

Chromosome numbers of North African phanerogams.

X. Plants collected during Iter Mediterraneum V of OPTIMA in Morocco

R. Vogt* & C. Oberprieler

Abstract

Chromosome numbers are reported for 89 taxa belonging to 59 genera of 13 families. Eight reported taxa have not previously been studied cytologically or have chromosome numbers differing from previous reports.

Key Words: Flora of Morocco, chromosome counts.

Introduction

The tenth contribution in this series dealing with cytological investigations in the North African flora provides 123 counts in 85 species out of 13 phanerogam families (for previous contributions see VOGT & OBERPRIELER 1993a, OBERPRIELER & VOGT 1993, HELLWIG & al. 1994, VOGT & OBERPRIELER 1994, KILIAN & al. 1995, OBERPRIELER & VOGT 1996, SCHOLZ & al. 1998, VOGT & OBERPRIELER 2008, and VOGT & OBERPRIELER 2009).

Material and methods

The seed material used for this study was collected during Iter Mediterraneum V to Morocco organized by the Organization for the Phyto-Taxonomic Investigation of the Mediterranean Area (OPTIMA) in 1992, the corresponding collection number is given as “N° Rec. It.”

For the study of mitosis, root tips were obtained either by growing plants in the Botanic Garden Berlin-Dahlem or by germinating achenes in petri dishes. In both cases root tip meristems were pre-treated with hydroxyquinoline (0.002 molar aqueous solution) for four hours, fixed in 96% ethanol/glacial acetic acid (3:1) and refrigerated. Hydrolysis was performed with 1-2N hydrochloric acid for ten minutes at 60°C. For chromosome staining root tips were squashed in aceto-orcein.

For the study of pollen mother cell (PMC) meiosis, young capitula were fixed in 96% ethanol/glacial acetic acid (3:1) in the field and stored in a refrigerator after return to Berlin. For chromosome staining several buds of florets were removed from the capitulum, coarsely crushed, and squashed in aceto-orcein.

Voucher specimens of the original collections and of plants cultivated in the Botanic Garden are deposited in B.

To assess the existence of published chromosome numbers in the taxa studied, the online databases GOLDBLATT & JOHNSON (1979+), WATANABE (2002+) and ANTHOS (2006+) were consulted. The families, genera and species are listed in alphabetical order. Taxa marked with a single asterisk (*) have been counted for the first time. The chromosome number of taxa marked with a double asterisk () is deviating from former reports.

Results and discussion

GYMNOSPERMAE

Pinaceae
