SHIP SUPPLY

Dear Customer and Business partner

Welcome to our 2015 catalogue. We are pleased to see the continued trust from our customers, allowing us to grow and invest further in the never ending quest to remain your preferred supplier.

2014 was a year of significant investments for Wrist Ship Supply. We are building new IT systems, we have upgraded many of our warehouse facilities and we have continued our HACCP/ISO journey in all locations. So we are very much preparing our hardware and infrastructure for the future which we believe will belong to those who are able to combine size, flexibility and speed of execution.

Robert Steen Kledal

But also on the softer/cultural side are we in motion. Staying true to our mission of Expert Care to Each Ship and Offshore Location and our vision of Being recognized for making our Customers' Life at sea better we are glad to have teamed up with iVittamobile, so that our global distribution network can be used to provide inexpensive and effective telecommunication for seafarers. We know that access to inexpensive communication with the loved ones at home is a top priority for many at sea. We truly hope that we can help accommodate this wish – of respect to the many men and women who endure the absence from family and friends, so that global commerce can continue to make life easier and more convenient for all.

With true appreciation and respect for the seafarers,

PORK PRODUCTION IN DENMARK

Danish pigs are world leaders. These include ordinary pigs, free-range pigs and organic pigs

For more than 100 years, production of pigs and pork has been an important asset for Denmark, both in terms of employment and exports. About 90 percent of Danish pork is exported and it is therefore important for the country's balance of trade and economy.

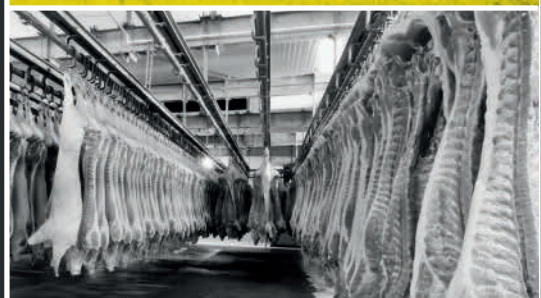

Danish pig production is among the world leaders in terms of production, quality, food safety, animal welfare and traceability, which is a major reason why Denmark is among the world's largest exporters of pork.

BREEDS AND HYBRIDS

The basis for producing healthy pigs that grow well and quickly, have many piglets and have a good meat quality is breeding. In Denmark we have a common breeding system, 'DanAvl', which organizes efforts to constantly improve these and other characteristics.

Danish pig production is based on three breeds: Danish Landrace, Danish Yorkshire and Danish Duroc. These are crossed in different ways to produce fattening pigs, so the good qualities of the different breeds are combined.

The breeding animals are kept in special breeding farms, where farmers can buy the animals for their own production or in the form of semen for the artificial insemination of their own sows.

ABOUT SEAFOOD GLAZING

Frozen seafood products are very vulnerable. During cold storage, frozen seafood products can develop surface drying or dehydration. Excessive drying leads to damage called "freezer burn". To prevent this, frozen fish is glazed before it is put in frozen storage.

Glazing is usually carried out by dipping or spraying frozen seafood products with potable water. Dipping is carried out by placing the frozen product in a tank of water for a certain period of time. The advantages of this method are that it is relatively simple and cost-effective. A disadvantage is that the glaze coverage can be inconsistent. Spraying is done by using purpose-designed equipment to spray water over the product. This results in a consistent glaze coverage, but its disadvantage is that it is a relatively expensive method.

Some products compensate for the weight of the water by packing an extra quantity of fish into the box and not charging the customer.

This is called 'net compensated glazing', and means that the customer pays for 10 kg of product and receives 11 kg (10 kg of fish and 1 kg of 10% glazing). A thicker glazing also has the effect of decreasing the price per gross kilogram.

Norwegian cold smoked salmon

1. The Salmon

Farmed in open sea cages in the deep clean fjords of Norway. When the salmon is ready it is harvested, slaughtered, packed on ice and sent to the smoke house.

2. Filleting

Upon arrival the fish is inspected, to ensure it meets the stringent quality demands. It is then carefully filleted, trimmed and boned. And if required the skin is also removed at this stage.

3. Salting

Now for the salting. Traditionally done by hand, where you carefully sprinkle salt on the top of the fillet. Today you still salt by hand, but more modern methods are also used: salt injection, where a salt brine is injected into the fillet and combi salted, where you inject and salt by hand. The salting method depends on the final product. Salting by hand gives a deep red colour and dense texture, whereas salt injection gives a slightly less red colour and a little looser texture. Combi is somewhere in between.

4. Maturing/Smoking

After salting the fish it is left to mature for 4-8 hours after which it is smoked using beech wood, for around 8 hours at max. 27° celsius. Then it is removed from the smoke oven and immediately cooled to 2° celsius. Both maturing time and smoking time vary depending on the final product.

5. Slicing/Packing

When the smoked fish is cooled it enters the slicing and packing department, here, if required, the fillet is cut into slices of approx. 25 gr, placed on a board and packed into a foil or bag. The final packaging can be anywhere from 50 gr packs and up. If no slicing is required the whole fillet is placed on a board and packed into a foil or bag. The salmon is then packed into cartons and is ready to leave the smoke house.

ORIGINAL DANISH PASTRY

SWEET & CRISPY JUST THE RIGHT WAY

The Original Danish pastry was invented in 1843 when a Copenhagen baker had been on a trip to Vienna. He got the inspiration from a crisp, croissant-like cake.

Back in Copenhagen he started working on his own version of the pastry and added a tasty remoncefilling. It is on the basis of this sweet story that the Danes continuously develop the Danish pastry with their passion for high quality and baking craft ingenuity.

The essential secret behind the original Danish pastry is the amount of dough layers, which makes the pastry rise beautifully and ensures a perfectly crisp texture. The result can be smelt, seen, heard and not least tasted. Original Danish pastry should be an experience for all your senses!

Over the years Denmark has become world-famous for its pastries, which is why it is also simply known as a Danish. As a matter of fact Danish pastry is Denmark's most famous contribution to the culinary world!

Danish pastry usually comes as either single sized or as bars or tarts for several people. But as the trends change it has become available in popular mini versions too.

*Fresh Cream and high quality
ingredients*

TASTE THE DIFFERENCE:
*Delicious
Danish
Ice Cream*

Danish ice cream tradition has its roots in the small creameries scattered across the Danish countryside – and it continues until today, even though most of Denmark's ice cream production has evolved from small creameries to larger production sites: The typical ice cream production in Denmark is still based on skilled craftsmanship and the use of real fresh cream.

The making of good quality ice cream requires craftsmanship and premium ingredients. After careful blending and pasteurization, the raw ice cream mixture is left to mature. This maturation process balances out the different ingredients in relation to each other and allows all the delicious flavors to develop. The matured ice cream mixture is carefully churned in order to make the texture deliciously creamy.

The result is a smooth soft ice cream which can be further enriched with fruit, chocolate, nuts or other quality ingredients. Simply delicious!

FROM BEAN TO POWDER: The cocoa process

Theobroma Cacao. That's what Carolus Linnaeus, the father of modern-day taxonomy, baptized the cocoa tree in the mid-1700's. The name is derived from ancient Greek and translates as 'Cocoa, food of the Gods', a name the carrier of the precious cocoa fruit has proved it is more than worthy! But cocoa beans still have to undergo a sophisticated process in order to be turned into the indulgent chocolate and cocoa products we enjoy.

1. Where the cocoa tree grows

The perfect environment for the cocoa tree is found in the tropical heat of the equatorial forest. The fertile soil in West Africa provides the majority of the world's cocoa crop. Cocoa cultivation represents the main source of income for thousands of African farmers. The cocoa tree flowers in 2 cycles of 6 months the whole year round. But no more than 40 flowers will eventually develop into cocoa pods.

2. Harvesting and fermentation

After 6 months the pods are fully grown and have changed colour from green to yellow-orange. They are ripened for the main harvest from October to March. A smaller harvest follows, from May to August. After harvesting, the pods are opened up and the pulp, together with the cocoa beans, is removed. Heaped up and covered with banana leaves, the cocoa beans ferment. In about 7 days, the sugars in the fruit pulp are broken down, establishing the final aromas and colour of the beans.

3. Drying of the cocoa beans

After fermentation, the beans dry for about 10 days on raised bamboo mats in the full sun. The cocoa farmers bring their precious harvest to a collection centre where the beans are graded. From each farmer's harvest a sample of 100 beans is cut open, the contents of the beans are graded and the batch is allotted a quality code.

4. Shipping to a new destination

After the weighing and packing of the beans, the jute sacks are sealed to assure the source and quality of the beans. They are taken to huge warehouses, their origins all registered. After a second quality control the sacks await shipment.

7. From cocoa liquor to cocoa powder

Hydraulic presses force cocoa liquor through a very fine sieve, separating the batch into cocoa butter and cocoa cakes. The latter pass through powder grinding lines, pulverizing them into a variety of powders with predefined levels of fineness.

5. From cocoa beans to cocoa nibs

Jute sacks, filled with cocoa beans, arrive in the processing factories from the equatorial regions of Africa, America and Asia. There, cocoa beans of several origins are blended. After removing any stones, dirt and sand, the cocoa beans are quickly dried under heaters. Then they are broken and the shells around them removed. Only the pieces of kernel or "nibs" remain.

8. From cocoa powder to chocolate drink

The cocoa powder people use to create their delicious chocolate drinks consists of a balanced blend of cocoa, milk and sugar. Depending on the amount of each ingredient added, the drink's flavour profile will vary from bitter to sweet or milky.
