

Industry Coding Index Instructions

1. Structure of the index

1.1 This index updates that used by the Labour Force Survey (LFS) in previous quarters and is based on the 1992 Central Statistical Office Indexes to the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC92). This index has converted the SIC92 activities into LFS industry codes.

1.2 Manufacturing/manufacturer has been abbreviated to mfr.

1.3 Indentation has not been used in this index and hence there can be a lot of repetition. It may be necessary to reorder the entry.

e.g. Apparel, rubber, articles of, mfr.

= manufacture of articles of rubber apparel

Floor coverings, rubber, mfr.

= manufacture of rubber floor coverings

2. Conventional coding

2.1 If after all attempts to code the industry the information supplied by the informant is inadequate, enter code 459. This should only be used as a last resort.

2.2 In some cases an industry description and title may not have been supplied by the informant. In this case enter code 460. This should not normally be accepted since a fairly broad indication of the industry should always be obtainable from the informant.

2.3 If the informant's workplace is abroad, then enter code 461. This code only applies to people living in this country whose place of work is in a country outside the United Kingdom. It does NOT apply to foreign nationals who are working in this country.

PLEASE NOTE THAT THESE THREE CODES, 459, 460 AND 461, SHOULD BE USED RARELY.

2.4 The following codes can be used when there is no other evidence and all other avenues to trace the firm have been exhausted.
