A Century of Compassion

Any one of us could be that person needing help – we don't get to choose who gets to be the fortunate one and who doesn't.

What we do get to do is take the blessings given by others and share them with people in need.

– Debby Hampton

President and Chief Executive Officer,
United Way of Central Oklahoma

We proudly feature our United Way champions in this book, our loyal donors who give generously and Stand United to help our community's most vulnerable citizens.

As members of United Way's Leadership Giving Societies, you are impacting the lives of more than 660,656 central Oklahomans. Thank you for opening your heart, giving generously and championing our mission to help those in need.

A Letter from the President & CEO

It is my pleasure to personally welcome you to our 100th Year. Our team never tires of saying, "It's our 100th Anniversary."

It is an honor to envelope this year's Leadership Giving Registry with our 100th Anniversary theme — A century of compassion. When developing our 100th branding, no better word came to mind than compassion.

You see, without it, United Way of Central Oklahoma would not have made it to 100 years of service. You, and each loyal donor who has given to our organization for countless years, have rooted our United Way in compassion.

You have spread compassion among our community, reaching our neighbors to give them a hand up. You have been the hope in the moments they needed it the most.

But most of all, because of you and your generous support, United Way can continue to give the gift of life for the next 100 years.

The year of 2023 will forever be special to us, and we hope it will be for you, too. That is why this year we are proud to recognize our organization's top tier of loyal contributors — our Platinum Donors. These donors have given to our United Way for 20 years or more, and are noted with asterisks by their names throughout the registry.

We would like to extend our sincere thanks to these special donors for not only their gifts, but their time, as well. From this year on, we will highlight our Platinum Donors in our Leadership Giving registries.

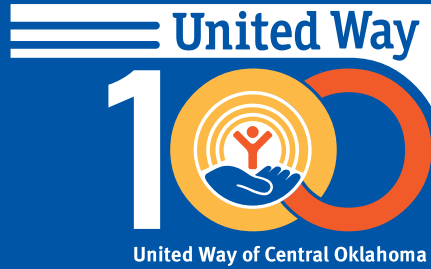

Thank you for believing in our mission year-after-year. Your support allows our 70-plus Partner Agencies to serve our communities in impactful ways.

On behalf of our board of directors, volunteers, Partner Agencies and staff, thank you for celebrating our centennial year with us.

Sincerely,

Debby Hampton
President and Chief Executive Officer,
United Way of Central Oklahoma

CARRYING THE TORCH OF PHILANTHROPY THROUGH GENERATIONS

The sweetest of love stories often begin with two kids in high school.

David and Jean McLaughlin's story began at the Boundary Waters in Minnesota.

On a group expedition, Jean portaged her own canoe at the vast expanse of wilderness in the Superior National Forest, and young David couldn't help but be impressed with her skills. The saint that she is, Jean decided to give Dave a shot and accepted his invite to take her to the senior prom.

The two Austin, Minnesota natives have been inseparable ever since, celebrating their marriage of 63 years.

David's father, Gene McLaughlin, owned a grocery store in Austin in the early 1920s. Square Deal Grocery was one of the first self-serve groceries in Minnesota.

David remembered when his dad retired he brought home several large boxes full of charges people could not pay. When asked about the boxes, David recalled his dad saying he never tried to collect the charges because those people needed to eat.

"He was about the community and helping people who needed help," Jean said.

Jean's mother was similar in nature.

"(My parents) were always concerned about others," Jean said.

As a member of the Oklahoma League of Women Voters for more than 50 years, Jean has always been interested in the state's Legislature, and especially how its laws affect citizens. Working with other like-minded groups at the Capitol, she became aware of the important role many local nonprofits have in helping those with few opportunities.

"That always stayed with me," Jean noted.

The needs of children and families struck Jean the most from the discussions. Well-after David became established in the Oklahoma City community and co-founded Advance Food Company in 1973, the two began thinking of how they could personally impact their neighbors in need.

Before United Way of Central Oklahoma pledge cards existed, David and Jean McLaughlin tracked their contributions on index cards. The two have been giving to UWCO for 37 years.

Cue the McLaughlin Family Foundation. Since 2004, the Foundation has provided hundreds of grants to nonprofit agencies to create change in central Oklahoma, with their mission being to help disadvantaged children and families reach their full potential.

"We know we had a lot of advantages," Jean said. "We had good parents. We never had to worry about where our next meal was coming from, where we were going to live or go to school."

Realizing those stresses are evident for many families, the Foundation aims to help alleviate that weight.

As their parents showed them, the McLaughlins have modeled philanthropy to their four children and nine grandchildren in their actions and the way they lift people up.

Between the Foundation and the McLaughlin's personal giving, more than $1.1 million has been contributed to United Way of Central Oklahoma in the last 25 years. David and Jean have been donating to United Way for 37 years.

"(United Way) cares about the community," Jean said.

The Foundation has also generously supported EmbraceOKC, an initiative United Way funds in partnership with the Greater Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce, Oklahoma City Public Schools, the City of Oklahoma City and the Oklahoma City Public Schools Foundation. To date, the McLaughlin Foundation has donated $750,000 to EmbraceOKC, investing in the long-term expansion of behavioral health services for Oklahoma City youth.

"It's really the community coming together to provide resources for the children of OKCPS," Kelly Gray, the Foundation's CEO and the McLaughlin's son-in-law, said.

The collaboration efforts sparked the Foundation's interest because not only were students' lives being positively impacted, families as a whole were receiving support. Every initiative and program the Foundation funds exemplify its mission in providing substantial resources to children and families to end poverty cycles.

The Foundation is also quick to support United Way Partner Agencies because they know they are accountable with funds and have received the "gold stamp of approval," Kelly added.

Innovation also peaks the Foundation's giving goal. Since its inception in 2019, Kelly has been part of United Way's WayFinder Innovation Grant panel. Local nonprofits can apply to receive a WayFinder grant if they have a one-of-a-kind idea to solve stubborn health and human services issues that has not been established in United Way's area reach.

"It's sustainable," Kelly said of WayFinder grants. "It's not only job training for their clients but also sustainability for the program that if it goes well, it grows and continues to fund itself."

SHARING GIFTS CHANGES LIVES

Edmond, Oklahoma native Perry Sneed learned the value of giving from his father.

“He loved to do anything he could to better the working man and working woman,” Perry said.

Whitey Sneed was a force in central Oklahoma. The governor appointed him to various workforce boards for the state government.

But his first love when it came to community service was United Way.

“I love (United Way). Not just because my dad was in it,” Perry noted. “That’s where I got involved, but after you get involved, the men and the women there, all they care about is helping and they are willing to give up their time, as well as their finances to better the ones who are hurting out there who need help so badly.”

Whitey’s involvement began in the early ’60s. He was a labor representative when United Way was known as the Community Chest.

“He would say, ‘They do so much for so many that I can work with them and help more people than I can by myself or with most other organizations,’” Perry remembered.

Perry also took after his father with his leadership within the Central Oklahoma AFL-CIO. The labor council and United Way historically had a tightknit relationship, working hand-in-hand to accomplish service projects that impacted the central Oklahoma community.

Their mission mirrored one another in that both organizations believed in being a hand up, rather than a hand out.

More than 10 years ago, wildfires raged across the northeast side of Oklahoma City. Perry and a group from the union helped clear properties in the area as part of United Way’s annual Day of Caring, which is a day where organizations tackle service projects for the nonprofit’s Partner Agencies. They restored homes and offices and built a playground for the Latino Community Development Agency.

The labor group was also heavily involved in distributing meals at the Oklahoma City Fairgrounds in the wake of tornado damage in 2013.

“We do hands-on better than anything else,” Perry said.

And no one will forget the Oklahoma City bombing.

“When the bombing came through, we were asked to look after the money and help distribute it,” Perry said. “No other agency could do that. That shows you how big and how great United Way of Central Oklahoma is.”

Transparency has and will continue to be of utmost priority to United Way, Perry mentioned. The Community Investment Committee, which he volunteered on, analyzes how every dime is spent at Partner Agencies.

While donations make an impact, to Perry, the value of giving personal time holds more significance.

“Life is a gift from God, and we need to help the ones who need help,” Perry concluded.

Perry Sneed

Tocqueville Society

United Way's Tocqueville Society is formed by our most generous and community-centric philanthropic leaders – those who are committed to investing in the welfare of our community and caring for our most vulnerable citizens. At the forefront of their minds is the need for sustainable and tangible solutions to our community's most challenging problems.

Tocqueville members generously contribute $10,000 or more annually to United Way, leaving a resounding impact on central Oklahomans in need. Their contributions ensure Partner Agency funding and support for generations to come – and for that, we couldn't be more thankful.

Alexis de Tocqueville, for whom the society is named, famously documented the American public's unique willingness to work for the public welfare – a tendency to lend faithful support to neighbors and countrymen, especially in times of need.

GEOFFREY PRITCHETT

“In 1982, when I first started with United Way, I was kind of on the wrong track and they gave me a chance. (United Way of Central Oklahoma Executive Director) Bill Benson swooped me up and put me on the right track to straighten my life up. That’s one of the reasons why it’s been hard for me to walk away. United Way has given me a lot of opportunities — I love what I do.”

“United Way plays a vital role in building resilient communities. Their approach is both effective and sustainable. They recognize that creating meaningful change requires the involvement of multiple stakeholders. Through these partnerships, United Way leverages the unique strengths and resources of each organization to create a more unified and impactful response to community needs. As donors, volunteers and community members, our growing family is proud to support their efforts for generations to come.”

EDWARD & BARBARA KREI

“For almost 100 years, United Way of Central Oklahoma has supported organizations that address many critical needs challenging our communities, our residents and our families. We divide our support between United Way’s current programs and its endowment fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. Through the endowment fund, we believe we can help United Way build a financial foundation that will allow it to continue its wonderful mission for another 100 years. With great appreciation and humility, we applaud the contributions that United Way of Central Oklahoma makes in the quality of life of every Oklahoman.”

“Now, more than ever, United Way’s positive impact and focus on Strong Families and Successful Kids is on our hearts. We love that United Way recognizes and meets the needs of our community across all stages of life. It brings such joy to make my pledge each year during Devon Energy’s Give for Good campaign knowing that each dollar I donate is matched by my employer, and the reach that dollar has goes further with local agency programs that are held to high standards by UWCO.”

2021-2022 Board Chairwoman Sherri Lance and past board and campaign chairs toast to United Way of Central Oklahoma's 100th Anniversary during the 22nd Annual United Way Gala.

Women's Leadership Society

United Way of Central Oklahoma's Women's Leadership Society unites women – their time, talents and resources – into a powerful network of individuals devoted to enhancing and strengthening the community through intergenerational opportunities. These 451 community-minded women give $2,500 or more annually and are the backbone of powerful women supporting our United Way.

We are pleased to offer a unique giving option for these philanthropic leaders — our Step-Up to WLS program. This program allows interested WLS members to reach the $2,500 level over a three-year period.

WLS provides numerous educational opportunities to listen to renowned speakers, researchers and community leaders discuss current trends relevant to central Oklahoma, as well as events to better the community through the collaboration of networking and philanthropy.

A driven group of female philanthropists, the focus of WLS is developing future leadership through encouragement of intergenerational interaction and mentoring, educational opportunities and a shared vision of community engagement.

ANNUAL LUNCHEON

Women's Leadership Society's 10th annual recruitment luncheon featured a compelling championship mindset discussion from University of Oklahoma Softball Head Coach Patty Gasso. The prominent community speaker inspired more than 200 guests to be the best leader they can be, no matter the field or situation.

Thank you to Patty and her team for sharing your time and insight with our community!

JINGLE MINGLE

WLS members always enjoy partaking in the holiday spirit at our annual December event, which was rebranded as Jingle Mingle. Members participate in a donation drive to benefit one of our Partner Agencies. In 2022, members collected more than 120 stuffed animals for our newest agency, The CARE Center. Each stuffed animal donated helps a child feel brave when in a forensic interview. The CARE Center works to end child abuse in Oklahoma County.

On the horizon of young professionalism are our 785 Emerging Leaders. Coupled with annual contributions of $500 or more, Emerging Leaders serve their community through invested involvement and enthusiastic leadership.

The Emerging Leaders Steering Committee meets regularly to discuss activities and more.

Members are actively involved throughout the year, participating in Partner Agency tours, professional development lunches, a Senior Holiday Drive and the group's signature recruitment event, Raising the Stakes.

Positive Tomorrows children pose for a photo in front of vans, Grumpy and Bubbles. The vans were made possible through a Donor-Directed gift by Natalie Shirley.

Each December, Joy4Kids provides a Christmas gift to children in DHS custody living in foster or group homes. Citizens Caring for Children, a United Way of Central Oklahoma Partner Agency, collaborates with individuals and organizations to fulfill wish lists for their Joy4Kids program. Donors shop from the wish lists and bring unwrapped gifts to a designated drop-off location. In 2022 alone, 1,878 children in foster care received gifts. Thank you to the Luke and Becky Corbett Foundation for giving to Joy4Kids.

Logan County Leadership Giving Association members are dedicated to supporting the needs of their neighbors and community. With annual contributions of $500 or more, the generosity of these individuals goes to support programs and resources that are making a true difference in Logan County.

A project of the OKC Schools Compact

EmbraceOKC is a program seeking to improve the behavioral, emotional and social well-being of Oklahoma City Public Schools students and their families through school-based mental health services. The initiative includes screening students for early detection and intervention, as well as training school staff in mental health and psychological first-aid and de-escalation techniques. In 2022 alone, United Way of Central Oklahoma secured $350,253 to support EmbraceOKC.

2022 Campaign

We were thrilled to kick off our centennial year with our 22nd Annual United Way Gala, and return to our “normal” time of revealing our campaign total. To say we are grateful for our community’s support throughout the span of 100 years is an understatement.

Our loyal contributors have shown time and time again that the health and well-being of our community will always be at the forefront of their hearts. It is difficult to put into words the immense gratitude we felt when our total of more than $19 million was announced.

We must say another heartfelt thank you to our compassionate 2022 campaign co-chairs, Shane and Lori Wharton, for their commitment to our organization and to our community.

VOLUNTEER AWARD WINNERS

Our United Way is proud to recognize three individuals each year who are one-of-a-kind servant leaders. These community-minded leaders put others before themselves without the expectation of recognition. Their service has made our organization that much stronger. We would like to congratulate this year’s Volunteer Award Winners once again for their exceptional dedication and service to our community.

From left to right, United Way of Central Oklahoma President & CEO Debby Hampton, 2022 Campaign Co-Chairs Shane and Lori Wharton and UWCO Board Chair Sherri Lance present the grand total for the 2022 fundraising campaign. The more than $19 million will go to support more than 100 health and human service programs at 70-plus Partner Agencies in central Oklahoma, Canadian and Logan counties.
