETERSEN, CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

Thank you to our generous financial donors. Each year, individuals, corporations, foundations, and organizations respond to the needs of our community by contributing millions of dollars to end local hunger. The next few pages list many donors who have contributed to the Food Bank during the past fiscal year (July 1, 2006 – June 30, 2007). Due to space limitations we are only able to list institutional donors of $1,000 and above and individual donors of $500 or more. We thank you on behalf of the thousands of children, adults and senior citizens who are fed because of your support.

Thank You

D O N A T I O N O F F O O D

While food drives bring in a large amount of non-perishable canned goods, we rely on many local manufacturers and distributors for perishable items. The companies listed below generously support the Food Bank's efforts to provide nutritionally balanced food to people in need in our community.
