SEVENTY-NINTH COMMENCEMENT

NINETEENTH OF AUGUST TWO THOUSAND TWENTY

SEVENTY-NINTH COMMENCEMENT

Utah Valley University

Wednesday, August 19, 2020

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

P.M.

Class of 2020, CONGRATULATIONS! We are celebrating the completion of your remarkable educational journey at UVU. Graduation represents years of hard work, sacrifice, and tenacity. You have persisted through countless assignments, nights of studying, early morning classes, and research projects. Together as a Wolverine community, with your family, friends, and peers, we have watched you grow and learn. We have reveled in your successes and worked diligently to support you through the hard times. Now, the victory is yours. You have achieved something that only a small percentage of people in our world can claim.

I hope that your time at UVU has made you a more confident, caring, and curious person; a better writer and thinker; and a citizen more prepared to work and serve our local and global communities. The world needs you! You are needed not only for your education, experience, and insight, but also your optimism, grit, and ability to believe in a dream and achieve it. You demonstrated extraordinary commitment by completing your degrees amidst unprecedented challenges. You achieved exceptional results. You have excelled as individuals and have made history as part of UVU's largest-ever graduating class. We applaud your perseverance and determination.

These are unusual times. The COVID-19 pandemic altered all our lives, including the final semester for many of you. In the past five months, many of you have likely experienced doubt, discomfort, and even fear. I hope that throughout this uncertain time, you have also experienced the love and support of friends and family, and of faculty, staff, and the community at UVU. Change is a constant. I encourage you to embrace it — for it is at the edges of turmoil and turbulence that you will find your hidden strengths, your true character, and your unique pathways to shaping the work and life that you want and deserve.

When I was a little girl living in a hut on stilts in the sea, typhoons and storms would strike regularly. I learned to find a dry spot in the hut so that I could sleep through the night. I learned to stay calm and take heart. I learned that every storm passes. I learned the morning after a storm to celebrate the sunny skies, calm waters, and the green island I could see across the sea.

You have already weathered many storms. Your graduation is the arrival of sun and calm and green opportunities around the corner. Continue your hard work, and always take the time to celebrate and savor your accomplishments. I am proud of the character you have already exhibited, and I believe in your ability to accomplish whatever you set out to do next. There is always a place for you at UVU, no matter where your next journey leads. I wish you all the best, and Godspeed!

With celebration and congratulations,

Astrid S. Tuminez

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER & HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

GAIL MILLER

Honorary Doctorate of Business

H.D.

GAIL MILLER is the owner of the Larry H. Miller Group of Companies and chair of the Board of Directors of the Larry H. Miller Management Corporation. She and her late husband, Larry, originated their business with a Toyota dealership in 1979 and now have 65 dealerships throughout the West. The Miller organization includes the Utah Jazz, the Salt Lake City Stars, the Salt Lake Bees, Megaplex theatre complexes, and a variety of other automotive, financial, and real estate companies. Today, the Larry H. Miller Group of Companies employs more than 10,000 people.

Gail and Larry created a strong legacy of giving back to the communities in which they do business. She presides over the Larry H. Miller Education Foundation and the Larry H. & Gail Miller Family Foundation, which support a wide range of charitable, educational, and humanitarian causes.

She is a champion of education and believes in its power to elevate lives. In her childhood, Miller experienced extreme poverty but said the challenges cultivated creativity and resiliency, and gave her confidence. She encourages others to use their strengths to realize their dreams, to learn all they can, and to share that knowledge with others. In 2018, Miller published the book Courage to Be You: Inspiring Lessons from an Unexpected Journey.

“Graduation is the accomplishment of a remarkable educational journey and a celebration of a tremendous achievement. It is also the beginning of a future of lifelong learning and the ability to give back,” Miller said. “It is an honor to share this milestone with Utah Valley University’s graduating class of 2020.”

Miller gives freely of her time and is actively involved in many civic and educational endeavors. She serves as the chair of Intermountain Healthcare’s Board of Trustees and as a member of the Shelter the Homeless Board and the Zions Bank Advisory Board.

Gail Miller has been recognized with many public honors, including the Salt Lake Chamber’s highest award, A Giant in Our City, and the internationally recognized ATHENA Award, as well as the Congressional Award Foundation’s prestigious Horizon Award.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

DANIEL W. CAMPBELL

Honorary Doctorate of Humane Letters

6

H.D.

DANIEL W. CAMPBELL is a longtime advocate for higher education in Utah. He served as a member of Utah Valley University's Board of Trustees for nine years including terms as vice-chair and chair of the board. He then served for nine years on the Utah State Board of Regents, the then-governing body of the Utah System of Higher Education, including six years as vice-chair or chair. He chaired the regents' Resource and Review Committee for the University of Utah, and he served as a member of the Governor's Education Excellence Commission.

Campbell earned a degree from Brigham Young University and is a national advisory council member for BYU's Marriott School of Management. He serves on the Board of Governors of the Provo School District Foundation and previously served as a board member of the Provo Power and Telecommunications boards and as an executive board member of the Utah Valley Chamber of Commerce. He was recently honored as the 2019 Provo School District Business Champion for support of programs focused on the needs of students. Dan and his wife, Peggy, have also been long-term supporters of UVU and of student scholarships for first-generation students.

Campbell was formerly the senior vice president and chief financial officer of WordPerfect Corporation, and prior to that was a partner of PricewaterhouseCoopers. Since 1994, Campbell has been a managing general partner at EsNet Group, a privately held investment company. He also is lead director of the board of directors for Nu Skin Enterprises and has served on various private and public company boards.

The Campbells have four children and 14 grandchildren. They live in Provo, Utah.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

DAVID O. ULRICH

Honorary Doctorate of Letters

H.D.

DAVID OLSON ULRICH is a university professor, author, speaker, management coach, and management consultant. He holds the Rensis Likert Chair of Business at the Ross School of Business at the University of Michigan, and he is the co-founder of The RBL Group.

Ulrich was born in Ely, Nevada, and grew up in Oregon and Kansas City, Missouri, where he attended high school. Ulrich then attended Brigham Young University, where he completed his undergraduate degree summa cum laude in university studies in five semesters and began graduate school. He received a Ph.D. in organizational behavior from UCLA. He was also awarded an honorary doctorate from the Abertay University in Scotland.

Ulrich's professional research, writing, and consulting address how organizations add value to customers and investors through leadership, culture, talent, and strategic human resource practices. He has been called "the father of modern human resources," helping organizations transform to better serve employees, customers, and investors. He and his colleagues have published more than 30 books and hundreds of research-based articles. He has consulted for more than half of the Fortune 500, working in over 90 countries.

Ulrich has served on the Board of Directors for Herman Miller for 17 years and on the Board of Trustees of Southern Virginia University for nine years. He is a fellow in the National Academy of Human Resources and is in the Hall of Fame for the "Thinkers 50."

Ulrich and his wife, Wendy, a psychologist and author, have three children and 10 grandchildren. They reside in Alpine, Utah.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

Academic regalia has its beginning in medieval Europe, where clergymen draped themselves in heavy caps, gowns, and robes for warmth in unheated buildings. In those days, the Church of England operated schools, and the priests served as teachers. Church attire, then, became scholarly attire.

When education and religion began to follow separate paths, much of the pomp and circumstance of the church was retained in academic ceremonies. Each university or college developed its own commencement and a different wardrobe for its faculty and students.

Europeans brought their popular traditions to the New World, and, in 1642, America experienced its first commencement at Harvard University.

To avoid confusion in color and style of academic clothing, representatives from most American universities met in 1895 to consider a uniform code for ceremonial academic attire. The result was the Academic Costume Code, which is still in effect today. About 98% of American institutions adopted the code, which covers three main areas: caps, gowns, and hoods.

The mortarboard, or Oxford cap, was introduced in the 1890s and consists of a loosely fitting headpiece with a flat, square top. The code allows for one exception: a soft cap.

Black tassels may be used for any degree. Gold and metallic tassels are reserved for doctoral degrees and governing officials. (At UVU, black tassels distinguish certificates, diplomas, and associate degrees, while tassel colors for bachelor's and master's degrees are in accordance with the major.)

Academic robes are usually black, although they may be the color of the institution. The bachelor's gown is simply constructed in straight lines. A master's gown comes with stitched, pointed sleeves. Doctoral degree holders' robes are adorned with velvet panels on the front and neck, and three bars of velvet on the bell-shaped sleeves.

Probably the most ornate piece of academic costume, and the most informative to the trained eye, is the academic hood. Hood size denotes degree level; the doctoral degree holder wears the largest hood. Velvet strips in the school's color are sewn into the lining. Each color of academic hood represents a different discipline.

PRESIDENTIAL MACE

In early times, maces were weapons intended to protect a king or other royal figure. From its seminal role as a symbol of military command, the ceremonial mace has evolved to represent the authority of the presidential office. During special occasions, such as commencement, a ceremonial mace-bearer carries the artifact.

UVU's presidential mace was handcrafted from wood from every continent except Antarctica, signifying the six continents represented by UVU students. Its steel rings reflect UVU's deep roots in the trades, as well as early ties to Utah Valley's steel industry. Each seal represents a stage of UVU's growth, beginning as a tiny vocational school and continuing through today as the largest university in the state.

NATHAN MEIGS

Associate of Applied Science

Pre-Engineering (Chemical)

A graduate of Lehi High School, Nathan Meigs plans to attend the University of Utah to pursue a degree in chemical engineering next year. He also plans to attend graduate school for advanced degrees in nuclear engineering. Meigs was awarded the Utah Flagship Award with a scholarship at the University of Utah. He held a 4.0 GPA at UVU and was on the Dean's List for four semesters. He says his UVU experience "has given me place to achieve and launch into a great major with a pre-degree. UVU has helped me to feel confident in my ability to succeed with the proper amount of hard work." Meigs is the youngest of five children in his family and has been in more than 30 theater productions.

RACHEL BILLINGS

Bachelor of Science

Technology Management

Rachel Billings is graduating with a degree in technology management with an emphasis in fashion design. Billings has also earned a certificate of proficiency in Six Sigma Green Belt. She is a graduate of Timpview High School and also attended and graduated from the Fashion Institute of Design and Merchandising. She was awarded the Dean's Merit CET-Technology Management Scholarship in 2019; was a Fashion Designer Award Nominee by the FIDM in 2017; and took First Place Overall in Fashion Design Star Event by the Family, Career and Community Leaders of America, 2015. She says she can't wait to merge her growing knowledge of fashion design with her love for sports and activewear along with the leadership and management skills she has learned at UVU. "UVU has taught me the principles of creativity and innovation, quality management, and project management," Billings says. "All these will give me an edge in the fashion industry." She says she loves new fashion design techniques and applications, hiking, and staying active.

Student Excellence Awards

The following students have performed exceptionally well in their classes and have been examples to their classmates and faculty. Many participated in competitions and engaged learning, representing UVU throughout the world. They were leaders within their departments, helping and mentoring classmates.

11

As a group, these students raised the academic bar in the College of Engineering & Technology, helped us be more engaged in our community and industry, and brought UVU to the attention of nations.

CET SERVICE EXCELLENCE AWARD

Meghan Roddy

Associate Professor, Culinary Arts Institute

Meghan Rule Roddy earned an Associate of Occupational Studies degree in baking and pastry arts, as well as a bachelor's degree in hotel, restaurant, and institutional management from the University of Delaware. Roddy worked as a pastry chef for 10 years prior to coming to UVU to teach baking and pastry skills in the Culinary Arts Institute, including at the Olive and Ivy Restaurant and Marketplace in Scottsdale, Arizona, and for more than five years at Sundance Resort. "I love seeing the progress of the students throughout the block and witnessing when they reach their 'a-ha!' moment, Roddy says. "In my class, I especially love when students who have been mystified of baking realize that they are capable of making wonderful baked goods and pastries and even go on to work in industry in bakeshops or pastry shops." She is married and has two young sons, two dogs, and one cat. Roddy says she loves spending time with her family, especially hiking and watching her kids play sports. She lives in American Fork, Utah.

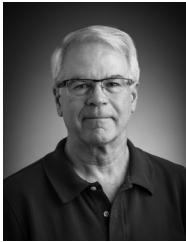

CET SERVICE EXCELLENCE AWARD

Carolyn Kuehne

Lecturer, Technology Management

Carolyn H. Kuehne earned a bachelor's degree in business education and administrative systems from Weber State University and a master's degree in business information systems from Utah State University. Professionally, she has been an instructor at Taylorsville High School and an adjunct instructor at Salt Lake Community College and Utah State University. Kuehne was also an instructor at the Ogden/Weber Applied Tech Center and has been a lecturer and adjunct instructor in technology management at UVU since 1997. She holds a State of Utah Business Educator License. She received the UVU College of Computing and Technology Faculty Senate Adjunct Award of Excellence in 2016, the UVSC School of Computer Science and Engineering Adjunct Excellence Award in 2005, and was named the UVSC School of Business Adjunct Teacher of the Year, 1999–2000. Kuehne says, "I love to watch the students' excitement as they learn a new concept. It is gratifying helping the students prepare for their future."

CET TEACHING EXCELLENCE AWARD

David Heldenbrand

Professor, Computer Science

David Heldenbrand received his undergraduate degree from James Madison University and then earned a Master of Science in computer science from Johns Hopkins University. Heldenbrand worked for Honeywell Federal Systems as a technical specialist, where he developed and maintained network communications software for Department of Defense (DoD) customers. He also worked as director of research and development for Riverbend Group, where he managed network engineering teams and consulted with DoD customers. Heldenbrand was named a Distinguished Faculty Award winner by the UVU Foundation in 2008 and was a Faculty Excellence Award winner for the School of Computing in 2008. "The evolution of the UVU mission since I joined in 1992 has provided me with career growth opportunities that would probably not have been available to me in industry," he says. "Being able to share my expertise in the guts of the internet with students, and explain to them how they might leverage that information to enhance their careers, has afforded me a bit of influence in the lives of hundreds of students. What could be better than that?" Heldenbrand spent his early adult life in Maryland and Virginia, but fell in love with UVU and the Utah County region. His wife, Jennifer, teaches in the Provo School District. He enjoys music, fly-fishing, and photography.

CET SCHOLAR EXCELLENCE AWARD

Jingpeng (JP) Tang
Professor, Computer Science

Jingpeng (JP) Tang is from Beijing, China. He received a bachelor's degree from Southwest Jiaotong University, China, a master's degree from the China Academy of Railway Science, and two doctoral degrees from North Dakota State University in computer science and engineering. Before coming to UVU, he was an assistant professor and associate professor at the University of Minnesota-Crookston. He was also an engineer at the China Academy of Railway Science. He was involved with a National Science Foundation/ND-experimental program to stimulate competitive research at North Dakota State University and was named the Graduate Researcher of the Year in 2000 at the College of Engineering and Architecture at NDSU. Tang says he enjoys UVU because he "meets lot of hard-working, ambitious, and talented young students." He and his wife, Jing, have a 5-year-old son, and he enjoys golf.

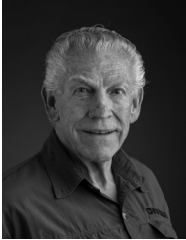

CET STAFF EXCELLENCE AWARD

Katreena Davis
Administrative Support III, Transportation Technology

Katreena D. Davis, from Pleasant Grove, Utah, has attended USU, UTC, UVCC, UVSC, and has worked at UVU for 40-plus years. She has been a secretary, an academic advisor, and now an administrative assistant. Davis says, "One of the best parts of my many years working at UVU is seeing the students grow in confidence and knowledge as they attend UVU. I love watching students achieve graduation and to continue to grow and enjoy the careers they have chosen." Davis grew up in an Air Force family so she says "it has been nice to find a place to settle down and raise a family." Married, she is a mother to four and a grandmother to three. She is a Disney fanatic and loves making many memories with her family at Disneyland.

Faculty Excellence Award Winners

JAMES COX

Associate Professor - CT, CIVE

James Allen Cox has been at UVU as an assistant and associate professor since 2008. Cox received an associate degree from Carbon College in Price, Utah, then a bachelor's degree in mathematics from Brigham Young University. He then earned a Master of Engineering in transportation from BYU, and a doctoral degree in transportation and materials from the University of Utah. Prior to teaching at UVU, Cox was a materials manager, operations manager, construction engineer, and field engineer for the Utah Department of Transportation. Early in his professional career, he also worked as a surveyor and assistant engineer for Aspen Engineering, as well as assistant engineer for Green, Naylor, and Associates in Utah County. Cox has been named a fellow by the American Society of Civil Engineers, of which he is a lifetime member. He is licensed as a professional land surveyor in Utah, Arizona, Nevada, and Wyoming; is a member of the Utah Council of Land Surveyors; earned certificates from the National Transportation Management Conference and Highway Pavements FHWA; and he is the coordinator for the Civil Engineering program at UVU. Cox says, "I have enjoyed seeing the light of understanding come on in the students' eyes as they learn the concepts and to celebrate in their success as they participate in the workforce." Cox and his late wife, Claudia, were parents to five children, 18 grandchildren, and 22 great-grandchildren. He loves to garden, fish, and give service.

DUANE ANDERSEN

Assistant Professor - Digital Media

Duane Andersen, from Salem, Utah, gained his bachelor's degree from Brigham Young University, then earned a Master of Fine Arts from State University of New York at Buffalo. Professionally, he has been a producer, writer, director, and editor on feature films and television. "I love working with students who are eager to learn and who are excited about pursuing their dreams, and I love seeing how those dreams start to form into reality," Andersen says. "I love how supportive UVU and CET's administration are in allowing us and encouraging us to develop the best film program in the state."

DAN McDONALD

Associate Professor - Information Systems

Daniel McDonald earned a bachelor's degree in accounting from Brigham Young University, and a master's degree and a doctorate in management information systems from the University of Arizona. McDonald has taught at UVU for nine years and prior to that taught at the University of Utah. He has also worked professionally in web development, network administration, inventory management, and as an accountant. He is a previous winner of the Dean's Award for Teaching. "I love teaching at Utah Valley University. I have benefited greatly from UVU's emphasis on teaching excellence and student success. I also enjoy the new things I learn as I try to keep my courses up to date and relevant for students," McDonald says. "So many students here are scrappy and willing to put in the hard work that learning requires." He says he loves hiking in the outdoors, running, and biking. Lately, he enjoys getting beat by his teenage daughters in triathlons and road races and taking long walks with his energetic goldendoodle puppy.

Adjunct Excellence Award Winners

ERIC OLIVER

Digital Media

17

Eric Oliver received a bachelor's degree in graphic design from the University of Utah, and a Master of Education in instructional technology from Western Governors University. He then earned a post-master's certificate in leadership and accountability and is scheduled to receive a doctorate in curriculum and instruction from Capella University in 2021. Before his UVU career, he was a senior graphic designer for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, art director for Harman Music Group, and graphic designer for 4Life Research. Oliver says his UVU department has supported his desire for further education, and says that same dedication and support is offered to students. "The students are truly inspirational. I am in awe as they demonstrate their creative abilities and desire to make UVU and the world a better place." With his free time, Oliver enjoys traveling, attending events, running, playing the guitar, drawing, and listening to music with his family.

TIM RINGGER

Architecture Engineering Design

Tim B. Ringger, who lives in Santaquin, Utah, received an associate degree from Utah Valley University and is currently working toward a Bachelor of Science in construction management at UVU. Since 1994, he has been project manager and drafting supervisor for Cloward H2O, where he has coordinated design document production for aquatic life support, water feature, and water treatment systems. He has been an adjunct instructor at UVU since 2006, teaching architectural drafting, piping drafting, basic drafting, and technical mathematics. Ringger was a 2011 Adjunct Faculty Excellence Award recipient. "One of the best parts about being involved at UVU are the relationships I have built while teaching my students in the classroom and seeing these students succeed," he said. "I get immense gratification seeing these good people learn and gain confidence in a subject they thought they never could." Ringger is the father of four children, and he enjoys hunting, woodworking, and beekeeping.

Valedictorians

SYDNEE C. DAVIS

Associate of Science

Nursing

From South Jordan, Utah, graduated from Bingham High School, Sydnee Davis was named a Health Occupations Students of America national champion in 2015. She received the Presidential Academic Merit Scholarship and the Utah Regents' Scholarship. She plans on earning a bachelor's degree, working for the next two years as a registered nurse, and then earning a certification as a nurse examiner for sexual assault. Her goal, she says, is to be a forensic nurse but may also go back to school eventually to become a nurse practitioner. She says her UVU experience has transformed her into a more well-rounded person. The nursing faculty, she says, "through their examples, have taught me more than just the assigned curriculum." She says she is grateful for the camaraderie her fellow students and she built over the last two "stressful years." Davis is the oldest of five children and loves hiking, traveling, reading, and writing. Her dream is to visit the seven Wonders of the World – "And I only have five left!" She enjoys writing young adult fiction novels, having self-published two books and working on a third. She also enjoys working part time as a digital marketing specialist.

ASHLEY MARIE LAMB

Bachelor of Science

Criminal Justice - Law Enforcement

Ashley Lamb graduated from a private Christian school, Colorado Heritage Education School System, located in Greeley, Colorado, which monitored and assigned her work. However, she notes, “my mother was the one who taught me. I was technically homeschooled from preschool up until I graduated high school.” She graduated high school with high honors and has been on the Dean’s List at UVU every semester. Lamb plans to continue at UVU to complete a Bachelor of Science in psychology. She hopes to join the Air Force and go to officer training school, and then work for a federal or local agency and investigate crimes against children or help victims of these crimes. She says UVU has aided her with her goals by connecting her with professionals that are employed in her future career field. “Because of UVU, I have met people who I now consider close mentors. I have really enjoyed the small classes that UVU offers. Instead of simply being a number in a large lecture hall, I have gotten the opportunity to get to know my professors and have been able to learn more from them because of this.” Lamb enjoys traveling all over the United States but has yet to leave the country. She plays competitive soccer and was on a competitive dance team for the majority of her life. She says, “I am eternally grateful that my mom sacrificed her time to teach me, because she instilled in me a drive to succeed in all that I do. Without her, I doubt that I would be the kind of student that I am today.”

Faculty & Staff Awards

RYAN VOGEL

Assistant Professor, Criminal Justice
 Director, Center for National Security Studies
Faculty Senate Award of Excellence

Ryan J. Vogel is the director of the Center for National Security Studies, director of the National Security Studies program, and an assistant professor at UVU. From Herriman, Utah, he earned a bachelor's degree in integrated studies at UVU, a master's in international affairs from American University, and a juris doctorate from American University. Additionally, he was awarded an LLM and a certificate in national security law from Georgetown University. Before coming to UVU, Vogel served at the Pentagon as a senior policy adviser in the Office of the Secretary of Defense. Vogel also served as a senior research associate at the Public International Law and Policy Group in Washington, D.C., and as an adviser on national security and foreign policy issues to then-Senator Orrin G. Hatch. As a law student, he clerked in the Office of the Legal Adviser at the U.S. Department of State. He has taught international law courses at American University in Washington, D.C., Brigham Young University, and at the Chicago-Kent College of Law. In 2018, Vogel was awarded a Presidential Fellowship for Faculty Service. With the award, he has proposed and accepted a contract to write a book on U.S. national security with Macmillan Publishers. In 2014, Vogel was awarded the Medal for Exceptional Civilian Service by the Secretary of Defense. "When I made the decision to transition from government service to academia," he says, "my primary motivating factor was in preparing the next generation of public servants. Coming to UVU, I have been continually impressed with the character, intelligence, drive, and desire to serve of our students. It is such a pleasure to help them pursue their dreams." Vogel describes himself as a lucky husband and father of four. He enjoys traveling, hiking, music, sports, reading, and "debating anything."

TRAVIS ASHDOWN

Adjunct Instructor, Criminal Justice
Faculty Senate Award of Excellence

Travis Dean Ashdown is from Spanish Fork, Utah, and is a graduate of Plano East Senior High School, in Plano, Texas. He earned a bachelor's degree in criminal justice from UVU. Ashdown began his career working in the corporate security industry with Novell in Provo, Utah, and then with Varian Medical Systems in Salt Lake City, with about 17 years of combined experience. He then took employment as a forensic technician with the Utah County Sheriff's Office and has been with that office for almost five years. His current position includes crime scene investigation, fingerprint analysis, and digital forensic analysis. Ashdown earned a certificate as a crime scene investigator from the International Association of Identification, as well as being named a certified forensic computer examiner from the International Association of Computer Investigative Specialists. He says he enjoys being able to share real-world experiences in crime scene investigation with UVU students. "I feel there is some valuable insight into understanding the textbook content, but being able to present actual cases where certain principles or techniques are used is important. I try as hard as I can to create an open, real environment with my students, with lots of discussion." He and his wife have three children and his hobbies include golf, more golf, and sometimes even more golf. He loves family, work, and doing yard work. Ashdown says, "One of my biggest fears in life is losing the ability to lead an active lifestyle and becoming the old man that yells at kids for stepping on his grass!"

SUE JACKSON

Associate Professor, Public & Community Health
Alumni Outstanding Educator of the Year

A Lehi resident, Sue Smith Jackson has an associate degree from then-Utah Valley State College, a Bachelor of Science in community health and a Master of Public Health from Brigham Young University, and a Ph.D. in health promotion and education from the University of Utah. She has been at UVU for 12 years, primarily teaching courses in epidemiology, biostatistics, and body image and weight management. She has conducted research projects and written articles on body image, weight management, and diabetes. For eight years, she has been a volunteer with the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation, recruiting 60–80 students annually to volunteer at the Provo JDRE Walk, and has been chair of the event the last three years. Jackson has received the Faculty Senate Faculty Excellence Award and Dean's Excellence Award for service. "UVU has the greatest students," she says. "They are eager to learn and work hard. I love watching students grow and progress throughout a semester. In a course like biostatistics they often start with apprehension and concern, and it is especially fulfilling to watch them be successful throughout the course."

DUSTIN BERLIN

Assistant Dean, College of Health & Public Service
Board of Trustees Award of Excellence

Dustin Berlin earned a bachelor's degree from Utah Valley University and a Master of Business Administration from Liberty University. Berlin began working at UVU part time in 2000 and later taught as an adjunct faculty member before working for an airline in Arizona. He returned to UVU in 2006 as a full-time faculty member in the School of Aviation Sciences, where he also served as a flight instructor and department chair. After taking a director position, he helped develop training for the Federal Aviation Administration, the Utah Fire & Rescue Academy, and UVU's Center for Constitutional Studies. He is an Adjunct Faculty Excellence Award winner, Woodbury School of Business, 2016; Successful Federal Contracting Recognition Award winner, Sponsored Programs, UVU, 2015; and a PACE Distinguished Employee Award winner, 2013.

ANDY BYRNES

Associate Professor, Emergency Services
Dean's Award of Excellence for Faculty

Andy Byrnes received both his associate degree in fire science and bachelor's degree in emergency services management from UVU, and a Master of Education from Utah State University. Byrnes has spent 24 years as a firefighter, paramedic, and police officer. He is a retired battalion chief with the Orem Fire Department. His specialties include leadership and management, hazardous materials/WMD response, chemistry, and the advanced science of hazardous materials/WMD response. He has been a curriculum developer, course designer, and instructor for the National Fire Academy, U.S. Fire Administration, and FEMA. In 2016, Byrnes received the John P. O'Gorman Making a Difference Award from the International Association of Fire Chiefs in recognition for work done with the Dept. of Homeland Security and FEMA. In 2015, he received the Dean's Special Recognition Award. "It's so rewarding for me to see our students succeed and gain the career of their dreams," Byrnes said. "In recent months, several of my past students have been involved in near-miss structural collapses on the job, and they have credited their RCA training at UVU for their survival. That is my ultimate payday." Byrnes said his hobbies are teaching classes, reading, research, and weekend ATV rides.

KATY DOLLAHITE

Academic Advisor, Criminal Justice
Dean's Award of Excellence for Service

Katy Dollahite received an associate degree in University Studies at UVU, followed by a bachelor's degree from Utah State University in religious studies with an anthropology minor. She is currently completing a Master of Technical Communication from USU. She has been an academic advisor in the college since 2017, and prior to that was a support advisor with the UVU Registrar's office for three years, working with graduation and transfer credit issues. Dollahite was named Advisor of the Year (2018–2019), earned a UVU Student Association Wolverine Achievement Award, an Award of Appreciation from the UVU Center for National Security Studies, and is a four-time recipient of the Wolverine Sighting Award. She has also worked as an editor and copyeditor for Kofford Books, as well as working in editing activities on a freelance basis. "I love the fact that I am able to be a dependable source of good information for students, and I really enjoy watching them succeed," Dollahite says. "I enjoy getting involved in new initiatives within my department and college. Our faculty and students are always finding great ways to give back to the community and engage meaningfully with UVU's core values." She loves to travel, especially in Great Britain and Europe. She also enjoys musical theater and music, as well as knitting and cross-stitching.

KRISTIE DOCKSTADER

Academic Advisor, Public & Community Health
Dean's Award of Excellence for Staff

Kristie Dockstader received her bachelor's degree in community health education from Utah Valley University in 2015 and is currently pursuing a Master of Public Service from UVU, scheduled to graduate in summer 2020. Dockstader has worked at UVU for 29 years, the first 24 years as the administrative assistant in the Public and Community Health Department and for the past five years as an advisor in the College of Health & Public Service. She advises students in the community health education, health care administration, school health education, and dental hygiene programs. In 2019, she received the UVU Advisor of the Year Award. "I love getting to know my students on an individual basis and developing friendships with them that last a lifetime," Dockstader says. "I also love helping students achieve academic success and showing them that I truly care by giving them the exceptional service they deserve." She lives in Elk Ridge, Utah, and is married to her high school sweetheart. The couple has two sons, two daughters-in-law, and two grandchildren. She enjoys working in the yard, reading, practicing yoga, and going on long side-by-side rides in the mountains.

BRIAN BARTHEL

Associate Professor, Public & Community Health
Dean's Award of Excellence for Engagement

Brian R. Barthel was born and raised in Iowa and currently calls Orem, Utah, home. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees in health science from Brigham Young University and earned a doctorate in health education from Southern Illinois University. His professional career began at the University of West Florida where he and his students worked closely with the American Cancer Society and American Heart and Lung Associations in carrying out initiatives with U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop's Smoke-Free Class of 2000 project. These programs received two National Honor Citations from the American Cancer Society. At UVU, Barthel and his students have helped implement "Click-it-Club" activities in elementary schools throughout Utah County and received the Outstanding Traffic Safety Award from Zero Fatalities. Barthel has participated in several international engaged-learning experiences with UVU students in Africa, Mexico, Peru, China, El Salvador, and Cambodia. "The best part of UVU is the spirit and enthusiasm of our students," he says. "When they get into a project, they take an active role and the impact on those they engage with is remarkable." Barthel and his wife, Stefanie, have two sons, and he enjoys gardening, hiking, and photography.

SUSIE NICOL

Administrative Assistant, College of Health & Public Service
Dean's Award of Excellence - Special Recognition

Susie Nicol has an associate degree from UVU in English and is currently working on a bachelor's degree from UVU. She has been employed with UVU for 20 years, much of that time spent in administrative support roles. Nicol says, "I love working in the academic environment. Opportunities for involvement, initiating impactful projects, committee work, and such are cultivated at UVU. It's exciting to work in an epicenter of novel ideas and ventures." She lives in Provo, Utah, with her husband and three young sons. "I love being a mom of boys," she says. "It's an adventure." She is a horror movie buff and loves attending rock concerts.

ANNA CHRISTINE PETERSEN

Bachelor of Science, Communication and Speech Communication

From Kaysville, Utah, and a graduate of Davis High School, Anna Christine Petersen was published in the Fall 2019 issue of UVU's Journal of Student Leadership. She was awarded an academic scholarship, as well as the Wolverine Ambassador Scholarship, and is the founder of the Fighters Against Porn Club that was awarded the Outstanding Start award. She represented UVU at the National Association for Campus Activities (NACA) spring 2019 national conference, and was a contributor and research assistant to UVU research on women's experiences that was to be presented at the National Conference on Undergraduate Research this spring. After graduating, Petersen completed an eight-month communication internship for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. In January 2020, she welcomed her first child and is now teaching classes online. In the future, Petersen says she plans to complete a master's degree and work for a nonprofit organization. "UVU gave me the opportunity and resources to chase after anything I could dream up," she says. "UVU had so many amazing people and programs that helped me to have an incredibly meaningful college experience and discover all that I am capable of. My professors and mentors took a sincere interest in my life and pushed me to become my best self." Petersen enjoys being outdoors, creating music, and enjoying life with her husband, Garrett, and son, Finn.

Department Outstanding Graduates

BEHAVIORAL SCIENCE

LISA MICHELLE PETOT

Bachelor of Science, Psychology

Lisa Michelle Petot is a graduate of W.S. Hart High School in Santa Clarita, California, and of Brigham Young University, where she earned a bachelor's degree in health science. Petot has been an undergraduate research consultant, 2019–present, with faculty members Dr. Matthew Draper and Dr. Brett Breton, with her final document to appear as a chapter in the textbook The Pre-Crime Society: Crime, Culture, and Control in the Ultramodern Age (slated for 2021 publication). She was also part of a UVU evaluation research team that studied the Butterfly Biosphere Museum exhibit at Thanksgiving Point, tracking behavior and analyzing data, with the goal of evaluating the museum's ability to foster transformative family learning. She is also a preparedness coordinator for the Utah County chapter of the American Red Cross. Petot says her goal is to be a wellness therapist, a practitioner that provides mental health counseling specifically to those seeking to ameliorate chronic physical suffering. She has been accepted to a clinical mental health counseling program and will begin graduate school in the fall of 2020. "UVU showed me the virtue of acceptance and the power of access," Petot says. "Leaving my career to return to school was a terrifying undertaking – I felt like a fish out of water. Thankfully, UVU has the spirit of acceptance. UVU is also all about access – access to resources, professors, professionals, and opportunities. The best part of UVU is that people deliberately choose to be here and choose to make the most of their time at this institution."

COMMUNICATION

ELIZABEHT ROBERTA HANSEN

Bachelor of Science, Communication

Elizabeht Roberta Hansen graduated from Pittsburg High School, Pittsburg, California, and Los Medanos College, also in Pittsburg. She is graduating from UVU with an emphasis in public relations. While at UVU, Hansen received the Latino Initiative Scholarship, is a member of the National Society of Leadership and Success, and graduated with honors with an Associate in Science in University Studies. She plans to continue research in topics such as gender, education, social class, and race, hoping to obtain a master's degree in intercultural communication studies. She says she is passionate about helping other students reach their goals, and helping muted communities and minorities. "UVU has helped me achieve my goals because they focus on the student experience," she says. "The engaged-learning approach is something I am extremely grateful for. UVU has provided me with many unique opportunities which have greatly elevated my overall experience."

HISTORY & POLITICAL SCIENCE

MARIAH JANE TODD

Bachelor of Arts, History

Double minor in Environmental Studies and American Studies

A graduate of Hillcrest High School, Midvale, Utah, Mariah Jane Todd will graduate with a bachelor's degree in history with a double minor in environmental studies and American studies. While at UVU, Todd received the UVU Exemplary Merit Scholarship and a Utah Regents' Exemplary Award Scholarship. She has also been a co-editor-in-chief of the Crescat Scientia, the UVU history and political science student journal, as well as the content editor of the 2019 Youth and the Mountains Journal. Todd was treasurer of Phi Alpha Theta from 2018–2019. Todd has also worked as the outreach and education intern at the Utah State Archives, as an instructional assistant in the history and political science department, and as a research assistant studying water quality and availability. She plans to attend law school in the next couple of years and pursue a career in advocacy and public interest, focusing on environmental, gender, and LGBTQ+ issues. "UVU has shown me new ideas and paths for my life that I had not considered before," Todd says. "I have grown and learned more about the world and myself while being supported by my school community. The opportunity to try new things in a safe and collaborative environment has been wonderful." Todd is also an artist, enjoying drawing and painting in her free time.

ENGLISH

HILLARY HUNT

Bachelor of Science, English and Writing Studies

A graduate of Pleasant Grove High School and currently living in Lehi, Utah, Hillary Hunt has been published three times in Essais, and carries a 4.0 in all English coursework. She works part time as a copywriter for UVU's Community Outreach and Economic Development department and as a content creator for an Amazon marketing agency. She often writes articles regarding women's health and wellness, and she would like to further explore writing creative nonfiction, academic, and political content in the future. Hunt says she dropped out of UVU when it was still called UVSC, but "was not content being part of the statistic that had Utah women trailing behind in college graduation rates." She says returning to UVU and pursuing an English degree is one of the highlights of her life, and that what she's accomplished and learned here means she can now call herself a writer with confidence. Hunt says she appreciates her English professors "who offered me intellectual escape and challenge every day. Reading scholarly articles in the library with my coffee was pretty great too." She and her husband are parents to two boys and owners of a rescue poodle. She enjoys gardening, subversive humor, and a "well-constructed charcuterie board."

INTEGRATED STUDIES

JESSICA L. SHULER

Bachelor of Science, Integrated Studies

Emphases: Anthropology and Community Health

Jessica L. Shuler is from Springville, Utah, and is graduating with emphases in anthropology and community health. She has completed her capstone, a humanitarian project she planned and carried out. Shuler obtained a grant to travel to and work with a women's empowerment movement in Nepal. She has continued to work with and aid the women by purchasing coffee they grow, which she sells in a coffee shop called Art City Coffee she owns and operates with her husband. Her plans are to attend the University of Edinburgh upon acceptance to the graduate medical anthropology program, and then return to UVU. For several years while attending UVU, Shuler says she was a single mom working full time, unsure of what career path to take. She says the Integrated Studies program allowed her to pursue a degree at her own pace and finally accomplish it. "I have worked with professors in several different departments, and they have all been nothing short of amazing. They have challenged and pushed me to become the best I could be. They are not only my mentors but several have become close friends. They have not only assisted me in an educational sense, they have supported my humanitarian efforts outside of my education." While Shuler calls Utah home, she spent much of her youth in southern India, England, and on the East Coast of the United States. While raising her now-14-year-old son, her family has traveled to more than 20 countries.

LANGUAGES & CULTURES

LILIANA JESSUP

Bachelor of Arts, Spanish Education

Now calling Eagle Mountain, Utah, home, Liliana Jessup graduated from the Centro de Bachillerato Tecnológico Industrial y de Servicios #36, in Monclova, Coahuila, Mexico. She also graduated from high school with a technical degree in accounting. She has been awarded the Dean's Merit CHSS Languages Scholarship, an I Am First Scholarship, and a First-Generation Completion Scholarship. Jessup plans to start teaching this fall as a Spanish immersion teacher at the secondary level, with an eye to also complete a master's degree in educational leadership. She says UVU helped her finish a degree started years ago. She said some of her coursework was completed online which aided her progress. "The professors are personable, competent, and provide additional materials and resources that enrich learning," Jessup says. "Professors hold students to high expectations, are up to date with content knowledge, integrate technology, and incorporate collaboration and group work. Students are committed to excellence. Working together on projects and assignments has been a valuable and enjoyable experience." Jessup began learning English as a second language at age 25. She and her husband have five children, and she will graduate with a bachelor's degree at the time her oldest child will graduate from high school. She enjoys reading nonfiction literature, especially psychology, sociology, medical topics, geopolitics, and biographies.

PHILOSOPHY & HUMANITIES

HAYDEN BERG

Bachelor of Science, Philosophy

Bachelor of Science, Psychology

Hayden Berg graduated from Salem Hills High School in Salem, Utah, and now lives in Provo. He has had two articles accepted for forthcoming publication: “Siddhartha Gautama: A Secular Suspension of the Ethical,” in Sophia Fall 2020; and “Smell, Alienation, and Political Art: A Marxist Analysis of Parasite,” in Essais Spring 2020. He hopes to soon take the GRE and begin applying to graduate programs. Berg says he’d love to spend the rest of his life reading, writing, and teaching about philosophy, so he hopes to gain a doctoral degree and be a professor. “My time at UVU has made me a significantly better writer and critical thinker. UVU cares about the quality of their faculty and hires professors who are passionate about their field and excited to share that passion with students who also have an interest in the same work.” Berg says he will soon be married to his favorite conversational partner, and they are both film fans. He said he hopes to represent UVU well in his future professional life.

WOLVERINE ACHIEVEMENT: DEAN'S CHOICE AWARD

ELEXIS KAIN

Bachelor of Arts, Philosophy and Humanities

Elexis Kain has made significant contributions to the UVU community through her work with the Interfaith Student Council, for which she served as co-president the past two years. Under her leadership, this new campus group grew and flourished. She oversaw two retreats, five interfaith forums, and three excursions, as well as participated in various events where she has beautifully represented the values of interfaith and pluralism at UVU. She has been an articulate ambassador of pluralism and an effective community builder, effortlessly building relationships with administrators and community board members, as well as her fellow students. One faculty member says of Elexis, whom she calls an exemplary UVU student: "I know she will make her alma mater proud [and] go on to do amazing things to make the world a better, more inclusive, compassionate place."

MARIA BLEVINS, Ph.D.

Assistant Professor, Communication

The Outstanding Educator for the College of Humanities and Social Sciences, Maria Blevins is from Phoenix, Arizona, and is currently living in Salt Lake City, Utah. She has a bachelor's degree in recreation management from the University of Maine at Machias, a master's degree in communication studies and a graduate certificate in Natural Resources Alternative Dispute Resolution from the University of Montana, and a Ph.D. in communication studies from the University of Utah. She has been a whitewater rafting guide, the Madison River manager for the Montana Fish, Wildlife, and Parks Department, a graduate teaching assistant at the University of Utah, and is currently an assistant professor at UVU. She earned the Faculty Excellence Award in 2019, Presidential Award for Community Engaged Faculty, spring 2018; Most Valuable Professor, UVU Basketball Team, spring 2018; and the College of Humanities and Social Sciences Dean's Award for Faculty Teaching, 2017. "I enjoy that UVU is a growing school, so there is a spirit of building something new and special that permeates the culture," she says. "I love the students, and how they are at UVU to build a better life." She says the highlight of every school year for her is teaching an environmental communication class at the Capitol Reef Field Station.

UVU BOARD OF TRUSTEES AWARD

SHANNON MUSSETT, Ph.D.

Professor, Philosophy & Humanities

Shannon Mussett was awarded an M.A. and Ph.D. in philosophy from Villanova University. Among her experience at UVU, she has been chair, Department of Philosophy and Humanities (2012–2015), Gender Studies coordinator (2003–2012), and chair, Committee on Interdisciplinary Studies (2006–2007). She has been secretary-treasurer of The Society for Phenomenology and Existential Philosophy (2011–2014). She was an instructor at Bryn Mawr College in 2002–2003. “Since I arrived at UVU,” she says, “I have been in awe of the energy, dynamism, and possibilities flourishing in the university, which have not slowed down in the almost 15 years that I have taught here.” She is married to fellow philosophy professor Michael Marx Shaw. The couple has two children, Cleo and Milo, “who still don’t really understand what we do for a living. I love to research, travel, hike, and eat like a king.”

MARTIN McDONELL

Associate Professor, Behavioral Science

BSW Program Coordinator

Originally from Brea, California, Martin McDonell has a bachelor's degree in psychology from San Diego State University and master's degree from California State University at Long Beach. He earned a doctorate from the University of Utah. McDonell has been a mental health counselor in an in-patient psychiatry setting, a child abuse investigator for Orange County Social Services, and has been on the faculty at BYU-Idaho, BYU-Hawaii, the University of Arkansas, and Utah Valley University. He earned several recognitions at BYU-Hawaii, including the Faculty Recognition Award (2009–2013, 2015), and the Faculty Leadership Award (2011–2014). "I believe each of my students has a tremendous desire to learn and then apply the theories to the clients and people they will serve in the social work arena upon graduation," McDonell says. "The students are motivated and eager to get out in the field and make a difference. It makes teaching at UVU very exciting to be part of their learning experience." McDonell is the father of five, finds cycling to be a huge passion, and loves spending time in Arizona when possible.

DEAN'S AWARD OF EXCELLENCE FOR TEACHING

GREGORY R. JACKSON, Ph.D.

Assistant Professor, Integrated Studies

Assistant Director, National Security Studies

Gregory R. Jackson is originally from Rancho Cucamonga, California, and now lives in Lehi, Utah. He received a bachelor's degree in history and a Master of Arts in French Studies from BYU, followed by a doctorate in history from the University of Utah. Jackson has been an assistant professor in the department of Integrated Studies since fall 2014. He contributes to several other programs as well, including French, political science, history, and national security studies, where he's also served as assistant director since 2018. Prior to coming to UVU, Jackson taught courses in history at Westminster College and the University of Utah. He has published academic articles, book reviews, and op-eds, made expert appearances on radio, TV, and podcasts, as well as presented research at conferences across the U.S. and internationally. Jackson launched a U.S. history podcast two and a half years ago called "History That Doesn't Suck" that has grown virally and hit the top of various charts on several podcast platforms. He also serves as a historical consultant for the highly acclaimed Wondery/Airship-produced podcast "American Elections: Wicked Game." Among his honors, Jackson was awarded an Undergraduate Research Summer Institute Grant (UVU, 2018) and UVU Presidential Fellowship (UVU, 2017-18). "The best part of working with students at UVU are the students themselves," Jackson says. "They are the perfect mixture of intelligence, drive, and humility. They ask for nothing while doing everything. They're scrappy in all the right ways, yet kind, compassionate, down to earth, and open-minded. You can't help but want to do everything in your power to empower and further build up students like that." Jackson enjoys reading, rock climbing, cycling, baseball, and spending time with his family. He serves on the Lehi City Planning Commission. His wife, Sue, is also on the UVU faculty.

DEAN'S AWARD OF EXCELLENCE FOR SCHOLARSHIP OR CREATIVE WORK

NATHAN GORELICK, Ph.D.

Associate Professor, English & Literature

From New York City and now living in Salt Lake City, Utah, Nathan Gorelick graduated summa cum laude with a bachelor's degree in sociology from New York University. He earned a Master of Arts and Ph.D. in comparative literature from the State University of New York at Buffalo. Gorelick has been at UVU since 2010. He was named Club Advisor of the Year (Creative Writing Club, 2015), earned a grant for Engaged Learning in the Liberal Arts (2013 and 2014), and was an honorary inductee to the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society (2014). "I am endlessly impressed by our students' curiosity, enthusiasm, and boundless craving for knowledge," Gorelick says. "They know we only grow when we reach and exceed our own limits, and that we are fully ourselves, most valuable to others and our wider world, most in command of our own destinies, when we commit to building rather than discovering a meaningful reality. I am immeasurably fortunate to work with such an engaged, thoughtful, inspired, and inspiring group of people."

DEAN'S AWARD OF EXCELLENCE FOR STAFF

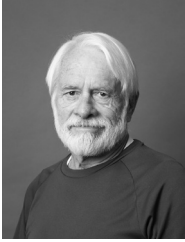

KRISTEN SMITH

Administrative Assistant III, Communication

Kristen Smith is from Lakeridge, Virginia, and currently lives in Provo, Utah. She received her executive office professional certification from Stanford-Brown College, in Vienna, Virginia, in 2001. She has worked at UVU since 2013. "One of my favorite things about UVU is the emphasis on continued learning," she says. "I firmly believe learning is a lifelong process, and I love working with others who embrace that same vision."

CHSS Inclusion Awards

78

PEACE & JUSTICE STUDIES

Dr. Lynn England, Program Coordinator

Dr. Jenna Nigro, Executive Committee

The Peace and Justice Studies program (PJST) prepares students for domestic and international peacebuilding. This interdisciplinary program promotes analytical and experiential scholarship. The curriculum includes an emphasis on issues of inclusiveness and the development of practical skills to be used in building inclusiveness.

AMERICAN INDIAN STUDIES

Dusty Jansen, Program Coordinator

American Indian Studies (AIST) provides students with academic experiences, skills, and strategies to understand the scope of American indigenous communities within scholarly and applied contexts. The program offers insightful perspective to all students, helping them better understand the issues and challenges facing the Native American community and provides opportunities to Native American students to help them achieve their career goals.

LEANDRA H. HERNANDEZ, Ph.D.

Assistant Professor, Communication

Dr. Leandra Hernandez is dedicated to creating inclusive spaces in pedagogical and research contexts. Her work in developing courses that incorporate inclusion as well as engaging in research projects that focus on marginalized groups are recognized by this award.

ELIJAH NIELSON, Ph.D., J.D., L.C.S.W.

Assistant Professor, Behavioral Science

MSW Program Director

Dr. Elijah Nielson is being recognized for the inclusive environment he creates for students and fellow faculty – reminding them that they belong, that there is a space and place for them at UVU.

WALTER TEMPLE, Ph.D.

Assistant Professor, Languages & Cultures

French Language Program Coordinator

Dr. Walter Temple is being recognized for his diligent work to expose his students to different perspectives and ideas related to diversity and inclusion. He fosters community-building competencies, international exchange, and the development of global citizenship qualities through teaching, scholarship, and community exchange.

COLLEGE OF SCIENCE

Valedictorian

100

ANTHONY COLLINS

Bachelor of Science, Chemistry

Anthony Collins is receiving a Bachelor of Science in chemistry with an emphasis in biochemistry. He is a graduate of Windsor High School in Windsor, California. Collins is a recipient of scholarships from the UVU Ambassadors program, UVU Honors Program, and UVU Student Association, as well as the Bill and Margaret Pope Scholarship. Collins ran for UVU student body president — “came in second with 681 votes” — and was the College of Science student senator. He was also a Wolverine Ambassador and was involved in the UVU Honors Program. Collins says he plans to pursue further education to become a physician, with a special interest in emergency medicine. “UVU’s open enrollment was a huge factor in my success today. This policy gave me a chance to pursue my dreams and to meet a diverse group of peers that have helped me grow and succeed. The many extracurricular opportunities inspired me to pursue excellence and extend my knowledge beyond the classroom,” he said. “UVU’s affordable tuition was an essential factor in my pursuit of higher education and ultimately brought me to my goal of pursuing medicine and giving back to my community.” Collins loves working out and used to be the Swolverines Club president, which was a health and wellness club on campus. When not in the library, you can find him at the nearest pizza place with a triple pepperoni pizza.

Salutatorian

TIANI L. ORR

Bachelor of Science, Exercise Science

101

Tiani Orr graduated from Bingham High School in South Jordan, Utah. In May 2020, she enrolled in the Doctor of Physical Therapy Program at the Medical University of South Carolina and will complete their three-year program. Following that degree and a few years of practicing as a physical therapist, Orr hopes to pursue a doctoral degree. She is a UVU Presidential Scholarship recipient and has been on the Dean's List every semester since fall 2014. She has been a member of the UVU Honors Program member since 2014 and is the current Honors Program student ambassador. Orr had a research presentation accepted to be presented at the Western Regional Honors Conference. She was the Department of Exercise Science Outstanding Student Award winner and the assistant clinical director of Special Olympics Utah-FUNfitness program. "UVU has helped me achieve my goals by giving me real opportunities to stretch my mind and broaden my experiences as a result of dedicated teachers and hands-on opportunities," Orr says. "Most of my professors and instructors have gone the extra mile to help me understand difficult and new material, and resources on campus have filled in the gaps. UVU truly was the best environment for me to flourish, grow, and impact the world for the better." Orr enjoys being outdoors running, swimming, or playing ultimate Frisbee. "I also adore teaching survival swimming to little babies starting at four months old, as well as helping older children and adults perfect their stroke technique and endurance." She said she is grateful for her identical twin sister who will "never turn down the opportunity to work out with me, study with me, or share some late-night Cold Stone ice cream."

Outstanding Student Awards

The following students were recognized as being among the best of the College of Science. These students have performed exceptionally well in their classes and made other significant contributions. Some of the students have participated in research projects of regional or international importance, other played key roles in service learning projects. Many played leadership roles within their departments, helping classmates with assignments and mentoring lower-level students.

As a group, outstanding students have raised the academic bar at UVU, helped us be more engaged with our community, and made UVU an even more prestigious institution.

HILARY HUNGERFORD

Associate Professor, Department of Earth Science

Board of Trustees Award of Excellence

Faculty Senate Award of Excellence

103

Hilary Hungerford is from Highlands Ranch, Colorado, and currently lives in Orem, Utah. She received her bachelor's degree in geography from the University of Northern Colorado, and a Master of Arts and doctoral degree in geography from University of Kansas. Hungerford has been a National Geographic Society intern and a Peace Corps volunteer. She was also an assistant professor at South Dakota State University from 2012 to 2015. She is a past winner of the College of Science Service Award. "The best part about working at UVU is the opportunity to make a difference. When I joined UVU, the geography major was just starting to take shape, and it was exciting to contribute to this new program and create more opportunity for students at UVU," Hungerford says. "Together we explore the big questions. I feel content that I am helping young leaders shape their ideas and solutions for problems we will all face." Hungerford is a passionate heirloom tomato gardener, novice banjo player, and occasional baker of elaborate cakes. She and her husband, Chris, have two children.

PAUL WEBER

Associate Professor, Physics
Presidential Award of Excellence

Paul Weber earned his bachelor's degree from Bemidji State University and a Master of Science and Ph.D. from the University of Colorado, at Boulder, Colorado. He has been a research physicist at CERN, in Geneva, Switzerland, researching in experimental particle physics for five years. Weber has been a faculty member in physics at liberal arts colleges or universities, including UVU, for 20 years. He is a past winner of the College of Science Dean's Award for Excellence in Teaching, 2016, and the College of Science Dean's Award for Excellence in Scholarship, 2017. Weber says he enjoys working with students to build things and carry out research efforts together. "It has been very gratifying," he says, "to form inter-departmental alliances with the engineering department and their students to work on cross-disciplinary projects. And I have enjoyed seeing students go on to very successful careers in industry or graduate school, and to see them develop as professionals." Weber enjoys hiking and enjoys tackling Mt. Timpanogos, with staff, faculty and student friends, or "anyone who wants to come along."

CHRISTINE WALKER

Professor, Mathematics

Board of Trustees Award of Excellence

Christine Walker earned an associate degree in mathematics from Ricks College, and a bachelor's degree in mathematics education from Brigham Young University. She then gained a Master of Arts degree in mathematics education from BYU and a Doctor of Education in Curriculum and Instruction from Utah State University. In her career, she has been an instructor of mathematics and department chair at Wasatch Middle School, Heber City, Utah; an instructor of mathematics at Westminster College, Salt Lake City, Utah, and a professor at UVU since August 1992. In 2018, Walker was nominated for Outstanding Course Design by the UVU Office of Teaching and Learning. Among her other honors, she was also nominated for the School of Science and Health Excellence Award for Service, nominated for the UVUSA Wolverine Achievement Award, received the UVSC Certificate of Appreciation for Outstanding Service to UVSC Students in 1997, was the UVSC Teacher of the Year School of Science and Health, 1996–1997, and was awarded a Certificate of Appreciation for Outstanding Service to Students with Disabilities. Walker says, “It’s a pleasure to teach and mentor students who are engaged in math and working toward their profession, and to be a part of their lives as they transition into the workforce. UVU is an exceptional place to inspire, encourage, and challenge students and myself to be the best we can be.” Walker is the mother of five and grandmother of two. Her two oldest children are graduates of UVU and others are working on their UVU degrees.

T. HEATH OGDEN

Associate Professor, Biology

Faculty Senate Award of Excellence

T. Heath Ogden, originally from Sandy, Utah, earned a bachelor's degree in zoology from Brigham Young University and a Master of Science with mention in zoology from Universidad de Concepción, Concepción, Chile. Ogden then earned a doctorate in integrative biology with an emphasis in molecular systematics from BYU. He has conducted postdoctoral research in computational genomics and bioinformatics at Arizona State University. He has been a visiting assistant professor at Idaho State University and adjunct faculty at Riosalado Community College, Tempe, Arizona, and BYU. He has been at UVU since 2009. Ogden was awarded a UVU Trustee Award of Excellence in 2014–2015, a Presidential Fellowship in 2017, and an NSF Grant 2016–2019. “The best part about UVU is watching the lights go on in the minds of students in teaching and research settings,” he says. “I love experiencing the moments when students’ worldviews are modified and shaped as they are empowered with critical-thinking and evidence-based decision-making skills. Ogden enjoys being outdoors with his family, as well as attending concerts, plays, and musicals. He also enjoys collecting, drawing and painting, and participating with his Nooners Basketball Association.

SALLY ROCKS

Assistant Professor, Chemistry
Faculty Senate Award of Excellence

107

Sally Rocks is from Sandy, Utah, and she received a bachelor's degree in chemistry from Bucknell University and a Master of Science and doctorate in bioinorganic chemistry from the University of Rochester. Professionally, she has been a senior research chemist for FLSmidth, Salt Lake City, and a postdoctoral researcher with Princeton University. She was awarded a Higher Education Academy Fellowship (2019) and a Certificate of Entrepreneurial Leadership (CEL) award given for outstanding new business development (2011), and a W.D. Walters Teaching Award (2006). "The hard work and determination of our students motivates me to bring my best to the classroom each day," Rocks says. "Without question, the students at UVU are the best part of my job. At each graduation I am overcome with pride and excitement over what they have achieved and what they will achieve." When not in the lab or classroom, Rocks is with her family and enjoys the outdoors. She and her husband have two children, and they enjoy skiing, hiking, and biking. She also loves to cook, spending time in her "food chemistry lab" (kitchen) at home.

VIOLETA VASILEVSKA

Professor, Mathematics

Faculty Senate Award of Excellence

Violeta Vasilevska was born and raised in Bitola, Republic of North Macedonia, and is currently living in Salt Lake City, Utah. She earned bachelor's and master's degrees in mathematics from Sts. Cyril and Methodius University, Skopje, Republic of North Macedonia, as well as a doctorate in mathematics from the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tennessee. She has been an assistant professor at the University of South Dakota and visiting assistant professor with the IMMERSE (Intensive Mathematics: A Mentoring, Education, and Research Summer Experience) at the University of Nebraska. Among her recognitions, Vasilevska has been named an associate fellow of the Higher Education Academy, an accredited international recognition through the Higher Education Academy, 2017; received an Outstanding Teaching Award, awarded from the Intermountain MAA Section to recognize Distinguished College and University Teaching of Mathematics, spring 2017; received a UVU Faculty Senate Excellence Award, spring 2015; Wolverine Achievement Award, spring 2014; served as a chair of the national Mathematical Association of America (MAA) Committee on Undergraduate Students; and served as a consultant for the MAA Project NExT (New Experiences in Teaching). She has numerous publications and presentations. "UVU has provided me with a perfect venue to accomplish the most exciting and rewarding aspects of my career: to teach and watch students learn; to integrate the scholarship with teaching; and to embrace our diverse student and faculty body," Vasilevska says. "Working with students on undergraduate research and watching them grow as mathematicians has been an incredible experience and journey." She says she loves traveling, exploring, and learning about new cultures, as well as hiking and yoga. Vasilevska is also "passionate about origami ... and exploring the connections between origami and math."

LAURA WHEATLEY

Lecturer, Exercise Science and Outdoor Recreation
Faculty Senate Award of Excellence

Laura Wheatley is currently a doctoral candidate in exercise physiology at the University of Utah. She earned a bachelor's degree in social science education and a master's degree in exercise physiology from Illinois State University. She has been a lecturer at UVU since 2016. Wheatley has also been a graduate teaching assistant at the University of Utah, a lecturer in the department of exercise science and a graduate teaching assistant at Illinois State University. She received a Graduate Teaching Award from both the University of Utah and Illinois State University. "The collaborative, supportive environment among students and faculty at UVU is truly unique and sets our university apart. Our students are highly driven and motivated and have chosen to make their education a priority, while many of them are also balancing work and a family," Wheatley says. "It is a pleasure to provide our students with the knowledge, skills, and abilities to reach their personal career or health goals amidst the endeavors of life." Wheatley, her husband, Dan, and 4-year-old daughter, Lucy, enjoy an active lifestyle in the Wasatch Mountains, hiking, trail running, backpacking, and skiing. She has hiked Mt. Timpanogos with Lucy on her back. She lives in Draper.

ESTHER PATCH

Adjunct Instructor, Chemistry
Faculty Senate Adjunct Award of Excellence

Esther Cairns Udall Patch is a Utah County native. She attended Erskine College and Seminary in Due West, South Carolina, earning a Bachelor of Science in chemistry with an emphasis in biochemistry and a minor in biology. She also holds a Master of Public Health from Westminster College. She has been a member of the BYU-Idaho chemistry adjunct faculty in Rexburg, Idaho, and worked as a study director for Nelson Labs, Salt Lake City, Utah. She is on the National Registry of Certified Microbiologists and received certification for AAMI Radiation Sterilization for Medical Devices. Patch says, "One main reason that I love teaching at UVU is to see the light go on in a student's eyes when they understand a new concept and to see students succeed in their future endeavors."

MATT HORNProfessor, Chemistry

Dean's Award of Excellence for Teaching

Matthew A. Horn earned a bachelor's degree in chemistry from Lawrence University and a Bachelor of Music in Music Performance from the University of Pennsylvania. Horn then earned a doctorate in chemistry from the University of Chicago. He has been an assistant professor of chemistry at Luther College and at Bucknell University before coming to UVU in 2002. "Successful students at UVU recognize that at this school, success ultimately comes from their own efforts," Horn says. "These successful students are incredibly motivated and simply need guidance finding the direction in which to point their efforts and finding the form their efforts must take. It is incredibly gratifying seeing students like this generate their own success." Horn says his partner also teaches at UVU, in philosophy, "and my life with her has shaped most every aspect of how I approach education." He says his children "have taught me how to be questioned with grace and humility."

JOSEPH JENSENProfessor, Physics

Dean's Award of Excellence for Service

Joseph Jensen is from Pleasant Grove, Utah, and earned his bachelor's degree from the California Institute of Technology, studying astronomy, and master's and doctoral degrees from the University of Hawaii. He has taught physics courses at UVU since 2009. Prior to coming to UVU, Jensen worked at the Gemini Observatory for 12 years, where he helped commission the two 8-meter telescopes and led the instrument development program. Jensen has continued his research on the distance scale of the universe and the nature of dark matter and dark energy, using data from the Hubble Space Telescope and the Gemini Observatory in Chile. At UVU, Jensen has been active in participating with the SCULPT and RUEC committees. He also serves as the managing editor for the Astronomical Society of the Pacific Conference Series, a leading publication for astronomy conference proceedings worldwide.

STEVE WASSERBAECH

Professor, Physics

Dean's Award of Excellence for Teaching

Steven R. Wasserbaech attended the University of Utah, earning Bachelor of Science degrees in both mathematics and physics. He has also earned a doctorate from Stanford University in physics. Professionally, Wasserbaech has been a research assistant at the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center; a scientific associate at the European Organization for Nuclear Research (CERN), Geneva, Switzerland; a postdoctoral research assistant at Florida State University; a research assistant professor at the University of Washington; and a visiting professor at College in Pennsylvania. He has been at UVU since 2002. From 2009 to 2017, he was a member of the Compact Muon Solenoid (CMS) Collaboration, co-discoverer of the Higgs boson, and co-recipient of the 2013 High Energy and Particle Physics Prize of the European Physical Society. Wasserbaech says, "The people at UVU are wonderful — students, staff, and faculty. I love helping students learn and succeed." He and his wife, Renee, have three daughters.

GEOFF ZAHN

Assistant Professor, Biology

Dean's Award of Excellence for Scholarship

Geoffrey Zahn is from Fayetteville, Arkansas, and is currently living in Pleasant Grove, Utah. He has earned a bachelor's degree in biology from Missouri State University and a doctorate in biology from the University of Arkansas. He has been an assistant professor at UVU since 2017 and before that a postdoctoral research associate at the University of Hawaii at Manoa. Zahn earned the Mycological Society of America Translational Mycology Award and a fellowship from the Japan Society for the Promotion of Science Research. "I love that UVU is serious about supporting innovative teaching and undergraduate research. There's a culture here that very seriously incentivizes student success," Zahn says. "My students are constantly surprising me with how quickly they adapt to the intellectual struggles of scientific research, and it is very rewarding to see how they are developing as professional scientists." Zahn has three dogs, one of which is perfect, a boxer named Indiana Jones. He and his wife, Kelly, love to travel, cook, and watch bad movies. He's been known to travel to new countries just to hang out in their grocery stores and learn to cook the cuisine. Zahn says, "In my heart I'm an Ozarks hill-billy, and I love spending summers in a van down by the river."

CODY PETERSON

Academic Advisor II, College of Science/Chemistry and Physics
Dean's Award of Excellence for Staff

Cody Peterson holds an associate degree in general studies from Utah State University and a bachelor's degree in biology with a chemistry minor from UVU. He is currently working on a master's degree in space studies and planetary science from the University of North Dakota (UND). He has been an academic advisor in biology, chemistry, and physics at UVU. He has also been an adjunct instructor in chemistry and biology. His current research interest with UND is potentially hazardous near-Earth asteroid photometry and astrometry. "As an academic advisor, I see my responsibility for helping navigate our students through their degrees, allowing them to make informed decisions so they worry less on the logistics of their degree and more on their education. I really enjoy seeing our students progress from the day they begin, to confident seniors ready to take their place in the world as healthcare professionals, researchers and valuable employees." He and his wife, Tristan, have two children, and the family enjoys rock collecting and biology. He and Tristan are die-hard Utah Jazz fans and rarely miss a game. He adds, "Capturing the night sky in detail and sharing that with others fulfills me. I also have a passion for optics/telescope design and study various ways to improve my astrophotography utilizing different systems."

SCHOOL OF THE ARTS

Valedictorians

HEATHER AVERY

Bachelor of Science, Art & Design

121

Heather Nicholle Avery, from Herriman, and a graduate of Herriman High School, is receiving a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree with an emphasis in graphic design. She is a recipient of the Regent's Scholarship and was a 2019 American Graphic Design Award winner. She says she hopes her career path will allow her to build effective brand identities and designs for emerging companies that she believes in. In 2018, Avery started her own graphic design business while still attending UVU. She hopes to be able to help other students by creating opportunities in her growing business. Avery says she also may pursue a master's degree. "The way the BFA graphic design program was set up allowed for a lot of flexibility in the way I approached design projects. This made it possible for me to get as much out of school as I desired, as the outcome depended heavily on what I put into it. Although I am not pursuing the traditional route after school (getting a job in the industry), going to school was 100% worth it to me. I know that the professors and design program at UVU gave me crucial tools that helped me be successful in my design business and has set me up for a great future." Avery is married to her high school sweetheart, Joshua, and the couple recently had their first child. She loves any outdoor activity, cleaning, and making people laugh.

ESTHER BECK

Associate of Science, Art & Design

Esther Celeste Beck is graduating with an associate degree in arts, majoring in art and design. She notes she is a proud graduate of “The Beck Bastien for Better Brains, my home in Highland, Utah.” She holds a certification from the Institute of Healing Arts as an emotional health facilitator, and was also awarded a Presidential Academic Scholarship. Beck says she plans to continue her education through a master’s degree in marriage and family therapy, with a possible certification in art therapy. She says she hopes to facilitate emotional health through therapy techniques. She also says the wide range of classes and degree programs at UVU gave her an opportunity to experiment “and discover what I love to do while still moving toward my academic goals. I have loved working with and learning from each of my professors who truly care about my success academically and professionally. The teachers are so understanding of my situation as a busy, working student and are available to counsel and talk about topics besides classwork and grades.” Beck says she enjoys exploring new things, including art projects, writing and performing musical arrangements, and public speaking competitions. Her favorite pastime is horseback riding. “I also look forward to entering my artwork in art shows and exhibits and traveling to fulfill my love of adventure and photography.”

Faculty & Staff Awards

LA BEENE, MFA

Associate Professor, Theatre
Faculty Excellence Award

123

La Beene earned an MFA in costume design and technology from Brigham Young University. She has previously taught at the University of North Carolina, BYU, and the University of Utah. Beene has designed costumes for theater productions across the region including Plan B and the Salt Lake Acting Company in Salt Lake City; Utah Festival Opera and Musical Theatre, Logan, Utah; Oregon Cabaret Theatre; BYU; and several independent projects. She is the chair of the Intermountain Desert Region of USITT, as well as serving on several boards at the national level of USITT, and is state representative for the Costume Society of America. Beene says, "Each show is unique and brings a different set of challenges and design opportunities. Because of this, I get to know a select group of students very well, and can help fine-tune their education so that they each get what they need from the program." She says she loves "musicals, frosting, and the mountains... and all glittery things."

DR. REED CRIDDLE, D.M.

Associate Professor, Music
Faculty Senate Award of Excellence

Reed Criddle is director of Choral Activities at Utah Valley University, where he conducts the Chamber Choir and Men's Choir and teaches conducting and voice. He is a graduate of Stanford University, the Eastman School of Music, and the University of Michigan. Criddle has twice received the UVU Faculty Senate Teaching Excellence Award. His compositions and arrangements are available through Earthsongs, Hal Leonard, and Santa Barbara Music Publishing. As a conductor and U.S. Fulbright Senior scholar, he has directed ensembles, conducted research, and led workshops throughout Europe, Asia, Cuba, and the United States. He is editor of "Chanting the Medicine Buddha Sutra" (A-R Editions), an ethnography of Buddhist liturgy and his English translation of third-century philosopher Ruan Ji's "Essay on Music" is published by Asian Music. Criddle has served as president of the Utah chapter of the American Choral Directors Association. UVU choirs under his direction have performed many times at the national conference of NCCO, the western division conference of ACDA, and state conferences of the ACDA. Recent invitations include guest conductor of the Utah Valley Symphony, Timpanogos Symphony Orchestra, Utah Lyric Opera, Sine Nomine (Cuba), FACE Choral Festival (Texas), and the Utah Men's High School Honor Choir. He has been a professor-in-residence at Musikhochschule in Weimar, Lubeck, and Hamburg (Germany), National Sun Yat-sen University (Taiwan), Taipei National University of the Arts, and Fudan University (Shanghai); and keynote speaker for the China Children's Center in Beijing and Shanghai Music Conductors Association Conference.

MAYLENE WHITE

Adjunct Instructor, Dance

Faculty Senate Adjunct Award of Excellence

T. Maylene White has more than 25 years of experience teaching students in higher education, and she is receiving the Faculty Excellence Award. Her teaching has been directed toward dance technique, teaching methods, and lecture classes. She is a former dance specialist for the State Office of Education and Utah Festival Opera Company. White has worked several professional dance companies as a guest artist, as a featured television performer, and was principal dancer with Contemporary DanceWORKS. She earned a Master of Fine Arts from the University of Utah and bachelor's degree from Brigham Young University. She received a Special Performance Citation from the Mormon Arts Festival; her elementary school operas have been featured on local news; and she is a Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society member. She says she has found UVU students to be "eager and engaged" in both the classroom and studio situations. White says she hopes her students "gain a greater awareness of themselves through dance. Dance stimulates us intellectually, physically and emotionally, often at the same time. Watching them grow as they make connections between what we study and real-life experiences is what the teaching experience is all about." After being diagnosed with a degenerative joint disease, White says she no longer moves as intensely as she once did, and has turned to swimming to "channel my inner fire." She has competed in 3K-5K races worldwide. She has an interior design certification and often contributes on "Good Things Utah." She has been married for 32 years and is the mother of four children and grandmother of one grandson.

HEIDI BEIER

Adjunct Instructor, Dance

Faculty Senate Adjunct Award of Excellence

Heidi Beier earned a bachelor's degree in studio art and a Master of Fine Arts in dance from Arizona State University. She has professional experience as a dancer with Ballet Northwest (Colorado), Steamboat Dance Theatre (Colorado), Semaphore Dance Company (Minnesota), Ebony II Dance (Minnesota), Arizona State University, Instinct Dancecorps and Dulce Dance Company (Arizona), as well as choreographer for dance companies in Minnesota, Colorado and Arizona. Beier received the Teacher Appreciation Award from Higley High School in Arizona and a Teacher Appreciation Award from Scottsdale Community College. "I love the environment of UVU," she says. "There is respect, an eagerness to work together for the betterment of students, and an openness to new ideas, concepts, and people. The students have a huge variety of experiences and backgrounds and we all get to come together, learn from one another, and find respect for one another's similarities and differences." Beier is married, has two boys, and likes to read, travel, and be in nature.

GARETH FRY, MFA

Assistant Professor, Art & Design

Alumni Outstanding Educator of the Year

Gareth Fry is the Outstanding Educator in the School of the Arts. He is originally from Epsom, Surrey, England, and currently lives in Orem. He earned his BA with honours from The Surrey Institute of Art and Design in Epsom, and a Master of Fine Arts in graphic design from the Vermont College of Fine Arts. He was an adjunct faculty member at Brigham Young University in 2014, and has been an adjunct instructor, lecturer, and assistant professor at UVU since 2011. With industry experience as an art director, senior designer, and graphic designer, he has received numerous awards statewide, nationally, and internationally. He is a member of the American Institute of Graphic Arts. The best part of being at UVU is "definitely the students," he says. "They are talented, eager, hardworking, and inspiring to be around. I feel fortunate to be able to work with such wonderful people every day."

BRIAN JENSEN, MFA

Associate Professor, Art & Design

Dean's Award of Excellence for Faculty

127

Brian L. Jensen, from Salem, Utah, is an associate professor who earned a bachelor's degree in art education and ceramics from Southern Utah University, as well as an MFA in ceramics from Edinboro University of Pennsylvania. Jensen has exhibited ceramic works and given workshops and lectures regionally, nationally, and internationally for the past 20 years. He has been represented by dozens of galleries and has done commercial ceramic work and many commissions for a variety of clients. He is a recipient of the Faculty Excellence Award from the UVU Faculty Senate in 2018; awarded Best of Show in ceramics, Kimball Arts Festival, 2017; and named Best of Show by Sandy Visual Arts Show, 2016. Jensen says, "Being able to help students take something that they are interested in and turning that interest into their passion and their profession is the most satisfying part of my job at UVU." He enjoys collecting old VWs, guiding fishing trips for giant sturgeon, and "trying to make a perfect pot."

PHIL AH YOU, BS, BFA

Art & Design

Dean's Award of Excellence for Staff

Phillip Ah You is a technician in the School of the Arts who currently lives in Orem, Utah. Ah You graduated from UVU with bachelor's degrees in digital media and graphic design. He has an extensive knowledge of software, technology, digital prepress, and printing technologies and has worked for the SOA as a technician for more than a decade. Ah You was a 2003 National SkillsUSA Champion in screen printing, a 2004 State SkillsUSA Champion in advertising design, and a 2005 art and visual communications outstanding student award winner. Before working in the School of the Arts, he worked building UVSC's Printing Services digital prepress area. In all, Ah You has worked for UVSC and UVU for more than 15 years. Ah You says he was a local gamer when UVSC had an arcade "and you could get a soda and play pinball at the old Packard's gas station by the entrance to UVSC." He says he is excited to see the amazing things that the School of the Arts faculty, graduates, and alumni accomplish. "The best part about being involved with UVU is being able to work with the creative art students that are eager to learn and grow in their creativity," he says. "There is something amazing about working with creative people as they travel through the art discovery process." Ah You is married to Megan and is the father of three children. Ah You notes that his father, who is a naturalized U.S. citizen of Samoan-Chinese heritage has been a great inspiration in his life, because of the "many challenges he has overcome and the example he has set for me."

Outstanding Student Awards

MATTHEW ROSS OVIATT

Bachelor of Arts, Theatrical Arts for Stage & Screen

Dean's Award of Excellence for Student Recognition

129

Matthew Oviatt has earned a Bachelor of Arts in theater arts. He attended high school at Athens High School in The Plains, Ohio. At UVU, he has been a presenter at the 2019 Conference on Writing for Social Change. He was also a 2020 dramaturgy finalist at the Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival. After graduation, he plans to continue exploring the function of performance and art in society. "UVU has unlocked my passion for art, given me the tools to be a collaborative and successful artist, and solidified my desire to be a continual student of art and of life," he says. "The UVU Theatre Department seemed like the underdog of the arts scene when I first arrived here. We may not have been the most prestigious or well-funded, but we had a wonderful community of faculty, administrators, and students who collectively worked to produce disciplined, fearless, compassionate, successful artists. My college career is only possible because of my supportive families (both literal and figurative). Thank you all."

MARISSA CLEMENT

Art & Design

After Marissa Clement graduated from Herriman High School in Herriman, Utah, she maintained a full-ride academic scholarship for the first four years of her program. She also received a scholarship to study abroad in Germany, studying the fairy tales of the Brothers Grimm. She also completed a study abroad in the United Kingdom. They produced a book about the tales of King Arthur, which included one of her illustrations. She has had two illustrations published in the Society of Illustrators' Los Angeles show in 2018 and one in the Society of Illustrators' New York show in 2019. She is seeking a job or internship and will market her work at art shows. She is considering pursuing a master's degree. "UVU helped me realize my potential as an artist, through amazing opportunities, supportive staff, and great education," she says. "Before I attended this school, I was uncertain of what I wanted to do. But during my time here, I've been able to grow and become the driven artist I am today. I've gained confidence in my career choice and the determination to make it in the world. If I had never come here, I never would have received the life-changing experiences that define who I am. The illustration department has a high quality of professors and educators who made my experience worthwhile and rewarding, while also pushing me to always be the driven artist."

RACHEL BLACKFORD

Dance

Rachel Haynie Blackford has earned a Bachelor of Science in dance education. She grew up in Provo, Utah, and is currently living in St. George, Utah. She graduated from Provo High School and attended BYU-Hawaii. Blackford received dance performance scholarships, and was the director's assistant for UVU Synergy Dance Company during her third year with the company. She has had two choreographic works selected for adjudication, presented choreography and research for the UVU Ethics Department Brownbag Symposium, presented choreography for UVU's Humanities Symposium, has been on the Dean's List each semester at UVU, and has been commissioned to reset her senior capstone piece on UVU's Contemporary Dance Ensemble alongside professional and faculty work. She is working as a dance company director for two high schools in St. George and is a member of the St. George Dance Company. She would ultimately like to get her master's degree in dance. "UVU gave me the space and tools to truly flourish and grow as a dance artist, intellectual, and as a person," she says. "UVU's dance faculty have such incredible knowledge to pass on, and they truly support each of their students in finding their own success. UVU provided the amazing opportunity to work with numerous guest artists and scholars in academic, creative, and performance settings which allowed me to further my perspective beyond my current cultural setting. I would be nowhere near where I am now without the education, experiences, opportunities, and connections I was able to make at UVU."

ERIN WALKER

Music

Now living in South Jordan, Utah, Erin Vellinga Walker graduated from Northridge High School in Layton, Utah, and attended BYU-Idaho, where she was a Presidential Scholarship recipient. At UVU, she received an Outstanding Merit Scholarship, 2016-2020. She was assistant conductor of UVU Women's Choir in spring 2019, and assistant conductor of UVU Chamber Choir in fall 2019. Walker is a co-creator of Kensington Theatre Company's Youth Education Program-Theatre Boot Camp, now in its seventh year. She hopes to teach choir in secondary school and to establish a vocal studio for children. She plans to continue to direct music and develop youth education programs at Kensington Theatre Company. Graduate degrees in music and education may also be in her future. At UVU, "I have learned how to use music as a language, how to teach with greater confidence, and how to connect with art," Walker says. "UVU has taught me that with greater determination and resilience, there will always be a way to succeed. I have learned to see beauty in the incredible variety within music and the performers who share it. I will never forget my experiences learning and performing with the choirs and vocal faculty here, who have inspired me to pursue music education. I love the way UVU students celebrate each other's strengths instead of competing with each other." Married with five children, she attends their concerts, recitals, and productions for "the best music I will ever hear."

JANICE CHAN

Theatrical Arts for Stage & Screen

133

Janice Chan, originally from Melbourne, Australia, graduated from American Heritage School in American Fork, Utah. She received the award for Best Scenic Design for “The Laramie Project” in 2019, and has presented at the UVU Conference on Writing for Social Change for her work in an analysis of the same production. After graduating with a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Theatre Arts, she plans on continuing doing design for theatrical productions. “I hope to continue telling stories through set design, especially in unique found spaces,” she says. “I would love to explore interactive art exhibits and themed experiences.” She says she has appreciated her experiences at UVU. “UVU has offered me opportunities to grow as a designer professionally. I’m thankful for the mentors who have continuously encouraged me to follow my dreams. UVU has prepared me for my future by providing me with professional experiences and opportunities, as well as the constant support and mentorship from the faculty. The best part of attending UVU is being in an inclusive and supportive environment.” She also loves being inspired by nature, architecture, art museums, and food, always looking for travel experiences to incorporate into her designs.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Valedictorian

140

JADRIE LYNN DAVIS

Bachelor of Science, Elementary Education

Jadrie Lynn Davis is graduating with a Bachelor of Science in elementary education. Now living in Lindon, Utah, she is a graduate of Timpanogos High School and also previously attended Chapman University in Orange, California. She received the Dean's Merit Education Scholarship, has been on the Dean's List for fall and spring semesters 2017–2020, and received an Associate of Science in pre-elementary education with high honors. A mother of two, she will be focusing on being a mom for the next few years, then she hopes to teach in an elementary classroom. "After gaining experience with my own classroom, I have other education goals, including earning my doctorate and researching various topics in education and early childhood development," Davis says. She says she has always felt she had a strong team of faculty members behind her "in what felt like a lofty goal of graduating with my degree and teaching license. UVU's rigorous and immersive program has prepared me to be an effective educator and has supplied me with the knowledge and skills to be have a long and successful career teaching." She says the best part about her UVU experience has been learning in an engaging and hands-on program where she was able to study, observe, plan, practice, and receive coaching and critique on how to teach. She completed seven of eight semesters at UVU as a mother. "My education and the opportunity to educate children is something my family and I have sacrificed greatly for. Between living off of a very frugal student budget, juggling opposite schedules as parents ... my husband (graduating from BYU) and I have spent every last ounce of energy and almost every dollar in the bank in pursuit of this achievement. I am so honored to be named the School of Education's valedictorian, and I am ecstatic to become a licensed and practicing elementary school teacher."

Graduate Address

EMMA CRAGUN
Master of Education

141

Emma Cragun attended Lealands High School, Luton, England, and North Hertfordshire College, Hitchin, England, before attending UVU. Cragun also graduated magna cum laude from UVU with a BA in history, a BS in history education, and an endorsement in English as a second language. She was named to the Dean's List seven times as an undergraduate. In 2017, Cragun won first place at the Phi Alpha Theta Regional Conference and was an honorable mention award winner for UVU's Lucille T. Stoddard Outstanding Thesis Award in 2015–16. Cragun said her immediate plan is to take a break and teach before completing another master's program, but in history. "My ultimate goal," she says, "is to become the third Dr. Cragun in the family, and complete a Ph.D. program." She says she feels as though she owes everything she has achieved, since enrolling in 2012, to UVU — "I am the educator I am today because of the fantastic history and secondary education programs offered at UVU. I consider myself lucky to have taken instruction from passionate and knowledgeable professors who have pushed me outside of my comfort zone to make me a better student, better historian, and better teacher." She says the best part of attending UVU has been the personal and professional relationships built, and the countless opportunities in which students can participate. "I have traveled to Peru, twice, with the School of Education. I have traveled parts of the Dominguez and Escalante Trail with the history department. I have carried out research for and with professors, co-edited journals, and I have presented at conferences. Participation in these activities made my experience at UVU all the richer, and helped more than adequately prepare me for my teaching career." Cragun currently lives in Saratoga Springs, Utah. She spends her free time reading, and attending concerts, the theater, or the symphony. She says she is a huge fan of the Utah Jazz and Real Salt Lake.

MIKE PATCH

Alumni Outstanding Educator Award

Mike Patch is a former high school teacher and administrator, and English as a Foreign Language teacher, has taught school internationally, and is a former department chair in the School of Education. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Brigham Young University, and his doctoral degree from the University of Nevada, Reno, Nevada. He has been awarded the UVU Faculty Excellence Award and Graduate Mentor Award. "UVU has a genuine student-centered emphasis. The students are great and want to learn, and my colleagues are supportive of each other," Patch says. "With administrative support, I have been able to create educational excursions and student teaching opportunities in the South Pacific for our students." Patch is married and has four sons. He enjoys outdoor activities, especially ice fishing and motorcycles.

LORILYNN BRANDT
Faculty Excellence Award

Lorilynn Brandt, who lives in Orem, Utah, earned a bachelor's degree in elementary education and a Master of Science in Education from Brigham Young University. She then gained a doctorate in curriculum and instruction with a literacy emphasis from Utah State University. At UVU, Brandt teaches literacy courses for graduates and undergraduates and is co-director of Read a Difference (RaD), a UVU research group dedicated to increasing the love for reading in Utah schools. RaD goes into schools, trains teachers on principles of motivation, and then helps them implement their plan to improve student engagement in reading. She is also a committee member at the State Office of Education and has been chair, co-chair, and committee member of UVU Forum on Engaged Reading Literacy Conference, the annual literacy conference of UVU. She has taught at Utah State University, Logan School District, and Davis School District. She has been awarded UVU Outstanding Educator of the Year 2017, UVU Outstanding Educator of the Year 2014, Syracuse Elementary Teacher of the Year, and Davis School District Teacher of the Year. "I love our students," Brandt says. "They are excited to learn, bright and hardworking. I love the connection with them in class and as they go out to teach. I love the innovative environment at UVU. This is a place where change and new ideas are welcome. We can be on the cutting edge of education instruction in the School of Education."

CINDY DAVIS

Adjunct Excellence Award

From Sandy, Utah, and currently living in Cedar Hills, Utah, Cindy B. Davis earned a bachelor's degree from Brigham Young University and a master's degree in education leadership and policy from the University of Utah. She has been a teacher, the English Department chair, and assistant principal at Oak Canyon Junior High School in Lindon, Utah; an assistant principal at Lone Peak High School; principal of Shelley Elementary School; special education director in the Alpine School District; and instructor for International Outreach, BYU; and a writer for the Provo Daily Herald. She was named Teacher of the Year at Oak Canyon Junior High. Davis describes UVU faculty and students as "stellar people." She finds a lot of passion toward education and hopes to improve the world one classroom at a time. "I am honored to be a small part of the learning journey here," Davis says. "It's fun to see any student's face light up with understanding. It's especially poignant to see a student teacher's face light up with relief and celebration while watching his or her student's face light up with understanding. How could I not love this job? I am surrounded by light." Davis serves on the Alpine District Community Council, the BYU Kennedy Center for International Studies Advisory Board, and the Utah State Board of Education. She and her husband, Ted, have three children.

LYNDA WILLIAMS

Lecturer Excellence Award

145

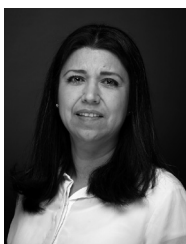

Lynda R. Williams is originally from Huntington Beach, California, and received her master's degree in elementary education instruction and curriculum from Cal State-Fullerton. She has been in the field of education for 34 years, mostly as an elementary school teacher, but also as a lecturer at California State University-Fullerton. Williams was named to the Technology Hall of Fame in the School of Education at UVU in 2018, presented at the Engaged Learning Conference, gaining a second place Oral Presentation Award. She was awarded Best Presentation at the Center of Scholastic Inquiry International Academic Research Conference in 2015, and was a finalist for UVUSA's Wolverine Achievement Award Category of Commitment to Excellence in 2015. Additionally, Williams received a Wolverine Sighting Employee Recognition Award for submitting videos for captioning for hearing-impaired students in 2017. Williams says, "I love the relationships I develop with these future teachers. My students are going to be such amazing teachers, and I am very excited to be a part of inspiring this new generation of teachers to be compassionate, knowledgeable, and skilled educators." She and her husband, Brett, live in Elk Ridge, Utah, have been married for 34 years, and they enjoy traveling together and have two sons, ages 27 and 24.

JOHN W. ALLAN

Dean's Staff Excellence Award

John W. Allan is the Endorsement Program and Graduate Studies coordinator and has been since 2016. Allan received a bachelor's degree in elementary education and French, as well as earning a Master of Education in school administration, both from Brigham Young University. Allan taught in the Alpine School District from 1981-84 and then was a principal and teacher with the Department of Defense Schools in Europe for 23 years. He lived and worked on American military bases in Turkey, Italy, England, Holland, Iceland, Germany, and Portugal (Azores). He received the prestigious "Blue Ribbon School" award while principal of Coevorden Elementary School (NL); was Principal of the Year, BENELUX District (Belgium & Netherlands); and was named runner-up for Principal of the Year for Department of Defense Schools, Europe Region. He then taught in the North Sanpete School District, serving as principal of Fairview Elementary for nine years. He says he loves working with dedicated K-12 teachers "who are working hard to improve their teaching skills by taking graduate courses provided through the Endorsement and Graduate Studies program here at UVU. I get to interact with these amazing teachers and help them in their professional development. The Endorsement and Graduate Studies programs have grown tremendously and are providing more teachers with the content knowledge and teachings skills needed to better support their students." Allan is the father of five, all university graduates, as are their spouses. He and his wife of 38 years also have 11 grandchildren. He has completed six marathons.

LILIANA JESSUP

Dean's Choice Award

147

Now calling Eagle Mountain, Utah, home, Liliana Jessup graduated from the Centro de Bachillerato Tecnológico Industrial y de Servicios #36, in Monclova, Coahuila, Mexico. She also graduated from high school with a technical degree in accounting. She has been awarded the Dean's Merit CHSS Languages Scholarship, an I Am First Scholarship, and a First-Generation Completion Scholarship. Jessup plans to start teaching this fall as a Spanish immersion teacher at the secondary level, with an eye to also complete a master's degree in educational leadership. She says UVU helped her finish a degree started years ago. She said some of her coursework was completed online, which aided her progress. "The professors are personable, competent, and provide additional materials and resources that enrich learning," Jessup says. "Professors hold students to high expectations, are up to date with content knowledge, integrate technology, and incorporate collaboration and group work. Students are committed to excellence. Working together on projects and assignments has been a valuable and enjoyable experience." Jessup began learning English as a second language at age 25. She and her husband have five children, and she will graduate with a bachelor's degree at the time her oldest child will graduate from high school. She enjoys reading non-fiction literature, especially psychology, sociology, medical topics, geopolitics, and biographies.

SILVIA MARINA SIERRA CASTILLO

Associate in Science, University Studies

Silvia Marina Sierra Castillo is a graduate of Colegio Concepción de Chillán in her hometown of Chillán, Chile. Among the honors she has earned are the Integral Student Award, 10th grade, and Best Classmate Award, 11th grade. At UVU, she was on the Dean's List, 2019, and received a UVU scholarship for fall 2019 and spring 2020. Castillo's plans are to earn a bachelor's degree in biochemistry and then attend medical school. With English as a second language, Castillo says she had fears about not fitting in at UVU, but found that no one ever judged her, instead only helped her. "I left home to study in a foreign country, thinking college was going to be the hardest thing to do without my family by my side, but UVU made me feel like I found a new home with a new family that would support me along this journey," Castillo says. "I have amazing professors who love their jobs and are happy to help students succeed. I can enjoy many amenities provided by the school, and I can study happy." Recently married, she says she enjoys simple times with her entire family – hiking, dancing, skiing, playing music, eating together, attending church services together, and traveling.

BRYAN LACERDA

Bachelor of Science, University Studies

155

Bryan Lacerda, a graduate of Mountain View High School in Orem, Utah, has earned a Bachelor of Science degree in University Studies, with an emphasis in Humanities and Social Science. Lacerda currently works as an academic advisor in the Woodbury School of Business and hopes to pursue a master's degree in executive coaching and run his own business. While at UVU, he was a vice president in Phi Theta Kappa and conducted research on global warming which was presented at the 10th International Conference on Climate Change, held by the University of California at Berkeley. Lacerda maintained scholarships from the Honors Program at UVU, the Multicultural Center, and TRIO. Lacerda says despite many personal challenges, such as mental illness, financial struggles, and balancing other demands, he felt UVU focused on helping non-traditional students. "My professors pushed me out of my comfort zone, and they were willing to give constructive criticism," he says. "No matter where I went or who I spoke with, I was always treated with kindness. The university became more than a place of learning, but also a place of friendship and growth." Lacerda says he is passionate about "learning about personalities and personality assessments," as well as creating mocktails with his wife. Given a choice, he would spend his free time on a beach with his family.

Faculty & Staff Awards

CYNTHIA WONG

Assistant Professor, Student Leadership & Success Studies
Faculty Senate Award of Excellence

Originally from Kauai, Hawaii, Cynthia Wong now lives in American Fork, Utah. She earned her BA in psychology from Brigham Young University-Hawaii, a Master of Marriage and Family Therapy from the University of Southern California and Doctor of Education, also from USC. She has been the director of UVU's University Innovation Fellows (UIF) Program since fall 2017. She is an Executive Committee member and Sub-committee chair for the UVU Diversity and Inclusion Committee, is a member of the University Planning and Advisory Committee and the Utah Valley Senior Executive Leadership Forum (UVSELF). "The best thing about being a professor is watching what happens when I take a back seat and let students take the wheel. I've learned to never underestimate students' abilities to lead change," Wong says. "Their unique perspectives and approaches to problem-solving have unlocked opportunities, triggered administrative levers, and brought people to the innovation table who would otherwise be working independently. Working alongside students to create change has been a hallmark of my tenure as a professor." Wong has appeared on the game show "Who Wants to Be a Millionaire," tutored former USC football player Reggie Bush, and once "got my butt kicked by an 11-year old mixed martial arts fighter named Adrian." She says she loves innovation and design, "90 Day Fiance," and french fries, adding that "my secret dream is to host my own Food Network show one day."

AUBREY PONTIOUS

Adjunct Instructor, Literacies and Composition
Faculty Senate Award of Excellence

Aubrey Pontious studied at the University of Hawaii and at UVU, where she graduated magna cum laude in 2011 with her Bachelor of Arts in English, with an emphasis in literary studies. She earned an MBA with an emphasis in management in 2017 from the Woodbury School of Business. She has worked in both the Literacies and Composition department at the University College and in the Marketing department of the Woodbury School of Business. Pontious attended the Conference on College Composition and Communication and served on the committee for the 6th Annual Conference on Writing for Social Change. She has completed the OTL Teaching Excellence Online Teaching Academy (Pathway 3) Certification. She was awarded the University College Faculty Excellency Award and nominated a second time. She received an Innovations in Pedagogy grant in November 2018. “The best part about working with students here at UVU is creating a safe learning environment where thinking is challenged, identities are developed, and relationships are built,” Pontious says. “I have the awe-inspiring opportunity to learn about the challenges of my students and see how they work through them. I am inspired by my students and feel proud when they admit at the end of the semester that writing — a topic they once despised — has become personally valuable to them.” Pontious says she “loves freedom, human rights, and feminism.” Her favorite artform is writing, and she enjoys reading literature and listening to slam poetry. She enjoys taking birth story photographs, traveling to new places, being outside, playing the ukulele, minimizing, and spending time with family and close friends. One day, she hopes to own a VW Westfalia.

TIFFANY YOAST

Professional in Residence, Student Leadership & Success Studies
Alumni Outstanding Educator of the Year

Tiffany Yoast is the Outstanding Educator for UVU's University College. A Provo, Utah, resident, she earned a bachelor's degree in English from Utah Valley University and a master's degree in education from Nova Southeastern University in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida. She says she is passionate about character strengths, positive leadership, and the scientific study of well-being (positive psychology). She teaches Student Success, Stress Management, The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People, Strengths-based Leader/Coach, and the Leadership Capstone course. She helped develop the new leadership certificate, Leadership for Personal and Social Impact, and co-wrote a new course regarding strengths-based leader/coach. "I have a favorite quote that states 'Ask not what the world needs, ask what makes you come alive, because what the world needs is people who have come alive.' In short, UVU makes me come alive! There is an energy, a vibrance, an 'aliveness' to this campus that is unmatched. I feel so lucky to have a job I love, working with students who inspire me, in an environment that encourages and sustains my growth."

KUO-LIANG CHANG

Associate Professor, Developmental Mathematics
Dean's Award of Excellence for Scholarship

Kuo-Liang “Leo” Chang is originally from Taipei, Taiwan, and currently lives in Orem, Utah. Chang received his doctoral degree in curriculum, instruction, and teacher education, with a concentration on mathematics, from Michigan State University. He also earned his master’s degree in applied mathematics from MSU, as well as a master’s degree in philosophy, with concentration on philosophy of language and mind, in Taiwan. Since joining UVU in 2011, Chang’s research focus has been on mathematical thinking and reasoning, problem-solving, and foundations and philosophy of mathematics. He says he tries to differentiate and assess the roles and effects of cognitive and mathematical reasoning in mathematics teaching and learning. He says he is interested in how the axiomatic method and mathematical structures interact for finding a solution path when solving a mathematical problem. Chang earned the Scholarship Award of the University College in 2014. He says his favorite part of working with UVU students is “to change students’ negative attitudes toward mathematics, to give them guidance and confidence, and to see them finding hope in completing the class and earning their degrees.” Chang says he enjoys the Wild West — “its nature, music, and the freedom to be myself.”

EVELYN PORTER

Associate Professor, Developmental Mathematics
Dean's Award of Excellence for Service

Evelyn Porter is from Sierra Vista, Arizona, but now calls Saratoga Springs, Utah, home. She earned a bachelor's degree with honors in mathematics from the United States Naval Academy, and a master's degree in engineering management at Old Dominion University. Porter has served on numerous university and community committees, including University Curriculum Committee, University Retention, Tenure, and Rank Appeals Committee, department Rank, Tenure, and Promotion Committee, and department chair. She has also assisted with search committees, policy drafting committees, and book selection committees. Porter has served by contributing to the development of Summer Youth Math Camps and spent one summer developing and delivering math curriculum to middle school students participating in the American Indian Services PREP program in Blanding, Utah. She has presented at conferences and published research related to the scholarship of teaching and learning. Porter was awarded the Dean's Faculty Excellence Award (2017–18), and University College's Outstanding Educator of the Year (2012–13). She says, "The best part of working at UVU is being able to meet students where they are, and being able to help them achieve their goals."

JOSHUA KRATOCHVIL

IT Systems Specialist, University College
Dean's Award of Excellence for Staff

From Provo, Utah, Joshua Kratochvil has 11-plus years of experience in the IT field, nine of which have been at UVU in various roles across several departments, such as the Help Desk, networking services, and University College. Thanks to this experience, Kratochvil has a wide breadth of knowledge across many subjects in the field. He has received several certifications, such as A+ and JAMF. "It's always a joy to help people with their IT needs. I love showing people new technologies that can help improve the way they work," Kratochvil says. "Enabling our faculty and staff to better use technology allows them to empower our students to achieve the goals they have, and helps them engage in new ways they might not have thought of before." He has three brothers, two of whom also work at UVU in various departments. In his free time, Kratochvil loves to paint gouache and watercolor landscapes.

KRIS SWANGER

Office Manager, University College
Dean's Award of Excellence for Staff

Kris Swanger grew up in the small town of Panguitch, Utah, and is now a resident of American Fork, Utah. She attended Utah Valley University when it was Utah Valley State College, and received an AAS in executive assisting. After receiving that degree, she began full-time employment at UVU, and has been employed here for the past 23 years. She has served on many hiring search committees and in various roles with PACE over the years. "I love being a part of the UVU community," Swanger says. "I enjoy being part of the University College Advisement Center, where I work with a great team and get to see the successes of our students each day. It is very rewarding to watch them reach their goals as they are accepted into their respective programs." Swanger is a single parent with two children, one of whom is attending UVU as a marketing major. She says she enjoys supporting her children in their various activities, which have included dance and lacrosse. Her family loves to travel to Disneyland and Yellowstone, and attend live theater, concerts, and sporting events.

Student Award

LUCY BELLE WATSON

Dean's Choice for Wolverine Achievement Award

163

Lucy Belle Watson is currently majoring in communication with an emphasis in public relations. She is from Ankeny, Iowa, and graduated from Ankeny Centennial High School. While at UVU, Watson has been a math mentor team lead, department representative for University College and UVUSA, and vice president of academics for UVUSA, 2020–2021. She plans on finishing her bachelor's degree and hopes to begin working on campus at UVU. Her plans are then to continue her education and receive a master's degree. "UVU has helped me become who I am today," she says. "UVU has helped me develop a greater desire to help others and has given me opportunities to do so during my time here. Through resources and the chance to get involved, I have been able to succeed here and help others succeed as well. One reason I am so passionate about UVU is that anywhere you go on campus, you will be surrounded by people who want you to succeed."

WOODBURY SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

Valedictorians

COURTNEY ALLEN COWLEY

Bachelor of Science, Accounting

185

Courtney Allen Cowley is graduating with a Bachelor of Science degree in general accounting, with a minor in business management. She currently lives in Austin, Texas, but is a graduate of Wasatch High School, Heber City, Utah. She earned a UVU Presidential Scholarship and is a board member of the UVU Women of Woodbury. Cowley is currently working full time as an accounting associate at DK Partners, PC, in Austin, while her husband completes his training at the University of Texas at Austin Dell Medical School. She says she is considering furthering her education to obtain a master's degree and sit for the CPA exam, and eventually start an accounting and bookkeeping service for small business clients. Cowley spent four years performing around the world with a professional dance company before returning to her education at UVU. "Thanks to the flexibility in scheduling and a wonderful faculty willing to work with me, I was able to complete my professional dancing career while transitioning into higher education," Cowley says. "I was able to enter my career field as a competitive applicant, confident in the education and support I had received from my university. My professors and advisors showed me how my past and future goals could all be unified and accomplished through UVU." Cowley and her husband travel whenever they can, and love trying all the food Austin has to offer – "but the Utah mountains will always hold a special place in my heart."

S. ANDY GREEN

Associate of Science, Business Management

S. Andy Green is receiving an associate degree in business management. A graduate of Lehi High School, Green was an honor graduate (top 10%) at U.S. Army Basic Training in Fort Sill, Oklahoma. He was also named a distinguished honor graduate (top of class) for a U.S. Army AH-64D Apache attack helicopter maintainer course at Fort Eustis, Virginia. Green plans to graduate with a bachelor's degree in finance, with minors in accounting and business management in December 2020, then start a career as a financial analyst and continue to get an MBA in finance. He says UVU made it possible for him to work full time to support his family and fulfill his obligations with the Utah Army National Guard, all while obtaining a great education. UVU, he says, has helped him progress his career and obtain advancements that have offered better compensation and more challenges. "As a non-traditional student, UVU has been the perfect fit for me. I appreciate that the focus was more on my education rather than making sure I was having a traditional college experience. UVU offers necessary courses at times that fit my schedule and has smaller class sizes which allow a more intimate learning experience with the instructor." Green and his wife, Katie, have two children. He enjoys working out, mountain biking, dirt biking, camping, fixing mechanical equipment, "serving others, serving my country, serving in my church, and serving God."

BRIAN BARSNESS

Bachelor of Science, Marketing

187

Brian Barsness has earned a Bachelor of Science degree as a marketing major with a communication emphasis and a business management minor. Living in Duck Creek Village, Utah, he is a graduate of Valley High School in Orderville, Utah. Barsness was a Sterling Scholar runner-up in the music category. He is a firefighter 1 and 2, with hazmat certifications. He also holds a real estate sales agent license and is currently earning a real estate broker license. After graduation, he plans to continue working as a realtor in Southern Utah. Raised in the region between Bryce Canyon National Park and Lake Powell, his dream is to help grow his family's real estate business throughout the area while being a contributing member to the communities in which he lives. "I've learned relevant marketing concepts in class at UVU and have had the opportunity to practice with real-world businesses," Barsness says. "Professors here truly care about students' education, and it shows in the way they teach. Every part of the university is focused around creating a great atmosphere for students to learn, and I feel much more prepared to follow my career goals now with a UVU education." He said he has learned important concepts with his peers who together will be "helping drive the future of our respective fields and America as a whole." Barsness enjoys snowboarding at Brian Head, fishing for bass at Lake Powell, camping in Dixie National Forest, and playing music. He and his brother are volunteers at their local fire department.

Faculty & Staff Awards

JAMES B. MORTENSEN

Professional in Residence, Strategic Management and Operations
Ian Wilson Community Engagement Award

189

James B. Mortensen earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from Brigham Young University and a master's degree in human development from Virginia Tech. He also holds a MPA from BYU. Mortensen has 25 years experience as a management consultant in the public, private, and academic sectors. He has worked in government affairs for Fortune 500 firms on international trade matters and served in the Utah and Maryland Army National Guard. Mortensen has six years of teaching graduate and undergraduate students in strategy, consulting, and leadership and serves on public and private boards as an expert on strategy. He has received multiple awards for client relationship building and was a Faculty Excellence Award winner in 2018. "Working with the students of UVU alongside the faculty and staff of the university fulfills a lifelong goal to teach," he says. "Not only are our colleagues at UVU impressive professionals, many with world-class experience and credentials, but more importantly, they are some of the best people I've ever met." Outside of the classroom, Mortensen says he loves hiking with his children, traveling with his wife, and "embarrassing everyone by practicing Spanish every chance I get."

BRET F. SKOUSEN

Professional in Residence, Strategic Management and Operations
Ian Wilson Community Engagement Award

Bret F. Skousen is from Provo and a graduate of Brigham Young University with a bachelor's degree in business. He also earned a master's degree in executive leadership from the University of San Diego and a Coaching Certification from Corporate Coach University. Skousen has 27-plus years of executive leadership at companies like Black & Decker, Mountain America Credit Union, and most recently with several Utah tech companies. Skousen has received several top sales awards, including the "Big Hitter Award." In marketing, Skousen and his teams have won several awards, including seven "Best in Show" awards. His company was voted the ninth fastest-growing company by Utah Valley BusinessQ Magazine. "I love to teach and help students reach their potential. Watching the light bulb go on as we are discussing certain topics or working on projects through engaged learning is extremely fulfilling for me," Skousen says. "I also really enjoy working with student teams as they come up with ideas for new businesses and then watch that idea grow into the foundation for a bona fide business." He says he is an avid outdoorsman and enjoys paddle boarding, gardening, hiking, camping, horseback riding, and ATV sports. Skousen is married and has three daughters, two granddaughters, and one soon-to-be grandson.

RONALD MELLADO MILLER

Professor, Strategic Management and Operations

Dean's Award of Excellence for Scholarship with Impact

Ronald Mellado Miller is from Washington, D.C., and earned a Ph.D. from Purdue University. Miller's main interests have been in the area of applied statistical analysis and predictive modeling. He has presented or published research on topics including business, game theory, non-governmental organization (NGO) assessment, neuropsychology, law, evolutionary psychology, and statistical analysis. He has been a safety consultant for a number of major airlines. His international projects range from NGO work in Ghana, Mexico, India and the Philippines, to statistical consulting in Fiji, China, and Tonga, among others. He has a great love for teaching and mentoring. In each of his consulting projects, his students have participated and gone on to complete graduate programs from universities including Oxford University, Columbia University, and the University of Chicago. Miller received a UVU Presidential Faculty Fellowship and the Utah Valley University Social Impact Fellow Award. "Seeing student success and watching them achieve their goals, both personal and professional, is the best part of being a professor," he says. "Here we spend but a few years mentoring and training them, but what they accomplish both here and beyond surpasses our imaginations for their achievements." He has been married for 25 years and has nine children.

GARY JOHNSON

Professional in Residence, Marketing
Dean's Award of Excellence for Teaching

Gary Johnson grew up in Heidelberg, Germany, but calls Utah his home. He earned a bachelor's degree, graduating magna cum laude in business management from Brigham Young University. His advanced degrees are from IBM Marketing Education National Accounts Division, and a doctorate in instructional psychology and technology from BYU. Johnson has worked at the intersection of sales and education his entire career. He began at IBM, specializing in complex, technical sales. His doctorate specialized in education and now brings both worlds together as the director of UVU's Professional Sales Program. Among his honors and activities: vice president, sales and marketing, Kimono; state account general manager, Pearson; vice president, sales and marketing, Edustructure; account executive, J.D. Edwards; senior marketing planner, IBM Education Systems; instructional developer, WICAT System. Johnson says, "There is no student more ideally equipped for a career in sales than a UVU student. They are universally hungrier than any other student I have ever seen. And, ultimately, that quality is the key differentiator for a career in sales." Johnson said he doesn't have much time for hobbies – "When I'm not teaching, I'm usually role-playing with members of UVU's elite sales team."

LISA GIGUERE

Academic Advisor

Dean's Award of Excellence for Staff

Originally from San Diego, California, Lisa Giguere earned a bachelor's degree in English from Brigham Young University and a master's degree in higher education administration from Sam Houston State University. She has worked for more than 10 years with students in advising capacities at multiple institutions — Arizona State University, the University of Southern California, the Benjamin Franklin Institute of Technology, and Utah Valley University. Her position allows her to be a data-informed decision-maker using strong analytical skills to collect, compile, analyze, and evaluate information. Giguere received a Certificate of Appreciation from Saudi Arabian Students in Orem Club, and was named Academic Advisor of the Year, UVU, 2017. She received the PACE Distinguished Employee Award in 2016. "The best part of working at UVU is helping students achieve their goals and understand their potential," she says. "Being part of an amazing university where students from all different backgrounds are given access to the same opportunities to succeed is why I came to UVU and why I never want to leave." She and her husband have two sons and two stepsons. Giguere loves music, nature, reading, and learning.

KIM WRIGHT

Academic Advisor

Dean's Award of Excellence for Staff

Kim Wright earned bachelor's degrees in behavioral science and health, as well as sociology, from the University of Utah. She also earned a Master of Science in academic advising from Kansas State University and Master of Public Administration from California State University. Wright has written four book reviews for the National Academic Advising Association (NACADA) Journal, was a Region 10 Steering Committee member for NACADA, served as secretary/treasurer for Utah Business Academic Advisor Network (UBAAN), was academic affairs senator for the Professional Association of Campus Employees (PACE), and a Planning Committee member for Utah Advising Association (UAA), and Planning Committee member for Summer University and UVU's Advisement Conference. "I love the opportunities I have to grow at UVU, personally and professionally. Every day is an opportunity to learn something new and become a little bit better," she says. "I also love that I'm able to impact the lives of my students, watching their growth and development through the change and uncertainty of college is exhilarating." Wright has two sons and two daughters, as well as three granddaughters and a grandson on the way. She enjoys reading, board games, and spending time with family.

AMY BETTRIDGE

Lecturer, Marketing

Dean's Award of Excellence for Service

Amy Bettridge, who now lives in Orem, Utah, grew up in Sunnyvale, California. She received a Bachelor of Arts in international relations from Brigham Young University, and a Master of Science in business information systems from Utah State University. Professionally, she has been a field service representative for Cardinal Health, six years as a training development manager for Leaving Prints, and was an instructor at Provo College. She has been an adjunct professor at UVU for the past seven years. She was named the Adjunct Faculty of the Year for the Woodbury School of Business in 2012, and will soon be named an HEA fellow. "Working at UVU enriches my life. I enjoy insightful discussions with my students and thoughtful collaboration with my colleagues to provide relevant, thorough, and inexpensive learning materials," Bettridge says. She is the mother of three daughters who have or are attending UVU. Married to Chad for 25 years, four out of five members of her immediate family speak fluent Mandarin Chinese ... and they're "trying to talk the youngest into learning Chinese, too." She loves family history.

XU “KEIRA” SUN

Assistant Professor, Finance
Dean's Award of Excellence for Service

Xu Sun Xinyang is from Henan, China, now living in Lehi, Utah. She earned a doctorate in business administration with an emphasis in finance from the University of Texas-Pan American (now University of Texas-Rio Grande Valley). Xu has been working at UVU as an assistant professor in finance since 2015. She has taught a variety of face-to-face and online finance courses, including investment, corporate finance, and financial market and institutions. While working at UVU, she successfully passed all three levels of chartered financial analyst (CFA) exams and obtained a CFA charter, a prestigious designation in the finance and investment management profession worldwide. She is active doing research and has published research papers in peer-reviewed journals. “I enjoy the process of engaging students with various topics in finance, helping them understand the concepts, guiding them on the real applications beyond the textbook, witnessing their improvement, and seeing their eyes light up when they are inspired and successful,” Xu says. “It both expands their knowledge, understanding, and skills as students, and broadens my own perspectives as I learn from their experience and ideas.” She enjoys spending time with her family, hiking, and running.

ABDUS SAMAD

Professor, Economics

Faculty Senate Award of Excellence

Abdus Samad earned a bachelor's degree with honors from Rajshahi University in Bangladesh followed by a Master of Economics from Lakehead University in Ontario, Canada. He then earned a doctorate in economics from the University of Illinois at Chicago. Samad has taught at Northwestern University (Chicago), the University of Wisconsin (Oshkosh), Roosevelt University (Chicago), International Islamic University (Malaysia), the University of Bahrain (Bahrain), and Rajshahi University (Bangladesh). He has presented numerous papers at national and international conferences and has published more than 80 articles in national and international journals. Samad has been teaching at UVU as a full professor since 2002. He has been awarded U.S. Fulbright Scholarship and is a former Scholar of the Year from the Woodbury School of Business. He says he enjoys engaging students in class and research activities at UVU. He and his wife, Lutfa, have two children and five grandchildren, and fishing is his favorite hobby.

JOSHUA K. CIESLEWICZ

Associate Professor; Director, Master of Accountancy Program
Faculty Senate Excellence Award

Joshua Cieslewicz is a graduate of Brigham Young University and received a bachelor's degree in accountancy. He then earned a Master of Accountancy from BYU and a doctorate in international management from the University of Hawaii. Cieslewicz has three years of public accounting experience at Ernst & Young and three years in other accounting roles, including controller. At UVU, he helped launch and see results of CPA exam preparation activities. Building on this success, he helped start a mentoring program to enable graduate students to learn from alumni. "The best parts of UVU for me have been developing students to obtain rewarding employment, contributing to our community, and researching," Cieslewicz says. I believe in my students and enjoy seeing them succeed. My research has enabled me to understand local implications of international corporate governance topics, and to share these with students. Our community improves as students develop into problem-solving professionals, and participating in this process is fulfilling."

PATRICK MILLIGAN

Professional in Residence, Strategic Management & Operations
Alumni Association Outstanding Educator Award

199

Patrick Milligan is the Outstanding Educator for the Woodbury School of Business. He was born in Buffalo, New York, but calls Utah home. He earned an associate degree in business from then-Utah Valley State College, a bachelor's in marketing management from the University of Utah, and a master's degree in organizational leadership from Gonzaga University. He has been senior vice president of GameStop, vice president of Mondelez Global, Kraft Foods Global, and Nabisco, Inc. He has also been a major in the United States Army. He was chosen as Educator of the Year in 2016, and earned the UVU Pinnacle Award in 2013. He has received honors from Mondelez and Kraft, and numerous military honors. "Working with students with extraordinary grit" has been the best part of being at UVU, he says. "The honor of teaching these trailblazing, mature, ambitious, hardworking students is the honor of my life. I have loved every job I've had in my professional life, but all of my experiences pale in comparison to teaching at UVU."

SCOTT C. KELLER

Over the past 35 years, Scott C. Keller has become one of the largest single-private apartment owners in the Western United States. He has specialized in the acquisition and management of thousands of multi-family units throughout the Intermountain and Northwest regions of the United States. Additionally, his personal investment portfolio has involved hotels, retail centers, student housing, senior housing, assisted living, and private equity investments. His start in real estate began with small investments in fourplexes and single-family dwelling rental homes as a supplemental income source. His property management skills have allowed him to achieve substantial annual returns on his real estate investments that allow for such healthy and consistent growth in both up and down markets. Because of his success, he is widely sought out as a real estate consultant in his community.

From 1977 to 1983, Keller worked for Ryder Systems, Inc. and was advanced to district rental manager for commercial and rental installations in five states. In 1982, he was one of eight out of 30,000 employees to be inducted into Rental Masters, the highest honor and level of recognition the company bestowed upon an employee for exceptional performance in all business functions.

Keller attended UNLV, Dixie College, and BYU-Idaho with studies in business, and served a two-year voluntary mission for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He then guided white water tours down all major Western rivers, including the Grand Canyon. Today he enjoys snow skiing, mountain biking, road biking, motorcycle riding, and frequent trips to Lake Powell with family and friends. He serves as chairman of the Utah American Diabetes Association and was honored as Utah ADA Father of the Year. He actively supports many political candidates and is involved in many philanthropic and charitable causes.

Keller lives in Bountiful, Utah, and is married with five children, all in college or graduated. He also has 15 grandchildren.
