ROBERT CASEY

Insure a student's future.

Your life insurance is more valuable than you may have imagined.

August Ahlf '32 wanted to help deserving students pay for college, so he donated a life insurance policy to the WSU Foundation. When Ahlf died, the proceeds of the policy established a scholarship endowment that will benefit students for years to come.

Clifton Larson, technical education professor from 1943 to 1975, wanted to support his former department. He donated his insurance policy to WSU, where the cash value was used to fund scholarships for current College of Applied Science & Technology students.

When former WSU trustee Gwen Williams passed away, the insurance policy she donated to the university funded a scholarship endowment that will allow future generations of students to pursue their academic dreams.

Many of our Weber State University friends have used their life insurance to make significant charitable gifts either during life or at death.

Life insurance can be used in a variety of ways to support Weber State. You can:

- Donate an "unneeded" policy;
- Create a "wealth replacement" plan;
- Designate WSU as a revocable beneficiary; or
- Make a larger gift than you ever thought possible with an installment plan.

To learn how to turn your insurance policy into financial support for future generations of WSU students, with little or no out-of-pocket costs, email dspainhower1@weber.edu or call WSU's Office of Planned Giving at 801-626-6568.
