Watch us MOVE NOW!

$\Delta$s students at Diboll High School, we are always moving. Whether it be moving in, around or out, we continuously strive to keep pace with the rest of the world. We know that as students, we cannot keep still and remain static in this gigantic race of life.

DHS students are movers and shakers. We strive to be leaders, not followers. Sometimes we may not always attain this goal but we do try our hardest in everything we do. Determination is what separates us from students in all other schools. Though we may not always succeed, we feel pleased because we gave it our all.

Everyone is unique and different. Just imagine how boring life would be if we all had the same personalities, ideas and dreams. Being different is what actually keeps us moving. Because we all have our own standards and beliefs we are willing to compete with any conflicting views to get what we want.

We are moving to meet our goals and accomplish our dreams. Some people believe that dreams do not come true. Others believe they do. Looking at reality, dreams do not just come true. We have to make dreams happen. When our hearts are in our dreams, they are realistic and attainable.

We all have goals in life and we should remember that DHS is the beginning of our education, not only in academics and athletics, but in life itself.

$\mathbb{T}$he 1989-90 school year began with a bang when the doors finally opened on the brand new Diboll High School building. Administrators, teachers and students anxiously awaited the opening since 1986 when a $\$ 5$ million bond election was passed to construct the new high school. Actual construction began after the ground breaking in July 1988, and the official dedication came on October 8, 1989

Arthur Temple was a special guest speaker that delivered the congratulatory speech to administrators, faculty and Board members of Diboll Public Schools.

Before school started many teachers moved into their classrooms. They began moving in early August in temperatures that reached over 100 degrees.

Faculty came in their horse trailers, moving vans and pickups. Principal Bobby Baker even moved his things in his dad's "watermelon" trailer.

While teachers were moving their belongings over from the old campus, scores of electricians and construction workers also crowded the new school's halls trying to finish their work before August 1. Teachers hurriedly arranged their rooms before students arrived on August 30 for the first day of school.

Many students liked the new building but strongly disliked the closed campus. "I think students would have enjoyed the school more if we could leave for lunch," said Senior Stephanie Martinez. But despite this disadvantage, the overall feeling of the students was a positive one. National Honor Society vice president Phillip Gage commented, "Even though the rules have become stricter, it is a better atmosphere because everything isn't falling apart."

Hall Talk

Look at all those rumors

IIave you ever had the feeling that you just couldn't wait until class was over because you have some really good gossip that you just had to tell your best friend?

Or maybe you have just heard that someone has spread an embarrassing lie about you to your friends and you can't wait to see that person in the hall to tell them what you really feel about them.

We all know how it is here at ol' DHS. The hall is the place to spread gossip, to pass notes and definitely to straighten out rumors.

We as students, are always trying to find the "dirt" on everyone. In Diboll, we all know rumors can spread faster than you can blink and once they are spread, it's almost impossible to straighten them out. Most of the time, we can't even distinguish if the information we are hearing is true or not. It seems that we all hate rumors, especially when they are about us, but we all have done it at least once in our lives.

Senior Ruben Esteves said, "When I hear rumors, I don't spread them to everyone; just to my two closest friends." But even when we just tell a rumor to a few of our closest friends, it could end up all over school. And sometimes when we pass notes with juicy information they end up in the "wrong hands" and then the trouble really starts. Don't you hate the feeling you get when you are accused of spreading a lie? Even though you may have never said anything, it can still make you pretty mad.

Senior Roy Lee Davis said, "I think if everyone tended to their own business, they wouldn't have time to get involved with other people's business."

How true thatis. The problem is that some of us have trouble taking our own good advice. Maybe if we all kept our noses out of other people's business, the rumor situation at Diboll High would decrease. And then again, maybe it wouldn't.
-Tina Roberts

MANY COUPLES such as Sophomores Chris Simms and Jennifer Murphy use their lockers as a meeting place between classes.

THREE MUSKETEERS Chantea Reed, Kim Stringer and Stephanie Martinez with Chris Green seem to be having fun roaming the halls.

JOEL COOK looks totally interested in whatever his girlfriend, Elvia Esteves, just said.

STEVEN HAVARD, Monica Smith, Stephanie Lyles and Tamara Russaw converse between classes.

FRESHMAN TREY Ingram waits outside in the hall Mrs. Linda Cordell's door for someone to come by.

SEVERAL STUDENTS hurry to class before the tardy bell rings. JAMES STEWART looks as if he's in shock as others clown around.

It was a new decade, 1990, a new frontier to explore. New standards were set and there were new fashions and styles.

As the ' 90 's started, old styles started to come back. Gabriel McGaughey brought James Dean to DHS by his actions and attire. James Dean t-shirts and memorabilia were also seen in malls and specialty shops. Gabriel also idolized Elvis Presley and brought back big collars and suede shoes.

Other styles brought spandex athletic wear in by storm. Tights were seen everywhere on the DHS campus from under Ricky Covington's shorts on the basketball court to under Clemmie Mann's pants in the hall. Tights were everywhere and many people wore them.

Other "fashions" that were seen on the DHS campus were blue jean cut-offs and turtlenecks.

During the colder months, just about everyone wore turtlenecks in some form. Many people wore them under sweatshirts with their favorite college team or logo on it.

During the warmer months, one of the fads was to cut off a pair of jeans just above the knee and rolled them up. This style may have been influenced by the movie "Dirty Dancing," but either way, cut-offs were popular among high school students at DHS.
The school year also brought new hair styles. Among the black males, the hair styles were really tall and high." I liked my hair in a flat-top because it was cool and everybody has a haircut like it," James Stewart said.

The white males at DHS got their hair cut a little shorter than usual and the girls approved. "The guys are finally getting their hair cut shorter and they don't look like thugs anymore," Teri Hampton said.

Junior Angie Yates had another view on the fashion scene at DHS. "I really don't think fashion changes from year to year." As far as blue jeans and $t$-shirts, they stay in style from year to year. But for other fashions, they seemed to change a little. Certain fads come and go within a year. DHS students probably won't be wearing Batman $t$-shirts next school year but there will be some other fad that is really cool so everyone will be wearing it.

But just remember making a fashion statement doesn't necessarily mean wearing what is in. It means being bold and brave with the clothing you wear. As long as you feel good about what you wear, and as long as it looks good, then it is fashionable.

Making Friends

How would we get through school without them

Remember when you were in the first grade and you seemed to be friends with everyone? You didn't really worry about what people thought or said about you because you were just glad to be there.

But now that you're all "grown up," things just aren't the same. You're definitely more concerned about what people say and think about you and you're not friends with everyone. Now that you're in high school, you seem to hang around a few close friends and there always seems to be that one special friend that you give the honorary title of "best friend."

Can you imagine how boring school would be if you had to face its unbearable tasks without the help of your friends? You might think "it's not possible." Oh, it's possible. It's just not very fun. Just think of writing that big research paper. You detest the thought of all that work you have to do, but remembering that all your friends have to do it, too, makes it a little better.

Also, remember semester exams? Friends can come in pretty handy when they let you borrow the notes you forgot to take in class. We can all agree that friends are pretty important to us, and without them, life could be really rough.

There are certain characteristics that you expect your best friend to have. You expect them to be honest and considerate; caring and trusting. And if they don't meet your expectations, then they probably won't be your best friend for long. With a best friend, you never seem to have to worry about them "stabbing you in the back" or stealing your girlfriend or boyfriend. Your best friend should be trustworthy with your deep, dark secrets and they should never be "two-faced." When asked what she liked best about her best friend, Junior Tina McClendon replied, "She's honest, has a sense of humor, and she's herself."

Most of us look for someone that doesn't try to impress us or brags about how great they are. You like them because of who they really are, not who they try to be. With a best friend, you should be able to always count on them to be there for you and know that they are not going to let you down. That's what friendship is all about and that's why it's so important.

Foriegn exchange students swarm DHS campus

Diboll High School hosted seven foreign exchange students this year, three from Spain, and one from Norway, Japan, Indonesia, and France. Five of the students arrived in Diboll during the summer and the other two arrived during the fall.

Senior Andres Saez from Madrid, Spain, amazed everyone with his height. The 6'6" exchange student lived with DHS math teacher Lois Clemens and her husband, Vernon, in Lufkin. Andres said he enjoyed playing basketball and collecting hats.

Another Spaniard, Ana Murgadas, was also a senior and came from Barcelona. She lived with Mrs. Virginia Douglas and enjoyed playing tennis, reading, going to the movies and eating out with her American friends.

Atsuko Suzuki, another senior, was from Hiroshima, Japan. She lived with Mr. and Mrs. Herb Evans. Atsuko played JV basketball and tennis for Diboll. She also played on the senior powder puff team.

Another exchange student, Lars Rostad came to Diboll from Drammen, Norway. Lars lived with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rast. Lars enjoyed attending American parties.

Junior Maxixe Mantofa came to Texas from Indonesia. Max said he enjoyed collecting stamps and listening to popular music. Max lived with his host family Bill, Mary Ann and Richard Thompson.

Laure Allegra was from Grenoble, France, and lived with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wright. Laure said she enjoyed modeling and playing tennis.
Finally, Eva Samaniego, an exchange student from Madrid Spain, said she liked to swim and play volleyball. Eva Lived with Paul and Paula Murphy.

All exchange students were sent to Diboll by the Education Foundation which places exchange students in homes in the United States. Most exchange students returned to their homes in June after school ended.

Girls Get Physical

Juniors, Seniors fight it out in powder puff football game

Girls of the senior class won the spring powder puff football game between the junior and senior girls, 12-0. The game was held April 19 at Lumberjack Stadium. About 30 girls played in the game along with about ten coaches.

Rita Brown scored a third quarter touchdown and Angela Barkley added to the $6-0$ score in the fourth period to bring the final tally to 12-0.

Rita put the first points on the board by returning a kickoff that opened in the second half of play.

Junior quarterback Clemmie Mann kicked off but most seniors think she never expected the ball would be returned for a touchdown. A try for a twopoint conversion failed.

The juniors made several attempts at the end zone but never quite made it in.

Running back Ericca Joshua made a good run during the first half of play but defensive end, Kim Stringer managed to pull her flag before she entered the end zone.
"Even though our offense didn't work as well as we expected, our defense did exceptionally well until we lost our momentum," commented Junior coach Jason Smith.
Six more points were scored on the scoreboard when senior quarterback, Carla Moses handed off to Angela Barkley. Angela ran 25 yards for a touchdown but the twopoint conversion failed.
The score remained $12-0$ as time ran out. Juniors and seniors shook hands and left the field as good sportsmen.

Fans were also entertained by a portion of the DHS band.
Mrs. Kim Wright organized and carried out the event that provided the Senior Class with almost $$ 500$ for the senior trip to San Antonio.

$T$he word "people" is defined as a cultural and social unity, applying to a group united by a common culture, common ideas and a feeling of unity arising from common responsibilities and interests.
"People" make up families and that is what the students at Diboll High School are-a family.
No one person gets special privileges. Everyone is treated equally.
At times, it may seem that only one person stands above all the rest, but students have to realize that everyone is not perfect, but who knows, you might be able do something that person can't. Everybody is unique in his own way.
Diboll High School administrators feel that students who do well should be recognized and because of the Renaissance Program, it is now possible.

The Renaissance Program gave "people" an incentive. If a "person" is recognized for an accomplishment, they are motivated to keep on working hard and because of all this hard work, the people who make up the DHS student body have made this school one of the best in East Texas.

Come as you are

It was 5:30 a.m. on a cold, frosty morning in January. A few senior girls were tumbling out of bed to make what became one of the most memorable events of their senior year.

These girls went from house to house to wake up their other senior girlfriends. The girls were not allowed to dress in other clothing, apply make-up or fix their hair. They were required to "come as they were."

At some girls' homes, this was a dangerous, but yet eye opening, task.

Some girls came face-to-face with killer poodles and one group was even thought to be burglars and were frightened off by one of the girls' parents.

All the girls had an enjoyable time ringing doorbells, beating on windows and laughing loudly to awake their friends.

As the girls were recruited one by one, the groups met back at Rita Brown's house. There they prepared breakfast, took pictures, watched MTV and just goofed off. About 21 girls attended the party.

At about 10 that Friday morning, all the girls were snuggled back into their beds, dreaming once again.

The group of girls who attended the unique "come as you are" party will remember that morning for many years to come.

Representing Diboll High

Being chosen as Mr. and Miss DHS was an especially big honor for Phillip Camp and Trina Walls because they were the first students elected to represent the new Diboll High School.

These students were chosen to represent DHS because they are the best of the best.

Trina participated in band for four years and qualified for state. She was a Student Council member for four years and president in her senior year.

Trina was a class officer for four years serving as president in her senior year. She was also a member of the National Honor Society.
"Trina is hard working. There couldn't be a more deserving person," fellow Senior Mark Kemler said.

Phillip played football and baseball three years. He was named all-district on both teams. Last year his teammates voted him the offensive lineman of the year.

Phillip was active in Future Farmers of America where he served as treasurer and president.

In March, his steer won grand champion honors at the Angelina County Junior Livestock show.
"Phillip is always friendly and really outgoing with everyone," said Chantea Reed.

Phillip said he never imagined that he would get Mr. DHS. "It's good knowing that I am the first Mr. DHS to graduate from the new school," he said.

'90 seniors leave their mark

CLASS FAVORITES - Their positive outlook on life and cheerful personalities made Patrina Sheffield and Clint Wallace the Senior Class favorites.

BEST ALLA Around - Possessing good qualities and winning the admiration and respect of their fellow classmates are Best All Around seniors, Derrick McGowen and Trina Walls.

FRIENDLIEST - USUALLY seen with bright smiles around campus are Seniors Chris Nash and Rita Brown. Their classmates voted that they are the friendliest.

at new Diboll High School

MOST LIKELY to Succeed - There is no doubt that Debrah Brooks and Clint Wallace will turn their dreams into reality. "Most likely to succeed" certainly describes these two 1990 seniors perfectly.

BEST DRESSED-Setting fashion trends and catching eyes with their sometimes outrageous and unusual clothing are Kim Stringer and Derrick Hodge. They were voted best dressed in the Senior Class.

WITTIEST-FINDING humor in almost any situation are DHS's wittiest, Ruben Esteves and Heidi Yates. These two always know how to make others laugh.

. "'

MOST ATHLETIC-Willing to give up their time for after-school sports' practices were elected as DHS's most athletic, Natisha Gordon and Marcus Mitchell. They believe that practice does make perfect.

Future dreams

All seniors have dreams about what they want their futures to hold.

And at the end of a senior year, most 18 -year-olds realize it's time to make those dreams come true.

At times it can be really confusing trying to make a decision about what to do with your life. Some seniors will decide that a job would be the best way to go. Others will decide to go to college and try to further their educations.

But there will be some who will decide to make a commitment to the U.S. Armed Forces. Eric Knighton is one DHS senior who has made such a decision.
"I decided to join the Army because I wasn't really sure about what I wanted to do after high school," Eric said.
"I felt like the Armed Services would be the best way to go to college and get experience at a career," he said.

Other seniors, such as Carla Moses and Roy Lee Davis, have made the decision to join the Army. Derrick Hodge has decided to go into the Air Force.

Weekend hangouts

On a Friday or Saturday night when someone drives into the Lufkin Mall, long lines of cars and trucks are always "cruising" the mall. A large portion of these people are from Diboll High School.

You and a friend may go alone to Lufkin, and end up seeing some friends from school and decide to go do something with them. It is rare to go to the mall on a weekend and not see anyone that you know.

Sometimes a couple of people may pull their car over into one of the mall parking lots. Then within minutes many of their friends have pulled over to talk about each others plans for the night.

As soon as everyone has decided what they want to do, they either all pile in one person's vehicle or follow each other to wherever they have decided to go for the evening.

Being able to go to the mall and meet your friends is something everyone looks forward to. Sometimes people go and cruise the mall to find a new girlfriend or boyfriend.

Others go to see who is with whom and make sure that their own boyfriend or girlfriend is not anywhere they shouldn't be.

So as you can see, many things happen at the mall, both good and bad.

So if you don't ever go cruise the mall, go sometime and see what happens to you. We can promise you it will be fun.

-Chantea Reed

Friends forever

Senior Felipe Hernandez and his family went through a traumatic experience that lasted for more than six weeks during the fall semester.

Felipe said he was diagnosed with intestinal polyps at Woodland Heights Hospital in Lufkin. Polyps are outgrowths or tumors that occur in any organ that is lined with mucous membranes, including the intestines. He was a patient at Woodland Heights for three weeks before being transferred to the Houston Diagnostic Center for surgery where he stayed for over three weeks.

During the first four weeks of hospitalization, Felipe said his diet consisted strictly of liquids. As a result, he lost 28 pounds.

Felipe said he as not frightened throughout the ordeal until he was transferred to Houston. Then he realized how serious his condition really was.

Felipe had enough credits to graduate with the class of 1990 but chose to come during the fall of 1990 because of the amount of material that he missed. He will, however, graduate after the first semester.

Felipe said he wanted to express his gratitude for all the support he and his family received. "My friends were very supportive because they went to the hospital," he said. "Once I went to Houston, I thought they wouldn't remember me. But from all those cards and balloons they sent, it made me feel more confident. The school staff and teachers were also a great help."

Natural talents

These guys have a natural talent when it comes to music. To them, rapping comes almost automatically.

When they first heard about the Rap Contest, sponsored by KFOX-95, they decided to show the public what they could really do.

Kandrick "Kandy" Jenkins, Roy Lee Davis, Ricky Covington, Derrick Hodge, Artha Griffin and Jermaine Kilgore got together for two days and worked on a rap song that earned them first place in K-FOX's special contest.

They performed their rap song in the Lufkin Mall and after winning first place, they received a $$ 200$ check which went to any school organization of their choice. Since most of them were seniors, they decided to donate the money to the senior class. In addition to the $$ 200$ check, KFOX- 95 gave each winner a KFOX T-shirt. Upon their return to DHS, Principal Bobby Baker gave them special recognition by awarding them a Diboll Lumberjack cap and having their picture made so it would appear in the "Free Press" for representing Diboll High so well. -Trudy Tamez

THE D-TOWN Posse had it all together when they won the KFOX-95 FM Rap Contest in the fall.

Its been an expensive year!

Ever since kindergarten, students cannot seem to wait until their own senior year. They hear stories of how much fun seniors have and how great they feeling of "ruling the school" is.

With these feelings come certain personal expectations. You expect it to be easy and you expect to have fun. But most of all, you don't expect to go broke.

Most people will agree that the senior year of high school is the most expensive year of public school. Just think about it. There are so many things to buy just to even graduate.

The spending begins at the end of the junior year with the purchase of senior rings. The average cost for a senior ring is about $$ 250$. But that ring will serve as a reminder of those glorious days in high school, so it must be worth it.

When the senior year actually begins, Counselor Mary Ingram starts reminding you of those college entrance exams. The average student will spend around $$ 60$ on SAT's, ACT's and TASP tests.

Naturally, the TEAMS and the CAT tests are "on the house," compliments of the State of Texas.

One of the privileges of being a senior is having senior breakfasts. It depends on the person but the average breakfast totals about $$ 5$.

Seniors will also pay for senior shirts which average about $$ 20$ in cost. Then there is the senior yearbook, also $$ 20$, if it has your name and graduation date imprinted on it in gold, and then there are memory books that cost around $$ 15$.

The Junior-Senior Prom will probably cost the most of all the events during the senior year. On an average, a total of $$ 300$ will be spent for just one night. The determining factors of cost depend on whether you are a boy or a girl and if you go with a date. Not only do you have to buy a dress or rent or buy a tux but there are little things that can cost a lot. There are the special shoes, corsages or boutoniers, photos and the meal before you go to the prom.

When graduation finally gets close, everyone is so busy and so broke. Senior portraits are priced from $$ 100-300$. Cost of your cap and gown runs about $$ 10$. And most people want new clothes to wear under your graduation gown, so that's another $$ 50$ at least.

Then there are the graduation invitations which may total almost $$ 100$. When you buy invitations, you also buy thank you notes and those oh-so-expensive stamps (that are $25 ¢$ each).

And the average senior will take at least $$ 30$ with them on their senior trip.

So if you add you add all that up, you see that the infamous senior year will cost over $$ 1,000$.

"Playing" around

Senior theater arts students Mark Kemler, Summer Bland, Trina Walls, JoAnna Cowart and Tina Roberts participated in UIL one-act plays for three consecutive years. They became involved with theater arts when they were sophomores.
"I never really thought of trying out for the play until Mrs. (Linda) Cordell asked me to. I never thought I was good enough," Tina said.

With the addition of the theater arts class this year, students involved in drama have been able to learn about performing before people without getting stage fright. They also learned how to correlate their facial and body expressions with the words coming out of their mouths.
"The thing I like best about theater arts is that we can practice at school instead of in the evenings. Plus, it's a really fun class," Trina said.

During the '89-90 school year, the group worked with the other theater students in two Christmas plays, "Song of Glory" and "Christmas Prospects."

They performed the plays before the student body before Christmas vacation. They also participated and performed in two one-act plays for UIL competition. One play was a serious drama entitled "Good-Bye To The Clown" and the other was a comedy called "Louder, I Can't Hear You."

Both plays were performed on March 27 at the Temple Civic Center. "Good-Bye..." was performed in UIL competition at Angelina College on March 30.

OUCH!! Are we pulling your hair too hard?

Seniors Yvette Villanueva and Esma Gordon cautiously looked over their models' hair to try a new hairstyle on her.

Both seniors attended Richard and Joseph's Lufkin Beauty College during their junior and senior years to learn the finer points of cosmetology. They were the only representatives of Diboll High School that attended the beauty college this year.

During their junior year, they were taught cosmetology theory, and were trained to do their practical work on mannequiens.

During their senior year, they actually did practical work on "live" customers. They also prepared themselves as they studied for the Texas Cosmetology Commission's State Board Test which was taken in Austin.

After successfully taking and passing the test, Yvette and Esma will receive their cosmetology license that will allow them to work in a beauty salon or even open their own salon when they can afford it.

Being able to go to beauty college while still in high school and using the studies as high school credits is just one of many benefits that students have at Diboll High School.

Most of all, the girls learned a trade that will help them make their own livings.

rades. Homework Classes. Frustration. These were a few things that came to mind in connection with the word "academics.

But what about freedom, challenges, incentives, privileges, recognition and pride? We came to school to learn but we came to school to be recognized, too, didn't we?

We were allowed to make certain decisions about certain things in classes. Some school work we found challenging but at the same time, exciting and fun.
When we did well, we gained pride in ourselves and in our work. Isn't increased self-confidence a part of academics, too?

In 1989-90, a new program was presented to the students of Diboll High School called the Renaissance Program.

The Renaissance program was a student incentive project to promote academic excellence among teen-age students, according to Principal Bobby Baker.

It wasn't just for "straight A" students but also for those with " B " and " C " averages. The Reanissance program gave all students an equal opportunity to excel and be recognized, providing the student worked to the best of his or her academic ability. This program was successful at area schools and proved to be so at Diboll, too.

PRINCIPAL BOBBY Baker started the Renaissance program this year at DHS. One of the incentives was reimbursement of ACT and SAT test fees if a students test scores were high enough.

After teaching $291 / 2$ years at Diboll, Mrs. Cindy Maddox hung up her admirable title as one of the "most unique teachers" ever to teach at Diboll High School. She captured the hearts of her students and fellow teachers with her unique sense of humor and unparalleled personality.

Mrs. Maddox graduated from Stephen F. Austin State University in 1958. She received her master's degree in 1962. She began teaching at Diboll Elementary and a year later moved to Diboll High School to teach home economics. Her minor was English, so she also taught a few English and reading classes along the way, too.

Mrs. Maddox had a unique way of teaching. Students say that she made learning enjoyable, a true talent in itself.

She presented ideas and approached situations in a manner that all could understand and benefit from. She not only taught two generations of students how to cook, sew, read and write but she taught practical skills that would help students make it in the "real world."

A retirement party was held for Mrs. Maddox on January 19 in the DHS library. Teachers, administrators, board members and friends attended to say their good-byes and give her their blessings. Although Mrs. Maddox retired from teaching, she didn't really leave her students behind.

The lessons she taught will be in the halls of DHS forever.

Ags whip competition

Diboll FFA and $4-\mathrm{H}$ students came back with many honors from the Angelina County Junior Livestock Show and Youth Fair held March 8-10 at the Lufkin Exposition Center.

Phillip Camp won grand champion steer which he sold for $$ 4.10$ a pound. His steer competed against 39 others which in all totaled $$ 74,828$ in sales.

Champion hog was won by Heather Bradford and sold for $$ 2,100$. Heather was challenged by 30 other swine owners.

JonAnna Bradford won reserve grand champion in the market lamb division. Her lamb was sold for approximately $$ 1,200$.

Diboll ag students not only did well at the livestock show but also at many contests they participated in during the school year.

FFA members competed in dairy judging, livestock judging and land judging. The dairy judging team placed second at Stephen F. Austin State University. Joe Henry Smith was the second highest scoring individual in the contest.

The livestock judging team placed sixth of 58 teams, with Robert Davis being the eighth highest scoring individual.

In land judging division, Diboll placed third of 34 other high school teams.

Although the May 5 Junior-Senior prom was a huge success and made memories that will last a lifetime, there were some people that made the decision to go without a date. They said it was more fun that way because they weren't obligated to stay with one person.

Some of the guys said taking a date was too expensive with renting tuxedoes, buying flowers and eating out.
Butisn'tit always more fun to go with a friend? Let's look at the advantages.

1. Without being asked, friends often do split expenses.
2. A friend won't be jealous or angry if you compliment someone.
3. A friend won't have to worry about how they look because there is no need to impress anyone.
4. Friends can relax around one another.
5. Taking a good friend can be even more fun than having a date because the friend knows all about your past which always makes good conversation.
6. Parents trust their children's good friends because they practically raised them as their own. TRUST is the key word to getting to stay out later.
7. It won't matter if friends are picked up in the old work truck.
8. Often dates want to forget the prom because they went with an old flame that they want to forget. But friends are forever and not forgotten.

Now we're GRADUATES

Dealing with

After waiting 12 years, the 1990 seniors finally got to take that special walk on June 1. It was a moment that they'll never forget. As they took that long walk down the aisle, many emotions went through their minds. There were so many mixed emotions to deal with. Everyone was glad they were finally graduating but they knew it was the last time they would be together as the Class of 1990. Many were not prepared to leave their friends they grew up with. That's what graduating is all about, though.

It's not an ending, just a wonderful beginning. Graduates of '90 are recognized as being a part of society that will greatly affect America's future. Though they aren't all at the same maturity level, and they don't all have the same degree of intelligence, they are the future.

Memories from their 12 years of school will always be in their hearts. Some say that the best years of life is their high school years. Most all seniors would agree. Remember that the graduation ceremony symbolizes the end of 12 years of hard work, but also the start of a new life.

the Class of 1990

THIS IS the moment that the Class of 1990 had waited 12 years for. As the graduates tossed their caps into the air, a feeling of excitement and anticipation overcame them all.

SUPERINTENDENT JIM Dunlap showed his pride for Debrah Brooks who took top academic honors for the year as valedictorian with an average of 98.23 . Salutatorian was Clint Wallace, not far behind with an average of 96.69 .

HEARTS WERE filled with mixed emotions after graduation ceremonies were completed. Almost all shed a tear before they left.

PHILLIP GAGE couldn't help but smile and be proud at the same time as he walked down the aisle to accept his diploma. Others anxiously awaited their own turn to walk down the aisle.

Graduation / 71

This Is

Be The BIG One

THESE SENIORS received scholarships from various clubs, organizations and colleges. There was a total of 32 scholarships among 22 recipients, totaling well in excess of $$ 100,000$. Seniors receiving scholarships were (front, left to right) Clint Wallace, Phillip Gage, Stephanie Martinez, Chantea Reed, Carla Moses, Shannon Bailey, Debrah Brooks, (back row) Kandrick Jenkins, Michael Baldwin, Deborah Hodges, Rhonda Carnley, Angela Barkley, Kerry Smith, Sheri Sheridan, Marcus Mitchell, Ricky Covington, Roy Lee Davis, Derrick Hodge and Trina Walls.

BEFORE THE commencement exercises took place, the seniors waited in the halls of DHS for the processional.

THIS IS Diboll High School's Class of 1990, the first class from the new school. Due to bad weather, graduation was held in the DHS gymnasium. It didn't dull the excitement,though.

THESE SENIORS held the top five academic positions in their class. Tina Roberts had a 90.30 average, Debrah Brooks, 98.23 ; Trina Walls, 96.64; Phillip Gage, 92.77; and Clint Wallace, 96.69.

PRINCIPAL BOBBY Baker makes his last address to the Senior CLass of 1990, at least while they are Diboll High School students. Many opportunities await these students when they leave DHS.

Meeting challenges and setting goals is what all should strive to do. Sometimes it isn't so easy to succeed, especially if dreams seem so far out of reach that they aren't believable. For some, goals aren't easy to set because they don't actually know what they want to do with their lives. It is perfectly normal for graduates not to be sure of what they want to do with their lives after high school. Some graduates who go to college change their majors three or four times before they decide what they really want to do with their lives.

For many, college is the choice that will be made aftergraduation. DHS graduates will travel all over the U.S. to attend colleges of their choice. Others may decide to immediately become a part of the labor force and wait on furthering their education. Still there are others who plan on joining the military so they can go into a specialized field and at the same time receive excellent training for their chosen branch of the service. Whatever path the Class of 1990 chooses to take, it hopefully will be a successful one.

Mistakes in judgment will be made, of course, but that's all a part of life and growing up.

But the future depends on what choices will be made today and tomorrow.

For the first time ever an all-night chemical free party was held for the graduating seniors at Diboll. The parents of many seniors worked hard for several months to create Beach Bash '90 and did a successful job at it. The party started a little after graduation exercises were completed.

At the party, there was a casino where seniors and their guests could enjoy "gambling" with play money that later was used to purchase items at a big auction. There was one room just for viewing movies and one dedicated to playing Nintendo. In the cafeteria, many danced until the early hours of the morning. A big volleyball tournament was held in the gymnasium between seniors and teachers. Along with all this excitement, prizes were given away every 15 minutes. A television, VCR and stereo were given away at six a.m. as the grand prizes. Many local restaurants and companies donated food so there was an ample amount of goodies to feed the group constantly. Parents served pizza, chips and dip, sandwiches, tacos, banana splits and a breakfast was donated by McDonald's in Lufkin.

Hopefully, the Class of ' 90 started a tradition. The party was great and the seniors will always remember the last time they were together. It was a fun, safe place to be on graduation night.

THIS GROUP of seniors is taking a break from a vicious game of volleyball. At the Beach Bash a big volleyball tournament was held between teachers and seniors.

THE CASINO was constantly busy with money hungry seniors. Everyone enjoyed the Las Vegas-type atmosphere and some seniors even pretended they were there and lost all their money.

TEACHERS AND seniors played an exciting game but the teachers just couldn't hang with the seniors!

DANCING WAY into the morning, many seniors enjoyed teaching each other new dances and a dance contest was held in the school cafeteria.

I n nathletics, it was a unique year. It started off with the football season on the rocks. With play off contentions on the line, Diboll was put on probation following a fight after the Huntington game. This cloud seemed to downpour for Diboll's season didn't go past district.
The boys' and girls' basketball seasons didn't lack hustle, effort or desire. Their season ended short but the players never showed it until the clock's last tick.
Diboll formed its first powerlifting team which had a good year for its first year to compete.
Spring sports evened out the fall. DHS tennis team again had strong district contention as players such as Jamie Fenley, Felipe Hernandez and Jaime DonJuan advanced to regionals. Hernandez served up the best showing at regionals in Diboll's history by placing fourth.

With the burden of not having its own track, the track teams had to overcome poor odds to be competitive at the district meet. One Ladyjack, Gwen Forney, and five Lumberjacks, Miguel Mireles, Robert Lewis, Tracy Oliver, Byron Coleman and Marcus Mitchell qualified in three events, 800 -meters, 1600 -meters and the mile relay. Coleman earned his trip for the 300 -meter hurdles and also for the mile relay team. The rest of the Lumberjacks, Lewis and Oliver who were replaced by Mitchell, made up the relay team. Forney won district in the 100 -meter dash.

Mireles took second in the 800 at regionals to advance to state. In Austin, Mireles finished eighth.

The boys' golf team was primarily young but was seriously underestimated They won district and regionals with Bud Still and Chad Conner earning first and second medalists.
At state, the team fell short of victory. Conner came home as third place medalist.
Diboll's girl's golf team was not successful, but the same desire was there Clemmie Mann did, however, win third medalist in district.
The baseball team ended up as regional, area, bi-district and district champions. This success continued until a week after school was out when the 'Jacks lost to Orangefield 6-0 at Texas A&M's baseball field.

'Jacks work बs TEAM

Positive attitudes, pulling together help football team strive toward 100th win

Head coach and athletic director Russell Roberts' 100th football game win was fulfilled on the night of October 20, 1989 when the Jacks deafeated the Huntington Red Devils. Coach Roberts, who moved here in 1987 from Giddings, has been a great asset to Diboll's athletic program.

In his first year to coach the Lumberjacks, he carried them to a district and bi-district championship.

That year he also showed the town of Diboll that he was going to set out to make the footballprogram the best possible. He started this by getting the spectators excited and enthusiastic about Diboll's football teams. He accomplished this by intoducing the RED DOT.

Everyone got involved and everywhere you looked in Diboll someone would be displaying the DOT either on clothing, signs, banners or even on their faces.

That year Diboll graduated a lot of strong senior players. But Coach Roberts still managed to keep the crowds enthusiastic and kept striving to make the athletes the best possible. The Lumberjacks giving Coach Roberts his 100th game win was just a small repayment for all of the hard work and dedication he has put into Diboll's athletic program.

QUARTERBACK MARK Williams hands off to back Marcus Mitchell who makes more yardage.

$T$he Diboll Lumberjack basketball team took tough losses in the Piney Woods Classic tournament that was played November 30 - December 2 in Lufkin. The losses were to Livingston, Nacogdoches and the 'Jacks old foe, Center.
The Lumberjacks fell behind to Livingston early in the game and were down 40-14 at halftime. The 'Jacks were able to outscore the Lions 35-30 in the second half, but they couldn't make up for their first half deficit.

In the second game against Na cogdoches, the 'Jacks fell behind again early in the game, and at one point in the game trailed by 30 . They made up some of the shortage, but still lost the game.
Eric Knighton led the 'Jacks with 18 points, followed by Lester Guidry with 14. Jerome Rodgers hit 11, while Ricky Covington added nine and Marcus Mitchell got six. Tracy Oliver finished with four points and Steven Paulsey had one.
In the seventh place game against Center, the 'Jacks started the first half playing the Roughriders tough, but Center pulled away in the third quarter. Despite these losses, the 'Jacks had wins over Trinity and Hardin-Jefferson.
Overall, the Lumberjacks maintained good spirit and everyone gave 110 percent effort.

...Hustle

During the 1990 basketball season the 'Jacks compiled a 12 14 overall record, winning 7 in district play.

They placed second in the Woden and Pop Rich tournaments and even though they took some tough losses, Coach Mark Wimberley said he is proud of his team's hustle, pride and class.

The 'Jacks were led offensively by Ricky Covington and Tracy Oliver. They also solidified their rebounding game with Jerome Rodgers, Richard Farley and Steven Paulsey.

The 'Jacks had a strong 3 -point attack led by Derrick Hodge.

Defensively, the 'Jacks were led by Oliver and Eric Knighton.

Marcus Mitchell was a strong offensive and defensive player, was a team leader and one of the 'Jacks' leading rebounders.

THE SECOND runner back is Miguel Mireles who represented Diboll High School at the state cross country meet at Southwestern University.

SOPHOMORE JUAN Reyes came in 56th in San Jacinto College's regional cross country meet. He didn't qualify for the state meet but he represented all Lumberjacks well.

Cross Country

Sophomore Miguel Morales finished 75th as he represented Diboll High School at the state cross country meet at Southwestern University in Georgetown on November 11. He competed even though he was injured.

Cross country regional competition was held at San Jacinto College on November 4 when Mireles finished seventh qualifying him for state competition.

Sophomore Juan Reyes came in 56th in the San Jacinto competition but only the top 10 finishers were allowed to compete in the state meet. In district competition at Huntington on October 28, Mireles and Reyes finished in the top five places which made them eligible for regional competition.

Michael Nettles, Tony Cathcart and Chris Mewborn recorded their personal best runs in district competition, placing the boys JV team third overall in District 21-AAA. Byron Coleman and Joey Archer did not compete because of injuries. In the last three meets that the team ran Mireles and Reyes both took home trophies.

TINA ROBERTS blocks her opponent as she tries to keep her from scoring.

Hangin' Tough

The Ladyjacks' basketball team had a tough and disappointing season with a $5-20$ win-loss record. But they played hard all the way

The Ladies played this year under the supervision of first year coach, Mrs. Susan Wier.

Players for the Ladyjacks this year were Clemmie Mann and Natisha Gordon as forwards, Zenova Scott and Tina Roberts as posts and Tammy Brasher as point guard.

All starters except Scott, Gordon and Roberts will return in 1990.

Other team members are Ericca Joshua, Nadine Jones and Torya Starghill.

iboll's trip to the baseball playoffs was not always a paved road, to say the least.

The 'Jacks posted an 11-3 district record and 21-5 for the season but they were as far down as fourth place at one point during the season. Thanks to a spark in the second half of the season, the 'Jacks rode a six game winning streak to pull away from the pack. The 'Jacks won the district championship with a 7-6 victory over the Crockett Bulldogs. Diboll won district outright for the first time since 1967.

The Jack's defeated PA-Austin by a score of 3 1 in bi-district to advance to area playoffs.

This victory led the Jacks to Texas A&M's Olsen Field where they played and beat Splendora and Waco-Connally, 9-2 and 9-6, respectively.

The 'Jacks rallied three times during the regional playoff game against Waco-Connally to pull out the win with a spectacular Ruben Esteves home run.

On June 2, the 'Jacks lost out in the quarterfinals with a disappointing 6-0 score to Orangefield.

in the region

The boys' golf team started the season off with hopes of going to state, and sure enough that dream came true. They finished eighth at the state golf tournament on May 12 in Austin. Chad Conner won third medalist in the meet with a 79 and a 76.

The team had many advantages working for them this year. First of all, the team had four returning players which included James Craft, Bud Still, Chad Conner and Mark Williams. New golfers included Trey Ingram and Richard Farley.

Another added edge was their coach, Barry Walker, who is an avid golfer. The players are prepared not only physically but mentally by Coach Walker.

During the regional tournament, in which Diboll placed first, Still and Conner won first and second medals over all the players participating in the regional meet. Conner won third medalist in a two-hole play-off in the state tournament.

Members of the girls' golf team were Clemmie Mann, Kim Stringer, JonAnna Bradford, Tina Roberts and Cheri Luce.

Clemmie came away from the district meet with a bronze medal for her third place showing.

Academic leaders

National Honor Society members are required to maintain a 4.3 grade point average on a weighted scale. New members are selected because of their leadership, good character, service and scholastic achievement.

NHS members hosted the second annual Academic Banquet on May 14 at the Diboll Civic Center.

Members also sponsored a day of Drug Free Week with a "Don't smoke, Drink Coke" campaign. They gave free Coke ${ }^{\text {TM }}$ to students and teachers during the two lunch breaks.

Mrs. Mary Ingram and Coach Mark Wimberley are co-sponsors of the National Honor Society.

Spanish Club members held a bunuelos breakfast and a Spanish food dinner as their main activities this year.

The Spanish dinner consisted of a variety of foods from Spain. The dinner was directed by Ana Murgadas, Eva Samaniego and Andres Saez, the three foreign exchange students who came to Diboll High School this year from Spain.

Mrs. Teena Kellam sponsors Diboll High School's Spanish Club.

Vive la difference

The French Club, sponsored by Mrs. Glenda Jones, provides an opportunity for students who are taking French to socialize.

The members sponsored two dinners consisting food made with authentic French recipes.

The club also held a bake sale to raise money. Next year the organization hopes to raise enough money to take a trip to enhance their knowledge of French culture.

Future Farmers of America and 4-H students sold livestock that brought in a total of $$ 32,075$ at the Angelina County Junior Livestock show in March. This amount was totaled $26 \%$ of the livestock show's sales.

DHS Senior Phillip Camp won grand champion steer which sold for $$ 4,510$ or $$ 4.10$ per pound.

Heather Bradford won first for her grand champion hog which sold for $$ 2,100$.

JonAnna Bradford won reserve grand champion in the market lamb division, and it sold for $1,200.

FRENCH CLUB members Michelle Smith, Margie Vasquez, Terry Varela and Cheryl Rogers work hard at raising money for club activities. They plan to save their money and go on a trip next year.

Clubs provide services

The SOS Club, formerly known as the Anchor Club, experienced a complete turn-around this year. The group changed its name and sponsor, too, but it is still a service organization.

The SOS Club sponsored many service activities at Diboll High. SOS Club also sponsored a day during the Drug-Free Week and a mother-daughter banquet.

The SOS acronym stands for Spirit, Optimism and Service. Mrs. Melissa Kennedy sponsors the group.

In their first year of existence at DHS, the Drug-Free Clubs were huge successes. Diboll Drug Free Teens, in conjunction with KYSSED, sponsored a flashlight parade, a "flush the pot" campaign, several dances and a lock-in at Lufkin Mall.

KYSSED stands for "Knowledgeable Youth Stand Superior Eliminating Drugs." In KYSSED, students are voluntarily tested for drugs.

Sponsors are Coach Carol Drake and Mrs. Alice Kilgore.

Art Club forms

T sponsored by Mrs. Katy Gorman, held the second annual Diboll High School Art Show on April 28 in the DHS cafeteria.

Students from Diboll, Tatum, Carthage, Nacogdoches, Rusk and Lufkin entered the show. The show's turnout was a huge success thanks to overwhelming student participation.

Macy Grumbles, a second year art student at DHS, won first place and Best of Show in the design competition.

FIRST PERIOD Ax staff members were Migdalia Lopez, Dianna Kilgore, Macy Grumbles, Joe Smart, Scott Hawkins and Rosharn Moye.

Hard work pays off

 he Ax staff worked as a TEAM this year and produced a newspaper each six weeks on the computer," said Sue Perkins, student publications adviser."That sounds easy but it takes a lot of work to publish a newspaper, especially by the new desk-top publishing method."

John Hernandez and Rosharn Moye were co-editors during the first semester but John took over as editor-in-chief in the spring. In the fall and spring, Hector Trevino was assistant editor and Joe Smart served as sports editor.

Other staff members were Tina McClendon, Dianna Kilgore, Paytria Thompson, Macy Grumbles, Marilu Reyna, Migdalia Lopez and Robert Waller was a staff member in the fall.

At UIL literary competition, Smart won first in headline writing and fourth in feature writing. Moye won first in headline writing, and Trevino won first in news writing.
"The Ax" staff also started a newspaper exchange program with many other high school newspapers in this area, and they learned that "The Ax" looks better than most of them, and even looks better than some college papers.

Yearbook staff frantic

The Lumberjack staff hit the road during the first part of the year selling ads to businesses in Diboll and its surrounding communities. The staff sold ads totaling about $$ 4,000$.This is about onethird of yearbook's total cost.
"It's hard work. It takes a lot of time and effort to make your pages look the way you want them to look in the computer. Staff members have to have imagination and initiative," said Trudy Tamez, classes editor.

Ms. Sue Perkins, student publications adviser, agreed with Trudy. "Yes, it is hard work because staff members have to learn several things at one time and they must be able to visualize. But they also learn job skills they can use in the 'real world.'"

The Lumberjack staff included Tina Roberts, editor; Trudy Tamez, assistant editor and classes editor; Mark Kemler, organizations editor; Kim Stringer, academics and honors editor; Chantea Reed and Stephanie Martinez, co-sports editors; and Yvette Villanueva, advertising sales and layout manager.

KIM STRINGER, Stephanie Martinez, Tina Roberts, Chantea Reed and Mark Kemler are busy working on the annual.

Heros

The first ever Academic Decathlon team at Diboll High School was an immense success. In the group of nine students participating, there had to be three A students, three B students and three C students.

The contest's preparation period was a grueling three months. During this time, various teachers lectured on different subjects. The topics ranged from differential calculus and physics to in-depth knowledge of American Indians.

There were nine contestants and four alternates that went to Lufkin High School to participate in the contest. There were 16 schools in competition, ranging from 1A-5A schools. Cheryl Bell won a first place medal in speech.

During a weekend in April, some very special athletes, their familes and friends gathered with the DHS cheerleaders and others for the Special Olympics at Lufkin's Abe Martin Stadium. The cheerleaders were designated as "Official Huggers."

The huggers waited at the finish line and cheered the participants on during the race. When the athletes crossed the finish line, the cheerleaders did their duties as "Official Huggers."

GOLF TEAM members who went to the state tournament included (front row) Chad Conner, Trey Ingram, (back row) James Craft, Mark Williams and Bud Still.

Individuality, hard work serve tennis team 4th place finish at regionals

Sanior Felipe Hernandez placed fourth in the Region III tennis tournament.
Hernandez, who was seeded second in the region, drew a first round bye before facing Clayton Wallby of Mont Belvieu. Hernandez triumphed over Wallby, 7-6, 57 and 6-1.
In the quarterfinals, he faced Jeffrey Prokop of Bellville, beating him 6-2, 6-2. In the semi-finals, Hernandez matched up with fourth seed Jason Riehs of LaGrange. Riehs won the matches, 60 and 6-1.
In the third place match, Hernandez was defeated again by third seed Riehs.
Sophomore Jaime DonJuan and Senior Jamie Fenley, both district runners-up, took first round JAIME DONJUAN was a standout player for the Lumberjacks this year. Although he is only a sophomore, he was runner-up in district play. He was defeated by Felipe Hernandez, a senior from Diboll, who won first place in distrcit play and placed fourth in regionals.

losses. DonJuan lost to Hernandez's nemisis, Riehs, 6-2 and 6-2. Fenley lost to Dana Donnell of Hamshire Fannett, 7-5 and 6-2.

In district play, the DHS teamsi finished second in District 21-3A competition.

Hernandez won the singles championship by ousting teammate DonJuan. Fenley finished second, losing to Melissa Mims of Crockett in three sets.

Other DHS students to place were Phillip Gage and Rosharn Moye, receiving consolation champions in boys' doubles; Angie Yates and Tonya Rogers, girls' doubles consolation champions; Joel Cook, second place in JV boys' singles, Bobby Lee and Joe Thompson, second in JV boys' doubles.

The team participated in the Woodville tournament on March 23 and 24.

Hernandez and Don Juan met in the finals of the boys' singles division, with Hernandez defeating Don Juan in two sets.

In boys' doubles, Gage and Moye took a second round loss to Spurger in three sets.

The second doubles team of Todd Kellam and Juan Reyes lost to Vidor in the first round.

Fenley lost to Stephanie Ramos of Woodville in the finals.

The team also played in the Crockett tournament on March 16 and 17.

Tracksters finish fourth in district

Ready, set, go!

The boys' track team finished their season by placing fourth in the Crockett track meet and qualifying for regionals in four events.

Regional qualifiers from the boys' track team were Miguel Mireles, Byron Coleman, Robert Lewis, Marcus Mitchell, Tracy Oliver and Derrick Hodge.

Miguel finished first at the district meet in the 800- and 3,200-meter competitions.

The relay team also finished second in the 1,600 -meter relay. The relay team consisted of Oliver, Lewis, Coleman and Mireles.

Coleman also qualified for regionals by placing second in the 300 -meter hurdles while Mitchell earned his regional trip by placing third in shotput.

DIBOLL HIGH School's Gwen Forney was only a freshman and she won first place in District 21-AAA in the 100-meter dash. She was a crackerjack runner and her coaches think she will get even better with age and more experience.

runners

0n the girls' side of the track, it only took Freshman Gwen Forney 12.6 seconds to earn her chance to compete at the regional track meet. She won first place in the 100 -meter dash at District 21-AAA's competition.
The Ladyjacks' sprint team, comprised of Rita Brown, Vickie Perkins, ShaRhonda Paige and Forney, finished third and earned a bronze medal for their efforts.
Latoya Miller also earned a bronze medal by placing third in district in the 100 -meter hurdles competition.
Forney's first place win and the two third place wins qualified all of these girls to go to Blinn Junior College for competition in their specialties on April 26 and 27.
None of them, however, qualified for the state meet that was held in Austin.
The coach of the girls' track team was Coach Susan Wier. It was her first year to coach at Diboll High School.

The founding this year of two new drug-free clubs strongly reinforces the message that drugs and drug users are not welcome at DHS.
The KYSSED (Knowledgeable Youth Standing Superior Eliminating Drugs) program has the highest number of student members of any other high school in Angelina County. The KYSSED lock-in, held at Lufkin Mall, was one of the greatest achievements of the organizations. KYSSED members from different Angelina County high schools were invited to attend the lock-in.
Among the many activities that were available that evening was movie entertainment provided by Carmike Cinemas. The feature film was "Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles.

Another new club this year was the Art Club. Some of the members worked hard to paint the Diboll Beautification trash cans, and their hard work helped Fran McClain and others win the State of Texas' Beautification Award for Diboll.

Those students interested in foreign language could further their knowledge of a different culture by joining the French or Spanish clubs.

Theater Arts students were involved with performing six different plays for the school and the community. A lot of hard work that went into performing these plays.

No matter what a student's interest may be, there was an organization at DHS that could build on that interest.

Whether it's Student Council or FFA, there was a way for students to become involved in his or her interests.

Band gets new pride

BAND SWEETHEART and Beau, Trina Walls and Chris Nash, stand out in the crowd.

Ashrill whistle blew, the fans cheered and the 1989 Lumberjack Marching Band sprang into action for another exciting season.

In addition to playing halftime at home football games, they also performed at the UIL marching contest at Stephen F. Austin State on October 11 where they received a III rating. They also marched in the Pineland Day Parade and Cor-rigan-Camden Day Parade.

On December 12, the band performed their Christmas concert before an enthusiastic crowd. They played an all-time favorite, "Silent Night" along with other songs.

Senior Shannon Bailey made first chair in the top band of the Texas Music Educators Association contest that is held annually. She was one of the few students chosen to go to this area contest.

This year the Lumberjack Band was under the direction of Mr. Dan English. Mr. English, who replaced Gordon Haney, is now DHS's band director, choir and music history teacher.

Mr. English got his music degree at Stephin F. Austin State in 1974 and received his master's of education with a major in public administration from the University of North Texas in Denton.

Twirlers, flag corps create spirit

Diboll High School's flag corps and twirlers performed during the newly scheduled seventh period pep rallies and at all Lumberjack football games.

Headed by Trudy Tamez, the twirlers performed with the flag corp to entertain the crowds.

Other than Trudy, the twirlers were Melissa Terrell, Heather Bradford, Felicity Reed, Brette Dunlap, Rosa Valencia and Carey Luce.

Flag corps members for this season were Flag Captain Rita Brown, Shannon Bailey, Chantea Reed, Rene' McElroy, Trina Walls, Christie Trout, Karen Furgurson, Kim Baker and Jamie Leavell.

The flag corps and twirlers practiced with the band. They struggled for perfection of their routines in the summer heat and sopping humidity of Deep East Texas.

Student representation

The Student Council has had one of it's most productive years ever atDHS. The members met every Tuesday in order to plan their agenda and prepare activities.

Student Council sponsored a fund raiser in which each grade bought spirit links. The grade that bought the most spirit links was considered having the most spirit in DHS. After trailing for most of the race, the Seniors won at the last possible moment.

Student Council members, sponsored by Mrs. Lois Clemens, planned an exciting year. They sponsored a Halloween get together on October 30 and a Jingle Bell Ball for December 15 .

During the second semester, members recruited students to participate in a peer tutoring program. They also continued the "Positive People" tradition. The shirts were awarded to students who were recognized as positive about school, other students and faculty members.

The officers were Trina Walls, president;Zenova Scott, vice president; Cheryl Bell, secretary; Rosharn Moye, treasurer; Christian Barger, reporter; and Carla Moses, chaplain.

he 1990 yearbook was partially funded by the sale of advertisements to people who, by and large, made up the major portion Diboll and Lufkin business communities. The students also sold many personalized congratulatory ads.

Early in September when school began, the yearbook class' first activity was to sell this yearbook's ads.
Yearbook students paired off and went to different businesses during second period and after school to sell ads. Selling ads was fun because it was like a challenge to get the customer to say, "Yes, I'll take an ad."
Or it was disappointing to hear a customer say, "No, thanks."

Selling ads was also fun because the students sold by telephone. Selling ads over the phone was interesting because students got to ask to speak to important people such as managers and business owners.
For six weeks, Lumberjack staff members sold ads, and the class had a contest that determined each person's six weeks grade. Each students' goal was to sell the most ads. The top two student salespersons that sold the most ads would make a 99 for the six weeks and the fewer ads a person sold, the lower their grades would be.

Yvette Villanueva won first prize (which was a grade of 99 for the six weeks) and Mark Kemler came just an inch behind her and also made 99. And everyone passed!

At the end of the six weeks, the salesmen had sold over 4,000 worth of ads. That money went toward the yearbook printing expenses.

Selling ads was an activity that will help the students in the future because they got an idea of how it is to deal and conduct business with important people.

The students worked on selling the ads steadily and with much enthusiasm. Each ad was produced carefully to make sure that each person or company that bought an ad would be pleased and proud they bought an ad that appeared in the 1990 LUMBERJACK.
Because the students did well selling ads this year, they were allowed to run the senior portraits in color.

JOHN RALPH Pouland and his daughter, Andrea, always purchase advertisements in Diboll High School's student publi. cations to show their support for those who attend Diboll schools.

"We Support Diboll's Youth!"

Our Family Tree

Like any living culture, trees begin their lives as vigorous and hardy youth. Though they mature and their lives ultimately draw to an end, the culture is maintained through the regeneration process.

Our Family Tree begins with superior tree seeds that are collected from Temple-Inland's seed orchards. During the month of April of each year, seeds are sown in the company's nursery beds. During the lifting season (November through February) seedlings are extracted from the beds and packaged for shipping to planting sites or reforested areas.

On tracts where mature trees once stood, the seedlings are planted.
 When these seedlings mature into timber, usually 30 years, the timber is harvested and transported to one of the company's manufacturing facilities.

Temple-Inland operates its east Texas forests through three regional centers headquartered in Diboll, Jasper and Silsbee. Trees harvested in the northern region are transported to Diboll's Lumber Operation. Shavings from this facility provide a portion of the fiber for Diboll's

Particleboard
Operation and chips are used in hardboard and sheathing production at Diboll's Fiber Products Operation.

Central region trees are transported to the Buna Lumber Operation, the Pineland plywood and lumber operation and to Evadale's Pulp and Paperboard Operation.

Chips from Buna's sawmill and Pineland

Operation are transported by rail or truck to the Evadale mill and to the Inland-Orange linerboard mill. Silsbee's southern region trees are used in the production of market pulp and paperboard at Evadale and at the Orange and Buna facilities.

Trees are a renewable natural resource. Foresters have learned that careful nurturing of seedlings, attentive disease and insect control and responsible harvesting can mean a perpetual wood resource supply for consumer building products and paper needs.

EXPECTATIONS

...we all have them, and sometimes things happen to change them.
But there are some expectations that never change - like the fun and comfort of a best friend, the satisfaction of a good test grade, or the chills a school song brings when sung across a lighted field.

At TU Electric, we realize you have expectations of us, too - like having the electrical power ready when you turn on your computer, put on some records or plug in the blow dryer. And when the power does go off, we know you expect it to be restored quickly.

And it will be. That's just part of our commitment to provide quality electric service to customers.

Colophone - or this is how we produced this yearbook

The 1990 LUMBERJACK staff started out the year by chosing the theme of the annual, "Moving Up." After all, it was the year all of us moved up to a new $$ 5$ million, 95,000 square foot structure called Diboll High School.

Last summer at a yearbook camp at Stephen F. Austin State, the LUMBERJACK editor Tina Roberts discussed a prototype for the front and back annual covers with a Herff-Jones artist. The sketches were accepted for publication by yearbook adviser Sue Perkins.

This is the first year that the Diboll High School yearbook staff attempted to produce an annual completely on the computer. The computer helped us in many ways, but its primary purpose was to give us more latitude in "building" this yearbook's pages. We were able to use more graphics at no additional costs to our printing contract, and although it took us considerably more time to do this, especially in this first year with added set-up times, we really think the added graphics added to the sophistication of the book 100 times over.
As the adviser, I knew some of the the staff members were learning job skills on the computer that they could actually use to get real jobs, and if they wanted to, could use these skills, perhaps to finance part of their college educations.

Using the computer also had one other major plus. As yearbook adviser, I always tell the students the first day of class that yearbook is the hardest class that I teach. It is difficult for the students because they almost always seem to have problems envisioning what photos, headlines, copy and graphics are going to look like when they are put together as one entity.

But with the Macintosh computer system, this problem was solved because "what you see is what you get." The students could actually see what their pages were going to look like before they sent them to the printer. We've certainly never been able to do this before, and that was a big plus for all of us.

As soon as school began, the yearbook staff started selling advertisements that appear in the back of this annual. Again this year, the yearbook staff sold about $$ 4,000$ in ads. Since the staff did well at ad sales, they were allowed to publish their senior portrait section in color. There are eight pages of color this year, four more than last year.

The yearbook printer is Herff-Jones Printing Company, and the book was actually printed in Alabama. All rights remain the property of the Diboll Independent School District, Diboll Texas.

Total cost of the printing contract was about $$ 9,500$. Ben Carter III of Henderson was our Herff-Jones sales representative, and he helped considerably with the production of our book.

I'd like to close with a dedication of one of my favorite quotations to my dedicated staff members. "I get by with a little help from my friends." - Paul McCartney, from his 1967 song, "A Little Help from My Friends."
