Highway 80 Relocation Revealed by Engineer

Highway 80 through Valley county, when it is improved, will follow practically a new route, state Engineer L. N. Ress informed the Quiz this week.

Ress stated further that no improvement work would be completed during the calendar year of 1958, but that nearly nine miles of oil mat east and west of Arcadia was scheduled in the current two year program.

According to the engineer the department has been considering a re-routing of the highway between Ord and Arcadia for some time, although this information was not made public until a few weeks ago.

The highway will generally follow the old route to a point 4.3 miles east of Arcadia. From there, instead of turning north, it will continue east for about two miles to intersect with Highway 58 from Loup City. The road will head northwesterly across country for several miles from that point, and then head due north toward Ord.

At the substitution corner two miles south and a mile west of Ord it will again cut across the hills to enter the city on the western edge near the Rajewich filling station.

Number to Change?

An announcement Wednesday morning by Ress that the designation "Highway 80" had just been assigned to Nebraska's Interstate Highway has left local backers of the Sioux City-Ord-North Platte highway guessing.

No new number has been selected for the present Highway 80 which has been forced to give up its name to the new Interstate.

The matter of a new number will probably be taken up Oct. 22, at a meeting in Arcadia, according to Arnold Tuning, vice-president of the Highway 80 association.

The new routing is not definite, Ress said, and the department has not as yet made detailed studies of the route. "The tentative location would in no way reflect the route selected when the studies have been completed," the engineer said.

East of Ord, Highway 80, according to the map and plan selected by the Nebraska Highway Commission, will travel due east to intersect Highway 281 in Greeley county.

The route is one that has been eagerly sought by local interests for years, since it opens territory to east-west traffic that must now go 20 to 30 miles out of a direct route.

In a previous communication to the Quiz, Ress said that the Highway 80 work east of Ord might be as far away as eight years but that the department planned to have the work done by that time.

There would be no possibility of Ord, Arcadia and Loup City connected with a dustless surfaced highway in the next two years, the engineer said, although segments of it, east of Arcadia and directly north of Loup City are included in the program of the next four years.

Sherman County in Development Plan

Sherman county will be the recipient of a long-range government program for rural development, Secretary Benson of the department of agriculture announced today.

The program has been proposed or started in nearly 100 counties in 30 states.

It seeks to reshape the agricultural economies of undeveloped areas by providing off-farm opportunities for under-employed farm people, and by helping those who remain in agriculture to develop more efficient farming units.

Bumper Crop All But in Bin

Only the harvesting remains to put Valley county's bumper corn and sorghum crop in the bin.

Following another week of good ripening weather, the fast maturing crops are now safely past frost damage, and in a few isolated cases, harvest has already started.

In fact, most mature fields of sorghum could use a killing frost to stop plant growth and set the stage for harvest.

Speculation this week is on the government support price of the 1957 crop. A new, higher prop on both corn and sorghum is anticipated. The government announced last winter that this rate would not be less than $1.36 per bushel on corn and a support price of $1.40 is expected. Local support prices are about five cents per bushel under the national top figure.

Meanwhile, the Valley county ASC office hinted that stronger regulations on grain storage are in the wind. Dissatisfied with poor quality corn that resulted from make-shift storage in the past, the ASC will probably require a much higher standard of bin and crib construction if loans are made.

Announcement of the new support price and storage regulations are expected next week.

Winter wheat seeding is nearly completed in the county. Potato harvest is underway with reports of good yields. Some haying is still being done, mainly on irrigated tracts.

Weather for the week:

Date	High	Low	Precip.
Sept. 26	75	50
Sept. 27	75	50	T
Sept. 28	75	51
Sept. 29	78	55
Sept. 30	78	55
Oct. 1	77	52
Oct. 2	77	48

Rainfall to date for 1957, 27.63 inches. For 1956, 14.05 inches.

Two Lose Drivers Permits

Seven cases in county court, all but one of them on traffic charges resulted in heavy fines and revocation of driver's permits for two defendants.

Judge Ellsworth Ball, Jr. assessed John Bruha, from west of Ord and Clinton Jeffers of Scotia, $100 and cost of $4 each, on charges of driving while intoxicated. Both drivers lost their permits for six months. Bruha was brought in by highway patrolman Otto Zapp and Jeffers was picked up by Sheriff V. J. Beran.

Speeding at night brought three to county court. Irwin O. Underberg of Broken Bow, and Frank P. Wooters of Ceresco were brought to court by Zapp, while patrolman Phil Quinn picked up Robert L. Hahn of Scotia. All were given fines of $10 and the usual $4 costs.

Driving with an improper muffler cost Eugene W. Leach of Burwell $5 and costs, while Robert Dohlted of Burwell was assessed $15 and costs for intoxication. Both were picked up by Quinn.

A complaint was filed this week against Leo Clinch, Burwell, on charges of reckless driving brought by city policeman James Sobon. The case will be heard Saturday.

In district court two actions involving real estate were filed. Keith Lewis and others interested in the estate of Charles Goodhand, seek to quiet title to the business block in downtown Ord now occupied by Western Auto Store, Helen Dress Shop and J. M. McDonald Co.

A partition of property is requested among heirs and others in the Leo Sell estate in Arcadia.

Mrs. Dale Sell and 191 pounds of sauerkraut in the making.

Bumper Crop of Kraut Here

It was a bumper cabbage crop at the Dale Sell farm near Arcadia, and the Sells have the evidence to prove it. Mrs. Sell brought a 191 pound head of cabbage, 45 inches in circumference to the Quiz Monday. Normal heads are around six to seven pounds.

Auditorium Dedication Ticket Sale

The shindig will be held in the new $210,000 high school auditorium-gym.

In addition to assigning selling areas Dedication Chairman Henry Benda will hear progress reports at the kickoff breakfast.

Former Ord Resident Discovers Fountain of Youth by Working with Teen Groups

A former Ord youth, who attended grade school and high school here, has discovered his own fountain of youth by working with youngsters.

Joe Austin, raised by Mr. and Mrs. John A. Carkosi of Ord, is an electrical inspector with the Los Angeles, Calif. modification center of North American Aviation.

The 47-year-old former orphan has made almost a career of working with youngsters. He has long been active in Little and Middle League baseball, as well as football and basketball for the pre-teens.

Last year Austin, father of a 12-year-old son, John, founded the North Redondo Boys Club and next month will field a Pop Warner football team competing in an eight-game schedule. Austin, who for the past several falls has worked with Redondo Crusaders youth football squad, estimates that he will have over 50 boys under 13 years of age contending for his Boys Club team.

Early next year the Boys Club will also field a basketball club, and if all goes right financially, will build a clubhouse. Today, Austin's Redondo Beach home is the clubhouse, with meetings every week.

Another North American employee, former Colorado A. & M. athlete Harry Lingo, was "signed" by Austin to coach his Boys Club this season. Lingo, Dept. 73, has coached several pre-teenage football teams and recently concluded a coaching stint with a Palos Verdes Little League baseball squad.

In working with youngsters Austin's formula may account for his zest for life—they teach me more than I teach them.

Bethany Lutheran Notes 60th

Bethany Lutheran Church will celebrate its 60th anniversary this weekend, October 4 to 6.

Pastor C. Jeppesen said evangelistic service will be held Friday and Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

Special services are scheduled Sunday at 10:30 and 2:30. A fellowship dinner will be held at noon.

Reverend A. Steensen will be the guest speaker.

The anniversary marks the second event of importance for the church to occur this month. Last week it dedicated a new Minshall organ and a set of altar flags.

The organ was a gift from an anonymous donor. The flags were given by the Study and Fellowship club.

Dr. Glen Auble, accompanied by Mrs. Auble, was guest soloist for the dedication rite Sunday.

'58 Wheat Sign Up Ends Friday

Valley county farmers who intend to join the 1958 winter wheat acreage reserve program have until Friday to sign an agreement.

So far this year, winter wheat agreements reflect sharply the moisture conditions in the county. Only 30 agreements for 1242 acres have been signed. The agreements carry a payment of $21,552.

Last year at this time 349 agreements had been signed for 12,900 acres and a payment of $208,560.

The Oct. 4 deadline marks the end of the sign up period for only one part of the 1958 soil bank program. While no agreements for the 1958 winter wheat crop may be signed after that date, the sign up for acreage reserve agreements for 1958 spring-seeded crops will be opened early next year. The sign up under the 1958 conservation reserve program has already started.

Rex Jewett Jailed on Morals Charge

Rex Francis Jewett, 47, Lincoln, was found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and was given the maximum jail sentence allowed—six months in the county jail—by District Judge Harry A. Spencer, Thursday.

Jewett had pleaded nolo contendere in connection with an incident March 23 involving a 12-year-old Lincoln girl. Jewett is a former employee of a Lincoln gas company and also had served as city clerk at Ord.

A previous complaint charging him with fondling a minor was amended to the contributing charge earlier this month. He had pleaded innocent to the fondling charge.

Canfield car as it looked shortly after accident on Highway 11, just opposite Ord golf course.

Police Probing Tuesday Upset

Ord police Wednesday were investigating a car upset on the access road serving the Ord golf course.

Police said the upset happened about 10:30 Tuesday night. The car was driven by Eldon Canfield, a 17 year old high school youth.

In a preliminary report, Officer James Sobon said he believed the mishap occurred due to excessive speed.

Tracks indicated the car churning its way down through a roadside drainage level, narrowly missed plunging into ravine, then apparently spun on the road center, turning over.

Canfield was trapped in the car briefly but managed to worm out through a side door and window, he told police in a report. He was shaken but unhurt.

Romans Motor Freight Cited for Safe Driving

A Highway Safety plaque given in honor of over 300,000 miles of livestock hauling on Nebraska highways during the past 12 months without a single chargeable accident was presented Saturday to Romans Motor Freight, of Ord.

The plaque was presented at a public affairs luncheon of the Nebraska Motor Carriers association, held at the Paxton Hotel in Omaha.

Present to receive it were Jack Romans, owner and operator, of the freight line, and Harry Zukoski, general manager.

Actually, Romans Motor Freight merited also a plaque for general freight hauling for a year without an accident but their record was tied by a Seward firm in this division, so the livestock hauling plaque was awarded to Romans and the general freight hauling plaque to the Seward firm.

Romans drivers who were at the wheels of the freight line's 17 trucks and drove 10,000 miles or more each in compiling the perfect safety record were: Harold Bennett, Ed Green, Leon Klancecky, Frank Farmer, Charles Cox, Ronald Romans, Jim Vasecek, Emil Pionkowski, Ronald Kuba, Bernard Bredthauer and Don Marshall.

Speakers at the luncheon included Rep. A. L. Miller and Glen Cunningham. Congressman Miller spoke strongly against illegal activities of the teamsters' union especially in respect to secondary boycott tactics.

At the same convention Jack Romans was elected a vice-president of the American Trucking Association representing Nebraska.

The break-in was discovered when Mr. Waterbury went to the store in the morning.

About noon the same day it was discovered that the cash box of the Smith Garage had been rifled, and an estimated $20 taken.

Patrolman Otto Zapp of Ord helped Sheriff Beran with the investigation. The sheriff said the job was similar to a break-in a few weeks ago in Ord, where three business firms were entered.

Girl Scouts Finance Drive Here Oct. 17

Rural School Attendance Down 72

Rural school attendance is down 72 from last year's 574, county superintendent Fred Appelget reported to the Quiz this week.

Included in this year's total of 502 were 281 boys and 231 girls. Attendance will increase somewhat during the second semester, Appelget said, as several schools will not start their beginner grade until that time.

Increased enrollment in St. Mary's parochial school in Ord, and departure of several farm families to other states accounted for most of this year's rural school decline, the county superintendent said.

The rural first grades are the largest with 70 enrolled. The second grade has 61. Only 39 are included in the eighth grade that will expect to be ready for high school next year.

Valley county has but 44 rural schools in operation as compared with 63 five years ago. Four two-teacher schools are listed, with District 10 in Mira Valley being the latest addition. Consolidations have eliminated some rural school districts, while others either have no children of school age or are constructing with other districts.

Farm - Ag Tips

By Bob Perry

Valley County Agricultural Agent

Questions
The variety of questions that come to a County Agent never ceases surprising me. Besides the questions on crops, soils, lawns, feeding livestock, bugs, diseases, social security or irrigation we occasionally hear something like this, a recent inquiry "When is the deer breeding season?" or "How do you handle cones from a spruce tree to help the germination?"

Of course we don't get all these things answered directly but we try at least to find out where the information can be obtained.

There is one question I'd like to ask you. "How far is integration going to go in Agriculture?" So that you and I are thinking about the same thing let me define integration. It is the combining of resources by one segment of an enterprise with other segments of the same enterprise. An example is the broiler industry. In some cases, a feed company furnishes the chicks, the feed, etc. The farmer tends the chickens according to standards set by the company and the profits are divided. There are some variations in the contracts but basically it amounts to risk being assumed by the company and a fixed but assured income for the grower. The grower or farmer surrenders some of his freedom of choice for a more stable return.

The company is able to stand the risk because it has flocks well scattered — it deals in large volumes, uses efficient production standards and markets a highly uniform product.

The farmer furnishes the space and the labor. His chances of high profit are removed as well as the risk.

Some recent figures indicate that integration has absorbed about 90% of the broiler industry. Similar arrangements are working in the egg, swine and cattle enterprises. Whether or not integration is good or bad and how it will advance in agriculture are questions I would ask you. It might be a question to a question you can ask yourself "Am I willing to sacrifice part of my freedom of choice for an assurance of a steady income?" If integration continues to expand as it has during the past or three years the questions will very soon be more real than theoretical.

The pros of integration feel that the economic factors involved, greater efficiency and ability to exist on narrower margins by virtue of large volume, make integration a sure bet to expand. The cons of integration feel that the willingness of the individual on our established private incentive basis to work longer and harder for the chance at profit will offset the financial advantages of integration.

Prospects Good As Duck Season Opens

Saturday, Oct. 5, marks the start of this year's duck season as Nebraska hunters man their duck blinds one-half hour before sunrise. Seasons on grouse, coot and jacksnipe also get underway.

The Nebraska Game Commission reports that there will be a substantial increase in the number of Nebraska-reared ducks entering the Central Flyway this fall. Rains during the year improved potatoes and lakes in the state, and as a result, the population of breeding ducks increased significantly with good production.

However, survey results indicate a decline in grouse over all of their range in Nebraska.

Shooting of grouse begins at sunrise and sunset is the deadline for all waterfowl and grouse hunting. The season closing on ducks and coot is Dec. 18, on jacksnipe, Nov. 3, and grouse, Oct. 13.

Bag and possession limits: Ducks, 5 and 10; American and red-breasted mergansers, 5 and 10; coot, 10 and 10; jacksnipe, 8 and 8; grouse, 2 and 4.

'Bow Papooses Trip Ord Chicks, 12 to 7

A fumble and a clipping penalty proved costly Tuesday to the Ord Chicks as the Broken Bow Papooses gained a 12-7 decision at Broken Bow.

In the fourth period, Bob Stowell ran 20 yards for the Chicks TD. Dick Bell converting the PAT.

The Chicks play John Ringling's Ravens on their first home game of the season.

The Chick lineup included Chuck Clements and Dennis Hurlbert at ends; Lanny Bundy and Jim Horner at tackles; Danny Studnicka and Francis Oentowski at guards; Ken Maslin, center; Maylon Wolf, quarterback; Bob Stowell and Dick Bell, halfbacks; and Ralph Pokorney, fullback.

CREAM SELLERS!

State and federal requirements, on the quality of cream used in the manufacture of butter, get more rigid day by day.

To keep recipients to the minimum we are asking your co-operation with a few simple-to-do requirements:

1. Keep all utensils and your separator CLEAN. Wash and rinse cans before using them. Cans are clean when they leave our plant but they often collect dust, moisture and unpleasant odors before they reach you.

2. Cool cream immediately after separation using cold water or refrigeration. Keep cream between 50 and 60 degrees, if at all possible. Never mix warm with cool cream.

3. Market often even though the quantity is small. We would much rather handle SMALL amounts of GOOD cream than LARGE amounts of B-A-D cream.

4. Don't be misled by the advent of cool weather and remember age as well as warm temperatures produces unusable cream.

Only GOOD cream can be accepted. Better quality means bigger returns.

Whooping Cranes to Start South Soon

The last wild flock of whooping cranes will soon be on the move again as they commence migrating from Canada to Texas. For years these carefully guarded birds have commanded the attention of the entire continent during their dangerous fall migration during the hunting season.

Every year the heartening sight of a few newly hatched cranes has stirred renewed hopes that the birds can be preserved from extinction. Canadian authorities have observed three young cranes this year, raising the known total of wild whooping cranes to 26.

The migratory route extends across the states of North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. People living in these areas have been requested to watch for these birds and to give them safe passage through their states.

Rowbal's Invention Too Late for Season

Richard Rowbal, owner of Mid-State Building Service is bemoaning the lateness of the season which will prevent him from marketing a new type of corn crib he has designed. The crib is constructed of standard Quonset parts and, according to Rowbal, can be built for considerably less than steel cribs of similar capacity. Picture above is a 2000 bushel size.

"If I'd only thought of this three months ago," Rowbal said, "now, by the time I get the steel corn picking season will be about over, and the crop will be cribbed."

Bright Family Joins Quiz Staffers Next Week

A new farm family is coming to Valley county. Fred and Marian Bright and their family of two girls, two boys, a duck and a dog are moving in today and will appear as a weekly feature in the Ord Quiz, beginning with the Oct. 10 issue of the Quiz.

The Brights are a typical farm family in typical rural surroundings on a typical farm called "Bright Acres". Their trials and tribulations are not so typical, however, as the entire family becomes involved in humorous situations which will make up the weekly series.

Fred Bright, the father, is the easy-going forgetful type nearing the 50-year mark in age. He has a glowing sense of humor and is known as "Friendly Fred Bright". To his neighbors he has one drawback, however, in that he is inclined to be lenient about disciplining the children.

Marian Bright, the mother, is the guiding light for the family. She makes up for her husband's lenient nature about disciplining the children. She is a good housekeeper and cook, sews exceptionally well and can drive the tractor and car if necessary. Her family can tell that she is mad if she calls them by their full names. She worries about her weight.

The twins, William and Lillian, are 15 years old. William's friends call him Bill and his mother calls him Willie. He is a sophomore in high school, actively engaged in 4-H work and is a member of the F. F. A. chapter. His main interest is raising hogs and he hasn't had the nerve yet to ask a girl for a date. He plays some basketball.

Lillian is called Lil by everybody. She is also interested in clothes and interior decoration. She plays a clarinet in the high school band. Her main interests are boys, clothes and hair styles (her present one being a pony tail). Like all girls, she is inclined to giggle.

The Bright's eight-year-old son Jeffery, is in the third grade in a

Volers Again Reject Aurora Bond Issue

Aurora voters rejected a new elementary school building bond issue for the third time. The latest vote was 583 for and 632 against. The bond issue was for $183,000, although a $283,000 building was planned. The other $100,000 was available from insurance collected on the old Aurora high school building which burned over a year ago.

There are no plans at the present time for another vote on the bond issue, according to Supt. E. D. Humann.

Only Sunday a new $400,000 high school was dedicated at Aurora. It took three elections to obtain approval for this structure.

Officials had planned to use the old high school building for elementary grades. However, when flames took the building classes were moved to the city library basement, the vocational agriculture building and to makeshift spots in the Hearn building.

Six From Here in University Band

Three Ord students, two from Scotia and one each from Sargent and Arcadia are listed in the 1958 University of Nebraska Band of 91 members. Men students compose the Varsity marching band which appears at football and basketball games. Women members of the band are in charge of the pantomime work during half-time intermission at home football games. During the second semester the band is divided into a symphonic unit and collegiate unit.

Local members include Elizabeth Haywood, Arcadia, oboe; Norman McIntosh, Sargent, trombone; Don Bredthauer, trombone; Tom Williams, cornet, both of Scotia; and Phyllis Kapustka, alto saxophone; Beverly Isbrandtsen, French Horn and Douglas Pearson, baritone, all of Ord.

Westerners' 4-H Club

The Westerners' 4-H Club met with Johnny Hruby at his home, Wednesday evening with ten members present. Plans for projects were made for 1958 and record books were passed out by their leader, Harvey Krahulik. New officers recently elected are Dennis Placik, president, Larry Tokes, vice-president, Kenneth Krahulik, secretary and Roy Marsh, news reporter. The next meeting will be held October 16 with Roy Marsh. Mrs. Hruby treated the guests to cake, coffee and hot chocolate at the close of the meeting.

Extension Notes

Valley County Extension Agent
By Katherine Helzer

Lady and the Law

In three training meetings, this last week, twenty four of our Extension Club leaders learned many of the fine points about law which might, in the future, keep them out of some embarrassing situations.

For instance the day after the last lesson, I received, by mail, a box of Christmas cards, suggesting I send $1.00 to the cause and a list of names. This is the first time, I believe, that cards have come to me in this manner. I am returning them for they are a good quality card and should not be thrown away nor can I legally give them away for someone else to use. This I learned in the lesson, Lady and the Law.

Problem: A card manufacturer sends you two boxes of greeting cards which you use, knowing that the manufacturer expects payment for them. Are you under any obligation to pay them, assuming that you never ordered them in the first place?

Answer: Yes. The use of the cards constitutes the acceptance of the offer. However, if you had not used them, you would not be required to either return or pay for them.

Many of us are frequently exposed to incidents similar to this, in which there may be a legal angle and in which we unknowingly can become involved.

The leaders who took this lesson found there were many little points of law concerning every day living, which they should know and of which they are ignorant.

This is undoubtedly true of our 375 club members. We know that after this series of club meetings our members will be better informed on legal affairs that can enter in every day living and because of "ignorance of the law" may be the cause of an embarrassing situation.

Teach Children Fire Safety Rules

A child plus a match is a "sure-fire" combination," William D. Lutes, Extension safety specialist at the University of Nebraska, says.

Latest figures show that three out of every ten fire fatalities are children 14 years or younger.

During Fire Prevention Week, October 6-12, Lutes urges farmers to instruct their children in fire safety. Small youngsters should be told why they are not to play with matches, electrical cords, and other potential sources of fire in the home. Children also must be impressed with the danger of gasoline and kerosene vapors.

They must learn by instruction and good example not to bring matches and other incendiary articles near dry hay, straw, or underbrush, or near the engines and fuel of farm machinery. Children who are old enough should be taught to use fire-fighting equipment.

Executive Committee

The Executive Committee of the County Extension Council met Friday, September 27, at which plans were made for the October meeting of the County Council on Friday, October 4, 1957. All old and new presidents should try to attend this council meeting.

We were fortunate to have with us, Miss Ethel Saxton, our District Supervisor who gave us many helpful suggestions in planning our program and other activities for 1957. So let's have a good attendance this Friday.

Ordites Attend Legion Convention

More than 250 members of the American Legion and Auxiliary, including seven from Ord attended the all day convention of the Sixth District, Saturday, September 28 at Gibbon.

Officers re-elected for the district include Dick Williams of Aurora district commander and Al Veeder of Cairo vice-commander. The Auxiliary re-elected Mrs. Loren Good of Ord as district president and Mrs. Jacques Smith of Shelton as vice-president. Next years convention will be held at Sargent.

Members of the Ord Legion post who attended were Commander George Krump and Mike Naeve. Auxiliary members were Mrs. Loren Good, Mrs. Louise Pettska, Mrs. John Horn, Mrs. Warren Lincoln and Mrs. Clark Weckbach.

In the publicity scrapbook contest the Ord scrapbook made by Mrs. Clark Weckbach received first prize. Second prize was won by St. Paul.

Replacing Mrs. Ross Allen, district secretary, who was unable to attend the convention was Mrs. Louise Pettska. Mrs. John Horn, vice-president of the Ord unit gave the Unit report. Mrs. Clark Weckbach, district publicity chairman, also served on the nominating committee representing Valley county.

Black Sorghum Kernels Not Necessarily Smut

Although many farmers may suspect smut when sorghum kernels appear black this fall, in most cases the cause is not smut.

John Weibing, Extension plant pathologist at the University of Nebraska, reports that past weather conditions made it possible for a dark colored mold to grow over the mature chaff and injured kernels. In many instances the kernels were damaged by grass hoppers and birds.

The dark colored mold readily grows on the exposed interior of the damaged kernel causing it to turn dark black. If the kernels are crushed the interior will be white.

However, the interior of smut infected kernels are filled entirely with black, sooty material. Smut infected kernels also are somewhat elongated, Weibing points out.

How much is Truck service worth to you?

Before You Place a Value on Truck Service, Consider These Facts:

What good would your farm products be to you, if you couldn't get them to market? Even if you could get them to market some other way, how much less would you have to take for your products because they were not fresh enough to bring top prices?

Consider, too, the fertilizer, seeds, tools, farm implements and other necessities for farming. Chances are, they came by truck to the dealer in the town where you bought them. The same is true of the luxuries that make life more pleasant. Your television set, radio, washing machine, newspaper, magazines—the list is endless. So when you figure it all up, you earn more money and live better because of motor transport.

How much is all this worth to you? Trucks serve in so many ways you can't compute their value. But they certainly are worth much more than most people realize.

Mr. Travis and the Weather

A few times of recent months we've poked a few good-natured jibes at our local weatherman Horace Travis, to see that he orders the proper kind of weather.

And so far, Mr. Travis has responded nobly. He's come through with good rains just when we have been needing them, he's obligingly held off the killing frost date, and all-in-all, has turned in a most satisfactory performance this year.

This is so much in contrast with the miserable job he did last year that we can arrive at the conclusion that all he needed was a little prodding.

While Horace is a scientific weatherman to the point that he has a government gauge (that measures about 15° less than everybody else's) he doesn't discount all the old proverbs about the weather.

All this came to mind in reading an article about such things in the current issue of a popular magazine, written by one Duncan Emrich.

"Rainbow at night, sailors' delight; rainbow in the morning, sailors take warning."

It's true. Rainbows can only be seen in the morning or in the late afternoon, when the low position of the sun in the sky is reflected against the clouds. Since our weather normally comes from the west, a rainbow in the late afternoon ("at night") when the sun is setting in the west means that the clouds and storm causing it are in the east, and have passed over. A rainbow seen in the morning, on the other hand, will be in the west—since the rising sun from the east against the western clouds makes it possible; the weather—the rain and storm—will thus be moving eastward toward you.

Other weather folklore also is based on scientific observation. For instance, old-timers believe that cobwebs on the grass are a sign of fair weather. They also believe that: "When the dew is on the grass, rain will never come to pass."

Both the belief and the proverb are true, Emrich says. Cobwebs can be seen only when there is dew on the ground. And dew cannot form unless the skies are cloudless and there is no wind. A cloud-sheet would prevent the radiation which caused the loss of heat and resulting condensation on the grass. A windless night is necessary lest warm air passing over the ground prevent it from cooling.

The Weather Bureau does not draw upon such proverbs for its scientific reports, Mr. Travis says, but he is not dogmatically negative about them. Some of the omens prove out with remarkable accuracy.

Economy for the Other Fella

During the last session of Congress, Senators and Representatives from all parts of the country reported an unusually large amount of mail in which stringent government economy was urged and demanded. There was a real "grass-roots" movement in favor of reduced appropriations. And that pressure produced some result. According to a Newsweek tabulation, new appropriations were $6,200,000,000 below the President's proposed budget.

However, there is another side to this coin. It is described in a brief article in U. S. News & World Report, which says, "Washington is beginning to hear from people back home who are being hurt by cutbacks in government spending." Individuals and organizations are vigorously protesting economy moves that affect their interests—though, no doubt, they endorse economy as a general and abstract principle with equal vigor.

Ironically, a large share of the complaints has come from local chambers of commerce. That includes the chambers in large cities and small. And these chambers are always among the first to demand government economy—again as a general and abstract principle. But it's something else again when it is felt in their communities.

In other words, a good many of the groups and people who preach economy want to limit it to the other fellow's interests. The last thing they want is economy that touches their pocketbooks. This attitude deserves the description "disgraceful." It explains why so much waste and avoidable spending still goes on. Long ago, it was said that a people get the kind of government they deserve. That is 100 per cent true.

What Is a Bandmaster?

Bandmasters come in assorted sizes, weights, colors and dispositions. They are found everywhere—inside of, sitting in, standing on, running around, or walking toward. Wives love them, little girls fear them, students respect them, older band directors tolerate them, teachers ignore them, and heaven protects them. A band director is "Truth" with beads of perspiration on his forehead, wisdom with chalk dust in his hair (what he might have left), and the hope of the future with six ball point pens in his pocket.

A bandmaster has the lungs of a dictator, the patience of Job, the energy of the entire solar system, the audacity of a steel trap, the imagination of Paul Bunyan, the curiosity of a cat, the enthusiasm of a firecracker, the heart of a lion, and when he plans a half-time show he marches eight yards every five steps.

He likes Hi-Fi, electric trains, a good jam session, his son and daughters, New York, ballet, peanut butter, filet mignons, photography, gin rummy and a good game of poker. He's not much for excuses, guitars, dumb drummers, or television commercials although he makes band shows from "Valley Dale" themes. He has the persuasive powers to lure you to the right way of life without letting you know that he knows you were wrong, and he continually thinks about starting 3:55 tea parties for those individuals who just can't seem to remember, but then he forgets to hold these tea parties.

Nobody else is so early to rise or so late to return home after the days work is completed. Nobody else can cram into one pocket a rusty knife, three foot of string, an empty ball Durham sack, a whistle, stop watch, two pieces of chewing gum, a clothes pin, and a batch of unpaid bills.

A bandmaster is a wonderful creature — you can lock him out of your practice room, but you can't lock him out of your heart. You can get him out of your study hall, but you can't get him out of your mind. Might as well give up — he's your boss, your master, your captor, your jailor — a red-faced bald-headed flat-topped package of inspiration. And at first period when you come to band rehearsal with only the shattered pieces of your hopes and dreams, and you struggle through the opening strains of that overture, you realize that he, too, has had his share of disasters for the opening of day. But he keeps his head cool if you'll let him, his shoulders level, his chin up, and his back erect as he concentrates on his job at that moment: moulding your character. He lectures to you, and you listen because you're learning to respect his opinion—he is wise—worldly wise. And you wish to thank him — but how?

And then you play the closing trio of the

On The Lee Side

Some Personal Comment On The Girard Case

My gorge is beginning to rise as I read the trial accounts of the Girard case, and unless there is a sudden switch in the testimony then he's going down in my book as an 18-carat revolting bastard, which means he's a bastard no matter which side of him is exposed to view.

I get a little TO'ed with soldiers who are constantly getting enmeshed with civilians. From 4 years experience with the army, I have come to realize it is generally the GI's fault.

The run of the mill dogface, assigned to foreign duty, is generally a pretty good Joe. But in every contingent of good guys there are always ten mean heads. I know, because I have spent more than one confined weekend simply because the company foul-ups got involved with civilians at the local pub. For my dough you can take 'em all, and this includes Girard and his Japanese candy cutie he found time to woo when he wasn't shooting scroungers, out in the woods.

I won't lose one night's sleep worrying about him, or them, and if my service organizations start howling about soldier's rights then I am pointedly going to remind them of the rights of a half million good guys who are being contaminated with some pretty sticky stuff simply because Soldier Girard has chosen to defecate in his own messkit.

It's kinda funny about these guys—guys like Girard, I mean they come from the God-awful places—places you never heard of like Lick Skillet, Ark., or Tie Siding, Wyo. I swear when I used to read their service records, I wondered how the draft boards ever found them since few of their homes had communicable roads and to get to the house you had to swing in the last half mile on a grapevine.

Anyways, the draft boards did find them and one day they'd land in the company street. For five or six days they would shy around as nervous as a long-tailed cat in a room full of rocking chairs, and then they would discover the chow hall.

It took a little coaxing to get them to eat (their idea of a meal was a bowl full of pea vines and a plate of hominy grits), but eat they finally would. And then, man, did they start getting salty. I used to sit alongside 'em in the local pubs whenever I caught one of them spinning a snow job for the local fluff. The way these jokers would tell it, they never got up back home until the butter called 'em, and the only reason they were short of beer money right then was because they had just made a down payment on a new hotel back home.

Of course, even in foreign countries the girls get some wising up, so about half the times the ladies weren't fooled with this guff. That TO'ed soldier. From then on he went sour on civilians and dealt them a howling fit whenever the chance offered. Girard, to me, appears to be this kind of crumb and I wish the army had him for trial instead of the Japs.

Because I'm afraid he is going to get off with too little punishment, which I'm pretty sure the army wouldn't let happen.

And whatever happens to this crumb, I want it to be big. To me he's the personification of every service foul-up I ever knew and I've been hungering for their come-uppance for a long time.

The Republic of Indonesia is Australia's nearest neighbor. Since gaining independence, Indonesia has made mighty efforts to train leaders in education, medicine, engineering, science and every other essential sphere. However, short-ages of trained personnel are greatly handicapping the nation's efforts to improve conditions.

To help overcome this problem, the Australian Student Christian Movement has appointed field officers to recruit young graduates from Australian universities to spend some time in Indonesia. These young Christians are now working as teachers, doctors, agricultural scientists, engineers, and in other occupations to help Indonesia's forward movement.

In the eyes of Christians, no barriers of class, creed, or color exist, but all people are Christ's children and we are all one family. The need of one section is a call of Christ to us to be His agents in giving all possible help.

Prayer

O God, our Father, Thy Son Jesus lived His life helping those in need. We, too, would live lives filled with brotherly love to all Thy children. So fill us with Thy love that we shall seek to help those in need. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Something Just A Little Bit Different

It occurred to me that we're doing it all wrong. I mean this business of "using our everyday things" and carefully secreting our "best" things.

oOo

For, what's the idea? Why keep the fancy dishes back in the cupboard and use the chipped plate? Why hide the sterling and put on the bent fork, the everyday silver with that good old worn look? For, what are we saving it for? All of our "good" things: why are they put aside for another day? Why not use them NOW, Today, Ourselves???

oOo

After all said I to myself, what Company comes that is more important to us than our own family? Who of all the world means the most to you, a casual dinner guest, an over-night friend, or your own chick and kin? Why should there be tablecloths the children never get to admire? Crystal whose sparkle is never brought out into the sun? I could go on and on.

oOo

You remember that delicious, filmy nightie Daddy gave you, for, was it Christmas? And you've folded it away and tucked it back into its tissue? Why? Those delicate hankies your club showered you with? Who do you plan to have use them? After you're gone no one will want them. They will be out of style, I hereby tell you. So do something about it. Take them out and sniff them appreciatively today and use one this evening, to the astonishment of all beholders—who are in the habit of seeing you grab a Kleenex (no adv.)

The pretty blouse, impractical you say, yet what's practical about keeping it laid away and away out of style?

So sit on the best chair. Eat off the best dishes. Let Father wear his best tie and don't argue with him. Fix that fancy, elaborate but delicious dish today; don't put it off. Live it up, with your dearest to help you. Start today and be a guest in your own home. Don't put off until another day enjoying your nicest possessions with your most valuable physical treasures, your family.

Ladies, don't leave your handsomest girdle to appear at a rummage sale after you're gone! Wear it now. Use it today.

That great big can of mushrooms: put them in something good for dinner. That gift bottle of wine: serve it today. The "good" pillows for the divan: toss them into place right this minute; or do you want to save them for that frolicsome dog or cat some later generation will feed?

Underdogs Fight Back!

Dunlap-Schamp TD Pass Climaxes 4th Period Drive as Chants Tie Indians

An underdog Ord Chant eleven stopped a Broken Bow onslaught on Ord's 9 yard line midway in the fourth quarter, then roared back with a spectacular 91-yard TD drive as the Chants gained a 7-7 tie with highly favored Broken Bow Friday.

Less than 1:30 remained to be played when Gerald Dunlap caught the Indian pass defense flatfooted by heaving a 25-yard strike past the Indian secondary to Frank Schamp. Schamp scooped the remaining five yards across the goal line unchallenged. Ken Hornickel, whose line plunges had accounted for three first downs in the drive, went over the 'Bow line to convert the PAT.

Broken Bow had been tabbed as an easy winner by the dailies' forecasters. Instead, Coach Bill Gogan's lads were far more impressive, save for a third quarter letdown, than their traditional rival.

Early Penalties Hurt

The Chants received the opening kickoff, Vasicek returning the leather from his 16 to the Chant 37 yard line. Two five yard penalties against Ord before they could get the ball in play hurt the Chants at the moment. Hornickel plunged for six yards, Vasicek made four and after Dunlap failed to gain, the Chants punted to the 'Bow 35. Niedt made four yards but moments later the Indians drew a 15 yard penalty for holding and were forced to punt.

Dunlap pitched a pass to Schamp, which was good for 28 yards from Ord's 43 yard stripe to the 'Bow 28. Hornickel made four yards through the line; Vasicek picked up two more; Hornickel failed by inches of making a first down on the 'Bow 18 and 'Bow took over.

The 'Bow Indians, with Niedt, Eldred and Landen in command, chalked up three first downs to the Ord 44. Eldred fired a 15 yard pass to Jones down to the Ord 29 yard stripe. Eldred fumbled on the next play, Niedt recovering on Ord's 41 yard line and Niedt punted to the Ord 24 as the second quarter commenced.

Hornickel plunged for a first down on the Ord 27 and Armstrong ran a pass down to the 'Bow 49 yard marker for another first down but the Chant attack was halted by a pass interception on the next play to end the only scoring threat of the Gogamen in the second quarter.

ing threat of the Gogamen in the second quarter.

Bow Scored in Third

Niedt received the kickoff at the start of the third quarter on his 19 and ran the ball back to Ord's 40 yard line, Dunlap making the tackle. Landen and Niedt then opened a drive that ended with Eldred scampering around the Chants' right side of the line for a TD. Eldred repeated the chore for the conversion.

Austin and Hornickel bore the brunt of the Ord Chant offensive in bringing the ball down the field from their own three yard line to the 'Bow 29 on quick-opening plays. At that point, Ord fumbled, Bauer recovering for the Indians.

The Chants forced 'Bow to punt at that juncture, only to lose the ball on downs on their own 29 yard line shortly before the third period ended.

Bow reeled off one first down but the Chants stiffened and took the ball over on downs on their own nine yard line to launch their successful drive for a TD.

Hornickel Plunges Feature Drive

Hornickel picked up six yards. Austin logged the leather to a first down on Ord's 22. Hornickel carried it three times to another first down on the 33. With Austin, Hornickel and Vasicek alternating, the Chants picked up two more first downs to the 'Bow 44. Armstrong made 6 yards on a pass and Hornickel again plunged for another first down.

Ord drew two more five yard penalties but the determined Chants were not to be denied as with 1:30 remaining, Dunlap calmly threw the 28 yard pass to Schamp who was standing unmolested in the 'Bow secondary and the TD.

Witherwax a Standout

Ord outdrew 'Bow, 10 to 8, and outgained their rival, 236 to 100. Ord drew 35 yards in penalty while 'Bow was assessed 40.

Ken Hornickel logged the leather or 20 times against 'Bow for 71 yards while Austin picked up 44 yards. Mary Witherwax, Delmer Conner, Duda, and Hans sparkled on defensive play. Mary coming up with 11 tackles. Conner made 10 tackles as the 'Bow offense sought to gain mostly against the right side of line when they found the left side bottled up and Gerald Dunlap and Schamp turned in a whale of a job in backing up the line.

Sportsmen's Gossip —

WOODS 'n' WATERS

By Spud Kapustka

Dear Ed:

Joe and I drove down to St. Paul the past weekend and enjoyed ourselves immensely at the goose calling contest. This was something out of the ordinary for us fellows in these parts. I had no idea of how one of these contests would be conducted. I sat pretty much wide-eyed during the performances. Joe was as much in the dark about what was expected of a goose caller as any other contestant. Having resided in the Tule lake region of California, where the blues and the snows and the speckles and the canadas congregate by the hundreds of thousands, he had some idea of what the goose hunk is like. He entered with all the confidence of an old line goose hunter. I backed away from the entrants booth like a scared pup but I listened in all directions and when I emerged from the fracas, I acquired enough knowhow so as to not be at a total loss in knowing what to do, should I be at the river when the annual migration of that one flock of geese comes through.

If you should so much as care to enter a contest such as this and have some fear as to how you impress the public eye, your worries are over. Each contestant receives a number and as the number is called, unknowing to the three judges as to who you might be, you enter a blind and are completely obscured. When the whistle blows you are to assimilate that a flock of geese is approaching a half mile away. In one minute and a half, which might seem like an hour, you are to call these birds into your stool of decoys. That is the allotted time and supposedly as long as it would normally take a flock of geese to come in.

Some of the boys had their geese in before the minute and a half were up and others had to get the whistle. If a caller's procedure was correct and without any bleeps, it wasn't necessary to go the full time.

Anyway Joe toolled himself into a steak dinner and a goose call.

Having a sack full of the noise-makers of his own, I was made the proud owner of the loot. Joe, however, ate the steak, on the house and I paid for mine, like a second rater would.

About all the credit I could give myself for the afternoon was that with the little know-how of goose calling, I was able to pick the winner from the sixteen honker fields.

I unknowingly, set Joe up in second place but somehow the judges kicked him down for a couple of reasons they later informed him of and a guy has to admit that those boys know what they're talking about.

Just from what I gathered, listening to the shop talk, after we wet our whistles to make conversation easier, there's a lot a feller can learn about goose calling. The club reverberated continuously with goose talk and tootles. That was one time that I tried to catch the conversation of three groups at one time. We had the good fortune to meet a lot of good fellows from all over the state and within a few minutes felt like we had known them a good length of time. Some of the boys were really bigwigs in goose hunting, sometimes taking as many geese in one season as we do mallards on our river. The Canadian Honker call seems to be the predominant one used in the contest.

SPORTS Rehash...

Friday night marked the 12th year that Mark Russell had led his Broken Bow Indians against the Chanticleers and it was the second tie game that his teams had played against Ord. The other was a 6-all tie in 1947.

'Bow scored first in that one too, Hackett scoring on a 70 yard gallop right after the kickoff. Ord came right back to tie the knot when Jay Stoddard broke through the line for 18 yards into the end zone. The Chants threatened twice more in the last half, once driving to the one yard line before being halted, and again to the 19 yard stripe.

The "squeaker" came in 1949. Ord scored early—on a Jay Stoddard to Richardson pass, who scampered 39 yards for the TD and Falter kicked the PAT. Late in the fourth period, 'Bow launched a sustained drive that netted six first downs to the Ord 10. After Stinchagen picked up a few yards on two tries, Hammond sneaked across the goal line. The Chants smothered the conversion try and the Chants won, 7-6.

While Russell has won six games for 'Bow, the Chants still hold a two-game edge in the overall series, going through 11 seasons in the 30-40s without a defeat by 'Bow.

Having moved up the Central City game two weeks ago, the Chants likely will be idle this week as at last report, Coach Bill Gogan has been unable to line up a foe for this week.

Next week, the Chants go up against Fullerton, which shellacked Genoa, 42-0, Friday night and with added rest, the Chants should be ready to avenge last year's 13-28 setback.

Football relations with Fullerton date back to 1923 but only five games have been played. Ord lost, 3-9, in '23 but edged Fullerton, 9-7, in 1924.

In 1939, Fullerton was the last victim of the "Golden Brockman era" win streak, downing the Nance county crew, 6-0. The next week Albion shattered the Chants' hope of a Texas trip.

In 1955, Gogan's undefeated Chanticleers trampled Fullerton, 27-6.

One might think that Doc Osentowski, obviously the Yankees' most avid rooter around these parts, would be up to his ears reciting statistics as proof of how his beloved Gothamites would scalp the Braves this week in the World Series. Alas—Doc has other woes and it is not from yanking molars—it's FOOTBALL! Seems that his youngest son, Richard, had a birthday last week and so had a birthday party with 15 small fry as guests. Came time for Richard to open the proverbial presents and it added up to solely a varied assortment of footballs of all sizes.

Now Doc doesn't know if he can even get past the doorway without being "sabotaged into a punting test" despite especial adagio-like "footsy-shuffling" or to duck while rounding the corner of the house simply because he can't count 'em all fast enough.

This is the big weekend that all duck hunters have been looking forward to—when they can try their luck at a mallard or two. While Dean Misko admits the other day that "yellow" is the best color, the hunters are still buying their "red" caps—Neb. Optometry tests notwithstanding.

Mebbee just as well—from that Army football score last Saturday, the Cornhusker fans would just as soon trust the "color-blind hunters" as their hope of a successful year fades and they take to the duck blinds.

Word from Mt. Oread—home of the Kansas Jayhawkers—reaches us that Tuck Mason, the Ord Chant who chose the Jayhawk institution over Nebraska, is a member of the Jayhawk Frosh Cross-country harriers.

Tuck works out each morning with the squad before breakfast, running a 6 1/2 mile course except Saturdays, when it is 9 miles.

Recently, Coach Bill Easton combined his Varsity & Frosh squads into a regulation 2 1/2-mile race. Winner of the 26-man field was Jerry McNeal, the Big Eight two-mile conference king in 10:24.1. Tuck was tenth, turning in a 11:04.1 time. Bill Mills, who formerly lived near Gordon but a grad of the Indian school at Shawnee Mission, Kansas, was the only Freshman to finish ahead of Tuck.

When one reflects that Kansas has swept the Cross-Country conference championship the past eight years, you can readily see that Tuck is keeping up with even faster company than what was to be had in his Nebraska prep days. That KU varsity is loaded with vets and the best sophomore group in years, and who come from states in the Midlands—Dakotas to Kansas, Nebraska to Indiana.

Coach Allen Zikmund's Kearney State Antelopes are occupying the spotlight as Nebraska's best college team this year, having won 13 games in a row.

Saturday is Parents' Day at Kearney and Publicity director Bill Boyd states that Ordites' Floyd Wozniak and Dean Sich are slated for plenty of action as the Antelopes entertain Midland college. Sich was moved up from the "B" team only last week.

Mattress buying . . . get on and try it!

Be Sure: Make Your Own Mattress Test!

Science notwithstanding, now as always the best way to test a bed is with your own body. Go on, lie on it!
Does it support you firmly, yet still permit some "sinkability" for shoulder bones, elbows, hips and heels?
Can you move easily from side to side and front to back?
When you sit on the edge, does the entire side sag? Is the tufting tough on a tender hide? How's the whole "feel"?

It may not seem important to try out a floor sample, but only the foolish would neglect to make a test before making a choice.
Use of standard length and sizes of lumber cuts construction time and saves waste. A portable power saw will help speed on the spot work. The building must be rigidly braced to stand the strain of moving. Flooring should be tight to permit regular and efficient cleaning.

The iron railing on our front porch is rusted in spots. I know I should remove the rust before painting. What's the best way?

A normal method is to remove the rust with a wirebrush. With an electric drill and wirebrush attachment this job won't take much time or effort. Paint the clean metal with red lead. Wait a few days before final painting with the color of your choice.

This is one of the most versatile farm buildings ever designed.

This is a solid weather-tight building, 8 feet high in the front of the roof for plenty of head room. Floor dimensions are 8 by 12 feet. The construction is drop siding over building paper with ship-lap sheathing. It's mounted on sturdy skids so it can be towed where needed.

Other features include a side door and two front windows. The roof is constructed of wood shingles over shingle lath. The grain-frilling door is at the top of the front.

Plumbing Fixtures Need Care for Long Useful Life

By following a few simple rules, you can give your new plumbing fixtures extra years of usefulness and beauty.

Wash your kitchen and bathroom fixtures regularly with soap and warm water. Many housewives have turned their shiny new fixtures dull within a short period by ignoring this simple advice.

Just as many others have cut thousands of tiny marks into china surfaces by using harsh abrasive cleansers.

Never permit fruit or vegetables to drain on the surface of a fixture for any length of time. The acids from them may cause permanent stains. Grease, tea and coffee grounds also can cause hard-to-remove stains if left standing on fixtures. Also, pots, pans or silverware standing in the sink may cause rust spots.

Don't Chip Ice
You're liable to damage the enamel on your sink if you use it for chipping ice, chopping meat, slicing and shredding vegetables. Avoid dropping pots and pans into the sink or sliding them across the enameled surface.

When cleaning bathroom walls or the showerhead, don't stand in the tub with your shoes on. Use a slide-proof bathmat to protect the tub's finish. Or, of course, take your shoes off.

If you overpack a medicine cabinet, containers may fall from it and break on a lavatory below, scratching the enamel finish.

Kitchen, laundry room or bathroom fixtures should not be used as receptacles for photographic developing solutions because stains are almost certain to result.

When a faucet starts dripping, have it repaired immediately or hard-water mineral deposits may appear on the basin.

Watch Stains
Never ignore a stain once it appears. If soap and warm water fail to remove it, try making a simple cleaning solution. Shave half-a-bar of naphtha-based laundry soap into a quart of warm water. Add two tablespoons of common kerosene. Apply with a rag and wash off. This usually does the trick unless neglect has given the stain too much of a head start.

Should this fail to work, rub a mild abrasive cleanser lightly against the stain with a coarse cloth. Use plenty of water.

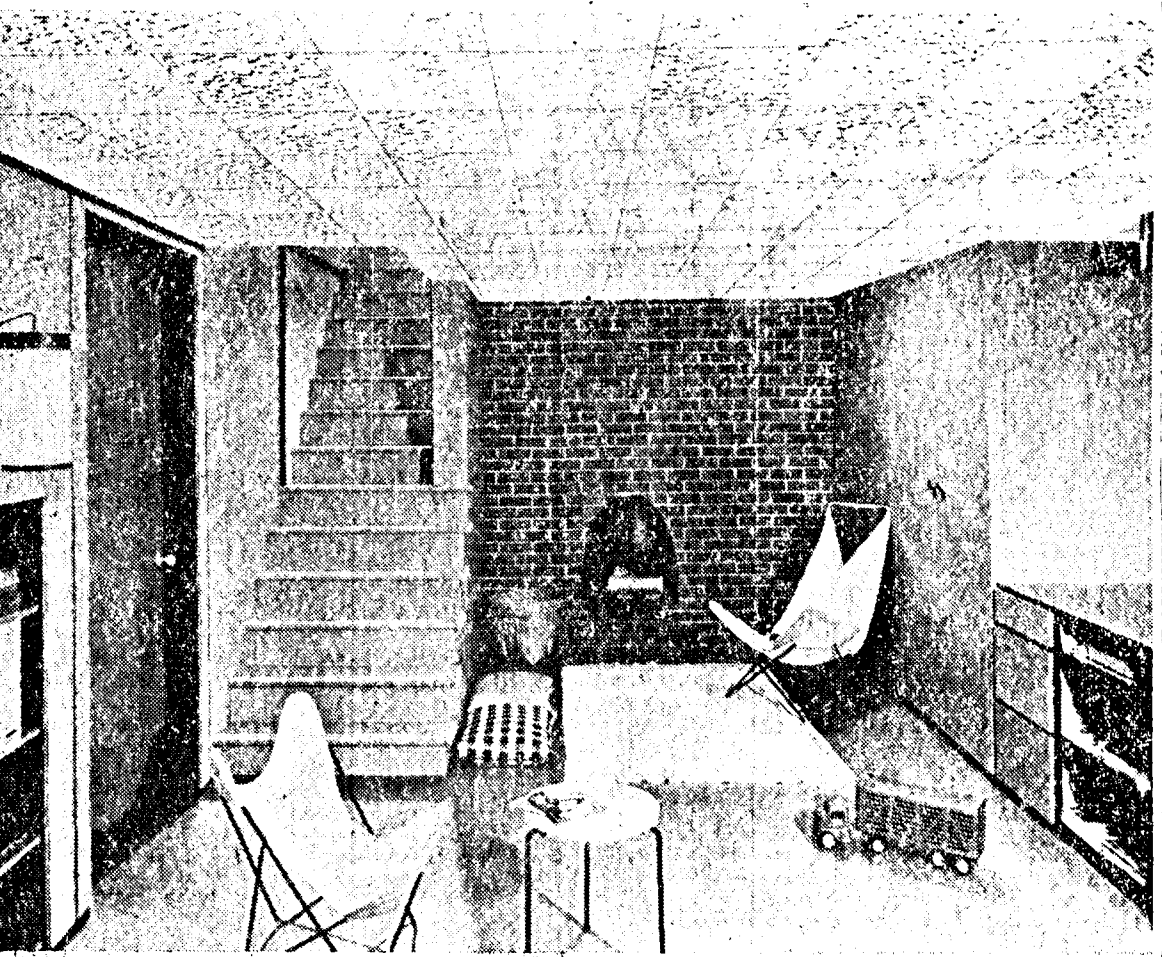

Never use any cleanser with an acid or bleach content, even as a last resort. Acids will etch the surface of the fixture and bleaches will dull the gloss. With their use, subsequent cleaning becomes more difficult and your fixtures are subject to a deeper staining.

Of course, even the best of cleansing agents cannot bring old-fashioned plumbing equipment up-to-date. For this solution, install easy-to-clean, modern fixtures, in your bathroom and kitchen.

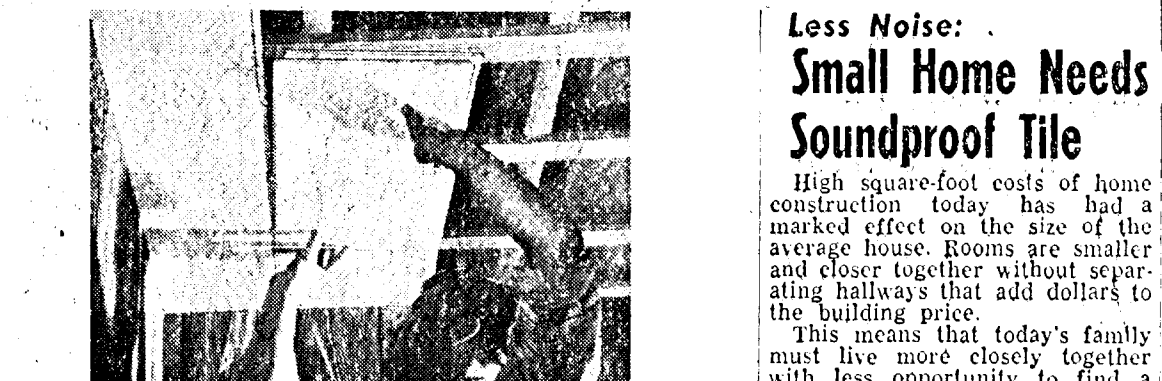

A little soap, warm water and attention can give these new fixtures lasting beauty and a lifetime of usefulness.

U. S. housewives ask for wood-paneled walls, cabinets and built-ins.

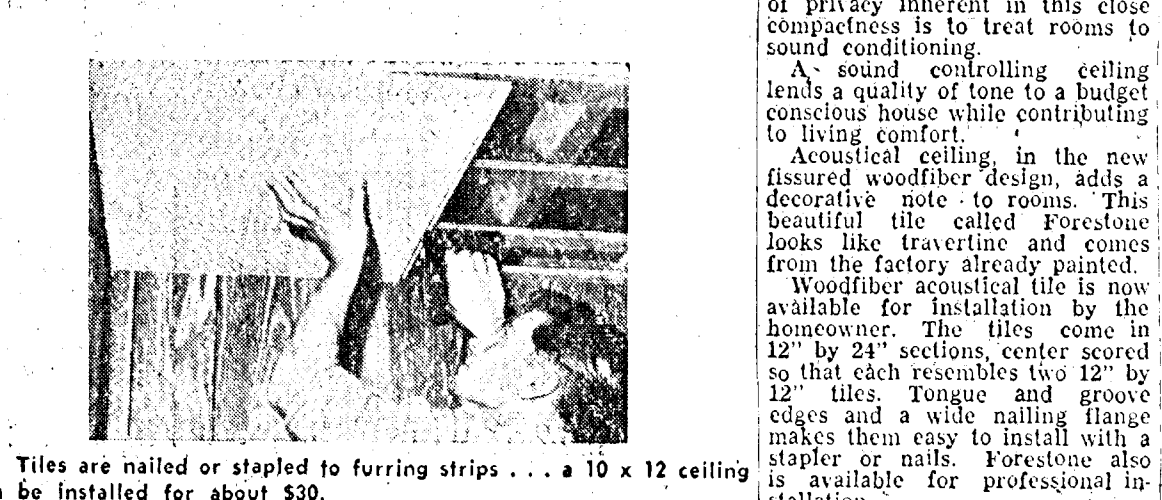

Nearly all schools built today are one-story—about four out of five for the nation as a whole. West of the Mississippi river 9 percent are one-story. Wood frame construction is often used for today's schools because the wood school is economical, attractive and adaptable to changing education patterns, according to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association.

Basement rumpus room has warm inviting appearance . . . acoustical tile ceiling sound conditions room.

Tongue and groove edges and wide nailing flange simplify installation of tile . . . new fissured pattern blends perfectly.

Tiles are nailed or stapled to furring strips . . . a 10 x 12 ceiling can be installed for about $30.

Windbreak

How many times have you wished for a windbreak that you could move when the wind or sun changed directions? Here is a slick one. Made of lightweight western red cedar boards, the panels can be moved around the edge of the patio. A metal rod in each lower corner fits into pre-set steel pipes. The cedar will last for many years.

City Dads Okay Radio; Hangars, Street Lights

The Ord city council started on the road to three city improvements Tuesday night when it:

Let a contract to Time's Electric Supply Co. of Lincoln for $3965 worth of material for 30 new street lights.

Told the airport committee to make an exhaustive study for quick action on the building of four multiple-T hangars at the airport.

Scheduled a huddle with county officials on installation of two-way radios to serve city police, city fire and rescue squads and county law enforcement agencies.

The street light extension, decided some months ago, would extend the present section mercury vapor lights to both Ord grade school and high school, and would place additional lights along the two state highways in Ord. Some of the new lights in residential sections will be incandescent type.

Ellis Carson, airport manager, outlined a deal to the council whereby some $8,000 worth of new hangars would be paid for eventually by rentals.

Carson said four new hangars should rent for $15 a month, or a total of $720 a year.

"Our present hangar was designed for four planes," Carson said. "We use it for six planes by stacking them on their nose, but it's a job that requires a lot of manpower."

Carson told the council that seven planes are based at the airport now, and that three or four more are coming. He said that three of the proposed new hangars had already been reserved if the city would construct them.

Carson also complained about rough runways and the planting of corn between runways to obscure vision.

Councilman Ross Allen, in charge of the airport committee, was asked about getting state and federal matching funds for improvements. The city earlier had planned to install concrete pipe at the airport to carry irrigation water, and thereby step up their crop income.

"We were making good progress on this," Allen said, "until the Quiz came out with a story that the city had $206,000 cash on hand, and that put an end to it."

Carson denied that the city's financial status would have anything to do with airport grants for improvements. "The federal and state aeronautics commission will pay 75 percent of the cost on these things, such as runway rebuilding, lights, and so forth," Carson said, "but they would classify irrigation and new hangars as income-producing items, and would not match funds on items like this."

The airport manager said that he considered the additional hangars the most urgent of improvements needed at the field. "Later on we should have new runways and lights, but not for a year or so. I think we can use a cheaper type of light, too," he said. "The Flying Farmers use these and so does the state on their own airfields. A lighting system such as has been proposed would cost about $40 a month for electricity alone. That's too much money."

Allen was told to get in touch

Ord Band Officers Revealed

Pat Novosad will be drum major of the Ord high school Varsity Band this year, Albert J. Pesses, music director, announced this week.

In naming elective and appointive band officers, Pesses said the band would have five baton twirlers, Betsy Studnicka, Karen Leach, Jerry Noll, Jean Ringlein and Sandra Pierce.

Kellison was also named director of the 16-piece Pep Band, composed of varsity band members.

The Varsity Band now has 65 members, including the drum major and baton twirlers. Other instrumental units include:

A 16-piece cadet band composed of beginning students who started their music training last summer.

A 44-piece junior high school band of students who have had previous musical instruction. Some junior high band members are probationary members of the varsity unit.

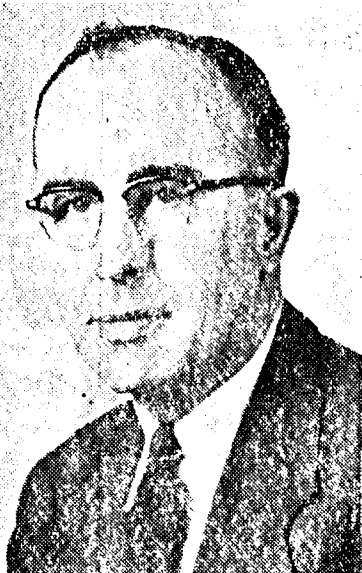

A six-piece string ensemble.

A beginner's class of 37.

"This means we have 168 students now in instrumental music training," Pesses said. "There are a few duplications, since some students play more than one instrument or are in more than one unit. Several of the youngsters are enrolled in St. Mary's school but will receive training from the Ord public school system."

Teachers to Meet at Elyria Monday

The Valley County Educational Association, an organization of teachers, will meet Monday, Oct. 14 for supper and meeting at the Parish Hall in Elyria. Supper will be served at 6:30, after which Susan Zikmund will talk on her recent visit to the United Nations in New York. Election of officers is also on the agenda.

Evangelism Series at Mira Valley EUB Church Start

Clawson, administrative assistant and treasurer of the Evangelical Theological Seminary in Naperville, Ill., will conduct a series of evangelistic services at the Mira Valley Evangelical United Brethren Church. The services begin on Wednesday, Oct. 16 and will continue nightly through Sunday, Oct. 20. The services will begin at 7:45 p.m. and an adult supervised nursery will be provided for small children.

Rev. Clawson graduated from the Brainerd, Minnesota High School, received his B. A. Other graduate studies were pursued at Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill. He is married and has three children.

Farm Bureau Plans Election Oct. 14th

Election of officers and consideration of resolutions drawn up by township divisions will be the main business at the annual meeting of the Valley county Farm Bureau, Monday evening at the Masonic Hall in Ord.

Resolutions to be discussed include problems of telephone service, irrigation, and farm price structures. The meeting will start at eight o'clock.

Put a coat of hard paste wax over shop tools that rust easily. The wax seals out moisture and also helps tools shed dust and dirt.

Join Naval Reserve But Station Gone

Two Ord men are wondering what the score is.

Lloyd Zikmund and Francis Arthur, both of them Navy veterans of World War II, took the plunge Saturday and signed up with the Naval Air Reserve at the Naval Air Station in Lincoln.

Monday, a government economy move closed the Lincoln station and the two squadrons based there will be either transferred or disbanded.

Zikmund and Arthur, each of whom has a brand new seabag full of brand new bell bottom pants and all the other gear that sailors wear, are now sweating it out. Previous to Monday they had been planning on spending a weekend a month, plus a yearly two weeks cruise on a carrier in their new activity.

Helpful friends have pointed out that by spending some 30 hours riding a train and $50 in cash they could fulfill their "Weekend Warrior" obligations at the Naval Air Station in Denver.

Messrs. Arthur & Zikmund aren't having any.

"Maybe it's just as well," sighed Zikmund. "During the summer Art works for me in the ASC office. In the Navy he would have received a commission and I would have to salute him. That's proof that Congress looks after the enlisted man."

The Madrigal chorus will sing seven numbers. The variety show is the first of several public entertainments planned by Ord high school. The senior class play will be given November 15, and a Christmas music program in mid-December.

The second semester will present one or more Thespian plays, the junior class play, two or more musicals.

Tickets may be purchased at Beranek's Drug store, from cast members, or at the door.

Irrigation plans of the Loup Basin areas. Over 50,000 acres are now under irrigation through the North Loup, Middle Loup and Sargent irrigation districts. The Farwell project will add 52,000 acres and the Twin Loups another 54,000 acres. Some 15 millions dollars added annual crop value is anticipated from the five irrigation areas.

Former Ord Man Named For Prexy

Chester A. Carkoski, Hartington, is a nominee for presidency of the Nebraska State Education Association, an organization of Nebraska school teachers.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Carkoski, and a 1923 graduate of Ord high school. He graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1928 and also holds a master's degree from the same school.

Mr. Carkoski is beginning his 17th year as superintendent of Hartington public schools. He has been at Hartington since 1929, serving at coach and instructor for five years, principal and coach for seven years and superintendent since then.

At Hartington he set up one of the earliest and best boys' and girls' county education programs. The Cedar County plan has been copied by most other counties in the state.

A scoutmaster in Hartington for several years, he was honored by the junior chamber of commerce there in 1955 for his outstanding service to youth. In 1954 the senior chamber presented him with a gift and plaque for his 25 years of service to the community.

In schoolmen's activities, Mr. Carkoski served on the NSEA Improvement of Instruction committee in 1948-50, and was chairman 1951-52.

At Ord high school, Carkoski was an All-State tackle, but an injury prevented him from university competition. Mr. and Mrs. Carkoski have two children, a son in junior high school and a daughter who is a freshman at the university.

Carkoski is opposed for the president's office by Howard Schoeder, superintendent of schools at Holdrege. Elections will be held in Lincoln in December.

1888 Rescue Site Sold to Church Group

The District 15 schoolhouse, famed in history as site of the Minnie Freeman rescue of children in the blizzard of 1888, is going to see new service, this time as a church.

The building was bid in for $335 at public auction this week by the Calvary Baptist congregation of North Loup. Auction of other buildings brought about by consolidation of four Mira Valley schools, saw Clarence Harrod of Burwell paying $320 for the District 57 building, and Lloyd Gekwe of Ord bidding $775 for the District 9 structure.

Two buildings in the Elyria consolidated district will be sold at auction Thursday.

In Ord, other real estate auctions found Jay Auble bidding in the late Lulu Bailey residence for $7,000. Auble Bros. plan to remodel the home into apartments.

Stanley Nolte paid $6150 for the Lexie Gard residence and will occupy the residence, selling his present home on 18th and M streets.

Tickets on Sale for C of C Dance

Chamber of commerce committee, hustling tickets to the informal dance and variety show in the new high school gymnasium October 22, reported 250 sold at the conclusion of a three day drive this weekend.

Ticket Chairman Henry Benda said he expected another rush of sales as the entertainment date draws nigh.

Advance tickets can now be purchased at either Ringlein's or Beranek's drug stores.

Contrary to some reports, Benda said, the chamber of commerce dance and show is not the new high school addition's formal dedication.

"Instead," he pointed out, "it is a chamber sponsored affair for some fun. The formal dedication will probably be held during American Education Week, probably in early November. It will be an exclusive school function."

The formal dedication, Benda said, will probably consist of a program of some sort that will be followed by visits through the high school and an open house.

On TV Program
Janet Andersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Andersen, will dance on Sunday night at 8:30 on TV Channel 13.

Geranium Farmers Seek Twin Loups Irrigation

Circulation of petitions for bringing some 6100 irrigable acres in the Geranium area into the Twin Loups Reclamation project started this week.

The petitions are being circulated by local farm operators and landowners, who plan a meeting at National Hall October 21st, to further explain the project and wind up petition signing.

The Geranium area will bring the total irrigated acreage under the Twin Loups project to 54,000 acres, of which 24,000 acres are in Valley county. Irrigation is contemplated for some 7,000 acres in Greeley county; 13,000 in Howard county and 10,000 in Nance county.

The twin Loups is the third reclamation project to be initiated in the Loup basin in recent years. First, the Sargent project, is nearing completion and some land is being irrigated. The Farwell project, largest of the three, has all survey and design work completed, and needs only a congressional appropriation to start construction. The Twin Loups will be in a position to ask for federal funds in 1959.

Basic design for the project starts with a dam and reservoir on the Calamus river, some four miles west and three miles north of Burwell. The Calamus reservoir will inundate about 3200 acres.

From the Calamus canals will siphon under the North Loup river at a point near Burwell, then go through the Turtle, Dane and Mira Creek areas in western and southern Valley county.

A pumping station is contemplated seven miles west and three miles north of Ord to lift waters to the Geranium table, which area is now the object of local petitions.

A takeoff from the main canal at a point southwest of Ord will siphon under the North Loup river east of the Olean schoolhouse, to irrigate some 7,000 acres on the east side of the river in the Scottia neighborhood.

Rainfall Total Doubles '56

The 1956 rainfall mark has been doubled.

Another near inch fell slowly in Valley county during the week, sending winter wheat and fall seeded grasses off to a favorable start.

Rainfall in Ord totaled .34 inches Sunday afternoon and another .48 inches Monday, for a total of .82. In North Loup, .73 inches was recorded.

This week's precipitation sent the local mark to twice that of a year ago at this time. This year, Horace Travis, official weather recorder has chalked up 28.45 inches, and last year noted 14.05 inches had fallen.

Farmers are still awaiting a hard frost to make conditions ideal for corn picking and sorghum combining. Some picking has started in the county, but no yields have been reported.

Pat Novosad, drum major of the 65-piece Ord High School Varsity Band. For other band officers see news story on this page.

SPORTS Rehash...

The few fans that witnessed the reserve tilt Monday night between Ord and St. Paul came away with the impression that with more experience, the Chant underlings will be holding their own with the best of them next year. True, there were some weak spots—such as inability to complete passes—but the reserves had the desire and the will to win.

One of the bright defensive moments was Tony Sydzik's pass interception on the 16 yard line, returning it to the Ord 27 yard marker. Tony was seeing action for the first time since having a neck injury while diving last summer. Until a week ago, he had not been permitted to have any contact work.

Since the Chants do not have a home game this week, surely more Chant faithful should turn out next week for the battle with 'Bow Monday night.

Chanticleer coach Bill Gogan, his team idle last Friday, decided to take a busman's holiday trip to Aurora to watch Fullerton in action against the unbeaten Aurora Huskies. It was the first Central Ten conference clash for each and Bill was in hopes of getting a line on the Fullerton offense.

Instead Bill came home with a haul of notes on the Huskies, who had clobbered the Warriors, 35-0. Asked how he figures Ord Chant chances against the Huskies next month, Bill gulped, then added "I'll tell you more after our game with Fullerton—they're really rugged."

Only a week before, Fullerton had romped over Genoa, 42-0, and had been counted on to give the Huskies more of a tussle.

It is to be noted that one of the Cornhusker players who played an important role in Nebraska's upset win over the Kansas State Wildcats—Harry Tolly—is the son of former Chant coach Roscoe Tolly.

Three weeks ago, when some fans were questioning Tolly's ability as quarterback following the Cougar game, Sports Editor Wally Provost of the World-Herald reminded them that it was under the guidance of Bill Jennings that Eddie Crowder became one of the greatest quarterbacks of all time for Oklahoma. Tolly scored one of the TDs for the Huskers and his quick thinking accounted for the Nebraska ability to take advantage of the breaks.

Our friends over Arcadia-way must be sorely disappointed at the way the daily Yogis are rating a darn good team—undefeated in 25 consecutive games, yet The Lincoln Star dropped the Huskies to 10th in their rating charts this week from the number eight spot last week.

Travel distance and expense, of course, prevents Arcadia from scheduling the eastern teams or the southern teams—which serve as the basis for most Yogi ratings.

Those six loyal Yankee fans who traveled by special train from Omaha to Milwaukee to attend the World Series games must be a sorely disappointed crew—as never once did Ol' Case use Darrell Johnson, and the Braves rebounded from a sorry Saturday showing to beat the Yankees at their own game of "winning the tight ones".

Incidentally, Darrell Johnson informed them that he plans on visiting Ord in about two weeks. Johnson wants to do some duck hunting and there is also a strong possibility that some of his Yankee teammates will come along with him. The fans returned to Ord Tuesday.

Challengers Down
Dannebrog, 32-22

Scoring three TDs in the first quarter, Coach Bill Sollars' North Loup Challengers outlasted Dannebrog, 32-22, last Thursday under the North Loup aces.

Lundstedt drove across the line for the first TD and moments later Brown raged around left end for another. Later, Williams heaved a 13 yard TD pass to Stine, to give North Loup a 22-0 first period lead.

Williams scored on a keeper in the second quarter and with a safety, North Loup held a 32-0 halftime lead.

Coach Sollars inserted his freshman and sophomore units at this time and they played the remainder of the fray, Dannebrog not scoring until the middle of the third quarter.

One 31 yard run by Dean Williams for a TD was nullified when officials noted he had stepped out momentarily on the side line marker.

North Loup travels to Palmer Thursday evening.

North Central Seeks Higher School Rating

A general upgrading of requirements for membership in the North Central Association of schools and colleges, Nels A. Sullivan, Ord superintendent, reported after he attended a meeting of the association Monday in Lincoln.

Sullivan said that more teacher training would be required and that minimum standards of school curriculum would be enlarged.

Mrs. Floyd Beranek took Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beranek to Lincoln Thursday for a medical check-up for Mrs. Ed Beranek. Mrs. Glen Beranek accompanied them to Lincoln and visited her daughter, Judy.

Ord Deer Hunters
Have Good Success

Ord deer hunters found deer plentiful in the Pine Ridge area as 13 hunters returned over the weekend with their quarry. However, duck and grouse hunters were reporting only fair success.

First to bag his deer was Dr. H. N. Norris. Dr. R. J. Lynn got the biggest kill, a 6 pointer which dressed out at 217 pounds. Dr. Lynn missed by a fraction of bagging the largest six-point on record and it was the largest buck killed near Rushville, Friday. Earlier in the day, Mrs. Lynn had shot her deer.

Other successful hunters were Glen Cochran, Mike Yost, Howard Huff, Joe Cetak, Don Wagner, Orin Kellison, Carl Kroeger, Sy Shotkoski, Ray Shotkoski, Roland Struckman.

Maynard Collins of Seward hunted with Wilber Kirby, each also getting their deer in the Pine Ridge area.

Ducks Spotty
Mild weather on opening day Saturday, proved disappointing to avoid duck hunters in this area. Early reports trickling through however, are that Bill Fafela, Bill Andersen, Eldon Cetak and Walter Douthitt are among those having success Sunday.

Cash Welniak reported to the Quiz Tuesday afternoon that he and Roger Miller had been obtaining their limit without difficulty on his farm east of Elyria. Welniak added that the river was full of ducks Tuesday morning.

George Cetak, Verlin Smith, Henry Benda and Al Kittle made up a Sunday morning hunt party that got their grouse limit in Loup county, 10 miles northwest of Taylor.

Hunting in the same area that afternoon, Dean Sperling, Pete Volf and Maylon Volf of Ord, Chuck Blaha and Bob Volf of Erickson, and Paul Vodehnal, Erwin Vodehnal and August Vodehnal of Grand Island got their grouse limit in the afternoon.

There were reports that other grouse hunters were not so successful.

Ord Reserves Down
St. Paul Reserves,
13-0, Here Monday

45 yard TD gallop by Tom Sevensen in the first period and a late fourth period TD by Gale Anderson gave Doyle Dickey's Ord Reserves a 13-0 triumph over St. Paul, Monday, on a muddy gridiron. It was the first of a three game schedule to be played by the Chant underlings.

Following an exchange of punts Ord gained a first down on the St. Paul 40 yard line on a St. Paul penalty. Ord then promptly drove a 5-yard penalty before Sevensen swung around his right end to race 45 yards through the St. Paul secondary for the first TD.

Gene Ewers' 50 yard return of the kickoff provided St. Paul's most serious scoring threat. He lugged the leather to Ord's 23 yard marker. After gaining seven yards an attempted St. Paul pass was intercepted by Tony Sydzik on the Ord 16, the range tackle returning the ball to the Ord 27 yard line to end St. Paul's scoring threat.

Each team spent the remainder of the first half battling on even terms, pass interceptions by each team ending any potential scoring drive, as was the case in the third period.

Midway in the fourth quarter Sevensen heaved a pass to Galen Anderson good for 34 yards to the St. Paul 14-yard marker and on the next play, Galen Anderson drove through for the second TD. Osewowski converted the PAT, and Ord led, 13-0.

The Ord Reserves entertain the Broken Bow Indian reserves next Monday night.

Safety Specialist
Urges Hunting Care

Taking note of the hunting season now in progress in Nebraska, William D. Lutes, state extension safety specialist, urges Nebraska hunters to hunt only in the safe manner, which is the right way. Pointing out that hunting accidents kill and injure thousands of sportsmen each year, Lutes advises that by use of the following precautions, many accidents can easily be avoided:

1. Be careful when cleaning or oiling the gun in preparation for the hunting season.
2. Never leave a gun hanging in the home with cartridges in the chamber or in the magazine.
3. Never point a gun at anything unless you intend to shoot. Foolish play and scuffling are dangerous.
4. Treat every gun as a loaded gun.
5. Do not carry a loaded gun in the auto or on farm machinery.
6. Never leave a loaded gun unattended.
7. Never shoot toward livestock, buildings or the highway.
8. Observe hunting signs. Keep farmers as your friends. Ask for hunting permission.
9. Do not mix gunpowder and alcohol.
10. Do not spoil your hunting trip with hazardous traffic practices.

Sportsmen's Gossip —
WOODS 'n WATERS

By Spud Kapustka

Dear Ed:

I probably had the most unusual opening day of the duck season as I ever expect to have.

As any man that enjoys duck hunting will find that the night of the opening day may turn out to be the most restless of the year. I hardly get myself worked up to the point of fitful sleeping before a fishing trip.

Something that will continue to fascinate me for many years to come is the way ducks migrate the thousands of miles each year. I don't think many humans escape that feeling be they duck hunters or not.

I was on my way to the river ten minutes after the alarm clock jarred me out of my sleep. I no longer, as I was driving the river road that I wasn't alone by no means in venturing out that first morning. Jim and his crew were pulling up to their new haunt. Why Jim moved up the river he never told me. I was secretly hoping that it may have been because of the competition we were giving him but from what I have observed I don't think that was the reason. Two cars were approaching the river from the south side and I began to wonder if any ducks would ever get to us should they want to flutter downstream a ways. Joe was ready but for tucking his shirttail in when I drove in on the yard. Joe has a good habit of tucking away a good breakfast before he will venture out to the blind and I would have to walk a mile before I could sit down to a stack of cakes.

We had our decoys out long before it was time to shoot.

When we positioned ourselves on the bank among the willows, I realized that everything was in order but the temperature. I'll swear it must have been close to seventy degrees and the southeast wind felt like a Florida sea breeze. Bob was with us and as daybreak came around he spotted a bird out on a bar that he hoped would turn out to be a goose, but as it was it turned out to be a white-poke. A hundred and fifty yards with his 10, he sent him on his pre-dawn flight and all was quiet again. For the next thirty minutes we chewed the fat, looked at the sky and listened. One kingfisher took off to look for his breakfast and gave us a momentary thrill.

Soon after I was pretty well settled down to just looking straight ahead. Joe kept fooling around with his duck call. When I felt a sharp sting on my hand, slapped down a good sized mosquito and that was it. I always feel that fishing and mosquitoes mix but they're pretty much out of place in a duck blind. This was opening day. Later in the day I got some good reports of kills that were made in the sandhills and I sort of wished I had ventured out for some of these young mallards.

Ord Chicks Hall
Ravenna, 13-0

Coach Allen Bellinger's Ord Chicks scored two first period TDs in they dumped Ravenna Jr. High from the ranks of undefeated junior high state eleven, 13-0, Tuesday, on the local gridiron.

Receiving the opening kickoff, he Chicks drove all the way from their 32 yard line for the first TD, stowell driving 16 yards for the ally. Moments later, Pokorney drove over for the second TD, and Jr. enjoyed a 13-0 lead that was never seriously threatened.

The Chicks bottled up the Ravenna offense effectively during most of the game although Ravenna staged a third period drive that netted 60 yards, only to lose the ball on downs, mainly because of penalties.

Midway in the fourth quarter, stowell returned a punt 78 yards or a TD, which was nullified on an offside penalty. Pokorney, Osewowski, and Stowell sparked it times for the Ord Chicks on nice runs while Piskorski snagged a pass from Osewowski and raced 40 yards.

George Graham and Jerry King looked best for Ravenna. Previous, John Ringling's crew had lounded Loup City, 20-0, and rampled an Shelton eleven, 50-0.

The Chicks will be idle until Oct. 22, when they close their four game schedule by hosting Burwell.

Pokraka Again 1st
in Cross Country

Chanticleer Dave Pokraka repeated his first place win Thursday in the second of two triangular meets at Kearney State Teachers college last Thursday. Coach W. W. Parks' Ord thinclads showed marked improvement in competition with Gothenburg and Kearney.

Pokraka bettered his time by 11.5 seconds over the week before as he cruised the 1 3/4 mile course in 9:35.7.

As Gothenburg competed with only three runners, there was no official team scoring.

Coach W. W. Parks was particularly pleased that each of the other Chant squad members finished two places better than the week before as Ray Wojtaszek finished third, Galen Anderson seventh, Bob Ptacek 10th, and Bill Martin 12th.

This Thursday, the harriers will go to Hastings to compete against Hastings, Kearney and possibly Cozad.

Huskies Rally to Swamp Comstock

Trailing 0-7, Coach Glen Vanler's Arcadia Huskies unleashed a five TD spree in the second and third cantos to overpower Comstock, 39-13, Friday night at Arcadia.

It was Arcadia's fourth triumph of the current season, stretching their win skein to 23 consecutive games without tie or defeat. Dennis Dowse was the mainstay of the Comstock Pirates on defense and offense, scoring both Pirate TDs.

Arcadia scoring power featured Gene Hawley, Darrell Syblant, Don Holeman, Dick Anderson and Joe McDonald. Scoring highlights included a 70 yard punt return by Don Holeman and a 65-yard TD pass heaved by Darrell Syblant to Gene Hawley.

Score by quarters:
Arcadia 0 20 13 6 — 39

New antibiotic in Nutrena controls worm damage—
free of extra cost

Large intestinal roundworms like these may grow to 10 inches in length—eat away at your profits before treatment with "one-shot" wormers. Smaller, more numerous nodular and whip worms also damage pigs. Hygromycin B in Nutrena kills all three parasites before they mature.

Continuous, automatic protection against costly setbacks

Now, for the first time, you can control costly worm damage with this new antibiotic. It's safe and does not affect the outstanding palatability of Nutrena Feeds. There's no risk of setbacks from "one-shot" wormers that expel worms after the major damage has been done.

Just feed Nutrena with Hygromycin B. Start pigs on Nutrena Creep-24 Pre-Starter. If you don't use a Pre-Starter, start them on Nutrena Creep-20. And follow up with Pre-Shoot 16—keep 'em on Nutrena to 60 pounds at least.

To introduce this new discovery, Nutrena is adding the new antibiotic to pig feeds at no extra cost. Come in and reserve your supply today.

NOTICE TO FARMERS OF VALLEY COUNTY:

CCC Storage Requirements

The Valley County ASC Committee hereby wishes to make known the following storage structure eligibility requirements covering commodities to be placed under loan:

All ear corn placed under seal or restal loan must have a roof, floor and crib with that will meet the following requirements: The roof shall be properly constructed of a material, and in a manner, that will protect the corn from all elements for a period of at least two (2) years. It must be a self-supporting roof carried off the corn in order to permit free ventilation over the corn and under the roof. Roofs constructed of canvas or plastic in any manner will not be approved.

Floor Requirements

1. Temporary cribs must have a floor supported above the ground to allow adequate ventilation under the crib unless erected on a cement slab.

2. Permanent cribs with cement slab floors are acceptable.

3. Additional storage provided in driveways of permanent cribs must be dual walled on both sides of the driveway to allow ventilation. If a permanent floor is provided in the driveway, such floor shall be satisfactory. If the driveway, however, is not floored, the temporary floor must be supported above the ground to permit ventilation. (Boards or any other material laid flat on the ground will not be acceptable as a floor).

Cribs for ear corn shall be no wider than ten (10) feet except that as in the past, for each foot in width that the crib exceeds the standard width, the moisture content of the corn must be one percent less than is otherwise applicable according to the Bulletin Supplement for the period during which the loan is applied for. Two-thirds of the diameter of a round crib without a center ventilator is considered the equivalent of the width of a rectangular structure. If there is a center ventilator, the radius of a round crib is considered to be the width of a rectangular crib.

Shelled corn is eligible for loan as long as the moisture content does not exceed 13.5% and the corn meets other grading requirements.

Eligible Storage Structures for Grain Sorghum Loans

Because of the extremely large grain sorghum crop, all of which is eligible for price support at $1.80 per cwt. in Valley County insofar as acreages are concerned, producers and vendors of storage structures and materials have attempted to obtain approval of makeshift or temporary-type structures for storing grain sorghums on the farm to be placed under price support.

This committee has reviewed the matter and has determined that farm storage structures, for the storage of grain sorghums to be placed under loan, must be of the same type and quality as bins approved for the storage of other small grains, such as wheat, oats, barley, rye, soybeans and shelled corn. The lining of cribs with any material will not be acceptable for storage. Storage structures must have watertight roofs and sides, and floors, supported above the ground, except cement slab floors, which are also acceptable. They should also be as near rodentproof as possible.

Producers who wish to place grain sorghums under purchase agreement on the farm may, of course, use any type of storage they desire, since the grain sorghums will not be accepted by CCC at delivery, unless they are of an eligible quality, which is No. 4 or Better, and contains not in excess of 13% moisture. Purchase agreement grain sorghums not meeting those minimum grades and the moisture content standard of 13.5% or less would be rejected by CCC.

City Dads Okay Radio; Hangars, Street Lights

with state aeronautics officials at once to see what could be done about erecting more hangars. Councilmen were unanimous in the thought that work should be done by local contractors.

The two-way radio system for the Ord police and fire departments was described by fire chief Richard Rowbal as a necessity within two years.

"Ord will cut over to a dial telephone system in the spring of 1959," Rowbal said. "That means our present system of fire warning will be obsolete."

Rowbal said that some Nebraska towns had installed radio warning systems, others were paying for special telephone installations. "St. Paul is paying $70 a month telephone rental for their fire warning system," he said.

The two-way radio plan suggested to the council would have a base station at the city light plant where an operator would be on duty 24 hours a day. Mobile units would be installed in the city fire rescue truck and farm truck, and a third in the city police car. Persons reporting fires or wishing police would phone the base station and the alarm would be given by radio.

Estimated cost of 30 watt equipment to serve the city was $2200. Mayor Gus Schoenstein told the council that he thought the equipment essential in the Civil Defense program as well as in local police and fire duties. "We're not quite in this program as yet, but we will be soon, right up to our necks," Schoenstein said.

"Our city physician has already been told the part doctors will play in the program. Doctors, firemen, police and public utility and communications people are all slated for duty in the program, and the city must provide facilities," he told the council.

Civil Defense funds would pay half the cost of the local radio system when the city goes through the steps of formally entering the program, the council was told.

The mayor said he would probably appoint Rowbal as Ord Civil Defense administrator to get the program going.

Possibilities of adding the county law enforcement system to the radio hookup were discussed. This would require a 60 watt transmitter in place of a 30 watt, would raise the cost of the base transmitters and receivers several hundred dollars, city dads were advised. A special hookup with the state highway patrol could be added for another $200.

Councilman Ed Armstrong, and Rowbal were asked to talk to county officials Tuesday about their desire to enter the hookup and work out a cost sharing allocation.

In further business city dads approved application for a package liquor license for George and Virginia Knecht who have purchased the Frank Coufal liquor store. Payment of claims wound up the meeting.

Dairy Breeders to Meet Tuesday Night

The scion of a former Ord family will return here October 15, to tell local dairymen what he has learned about the dairy business.

He's Gene Flynn of Blair, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Flynn. The Flynn dairy herd has a national reputation and is a continuous award winner for herd management and herd individuals.

Young Flynn will speak at the annual meeting of the Loup Valley Dairy Breeders Association Tuesday night in the Masonic Hall basement. The group will also hear tips on artificial breeding from Rand Van Dervoort, Broken Bow, elect two officers, and see films.

The first Marine Helicopter Squadron was commissioned, at Quantico, Va., in December 1947.

Geranium

From Mira Valley the canal will dump into a small reservoir on Davis Creek. Water will be stored here in a 1200 acre area during winter months for release during the summer irrigation season to areas in Howard and Nance counties, mostly Loup River bottom lands from Cotesfield to Fullerton. The Davis Creek reservoir will be about five miles directly south of North Loup.

Timetable of Twin Loups progress was set up recently by the board of directors of the organization and the Bureau of Reclamation.

By February, 1958 total area of the project is to be defined by survey and land ownership information brought up to date.

At the same time a petition for formation of an irrigation district will be prepared, with circulation of the petition scheduled to start in April, 1958.

Petitions are to be filed with county boards of the four counties by August 15. Publication of the petitions is to start August 30, with a hearing by the county board on September 15, 1958.

Notice of election is to be published October 15, 1958, with balloting on the formation of the district at the regular election, November 5, 1958.

If voters approve formation of the irrigation district, funds will be asked from the 1959 session of congress.

Mrs. Fanny Weed Rites at North Loup

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from the Methodist church in North Loup for Mrs. Fannie Weed, 84, who died Thursday at the Ord Hospital after a long illness.

Rev. C. W. Buehler officiated. Mrs. Harlon Brennick was at the piano and Mr. and Mrs. George Cox sang as a duet, "Saved by Grace" and Mrs. Harold Hoepfner a solo, "Beyond the Sunset."

Pall bearers were Harry Thrasher, Harry Waller, Gerald Holmes, Rolland Weed, Bryan Portis and DeWayne Bussell. Burial was in Hillside cemetery, with Hastings-Pearson in charge of arrangements.

Fannie Wheatcraft Weed was born October 17, 1873 to James and Helen Wheatcraft in Jasper County at Newton, Iowa. She was one of twelve children with seven sisters, three brothers, and one half brother.

As a small child she came to Nebraska via a covered wagon with her parents. They settled on Davis Creek.

On November 11, 1891, at the age of 18, she married Hubert Arthur Weed. The couple had two children — Bessie Weed Roby of North Loup and Ernie H. Weed of Green River, Wyoming.

For many years Mrs. Weed was a member of the United Brethren Church of Davis Creek and after moving to North Loup was active in all other church activities.

She was a long and patient sufferer of arthritis and her last seven years were spent in a wheelchair.

She was preceded in death by her husband, who died December 7, 1936, three sisters, two brothers, and a half brother. She is survived by her children, five granddaughters, five great granddaughters and one great grandson, her sisters, Mrs. Della Manchester of North Loup, Mrs. John Williams of Lake Stevens, Washington, Mrs. Margaret Annas of Snohomish, Washington, Mrs. Edna Post of Ravenna, Nebraska, one brother, Jasper, of Redding, California.

U.S. Navy builders working on the air-sea base being developed at Rota, Spain, found that oxen were more efficient in hauling heavy sheet steel tank sections through mud and sand than were man-made vehicles.

All-American—"The World's Best Cheese Comes From The Good Old U.S.A." is the theme of the October Cheese Festival promotion by the American Dairy Association, a nationwide organization of dairy farmers. Miss Shari Lewis, the American Dairy Princess from Daykin, Nebraska, heralds the all-American event by sampling a chunk of—you guessed it, American Cheese.

Miss Lewis, who has traveled all over the U.S. and abroad promoting dairy products for the past year will soon relinquish her crown when a new princess is selected at a contest to be held in Chicago October 13th. Nebraska's entry in the contest is Miss Lorelie Lutz, dairy farm girl from Oakland, Nebraska.

Fall Council Meeting

Several clubs were missing at the council meeting held in this office on Friday, October 4th. The envelopes of materials usually distributed at this meeting, some of which you will need in planning your 1958 program, are here for you, stop and pick them up.

The clubs who were not represented at this meeting miss out on one of the most important meetings of the year. This is the meeting at which plans are made for the coming year's activities and all clubs should have a voice in this planning. Perhaps for council meetings in the future, if the president cannot come, we should have a ruling permitting the president of the club to appoint a club member as a substitute. We probably can give this idea some consideration at the Highway Juniors 4-H club.

A "Pat on the Back"
"I would like to present the following report as adult leader of the Highway Juniors 4-H club."

"As this was my first year as adult leader, I really enjoyed it. I had a wonderful bunch of girls to work with. But if it had not been for two junior leaders I would have never been able to get all the projects done. Phyllis White was a wonderful junior leader as she took over the whole responsibility of the Health II project. She made her own demonstrations for egg girl and also checked the record books each time. Also she was a good news reporter, she saw that each meeting got in the paper. Thelma White took complete charge of the clothing project, she also wrote up her demonstrations for the project. Along with helping me with meetings, without these two junior leaders I don't believe I could have achieved all the projects. They are to be given great credit."

Farm Bureau Plans Talent Find Oct. 28

The Valley county Farm Bureau is adding new wrinkles to its annual Talent Find contest, planned for Monday, Oct. 28, at the Ord high school auditorium.

Last year's event was limited to a talent show. This year the bureau is scheduling a talk meet and a market basket demonstration. The talent find and talk meet will have both junior and senior divisions.

Winners of the local contest will compete in a state contest to be held in Lincoln, Nov. 10. State winners will go to a national meeting in Chicago in December.

The talent find contest has two divisions, ages 8 to 18 and 18 to 28. Anything in the entertainment field may participate, vocal or instrumental music, dancing, pantomime and similar activity.

The junior talk meet involves ages 10 to 18, with three minute speeches on the topic "The Farmers Role in Preserving our Democracy." Senior competition is for ages 18 to 28, with the topic "The Role of Farm Organizations in American Agriculture."

The Market Basket demonstration is similar to 4-H club demonstration, built around farm products and marketing of good, and promoting the sale of farm products.

Mrs. Dean Bresley, Ord, heads up a committee for the Oct. 28 show. Serving with her are Mrs. Vernon Thomas, North Loup; Mrs. Floyd Bossen, Aradla; Mrs. Carl Schwartzlander, Elyria; and Mrs. Glen Cochran, Ord. Farm Bureau Women's county chairman.

Farm - Ag Tips

By Bob Perry

Valley County Agricultural Agent

Charles Zangger, Ernest Easterbrook, Don Clement, David Vaughn and I journeyed to Dunning and Halsey last week to take a closer look at beef production testing.

The Jennings ranch at Dunning was the first stop. We arrived about 10:00 A.M., just as the bulls had been numbered and weighed. Shortly after the explanation of the program got under way.

The first part was an explanation of the score sheet used in determining grade. Fine break downs are used — Fancy — Choice — Good — Medium and Common. Each division is given numerical rating, starting as a 1, 2 or 3 on the common class and ending with 13, 14, 15 on the fancy end. It was rather surprising that on the first stop, where bulls were graded, the numerical points were rather wide spread in different men's opinions. However, by the time we judged calves on the Roddakes ranch in the afternoon we were getting fairly close together in our ratings.

Theoretically each animal is to be rated as to type, independent of size. It is hard to get individual minds to thinking similarly along these lines. However, the individual producer can do his own rating in line with his production program. How rapidly a producer intends to make replacements would also affect his type rating. Some think that for greatest efficiency and uniformity, an association should hire one man to grade all the breeding cattle.

The type score is only a part of the basis for selection of replacements. A large part of the basis comes from the record of weight of the individual for age. Weights are usually recorded at weaning time, and yearling time. The best time for weighing is thought to be at a time when you would be selling. There again the program needs to be patterned to fit your particular production.

We certainly enjoyed our brief stay in the sandhills and met some nice folks. The hills are beautiful this fall—hay all over in bales, stacks and windrows. Evidently the sandhill producers are embracing this production program quite rapidly. It began in 1954 with only a few cooperators; and for 1957 there were 110 using the system.

Purebred producers are asking themselves how long it will be before the commercial cow men will be asking for records on the bulls they buy. A few who started a couple of years ago are going to be looking next year.

Funeral Rites for Mrs. Louis Larsen

Funeral services were conducted Friday afternoon at the Ord Methodist church for Mrs. Christine Larsen, 80, widow of the late Louis S. Larsen, Rev. C. Jeppesen officiating. Mrs. Larsen died at the Ord hospital, Oct. 1, after an illness of one week.

With Mrs. Viola Kellison accompanying at the organ, Valborg Aagaard and James Aagaard sang "Our Father has Light in His Window" and "Beyond the Sunset." Bearers were Howard Faus, Glen Watts, Bolish Kapustka, Harold Marshall, Raymon Richardson, and Leon Wood. Interment was in the Ord cemetery.

Mrs. Larsen was born at Thisted, Denmark, Feb. 26, 1877, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jens Kjar. She came to the United States as a young woman, settling near Ord. She was married to Louis S. Larsen on June 22, making their home on a farm near Ord. Mr. Larsen passed away in April, 1953.

The couple had three children, Emma of Grand Island and Oscar of Ord, who survive. A son preceded his parents in death. She is also survived by several nieces and nephews.

A brother, P. K. Jensen of Ord, passed away only recently while another brother, John K. Jensen, died in 1950. A sister, Mrs. Helleberg, passed away two years ago. A half brother in Denmark survives.

A quiet, kind, and hard working woman, Mrs. Larsen was a member of Bethany Lutheran church. She was also a charter member of the Happy Circle club of Haskell Creek.

Come in and see our INTERNATIONAL Truck "POWR-LOK" Test!

It's next best to having traction power on all four wheels—and the cost is so low!

POWR-LOK is an ingenious new differential that gives power to the rear wheel that has the most traction. With POWR-LOK you pull through mud holes, loose sand, other slippery places that would normally stop a truck with standard differential.

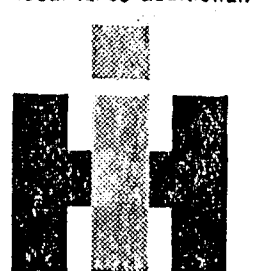

So don't spin your wheels. Be sure your next truck is an INTERNATIONAL with POWR-LOK differential. Come in and see our convincing test, first chance you get.

How POWR-LOK Works
With a conventional differential, power goes to the wheel with the least traction. This results in a loss of power—and you're stuck. But with POWR-LOK, power goes to the wheel with the most traction. So long as either wheel can catch hold, you keep moving.

Corn or Finger Crop

While Nebraska farmers harvest thousands of bushels of corn every year, they also harvest a bumper crop of human lives, hands, arms, legs and fingers in the corn fields.

This crop of human losses amounts to one or two lives, 50 hands or parts of hands, and 100 other injuries to farmers each year, states William Lutes, Extension Safety specialist at the University of Nebraska.

"We have never found a corn picker that can tell the difference between an ear of corn and an operator's hand," Lutes points out.

"Stop the Picker" is a phrase farmers have heard before many times, but it must be repeated again and again until it becomes second nature to the operator. Operators must stay alert to the danger of corn pickers if they hope to get through the season safely.

In addition to danger from the picker itself, the drying of corn stalks and trash has increased the danger from fire in the corn field.

Therefore, a fire extinguisher is a must, Lutes states, and a metal sediment bowl on the tractor is safer than a glass bowl. It's also a good idea to practice good housekeeping around equipment by keeping manifolds and exhaust free from trash accumulations and avoiding leaky fuel lines.

Safety Not For Sale

A magazine published by one of the farm equipment companies points out that "human safety is not for sale." Years ago, the article continues, the various companies "... took the stand that if one company invented or developed a safety feature, it should—by every measure of decency—be available to all."

This is why farm equipment companies do not condone the advertising of safety features on equipment.

In all other respects this industry is an extremely competitive one. Every company attempts to offer machines which are superior to those of competitive companies and to persuade potential buyers of their advantages. This means that the farmer gets the best equipment at the lowest price possible under today's economic conditions. But when it comes to safety, ideas and innovations are pooled—and the buyer of each and every brand gets a piece of equipment which is as basically safe as the designers and engineers can devise.

However, safety features can't prevent accidents if the equipment isn't properly used and the safety rules aren't followed. The factories can't stop farmers from making mechanical alterations which create hazards, or from allowing children to run the machines, or from operating them at night on public roads without adequate lights, or from other such accident-inviting practices. So, in the final analysis, safety is up to the user.

The New Nobility

America's long-suffering patet families will be discovering pretty soon how, whether the Little Woman considers herself a "dinner duchess," a "culinary countess," a "lady-in-waiting" (or brace yourself!) a "galley-slave."

Father will also be told, before long, whether he has a "finger-flicker," a "wrist-flipper," an "elbow-bender" or a "knee-deeper" in his household—and whether or not she is "working too hard on Mondays."

These manifestations will be brought about by one of the most concerted efforts yet made to enlist his loyal helpmate in the job of making life easier all around. To this end, the electric people will be providing America's housewives (any day now) with charts for rating themselves—as indicated above—in terms of their "electrical servants."

The "object all sublime" they undoubtedly "will achieve in time." But it won't be to "make the punishment fit the crime." Rather, it is the relatively sublime state in which we shall all "Live Better Electrically!"

Thus, whether you know it or not, you are about to be swallowed up by the push-button era of dinner (also breakfast and supper) duchesses and finger-flickers (who also employ the finger for husband-wrapping-around purposes). We felt that the least we could do is to warn you.

Recognition Yet Due

An air traveler not familiar with this Middle West might look down in puzzled wonderment, enroute from Nebraska to Canada. At intervals across the plains of the Dakotas he would see what to him are reasonless giant slabs of concrete bleaching in the sun. He would muse speculatively on a people who would find a curious outlet in paving cropland.

But if the traveler were observant he would note that those fields of concrete follow the north-south course of the Missouri River as it rolls toward Nebraska, and that upstream from each collection of concrete the Missouri is stayed by a mighty dam. Inquiry would dispell the mystery. The weather worn, unused installations are special spillways ready for use in event of such a flood that the control powers of the Missouri Basin development become overtaken in defense of the great river's down stream watershed. Should the millponds reach capacity, should the dams, huge electric generators say they could use no more water, the alternative would be to bypass the excess through these spillways, something below flood proportions. That would satisfy the logic of the traveler from remote parts. But to those who live on the downstream shores of the Missouri River it would serve as a dramatic reminder that flooding in the usual sense is a thing of the past. The time will come when the mill ponds of the completed dams will be full, when now and then the spillways will be called into action. But the Missouri has surrendered.

It is still difficult for many to realize what has actually taken place in the Upper Basin. One of the world's greatest engineering feats has not only tamed a river, but it has given breadth and stability to river navigation, opened a huge natural electric power source, created a great recreation area, and, too, provided irrigation for areas of the Dakotas. A lesson in the validity of reclamation as an abiding national mission is to be learned by an aerial inspection of the Upper Basin. A forward looking America would prescribe it as an educational must.

There are still so many Nebraskans who have not yet taken a comprehensive look at their own Platte Valley, albeit there is no better example of reclamation. Wise and farseeing men trapped the waters of the Platte high in Western Nebraska. Now the river actually flows in man made channels, serving reservoirs whose water threads out through a network that finally ends in the farm fields. This piece of engineering alchemy has converted the long Platte Valley into a garden of Eden. It was those irrigation districts that saved Nebraska's farm production in the lately ended drought. It is the same reservoirs that continue to supply Nebraska with low cost electric power. It was also that program that taught all of Nebraska that its agricultural future lies in managed water, in progressive techniques and in diversification.

In assaying the greatness of men it is wiser to eschew the dramatic fields of politics and trade and to search rather for the quiet, dedicated men who think up great services for people and see them through. The pioneers of Nebraska's reclamation movement have yet to receive the recognition which is their due.

Translation of Common Sale Bill Claims

I believe I have written "copy" for a half million sale bills in the 20 years that I have been stealing my living around a newspaper office. And in all those years I have never written a line about a tractor that wasn't just overhauled, a cow that wasn't a "prime milker" or a kitchen clock that wasn't an heirloom and worth three prices.

Consequently I have hit upon, or rather accumulated, a list of translations for common sale bill terms which I herewith pass on. Perhaps, if you'll take the trouble to clip them out, they may serve as an interpretation of the next public notice you read.

"As I have decided to quit farming—": His wife has refused to do chores while he loafis in town.

"Complete closing out sale—": Everything that he hopes to stick somebody else with.

"Eight miles west on good gravelled road—": Put on your chains!

"Model XYZ tractor, just overhauled—": The hired man tightened it up with a wrench.

"Dismantled steel tower—": He bought it—God knows why!— at another sale.

"Two wheel spreader, like new—": Three years old, but still mortgaged.

"Smith rug, 10 x 12, no wear—": He means "nowhere". The wife even refused to let him lay it in the maid's room.

"200 head of thrifty shoats—": "Thrifty" means "saving". He's been saving the feed on these.

"1954 Chevrolet, new tires, A-1 condition—": Recaps and the rear axle whines.

"New innerspring mattress—": A relative died and left this.

"Many other articles too numerous—": A pail of nails in the barn.

"John Smith, Owner—": He signed the mortgages.

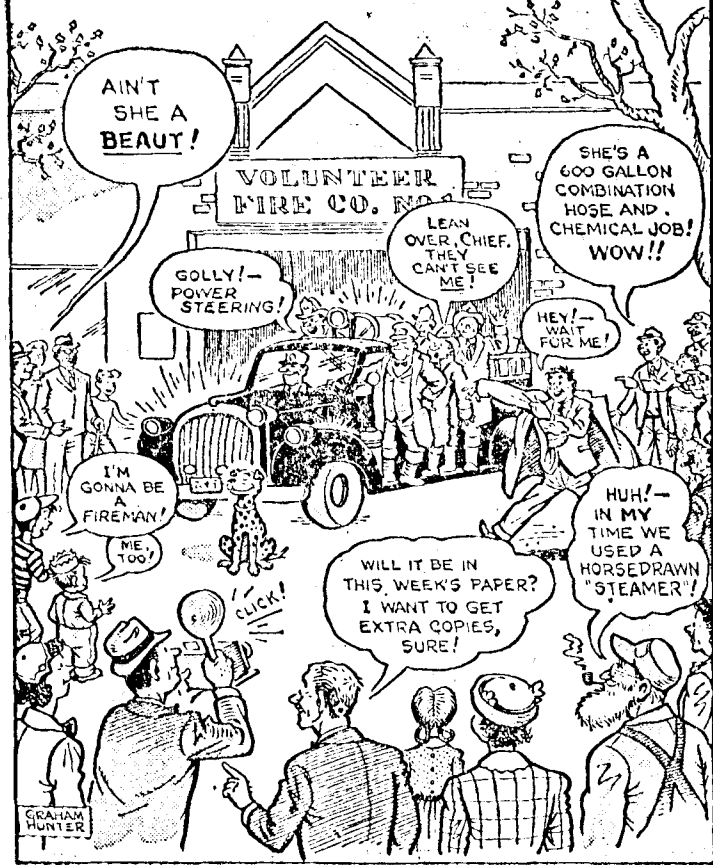

"No property removed until—": He doesn't trust you.

"First Sand Bank, Clerks—": The bank doesn't trust him.

"Wheel and Deal, Auctioneers—": Know the stuff isn't worth much, but hope no one finds out.

Pupils Warned to Pick High School Carefully if Planning on College

There are indications high school students will find it more difficult to enter college than before—and stay there.

Scholastic requirements have been bolstered at the University of Nebraska and the four state teachers colleges at Wayne, Chadron, Kearney and Peru.

Higher scholastic standards and a 33 per cent hike in tuition caused a drop in the pupil total at the University. There were more students in all the teachers colleges except Peru, and officials said higher scholastic requirements figured in holding back the increase.

Students are going on probation quicker at all the colleges and the University.

At the University, Chancellor Clifford Hardin said 170 more students were dropped for failing to meet scholastic requirements than for the same semester a year earlier.

The trend is up at the teachers colleges, too.

Actually, the scene for the change in policy—tuition and scholastic-wise—was set in the last session of the Legislature. It was in the session that the amount of tax funds to be allocated to the institutions of higher learning came in for some heavy debate and criticism.

Without exception, school officials said costs of operating were up and enrollments were expected to climb, further squeezing facilities and faculty at the institutions.

There was strong sentiment for tuition hikes on the part of many Legislators with the implied threat if it was not forthcoming there would be even less property tax money distributed to the schools.

The end result was that the University's Board of Regents and the State Normal Board, governing group for the teachers colleges took steps to hike the entrance fee.

The Legislators frowned on the teachers colleges having such a high percentage of out-of-state students being educated in the Nebraska teachers colleges at virtually no charge in tuition.

Out-of-state tuition was hiked by the Normal Board and the result was a sharp drop in non-resident students.

There was considerable sentiment in the Legislature also that qualifications for getting into the law supported institutions of higher learning and staying there, should be tightened.

Reasoning was that the squeeze is on the property tax owner to provide more and more taxes for state government to operate—because of the service demanded by the public. Therefore, was the reasoning, money supplied by taxpayers should not be wasted on students who had neither the inclination nor ability to handle college work.

The cracking down on scholastic entrance requirements by the colleges could, and most likely will, be felt at the high school level and below in the form of more intensive training by the persons who educate Nebraska youth.

Classroom and faculty problems are becoming huge at the institutions and unless the public wants to shell out large sums to foot the cost of handling the increase in students, the schools have only one alternative—start weeding out those scholastically unable to handle the work.

Liquor Problem
There is more than routine concern in the statehouse over the increase in violations of the liquor laws by minors and license holders.

Edward Nickolite, enforcement chief for the State Liquor Commission, says there has been a "tremendous" increase in violations.

Fines imposed in liquor violation cases go to the school districts of the state—or about $20,000 worth per year.

A crackdown on the minors has been fairly successful, Nickolite said, regarding drinking bouts in public places. But the big problem has been adults who get the liquor for the under-age youths.

Parties by minors have gone "underground," Nickolite says. They are now held in private homes, sometimes at the home of the producer. These are extremely difficult to cope with.

Something Just A Little Bit Different

If we don't look out, do you know what we're all going to die of?

Pure fright, says I.

For if THEY don't have us scared to death of one thing—THEY try another.

oOo

Now, take storms and tornadoes. And all these warnings, no doubt a fine necessary precaution for ships at sea, for stockmen, for youngsters to be brought to or from school. A worthwhile safety measure in some times and places, but should all of us be frightened to death with warning day after day? I doubt it, and the same goes for lightning. A few out of millions will suffer possibly, but need we ALL be paralyzed with lightning warnings?

oOo

What about polio? For several summers, having nothing better to do, we watched figures daily and hourly on polio deaths; the incidence of polio cases in this state and that. Graphs and tables and alarms followed one another all summer and fall until we were nearly scared to breathe. And that didn't help much, did it?

oOo

This Asiatic flu is the latest hysteria borne on the mounting crescendoes of wailing radio announcers ... well, everywhere one reads or listens. Newspapers have helped build it: no doubt about that.

Yet not one authentic case of Asiatic flu has been seen in Nebraska yet says our state health department.

What's all the conversation? Why the fright? Are we becoming a nation of scaredy-cats?

Another fashionable fright: this talk of evacuating towns and cities in case of an atomic attack.

This seems most far-fetched of all. For, where are we going when we leave home? True, you can get in your car and I can get in my car and we can scurry madly to pick up the children and Pop and we can drive right out of here.

Where to?

Where are you going? Who is expecting you? Where is your hide-out? How far can you go on one tank of gas ... and who is going to keep his gas station open while everyone else runs away?

And what a dandy confusion will result when we all clog up the highways as we go ... where? The children will cry. The roadside hamburger stands won't be open. The restrooms will be closed, and there'll be no place open where the baby's bottle can be warmed.

oOo

What a mess we'll be in then. We won't be able to get back home without gasoline, will we now?

What are all these scares for?

To sell more tranquilizer pills? That's the only advantage I can figure!

The Upper Room

© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read Romans 12:1-9.

Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God. (Romans 12:2)

Seated opposite me in a railway carriage was a selector of a team for international sports. With much hesitation I asked, "Why did you choose so-and-so?" His answer was, "Because he is a team man." He meant that whatever the captain ordered, the player obeyed, whether it was his style of play or not. He played for the captain and the team.

Many of us are self-centered, with an exalted opinion of our judgment as wisdom. The result is that we play as individuals rather than as members of a team. E. Stanley Jones tells of a cartoon of a sick-looking world with a doctor holding its pulse. The doctor shakes his head and says, "You are in a bad way. You are allergic to yourself."

Our self-centeredness can be changed when we accept God in our hearts and allow His power to transform us. Then we become "able to make out what the will of God is, namely, what it good and acceptable to him and perfect."

Prayer

O Lord, forgive me if through vanity and selfishness I do not obey Thy will and so hinder the coming of Thy kingdom. This I ask in the spirit of the Master, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Thought For The Day

I pray that Christ, not I, may be seen and heard through me.

Out of Old Nebraska

State's First "Bonus" Oil Well Came in 1940; Many Brought in Since Then

"On July 27, 1940, Nebraska became one of the nation's oil producing states when the Pawnee Royalty Company successfully completed the bonus run at its Bucholz well located near Falls City in Richardson county, and became eligible for the $15,000.00 award offered by the state of Nebraska for the first producing well."

Nebraska did not become a major oil producer, and this oil boom did not rival the more dramatic ones in Texas and Oklahoma. Still this first real oil production in the state caused a good deal of excitement.

Nebraska has had a real interest in oil production. The fact that the state government offered a $15,000.00 reward for a producing well is remarkable in a state that has been primarily agricultural minded and has offered little financial assistance to non agricultural activities. The offer is a reflection of the interest and desire for all shown over the state by the many reports of oil and drilling for oil before 1940.

As early as 1865 the Nebraska Herald reported coal oil had been found near Fort Kearney. Dozens and hundreds of such reports came in as traces of oil were found on the surface water or land and as gas bubbles were observed rising in streams. Gas bubbles on water near Dannebrog aroused much interest. Hastings subscribed $10,000.00 to pipe natural gas into the city after a similar discovery, but the source of gas was not sufficient for commercial use and the idea was abandoned.

In response to such discoveries, attempts were made to dig oil wells and gas wells. In 1888 an Omaha company was formed for this purpose. It dug about 400 feet at Omaha till it struck a vein of coal in its drilling and stopped. Between then and 1940 the number of attempts to sink oil wells in the state ran well into the hundreds. All sections of the state were tested, although most activity occurred in the extreme southeast, the south central and the north west, all areas fairly close to producing fields in other states.

Geologists thought the best prospect for oil in the state was in Richardson county. Actually there was oil discovered there, near Salem in 1883 and a Nebraska geologist then pronounced it superior to Pennsylvania oil in quality. Periodically interest was shown as another well was drilled in the area. In the 1930's a number of attempts were made in Richardson and Pawnee counties and finally producing wells were found to the number of thirty or more. The limited area and production of the field and the coming of World War II prevented as big an oil boom as Cheyenne county experienced 10 years later, but the first discovery of oil and the finding of additional wells in Richardson county created a definite oil fever and oil boom. The peak of interest was relatively short lived, as the field did not grow, and production was decreasing in the state before the discovery of oil in western Nebraska ten years later. The oil boom in Richardson county did have several good effects, however. It stimulated interest in oil in the state, and helped bring on other discoveries. It developed new interests and activities in the area affected, and while it has remained a small oil field it has continued producing to the present.

Tale Spins

by Ken Stevens

A fellow Nebraska model builder found himself in national limelight this month when his model rocket became the cover story for Mechanix Illustrated magazine. He is Orville Carlisle of Norfolk. A miniature rocket engine drives the rocket up to 1000 feet at speeds of up to 150 mph, then a delayed charge blasts off the nose cone and ejects a small red plastic parachute that floats it gently back to earth. In production now in limited quantities, the kit can be obtained from Mr. Carlisle for $7.95.

States Harry Stine, writer of the MI story: "He sent half a dozen Rock-A-Chutes to me at the White Sands proving ground. We fired them before an audience of delighted rocket men. All of us were amazed, for over 200 of these little missiles were fired—and the Rock-A-Chute did not fall once! This is an unheard of performance in the rocket field."

The boss and I took the honorable Cork to O'Neill Sunday where he is helping put the finishing touches on his new fabric job. The Cruiser now sports a flashy red and white paint job and completely refinished interior. Cork invested in an ADF radio compass and a VHF transmitter, which he will add to the low frequency outfit already in the plane. The Cruiser is a three place ship, which cruises about 110 mph and has excellent performance. Cork is presently planning a trip to the west coast, then to the southern coast of Mexico.

Ed Apking, Quiz Editor who finished an invitation to the CAP convention in Kansas City, came home with a pretty good impression of the organization. Seems Ed was much like Mr. Average Citizen, who had heard about CAP but had never gone to the trouble or had the opportunity to learn much about it. He tells me that CAPers refer to squadrons without cadet programs as "flying clubs" and have little use for them, so he advises that we get our cadet movement going. Any high school youngsters who are interested should prod Ed Kokes and Fred Stoddard a little, and for every one that signs up I personally promise an airplane ride just as soon as possible, as well as the ones you can bring in the future. There are lots of empty seats in the planes that buzz in and out of Evelyn Sharp Field, and mostly good-hearted pilots who like to see young Orvids become interested in aviation.

The CAP Education Seminar will be held at the Ad building about 2:30 Sunday. Col. Graves says he will be here and he expects several others who can't go as far as the SARCAP at Chadron.

All members and anyone interested in becoming such are cordially invited.

Murray Selected for Top Uni. Voice Group

Ken Murray of Arcadia has been selected as a member of the University of Nebraska Madrigal Singers.

The 21-member choral group has been reorganized this year under the director of John Moran, instructor of music education. The group is composed of freshmen and sophomores. It will act as a training and repertoire organization to give freshmen and sophomore students an opportunity to gain experience in a highly detailed type of singing.

This year's Madrigal Singers will continue the tradition of The University Madrigal Singers of the past years, and will present concerts in the spring and during the Christmas seasons, Mr. Moran said. Ken, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Murray, is a freshman in Teachers College at the University.

September, August and October have proved to be the most active months for hurricanes, according to records compiled by the Navy's Hurricane Hunters. Since 1800, approximately 143 have occurred in September, 143 in August, and 133 in October. July, November and June are next in frequency in that order.

Defense Head Okays Ord Radio

Austin Bacon, Lincoln, state civil defense head, told Ordites Monday evening that if a local civil defense group were organized that there would be no question about qualifying for federal matching funds to buy two-way radio equipment.

Purchase of two-way radios linking city police and fire trucks with sheriff's cars had previously been approved by the Ord city council and Valley county board of supervisors.

"The biggest in several ways," he told the board of directors at their monthly assembly Thursday evening, "for we had the most babies we've ever had in one month; there were 21. And we had as many as 22 patients at once; three times during the month we were forced to set up extra beds."

Care received at the Ord Hospital is also the best ever, the board decided, after hearing that 10 registered nurses are now working in this vicinity, some regularly, some on call. Supplemental nursing care is good, two school girls, Harriet Long and Katherine Nelson are training.

Warm, Dry Weather Wanted

Valley county farmers were in-specting skies hopefully again this week, but for the first time in several years they were wishing for dry, warm weather.

A bumper corn and sorghum crop is crying for harvest, with most fields too wet to enter. Even alfalfa cutting operations have been suspended for a few days by the Burwell and Ord mills.

Ord's official rainfall for the week totaled 1.29 inches, while east and north of town as much as three inches flooded fields and pastures. Fall was gentle for the most part, but heavy enough to send county and township road crews into action repairing wash-outs.

North Loup recorded only .58 inches for the week, and about the same amount fell in Arcadia.

Hard Frost Welcome Now
According to Horace Travis, official observer, the rainfall mark for 1957 now stands at 29.75 inches. The 60 year average here is 21 inches on October 15. Last year, only 14.05 inches had fallen by this time.

With Tuesday and Wednesday dawning bright and clear, and temperatures rising, farmers hope to be in corn fields by the end of the week. A hard frost would help crop conditions.

Winter wheat is making favorable growth all over the county. Much of it will require heavy pasturing to avoid excessive stooling.

Day	High	Low	Precip.
Oct. 10	48	43	.04
Oct. 11	50	44
Oct. 12	60	44
Oct. 13	62	49	.35
Oct. 14	50	50	.22
Oct. 15	65	52	.58
Oct. 16	48	48

"The Back Forty"

Henry and Brunt Orent, of Union Ridge neighborhood, are partners in the farming and hog raising business on a large scale. They operate a section of land of which are four sets of buildings and have this summer put up a large hog house in which they expect to raise hogs to send to market every two months the year round.

The hog house is 80 x 96, made of cement blocks and frame. There are 3500 cement blocks in the building, three sides of the building being made of them. The north side of cement blocks is built in a bank, the ends are blocks, with frame gable ends and the south side is frame. There are 72 windows in the building. Through the center of the gable ends is a driveway which can be used to put down feed and bedding. John Hamner was the carpenter.

The Orent hog house is said by feed salesmen to be Nebraska's largest.

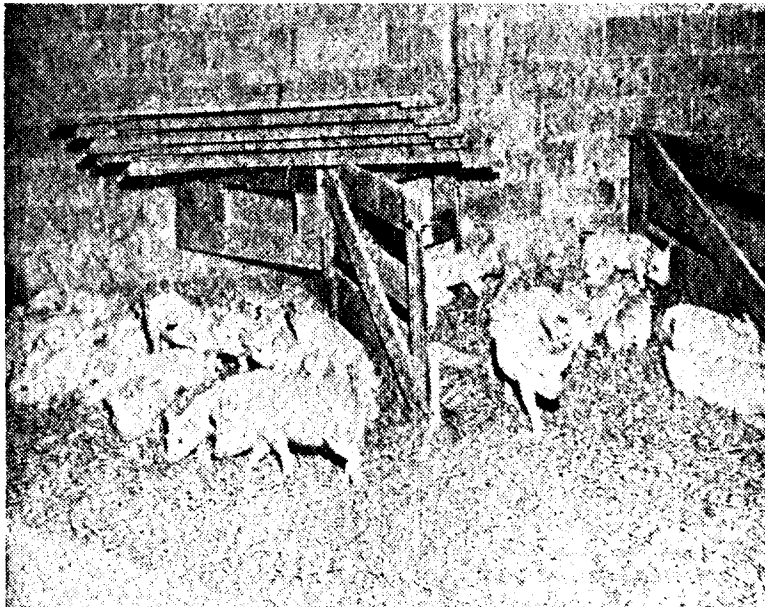

Pens for brood sows are made of removable gates and each can be heated by a heat lamp when the weather is cold.

Hogs are sent to market at about 200 pounds. The Orents raise Chester Whites and Hampshires. The day the picture was taken tiny snow white pigs were all over the place.

Although not yet at full production, there are pigs enough to keep Brunt and another brother, John, busy most of the time.

On the section is a 2,500 gallon irrigation well and Cliff Scott farms the irrigated land.

Creek neighborhood, both Henry and Brunt left the farm a number of years ago and moved to Omaha. Here Brunt worked for nine years in a packing plant where he was a bacon inspector.

Henry was in the photo-engraving business but a few years ago sold his business. He then bought a section of Valley County land. One of the houses, on what is known as the old Dorn place, has been remodeled, modernized and it is here that Brunt lives. It is on this place also that the hog house is located. John lives on an adjoining place and helps with the care of the hogs.

Henry still lives in Omaha, but spends much of his time on the farm, especially weekends.

wives that is! Of course this should be pleasant surprise like a gift or a dinner out. Too many of us husbands do everything exactly the same way Dr. Moss says. Our wives can predict what we're going to do from the time we get up until we go to bed. That's a pretty comfortable way to live but not very exciting. A woman needs romance, excitement and love to keep her the "gal you married."

One basic tenet to good family relations for all members is let each member retain his or her individuality. In other words, Dr. Moss pointed out, don't think of your wife as a wife but as Doris or Sue or Mary. Respect her rights as an individual.

There was also one point he made in regard to the rearing of children that may be worth repeating. He said "research has shown that children from homes where discipline is less strict are better adjusted than those from homes where discipline has been enforced." In this regard, the point was made that kids will respond better if they understand why they are told to do something rather than being expected to mind just because Mom or Dad said so.

In summary, Dr. Moss said that good family relations are based on the five "C's". Courtesy—communication—compromise—creativity—conciliation.

Courtesy — "Do unto others". Communication — "Talk it over".

CO-OP TOPICS!

The income Nebraska farmers derive from Cream, Eggs and Poultry runs into millions of dollars. It is used mainly for the purchase of the necessities of life and for miscellaneous operating expenses.

By quality production we can insure this important income during these years.

Eggs and Butter produced in this area are sold in competition with eggs and butter produced in areas where specialized production has taken over. Only by meeting the competition of these changing times can we expect to stay in business.

All quality promotion items such as nylon covers, filter disks, cream stirrers, canvas can covers, egg scales, cleaning brushes, detergent sanitizer and egg washers are supplied to our patron producers at cost.

Your patronage here earns refunds. Market your produce through this Co-Op.

Poultry Convention!

The 1957 Nebraska Poultry and Egg Convention will be held in Lincoln, on October 23rd & 24th. October 23rd will be devoted entirely to Quality Egg Production. We will arrange transportation for any of our producers who wish to attend. It will be a day well spent. Let us know, if you can go.

Compromise — "Bend a little". Creativity — "You've got to work at it". Conciliation — "Don't forget birthdays and anniversaries". All in all it was a very nice meeting where all members of the family were welcomed.

Did You Say Duck Hunting, Ross? ? ?

For several weeks, friends of Ross Allen have heard just how he was going to get his full duck bag limit the moment he had a chance to take out time to get to a duck blind.

Tuesday was the day—and Ross was up bright and early. Settling down in his duck blind, Ross awaited the proverbial one-half hour before sunrise to take aim.

Then, boom! Two teals fell! Boom, again, this time, 'twas a coon!

Boom, boom! An opossum! Boom, boom, boom!! At this point Ross decided to look to see what he had bagged—there lay a dead skunk! P.S. It really filled the bag!

Larry Johnson to Series by Jet Plane

Larry Johnson made a swift 49 minute jet flight last week from his station at Cherry Point, N. C. to New York City, he writes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Johnson, but the other side of the picture is that it took him nearly two whole days of train travel to get back to his base!

Sent two tickets to the World Series by his Yankee team uncle, Darrell, Larry was determined to get to the first two games, and at the last minute his commanding officer finagled a jet ride for him.

Checking out the flight gear took him two hours, Larry wrote, and he never did get time to take any tests.

But the two-man jet arrived safely; Larry saw the games, visited with his relatives and said it was worth the long tiresome trip home.

He has a dentalman's rating with the marines, and likes his work very well.

Plan for Rural Development Program in Sherman County is Revealed

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has designated Sherman county as the pilot county for the rural development program in Nebraska, it was announced this week.

Selection of the county is an outgrowth of a recommendation made earlier this year by a group of Nebraska agricultural leaders representing local, state and federal agencies, according to W. V. Lambert, Dean of the University of Nebraska college of agriculture.

Rural development is a long range program aimed at seeking ways and means of bringing about improved levels of living for people in the area. The program supplements all existing programs.

The program will be developed locally by community leaders with the cooperation of local, state and federal agencies. In Sherman county, the extension board has approved the addition of an assistant county agent who will assist in development of the program.

In addition to local help, a state committee of agricultural leaders representing farm organizations and local, state and federal agencies will be appointed to counsel in developing and carrying out the rural development program.

Community representatives will be called together in the county to plan needed adjustments to bring about improved living levels. They might discuss land use, soil erosion, roads, government, schools or opportunities for industry.

Then the people concerned will be encouraged to think in terms of solutions to the existing problems. The solutions might include farm reorganization, new industry or a revised educational program for young people leaving the farms. Where circumstances warrant, plans also may be suggested to help low income farm people find off-farm employment.

The final step in the program will be to encourage people in the area to adopt solutions they have suggested to solve their problems.

The pilot study is an outgrowth of another study which has been in progress for several years by the College's Department of Agricultural Economics in cooperation with local people under auspices of a grant from Resources For Future Inc. This study was set up to find ways of improving the standard of living in the "transition area" of Nebraska.

The "transition area" has been defined as that portion of Nebraska and the plains states which lies between the intensive corn region to the east and the extensive ranching and wheat area to the west.

The area is characterized by a highly variable climate. Farm incomes in the area have averaged lower than in other areas of Nebraska and are very variable due to weather conditions. Between 1930 and 1950 farm population in this area dropped 41 per cent while its total population decreased 28 per cent. The size of

Bow Windows Add Modern Home Beauty And, Ready Made, They Install Easily

The bow window, widely used in Colonial and English architecture, is enjoying a return to favor in the conventional modern home, adding a new concept in classic beauty and interior living space.

A revival of this gently curving type of window framing is increasingly evident in initial construction of both ranch and split-level styles, as well as remodeling programs being carried out in older homes.

"The appealing shape and distinctive beauty of the sturdy wood framing gives a feeling of character and permanence to any room, and in itself becomes a complementary highlight to overall home design," comments Otto F. Wenzler, architectural consultant to Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company.

Heightens Appeal
Reflecting the subdued elegance of Early American craftsmanship, the bow window heightens the appeal of modern homes by giving them a note of originality. At the same time the styling harmonizes with the overall plan of any house, traditional or modern, in both frame and brick construction.

According to Mr. Wenzler, Thermopane insulating glass has been an important factor in the modern trend to open "living" which has established the picture window and entire window walls as attractive, functional features in today's home and has now given impetus also to the renaissance of the bow window.

"The multi-paned framing admits increased amounts of natural light, provides an interesting outlook from the room, and creates additional interior living space," he said.

Sizes Standard
Bow windows may be standardized on a variety of outside dimensions, and factory assembly allows time-saving on-spot installation in the same manner as conventional casement windows. Special sizes of Thermopane insulating glass are available to give bow windows the added advantage of "built-in" insulation.

Technologists of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company point out that the space of dry air sealed in the Thermopane units acts as an effective barrier against heat loss. It is this factor that has made large glass areas practical in picture windows.

Of all the power tools that find their way in to the home or farm workshop, one of the most popular with women as well as men is the electric sander. Thrifty wives, reluctant to discard old furniture, find there's a chance of salvage, find the light tool makes refinishing and polishing jobs a pleasure.

Three popular models are the vibrating, orbital and belt sanders. Vibrating models are limited to finishing work and are not intended for stock or large surface paint removal. Belt sanders normally are used for very tough sanding jobs like floor refinishing.

A power sander is a versatile tool, good for many jobs.

Get acquainted with your sander by attempting a complete refinishing job on an old table or bookcase. Remove the old finish down to the bare wood with coarse grit paper and follow with finer grades of abrasive sheets. Apply sealer. When it's dry, sand with a very fine grade (such as 320) and finish with stain, wax, varnish or paint, as you wish.

When an article is thickly coated with paint or varnish it's sometimes easier to use a commercial remover at first, following with the sander and coarse grit paper. With finer grits, a lubricant like oil or water keeps the abrasive paper from clogging up.

After getting the feel of the tool on old articles, you may try for the finest furniture finishes. "Free" abrasives like pumice or rottenstone coming in powder and paste forms are best for final stages. Here you'll use the felt pad on your sander rather than paper.

Dead End Kids

Architects are advising young married couples with active children to purchase homes with wood paneled walls, because wood will withstand most hard knocks and bruises as children explore the cosmos. Douglas fir and west coast hemlock lumber make ideal wall panels because both woods harden the longer they are installed.

Glassware Tips

Editors of Everywoman's, an important woman's magazine, recently gave this advice on the care and cleaning of glassware. They said:

- Wash glassware in warm not boiling water. Rinse in warm water. Drain on rubber-covered rack or invert on towel. Dry with lint-free towel.
- Use rubber mat or towel in bottom of sink, especially when washing stemware.
- Clean stubborn stains with soda added to lukewarm water.
- Remove lime deposits from water bottles or pitchers with solution of vinegar over tea leaves.

The oldest known example of pure glass is a small blue bead charm which was made in Egypt nearly 9,000 years ago.

Jamestown Festival Offers Scenic Spot and Colonial Life

A good choice for summer vacationers next year is Williamsburg, Virginia, and a visit to the Jamestown Festival which is drawing interested spectators from across the country.

The festival commemorates the 350th anniversary of the founding of the first colony in America.

This southern city has recreated with exacting authenticity the settlement as it was when the original colonists made their first foothold in a new land.

Exact Replicas
There are exact replicas of the first village, complete with thatched-roof church and houses, and a glass factory, which represents the first industry established in this country.

As part of this exhibit, glassblowers are practicing their art, using early methods and tools. The new bride and groom, conscious of wedding gifts in glass, will find the "glasshouse"—an archaic name for the glass factory—particularly interesting. The time and effort revealed by the actual working of this "glasshouse" will no doubt inspire in these visitors a real appreciation of what the American machine-made glassware industry has accomplished in the intervening years.

Mass Reproduction
Now beautiful mass-produced glassware can be purchased inexpensively—a far cry from the crude glass which was hand-blown by the early settlers.

Honey-mooners observing the glassblowers at work in the replica of the original "glasshouse," will no doubt return to their brand new homes with a greater-than-ever respect for wedding gifts in glass.

Electric Check Is Timely for Safety

If you're like most Americans, you're using electricity in your home in record quantity. For more than 45 million homes now have a refrigerator, 41 million an electric washer, 40 million a television set and 32 million a vacuum cleaner.

In addition, 8.6 million are equipped with freezers, 5.6 million with clothes dryers and 3.6 million with air conditioners. Add to these such stand-bys as electric lights, radios, toasters, irons, mixers, and the like, and you'll see the average family has "gone electric" in a big way.

The question is: Is your home properly wired to carry this heavy load?

For inadequate and faulty wiring helped make "misuse of electricity" one of the leading causes of fire in the United States last year. Nearly 15 percent of all fires were so caused.

You can help safeguard your home by observing the following precautions suggested by the National Board of Fire Underwriters:

When installing or adding such heavy duty appliances as freezers, air conditioners, washing machines, dryers, refrigerators, ranges, check with a qualified electrician to see if you need additional circuits.

Allow only reliable, competent electricians to install or extend wiring.

Look For UL
Buy only those electric appliances and cords listed by Underwriters Laboratories, Inc., a non-profit organization which tests such products for safety. Look for the UL label or tag.

Make sure there are adequate outlets for electrical appliances in all rooms. Don't overload circuits with "octopus outlets."

Be sure that your fuses are of the right amperage for your circuits—usually 15 amperes. A proper fuse is a "safety" valve and the blowing of a fuse is a warning the circuit is overloaded or defective.

See that all extension and lamp cords are in the open—and not placed under rugs, over hooks or through partitions or door openings where they may wear and cause a short circuit. Replace worn or broken cords with ones bearing the UL tag.

Don't string wiring under rugs, over hooks, or in any exposed place where it may be subject to wear or mechanical damage.

The use of Thermopane insulating glass in home building has tripled in the last five years.

Galloping Ghost Is Riding Home Piping

The galloping ghost is riding these days!

He haunts houses by thumping on pipes and rattling drains. He destroys. Few folks really know this menace for what he is because he can't be seen.

The ghost's name? It's . . . Water Hammer.

Water Hammer's the name of the banging noise heard when you turn the faucet off abruptly. The noise is reminiscent of olden days when tenants belted a radiator with a shoe to demand more heat. It's caused by a pressure wave which bangs through the piping system when the flow of water's stopped abruptly by jolting a faucet closed.

Sign of Danger

In other words, clanging, noisy pipes are a sign of danger, warns the plumbing manufacturers. If you recognize the danger in time, if you stop mistreating faucets, the danger can be stopped. But if you recognize the trouble too late, better call a skilled plumber to investigate.

First cousins of the galloping ghost are whistling sounds. Whistling sounds sometimes occur in the toilet flush tank and are caused by worn inlet valves.

Another plumbing SOS is one which the nose can detect—sewer gas. All fixtures in the home are connected to the municipal sewage system. And so, each one has a water trap to safeguard against unpleasant odors. The shape of the trap is designed to retain a column of water which seals off sewer gases. If the water evaporates, or is too low, there's a chance gases might escape directly into the home. When this happens, act fast. Call the plumber.

Fix The Faucet

The most common household plumbing nuisance is a leaky faucet. Here, a worn washer usually is the trouble-maker. To repair, follow these simple directions: first be sure to close the water shut-off valve located on the wall below and in back of the lavatory. Then, remove the large nut on the handle of the faucet. Turn the handle counter-clockwise and the spindle will rise, revealing a rubber washer at the end. If the washer is faulty, replace it with a new one and reinsert the unit.

cabinets to partially divide the living and dining areas.

But this was not enough. So the architects added a false beam dropped one foot from the ceiling on a line where the room division would normally be. This beam and space-dividing cabinets proved popular for awhile.

Architects are now designing thousands of homes with sunken living rooms dropped one or two steps below level. The shelf or cabinet dividers have been replaced with wrought iron railings.

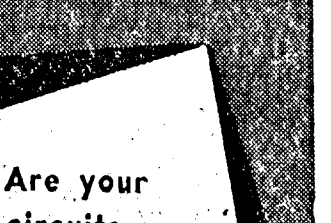

Leading designers of small homes say it is doubtful if the fully enclosed dining room will ever return to favor.

Bring on Red Raiders!

Hornickel Scores 3 TDs as Chants Romp Over Fullerton Friday, 27-0

With big Kent Hornickel scoring three TDs and Gerald Dunlap turning in a brilliant signal-calling performance, Coach Bill Gogan's Ord Chanticleers romped to an easy 27-0 win over Fullerton's Warriors, Friday, in a Central Ten conference game.

The Chants thus stamped themselves as serious contenders for the west division Central Ten title with the big showdown to take place when they play undefeated Aurora next month.

The Red Raiders of Loup City, one of the Chants' most traditional rivals, visit the Chanticleer lair Friday night in a Central Loups conference game. Encouraged by improved offensive team play despite the two-week layoff, Gogan is bearing down on his charges as he readies the Chants against the Raiders.

Vasecek received the Fullerton opening kickoff on the Ord 20, returning the leather to his 39 yard stripe. Galen Anderson then swung around end for 45 yards but a penalty nullified the play.

Dunlap Rambles

On a keeper, Dunlap broke thru the Warrior line for 42 yards, carrying the leather to the Fullerton 25 yard marker. Fullerton drew a 5 yard penalty and Hornickel carried it over for a TD in three plays.

Fullerton, with Carson the mainstay, launched a drive from their 22 to the Chant 26 yard line, only to lose the ball on downs. A few seconds later, Austin fumbled a Schamp lateral, Fullerton recovering, keeping possession as the quarter ended.

Fullerton punted to Ord's 25 yard stripe to open the second canto. Ord ground out three first downs before losing the ball on downs. Fullerton attempted to pass and Schamp intercepted. Dunlap picked up 20 yards and then Hornickel lunged over for his second TD of the evening.

Schamp Scores

Fullerton was held by the Ord defense and was forced to punt. Ord returning to the Warrior 42. On second down, Dunlap heaved a pass to Schamp good for 42 yards and the Chant's third TD.

The half ended as Fullerton advanced the ball to their own 37. Ord holding a 20-0 advantage.

Fullerton opened a third period drive from their 38 stripe to the Ord 20 only to fumble. Ord recovered marching for their final TD. Hornickel again scoring.

Gogan Sweeps Bench

At this juncture, Coach Bill Gogan swept the bench and substitute players Gerald John, Ed Kruml, Don Beerline, Ray Cronk, Bruce

Pearson, and Brian Laursen turned in a good account as they throttled one Fullerton drive on the four yard line. For the most part, they contained Fullerton in the Warrior territory.

Ord outdressed the Warriors 14 to 5, with Hornickel gaining 101 yards in 14 tries for a 7.2 average. Austin averaged 6.2 in six carries while Dunlap made 82 yards, averaging 5.4.

Score by periods:

Chants 6 14 7 0—27

Ord Harriers 2nd at Hastings; Dave Pokraka is First

Coach W. W. Parks' Ord harriers placed second behind Kearney in a triangular meet at Hastings, Thursday, while Dave Pokraka was an easy individual winner. Bob Placnik placed sixth, Ray Wojtaszek eighth, Galen Anderson 13th, and Bill Martin, 17th.

Coach Parks stated Monday that competition at the state meet will be stiff, what with Creighton Prep defending their team laurels won in 1956.

Missing will be the 1956 state individual cross-country king, Buck Mason of Ord.

For the first time, the University of Nebraska is giving an official team trophy. Coach Frank Sevigne, Husker track mentor, is in charge of the Saturday morning event to be held at Lincoln's Antelope park.

Parks figures that Dave Pokraka, on basis of his time performance improvement, will be a serious contender for the individual title.

Huskies Wallop Callaway, 47-14

Coach Glen Vannier's Arcadia Huskies romped to an easy 47-14 win over the Callaway Bears at Arcadia, Friday. It was the 25th consecutive win for the Huskies.

The Huskies chalked up three TDs in the first quarter and held a 38-7 margin at the intermission. Gene Hawley and Don Holeman each scored two TDs. Hawley scored on line plunges of six and 13 yards. Holeman scored one TD on a 12-yard romp and scampered 40 yards for another TD on a pass interception.

Other scoring efforts for the Huskies included Joe McDonald going 10 yards over the line while Dick Anderson scored on a 20 yard end run. Jerry Gogan raced 30 yards for another on a pass interception.

Arcadia entertains Litchfield, Friday, in their bid for their 26th consecutive win.

Sportsmen's Gossip —

WOODS 'n WATERS

By Spud Kapustka

Dear Quiz:

On these cloudy and balmy nights a man's fancy can turn towards many things. The low ceilings can sometimes cause a flock of geese to wander up and down the river within gun range. This usually happens before a severe break in the weather. These creatures know better than we when the time has come to move on. With the southwest wind blowing and not much chance of a good duck flight, coon hunting can fill the bill to satisfy a guy's desire to be outdoors. Duck hunting and coon hunting as a steady diet could cause a feller to lose a lot of sleep. So you have to alternate between one or the other.

Pete and Bob called up some time ago and asked if I would care to venture out with them or rather show them what might be a likely territory to work coon. Seems like this valley is pretty well populated with ringtails so we just took out to a place that was accessible by car. Pete is the owner of a pack of coon dogs so he engineered the hunt. As coon dogs go I think he has the best mannered string of pups I have ever seen. They respond readily to his commands and with a whistle here and an order there he had the hounds headed in the direction we wanted to go. Major seems to be the king of the pack, so he carries a small bell on his collar that can be heard a quarter of a mile away. Usually a man trains a dog to heel but in coon hunting it's turnabout. You either heel to the dog or you're in for a long lonely wait.

We started following the hounds along the canal. Pete would hold on to Duke and let Major, the veteran of many hunts and his mate Tuck take the lead. As I said the ringtails are plentiful around here so a man doesn't have to heel to the dogs for more than a half mile. We covered about a quarter of a mile of canal and the hounds let us know they were on a hot trail. I can hardly describe the bark of a coon hound. It's much different than the bark of an ordinary dog and music to the ears of a man that enjoys a coon hunt. When the whoops of the dogs come frequently then we knew that our prey was not far off. When this happened Pete let Duke go to get on the chase.

By now the air was filled with the barking of the dogs and the thrill of the hunt had us all half running, half walking towards where the commotion was taking place. When we found the hounds they had the coon in the middle of a dry canal, with fur flying in all directions. Pete helped the dogs by shooting the big boar when he had a chance. This saved their energy for another run. One thing I noted about the dogs is that as soon as the kill was made, they would head out through the weeds in search for a new trail.

When the time had come for us to call it an evening, Pete let out a sharp whistle and the dogs seemed to come out of nowhere. A couple of weeks ago the dogs had treed a big coon east of town and when we walked up to where they were kicking up a storm the cuss was up one of those trees with many trunks and it took us a good half hour to find the pair of glowing eyes up in the heavy foliage. When Pete's trusty 22 caused the coon to come tumbling out of the treetop, the dogs left just enough opening for the coon to hit the ground and the fight was on.

I'm convinced this type of hunting is a lot of fun and nearly all farmers are cooperative about letting guy on. Usually a cautious warning about their livestock was given and expected. The coon hound will seldom give a critter so much as a look and a hunt will take the dogs away from domestic animals.

Because we are so accustomed to them, the average American, if called upon to list his rights and privileges, would most likely include less than half of them.

He might even overlook his right to own property . . . to be able to say of his home, farm or place of business: "This is mine."

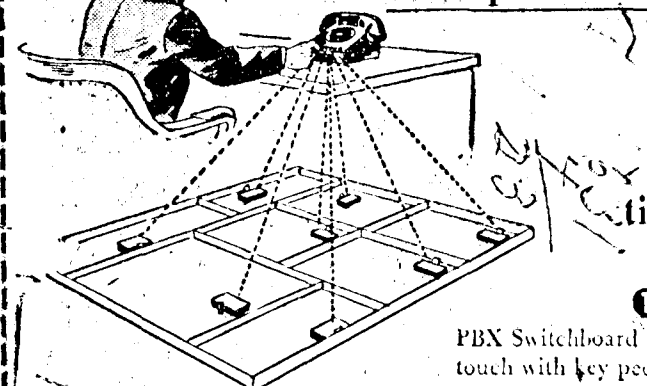

The right to own property . . . to enjoy the rewards of one's own labors . . . has been a stimulus to our country's inventive geniuses and has played an important part in its tremendous progress and development.

How NPPS helps your "electrical servants" work for less

Lower cost power means more electrical servants for the average Nebraska home. Through public power, Nebraska's electric rates are among the lowest in the nation. The average home owner in Nebraska pays from 25c to 95c per month less for electricity than home owners in eight surrounding states. And, the use of electricity in Nebraska homes is far above the national average . . . in fact, 17% greater than the average use of electricity in the eight surrounding states.

More power at lower cost, so you may enjoy even more of the comforts and conveniences of modern, better living . . . electrically, is the goal of NPPS, Nebraska's major power generation and transmission agency.

White Pelicans Slain

White pelicans, which use this area flyway, were resting on a small rain-water pond near Lincoln in upper photo. Lower photo shows three white pelicans which had been slain by some malicious, unthinking person, according to Conservation Officer Bernard L. Patton of Lincoln who investigated.

White pelicans and the nearly extinct whooping crane have been sometimes mistaken for snow geese, whistling swans and American egrets. None except the geese are game birds.

With the time nearing for the southward winging of the whooping crane all hunters are urged to use judgment and not needlessly slaughter birds merely for the sake of shooting.

The whooping crane stands over four feet tall, has a seven foot wing spread; flies with neck and legs out straight; has white plumage except for black wing-tips; black legs, yellow bill; and has a bare red crown.

Hig's
SPORTS Rehash...

Having polished off Fullerton's Warriors with ease, the Chants face their ancient arch-rival, the Loup City Red Raiders, in a Central Loups conference fray Friday. On basis of past records, the Chants should hand the Red Raiders another lesson in football.

In previous games, Ord has scored 26 wins, played four tie games, and lost only five. In 1921, Ord ground out the biggest margin of victory against Loup City ever tallied against Chant foe, 64-0. In 13 games, the Chants have held the Raiders scoreless while winning.

—H—
Saturday is Band Day at Lincoln and the Burwell band is one area prep band to attend the Nebraska-Syracuse football game. The major attraction for Ordites, however, is the Nebraska prep cross country meet at Pioneer's Park in the morning.

Of especial interest is whether Dave Pokraka can win the diadem won last year by former Chant Tuck Mason. Dave has not encountered serious competition in outings at Kearney and Hastings, yet has lowered his performance time, consistently.

—H—
Coach Bill Easton, KU track coach, is quoted in the Lawrence, Kans., Record as saying that Tuck Mason is one of four KU freshmen looking most impressive as the Kansas frosh harriers open a 16-school schedule of postal cross country meets.

On October 26, Tuck is slated to oppose Frosh runners from Nebraska, Michigan, and Michigan State.

—H—
Gregg McBride of The World-Herald staff has taken note of Coach Bill Gallagher's Anselmo Eagles. Bill, of course, is the son-in-law of George Anderson of Ord. The Old Scotchman is warm in his praise of the coaching performance.

McBride comments: "Add Anselmo to the list of six-man football teams working on extended winning streaks. Coach Bill Gallagher's Eagles have won 16 in a row. Last defeat was at the hands of Amherst, (20-0), Sept. 23, 1955.

Gallagher has held the reins all the way. The Eagles appear due to finish the year with a string of 20. Since the loss in '55, only one team—Mason City—has come within three 11Ds of matching the Anselmo total."

The only thing wrong, however, is that Gregg was shy on the number of wins. Friday night, the Eagles smashed Oconto, 50-6, for their 23rd consecutive win. This year, the Eagles have scored 186 points in four games, while holding their foes to 18.

—H—
Having disposed of the Doane Tigers handily, 27-7, Coach Al Zikmund's Kearney Antelopes face the Hastings Broncos this Saturday at Hastings in what the former Ordite terms the toughest test of the current season for his Antelopes who are riding a 15-game win streak. It will be the 48th meeting of the two Nebraska colleges, as Zik groans his Antelopes for the invasion. Hastings holds the all-time series edge. The Broncos have won 23, lost 18 to the Antelopes, while six wound up as the games. Last year, the Antelopes won 13-7.

—H—
Dean Misko wonders if this hunting story is not a strange coincidence. Last year, Dale Philbrick and Rolland Heitz were hunting together when each felled their deer by bow and arrow. Last week, Dale got his deer while hunting alone.

Heitz recently moved to Corvallis, Oregon, to attend Oregon State college. In a telephone call, Dale learned that Rolland had killed two deer within the same 24-hour period as Dale had. Heitz got his from a distance of 40 to 50 yards with a Kodiak special bow.

Tale Spins
by Ken Stevens

Civil Air Patrol members from Ord, Hastings, Sargent, Broken Bow and O'Neill pretty well filled the ad building Sunday afternoon for the education seminar conducted by Col. Harold Stewart, of Hastings. The topic of his lecture was "History of CAP."

I had been wondering for the past three weeks just what an education seminar was. Well, it consists mainly of a lecture, and for me, anyway, it was educational.

I have known for a long time that CAP flew anti-submarine patrol along the east coast. But there seemed to be a lot more to the story than that!

According to Col. Stewart's lecture, CAP pilots, in their own planes flew some 24,000,000 miles of over-water U-boat patrol, guarding coastal shipping lanes, and at times lazily circling over a lone tanker plowing up the coast. In these flights made over a period of 18 months, CAP planes spotted 170 U-Boats, forcing them to crash dive before they could fire torpedoes. They are directly accredited with sinking two U-Boats with small bombs and a simple bomb-sight as well as forcing several others to surface where Army and Navy planes and ships finished them off.

On one of the sinkings, it is reported, a retired eastern financier managed to pop an egg down an open conning tower hatch.

This record was paid for by 26 members killed and 70 planes lost or damaged beyond repair. But 24 million miles, two men to a ship, is 48 million passenger miles. Over open water—in war time with some combat conditions—is a pretty darned good record.

The greatest tribute paid to CAP anti-submarine patrol, however, came after the war was over. One of Hitler's top naval officers was asked why they had pulled their U-Boats out of our east-coast shipping lanes.

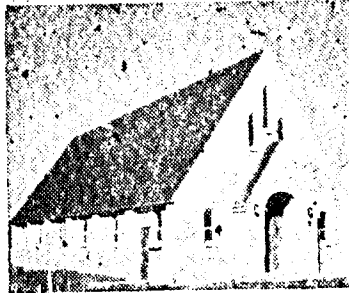

"Because," the Nazi answered, "of those blasted little red and yellow airplanes."

None of the CAP pilots gained high sung fame as war heroes, and I doubt that many wanted it. But this record does prove that CAP has been a valuable organization to our country, and as I have said before and will say again, an organization I am proud to belong to.

After the lecture, those attending broke up in small groups discussing CAP affairs. Ord members managed to get a lot of questions answered and advice on squadron organization, communication, etc.

The next seminar will be in Broken Bow Nov. 10.

Mr. Travis Can't Turn Off Rain

Probably because he wasn't able to turn off the sprinklers, Horace Travis, local weatherman has been down in bed since Friday with a virus infection and a severe case of chagrin.

As a result it continued to rain in Valley county. The week produced 1.17 inches of moisture to bring the local total to 30.92 inches, compared with last year's 14.12 at this time.

Farmers here were impatient over the long tenure of rainy weather. One, visiting the ASC office in Ord, told the Quiz: "It's been rainy so long that the hogs were spooked the other day when the sun came out!"

Other gossip items from the farm scene indicates popcorn ears and milo heads sprouting while still on the stalk.

In Arcadia and North Loup and the general southern half of the county, over 35 inches of rain has been recorded this year by unofficial observers. The northern half has had about the same amount or a little less than Ord.

Farmers are anxiously awaiting warm dry weather or a hard freeze so they can harvest their bumper crops.

The week's weather:

Date	High	Low	Precip.
Oct. 17	60	33
Oct. 18	60	42
Oct. 19	54	44
Oct. 20	52	43	.70
Oct. 21	52	47	.15
Oct. 22	53	52	.32

Muncy Houses Sell

The two L. A. Muncy properties in Ord, sold at public auction Monday, brought only fair prices. A residence just south of the Ord hospital was sold to Mr. and Mrs. Len Covert for $5,000, and the Hillside apartments, a four-apartment frame structure, brought $7850 from Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelson.

Presbyterians Plan Installation Nov. 13

Rev. Alvin L. Zimmerman will be formally installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Ord at special Wednesday evening services, Nov. 13.

Rev. Zimmerman, who took up his new duties here four weeks ago, came to Ord from Bismarck, North Dakota, where he was an assistant pastor. He is a graduate of Louisville, Kentucky, high University of Louisville and Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary. He was ordained in February, 1956.

Before entering the ministry he served 13 years in the postal service and three years with the US Marines in World War II.

Rev. and Mrs. Zimmerman and their three children are occupying the present manse of the church before moving to their new home, the former Wm. Sack residence, which the congregation recently purchased.

The greatest percentage of deaths attributed to heart and blood vessel diseases was in Loup County, and the lowest in Banner County, according to the Nebraska Heart Association.

Plans for Unicef Drive Shape Up; Party is Planned

Plans for the Ord Unicef drive, which converts Halloween tricks or treats into donations for undernourished children overseas, are shaping up according to the local committee in charge.

The committee, composed of Mrs. Tom Williams, Mrs. Ried Crawford, Mrs. John Cook, Mrs. F. L. Stoddard, Mrs. Don Stewart, Mrs. F. J. Osentowski and Mrs. Edward Kokes decided that only children from the third grade upward would make the Unicef drive for donations. "The small fry will gather their personal treats as usual," said Mrs. Williams. "We don't want to spoil innocent fun."

Mrs. Williams said the Unicef solicitors would carry "peck size" bags and would conduct their drive from 6 o'clock until 7:30 in the evening. Following that the committee will give them a Halloween party with refreshments.

Eight Take National Merit Examinations

Eight Ord high school students spent most of Tuesday taking examinations for the National Merit Awards scholarships. The awards, which provide college grants of up to $5,000 are given to the top 500 out of some half million high school seniors in the United States, who in turn are the tops scholastically in their classes.

Taking the local exams were Judi Turek, Deanna Carson, Susan Zikmund, Robert Ptacnik, Alice Bulha, Dave Pokraka, Barbara Goshorn and Frank Clark.

Local Irrigation Wells to be Tested

Dean Axthelm, extension irrigationist, will check wells on the Anton Kluna and Frank Novak farms Friday, October 25th.

The Kluna well will be tested in the forenoon and the Novak well in the afternoon. Readings of the well draw down, pump and engine rpm and water discharge and fuel consumption allow an efficiency reading to be made. This is checked against a standard to determine whether or not the unit is performing efficiently.

Any or all well owners or operators are invited to attend either one or both demonstrations says County Agent Bob Perry.

Information obtained from a test of this kind besides checking the power and pump efficiency is valuable for the conservation of water or for selecting the proper type of distribution system.

The 22nd annual Rooters Day at the University of Nebraska will be held Nov. 1 on the College of Agriculture campus at Lincoln.

"Lost" Child On Way Home

Ord firemen turned out Thursday evening to hunt a lost child but before the volunteers could start their search the boy, Danny Acamek, turned up at a local filling station, riding his bicycle, and was sent home in a hurry. Danny's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Acamek, had become alarmed when the youngster was long overdue at home, and when phone calls and their own search failed to find the boy had asked the department for aid.

Danny? "Well, I was on my way home," he told Service Oil employees. "I'll bet I catch it when I get there."

Ord High In Atomic Study Field

Ord high school is entering the atomic age.

As the result of the school's participation in a national science teaching improvement program, it was notified that it would receive two Geiger counters, two radiation survey meters, two dosimeter charges and two dosimeters.

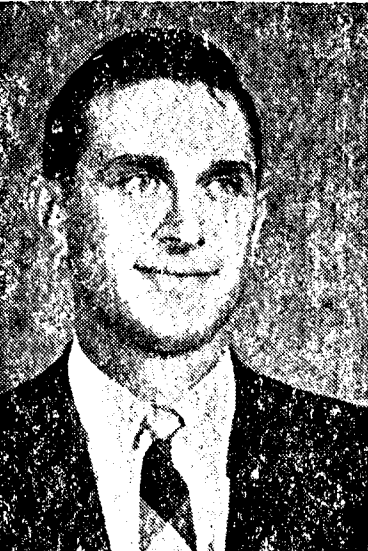

The equipment is the gift of Carnegie corporation. It becomes permanent property of the school but in case of emergency the school will make the instruments available to the local Civil Defense unit.

Ord was one of 39 schools in Nebraska selected to receive the equipment. According to superintendent Nels Sullivan the equipment will be used to accelerate the four-year mathematics and science programs of the school and provide new outlets of study and training to equip pupils for the atomic age.

Rev. Dale D. Leshner, pastor of the local Assembly of God church, invites the public to this special missionary service.

Never make last-second moves in traffic, says the Safety Crusade. Otherwise, you can create a bottleneck or cause an accident.

Strep Epidemic Hits Ord

While the Asian flu epidemic has not as yet hit Ord officially, nearly ten percent of the pupils in Ord public schools are out of classes this week because of illness.

Dr. Otis Miller, city physician, told the Quiz Wednesday that the cause was respiratory streptococcus infection rather than Asian flu.

"That makes it all the more dangerous," he said, "as many people ignore the signs, and several have wound up with pneumonia before they asked for medical attention."

Symptoms are coughing, a cold and fever, he said. The strep infections can be checked with antibiotics which have no appreciable effect on Asian flu.

Dr. Miller says residents should be suspicious of severe head and body aches, high or below normal temperatures, loss of appetite with or without vomiting, coughs or sore throat. He warned against self-diagnosis saying symptoms can vary with the individual.

Five cases of Asian flu have been reported in the local area, according to Dr. R. J. Lynn, county physician. Four were from Ord and the other from Burwell. Dr. Lynn said that there is lots of influenza in the area, but that only five are the Asiatic type. "We don't have a Flu epidemic as yet," he said.

Hospital Sets Birth Record

While Valley county farmers are hunting for room to store their record crops, Mother Nature is producing a record crop of babies at the Ord Hospital.

During the week 14 youngsters arrived, including a set of twin boys, the most for any week since the hospital's founding.

Infant No. 14 arrived just as the Quiz went to press today. She was the child of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Granger of North Loup. The father is stationed in Korea and Mrs. Granger, nee Jeanette Williams, is making her home with her parents.

Ten of the proud parents came from Ord, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Edgill, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fish, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Karre, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miska, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Collins, Rev. and Mrs. Dale Leshner and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Finley. Mr. and Mrs. Rene Dubas are from Elyria and Mr. and Mrs. Marion Lipinski are from Comstock.

Six of the new offsprings are girls, eight are boys. For details see "Stork Feathers" in another column of this issue.

Geranium Irrigation Petitions Signed

Signing of petitions for the inclusion of some 4,000 acres in the Geranium area in the proposed Twin Loups Reclamation District is proceeding at a good rate, according to F. J. L. Benda, a promulgator of the project.

Benda said that a fourth of the signatures had been obtained but that muddy roads and sickness had hampered the job. Serving with Benda are Rudolph Krahulik and Henry Desmul.

Monday night, some forty farmers and landowners in the area churned through muddy roads and rain to attend a meeting at National Hall to hear the project explained by field men of the Bureau of Reclamation.

School Dedication Date November 12

Tuesday, Nov. 12, has been set as a tentative date for the formal dedication of the new Ord high school and auditorium, according to Nels Sullivan, superintendent of schools.

A speaker has not as yet been named. Ord high school graduates from over the country are expected to gather here for the occasion.

District Governor Talks to Ord Rotary

H. K. Douthitt, Curtis district governor of Rotary, was a featured speaker Monday night at a meeting of Rotarians and their wives at Harmony House.

The new governor, just back from a European trip where he attended the international convention of the service club in Lucerne, Switzerland, told the highlights of his trip and compared European philosophy of living with that of the United States.

Now in his 25th year as superintendent of the Nebraska School of Agriculture at Curtis, he was especially interested in European educational and farming methods and told his audience of how his own school building compared with classrooms at Eton, which he said had been built several hundred years ago, and not cleaned or redecorated in the last hundred.

"But, they told me," he said, "that those dingy old rooms had produced a Winston Churchill, a Marshall Field, and dozens of others. Which convinces me that the ability of the teachers and students combined are more important than physical facilities."

Mr. Douthitt also sketched aims and objects of Rotary and characterized the six spokes of Rotary wheel as six avenues of service to a community.

Regents Exams for Scholarships Nov. 6

Examination time is scheduled Nov. 6 for Valley county high school seniors in the upper quarter of their class.

More than 3,000 seniors in 430 Nebraska high schools will take the University of Nebraska Regents' test, upon which granting of scholarships for next fall are based. Marjorie Johnston, associate dean of Student Affairs, said today.

The examination will be given by each individual high school. For the top-ranking scorers, 300 Regent scholarships, valued at $100 per year, will be available, plus 62 additional educational grants, ranging in value from $60 to $140. Most other donor scholarships for freshmen, such as the two four-year General Motors awards, are based on the scores of the tests.

Four Ord high school students were given Regent's scholarships last year.

Colder Predicted; Hunters Elated

Loup river area duck hunters are happy over a prediction of chiller weather, with north winds and snow flurries, for the days immediately ahead.

Recent warm, drizzling rains have not been productive of waterfowl for most scattergun toters. "Since Saturday duck hunting has been 'lousy' according to Walt Douthitt, who hunts on the Calamus. Until then good kills of teal were being made and a few larger ducks taken."

While not as euphatic as Douthitt, other local hunters say the waterfowl spot has been a bit slow.

Some geese are being seen and Monday morning Bob Acamek and Vern Andersen knocked three Huteches out of a big flock. Others have reported getting singles. No big kills have been made. No Canada geese have been reported in the area.

The Oct. 22-29 period in, most years sees a big flight of bluebirds, redheads, gadwalls, Dakota and sandhill mallards go down the Loup rivers, so local nimrods are geared for action.

"Go Ahead" Given for Great Plains Plan

Top Musician Coming Here

He is Alfred Gallodoro, New York, known as a "triple-threat" reed instrumentalist.

The band clinic will draw some 300 musicians here from surrounding high schools. The groups will practice and get in individual and group instruction during the day, then will give a massed concert in the evening.

Information on Weddings

The Quiz would like to restate a policy of timeliness on wedding and anniversary writeups and pictures.

We like very much to run complete and detailed stories of these events while they are news. We like to accompany them with pictures when possible. We make no charge for this, even though the engravings of the pictures cost us several dollars.

But we do not believe our readers are interested, and we know that we are not interested in printing stories of these events that are a week or several weeks old. Occasionally we may print a small story giving essential details, but that is all.

Best way to insure your wedding and anniversary story appearing in full detail is to make arrangements for it when you call at the Quiz to arrange for the printing of your wedding announcements or invitations, or at least see that we are supplied with all details before the next issue appearing after the event.

Chants Slip Past Loup City, 19-12; To Face Three Foes in Nine Days

The Ord Chanticleers retained their Indian sign on the Red Raiders of Loup City, Friday when the Chants scratched out a 19-12 win with Vasicek, Dunlap and Hornickel sharing scoring honors. Gappa and Hegarty were the bright spots for the Raiders, making life miserable for the Chants on passes.

This Wednesday evening the Chants met Ravenna on the latter's gridiron. Ravenna pressed strong Minden to the limit, 7-6, and last week breezed past Ansley, 34-6. Monday, the Chants travel to Albion for a make-up Central Ten conference game with the Albion Cardinals. Next week, on Friday, they host Gothenburg. Thus, the Chants face a Herculean task as result of game postponement earlier in the season.

Chants Score Quickly

Loup City took the opening kickoff but after advancing the pigskin to their own 32, were forced to punt. Putting the ball in play on Ord's 43-yard stripe, Dunlap fired a pass to Schamp good for 30 yards to the Red Raider 20. Loup City drew a five yard penalty and Dunlap made it a first down to the 9 yard marker. After two more tries, Dunlap went over the goal line for the first TD. Hornickel converted the PAT and Ord led, 7-0.

The Chants once again held the Raiders and forced the visitors to punt to the Ord 46. With Hornickel leading the way, the Chants drove all the way to their second TD, Hornickel scoring from the six yard stripe. In the drive, Dunlap broke loose for 16 yards on a keeper.

Pokraka is Cross Country Nebraska Individual King

Running the 1.9 mile Pioneer's park course in 10:44 at Lincoln, Saturday, Dave Pokraka edged Omaha North's Tom Ash for the Nebraska prep individual cross-country crown. It was the second straight time that an Ord Chant had won the crown, Tuck Mason being an easy winner last year. It was also the second time Ash had placed second.

Ord is Fifth

Omaha North captured the team title, edging Valentine, 47 to 48. Kearney placed third with 60, Hastings fourth with 67, and Ord was fifth with 72. Boys Town, Henderson, Crofton and Bellevue trailed in that order. Lincoln school entries failed to place.

Ray Wojtaske was 13th, Robert Ptacek 38th, Galen Anderson 40th, and William Martin 46th.

Pheasant Season To Get Underway Sat.

Nebraska's 31st annual pheasant season gets underway Saturday, Oct. 26, with the overall outlook considered most favorable throughout the state.

Nebraska's first hunting season occurred in nearby Wheeler and Sherman counties when 5,000 birds were bagged in a three day hunt season. Since then, Nebraska has become one of the finest pheasant hunting areas in the nation.

The season will last for 30 days, through Nov. 24, and shooting hours are from sunrise to sunset each day, a departure from previous years.

Lloyd Vance, chief of the Game division of the Nebraska Game Commission, points out that the nesting success this year was 14% as compared with 11% last year.

Taking note of the fact that improved cover conditions for pheasants as result of this year's rains, Vance believes that this will be beneficial for both the dog hunter and the man who must hunt without a dog.

A check of hunters in Valley county indicates that the cover is so heavy that an air of uncertainty reigns as to the ease that hunters will readily find pheasants plentiful. There has been much in crease, however, in interest in hunting and more are buying hunting permits in preparation for the hunt, Saturday.

According to the laws of Nebraska, a pheasant hunter is allowed to take three cock birds a day, and to have six birds in his possession. In possession includes what is in the deep freeze, in the refrigerator or anywhere else.

Burwell-Ord Chick Game Postponed

Sportsmen's Gossip —

WOODS 'n' WATERS

By Spud Kapustka

Dear Quiz:

With the opening of the pheasant and a newcomer, the bobwhite season a couple of sleeps away the hunting fever will receive the sedative in the form of a couple of miles of walking or more. I have heard many pros and cons on this new quail season and I must say more cons, as it is in any controversy. The boys opposed to the opening are readily expressing themselves and the guppers in favor aren't saying much.

What attributed to the sudden increase in quail population is the previous mild winter. Heavy snows and severe cold will take its toll of these little birds. I'm also inclined to speculate a bit on the fact that the decrease in pheasant population may have had some effect on the survival of the quail. As the oldtimers remember in the twenties and before the pheasant was introduced into our middle west the quail were plentiful and so were the grouse. We know that the ridgeback is the aggressive type of bird and how much harm he does in disrupting the nesting of the more timid is hard to tell. Nevertheless the quail population is here and the harvesting of them, I can see no particular harm. The hunter that will stalk these birds in the manner a good sportsman should, cannot possibly cause any great depletion in the species. It's the boy that will pot shoot the buzz bombs in a snow storm that can disrupt the routine of survival of these birds.

In the southeastern part of our state where the quail is hunted year after year, the population seems to hold up good under the pressure. It is a known fact that a covey of quail will destroy or reduce their numbers through inbreeding and a healthy dispersal will assist in propagation of the birds. This can be done only through the hunting of them in a sportsman like manner.

There would be very few blue wing or green wing teal killed on our river if they would not be inclined to fly in tight formations when coming down the river. This, any duck hunter will admit. The quail being an upland bird does not have this characteristic and provides one of the most evasive targets in the scattergun sport and his chances of surviving a blast of shot from an average gunner are about 5 to 1 or even higher.

Huskies Get Their 27th Straight Win

The Arcadia Huskies, behind 7-0 at the close of the first quarter, bounced back to tally three TDs in the second period and went on to defeat the Lifechild Pirates, 34-14, at Arcadia Friday.

Joe McDonald broke the scoring ice for the Huskies in the second period on a 30 yard TD gallop. Don Holeman ran for 10 yards to get the second TD and Gene Hawley raced 45 yards for the final TD before the half ended.

In the third period, Holeman fired a pass to Hawley good for 30 yards and another Huskie TD. McDonald completed the scoring parade with a 12 yard jaunt in the final period.

The win was the sixth of the current season and the 27th in a row for the Valley county crew. Arcadia travels to Scotts Wednesday for what may prove to be their toughest test of the season.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Zulkoski of Loup City were Thursday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Osentowski.

Darrell Johnsons Visiting in Ord

Yankee catcher and Mrs. Darrell Johnson and daughters, Dara Kay and Denise, arrived in Ord last Wednesday from New York City. They plan to visit Darrell's sister, Mrs. F. J. Osentowski, and brother, Roland, as well as friends here during the next two weeks before going onto their home in Richmond, Calif.

Darrell has been spending part of the time going hunting with relatives and friends.

Chant Cagers Again Class A; NHSAA in Reclassifications

After an absence of one year, Ord Chanticleer cagers again will be competing in Class A basketball this coming season. C. C. Thompson, former Ord superintendent and now secretary of the Nebraska High School Activities Association, released overall male enrollment figures of Nebraska schools late last week.

Ord, with Kearney and Lincoln Plus, are the new Class A schools. Kearney dropped from Class AA, with Lincoln Southeast moving up to AA. Auburn and Albion dropped from Class A into Class B.

Omaha Westside is the largest Class A school, Ainsworth the smallest. Omaha Holy Name is the defending class champion and will be one of the regular season rivals that the Chanticleers will play. That game will be played at Omaha.

Teams which will participate in Class A regional tournaments are Alliance, Curtis, Gothenburg, Holdrege, Cozad, Lexington, Kearney, Valentine, Gering, Ogallala, McCook, Lincoln Plus, Crete, Seward, York, Falls City, Nebraska City, Fairbury, Broken Bow, Ainsworth, Ord, Schuyler, South Sioux City, Columbus, Norfolk, Blair, Bellevue, Plattsmouth, Omaha Cathedral, Omaha Westside, and Omaha Holy Name.

Arcadia, Taylor, and Greeley-Sawell Heart remain in Class C. Burwell is in Class B and North Loup again is in Class E.

Due to the number of towns along the Central Platte Valley region, it is possible that Ord could play a tourney in which South Sioux City, Schuyler, Norfolk and Columbus are assigned.

NL Homecoming is Spoiled by Cairo

Taking advantage of Challenger fumbles and miscues in the first period, Cairo scored three quick TDs and a safety, then held off a spirited second half rally to win a 29-24 victory over the North Loup Challengers, Thursday.

Challenger Robert Lundstedt, assisted by Don Dierberger, climaxed halftime ceremonies by crowning Thelma White as Homecoming Day queen.

Cairo scored its first TD on a 39 yard run by Gene Hadenfeldt. Moments later, Roger Barry rambled 20 yards for another TD on a pass play and then added another TD as result of a Challenger fumble. A safety gave the Skins two more points.

North Loup broke into the scoring column late in the first period on a 40 yard TD pass from Williams to Lundstedt.

Rodney Miller drove across for Cairo's final TD early in the second quarter and from then on, the Challengers settled down and contained the Cairo offense.

With less than two minutes to play, North Loup picked up their second TD in a 12 yard run by Lundstedt, and with the PAT being converted, trimmed the margin to 29-13.

Lundstedt nearly got away for another TD with seconds remaining, slipping on the 14 yard stripe after a 50 yard gallop just as the gun sounded.

Bottling up the Redskin offense time after time, the first break came for the Challengers when they recovered a Cairo fumble in the fourth period and Williams tossed a 14-yard pass on fourth down to Lundstedt to score.

After each team was unable to launch a sustained drive, Lundstedt broke loose for another TD just before the gun sounded.

Williams, Lundstedts and Worrell looked best for the Challengers while Roger Barry and Rodney Miller looked best for the Redskins.

Temper flared momentarily in the fourth period, with Allen Simmons of Cairo leaving the game as result of a personal foul.

Comstock Drops Ord Bowl Loop

Tale Spins

by Ken Stevens

Last February when I threw the copy for the first Tale Spins on Ed Apking's desk and told him I'd like to write a little aviation column through the summer, I had no idea if it would find the copy hook or file 13. And I had no idea if anyone would read it. But Tale Spins made Quiz columns, and within a week or two I found I had more readers than I had even dared to hope.

I must confess that you were subjected to the writings of a rank amateur in the journalism field, but I believe Tale Spins has served the purpose I had intended for it.

It was intended to bring people a little closer to aviation, to let you know what was going on at the airport and why. To let you know that because mortal man could fly off with the birds, he possessed no talents not common to all the human race. And to attempt to prove that because a man divides his affection's between his wife and a little airplane, he was not necessarily crazy.

Through the past months I have talked a lot of you into asking for an airplane ride. Some of them with me, some with other pilots. And, to those who didn't come to the airport, you rode with me through the columns of the Quiz. We saw the North Loup Valley on a spring evening, we flew around a thunder storm in southwest Nebraska, we have taken several cross country trips and even went on a search and rescue mission.

We'll patch up the cracks in the old T-Craft to keep out the cold winter wind, put the winter front on the engine and fly right on through. We'll find out some of the advantages and disadvantages of winter flying, learn a little more about the sport in general and meet face to face some more of our local pilots. Or, just as the name implies, "Spin some Tales."

Speaking for all the pilots in the Ord vicinity, we are very fond of this hobby we have picked for ourselves, and want to kindle the same interest in others. We have one of few two phase sports. Not only is it our recreation, but in time of need we can help others. But the help we really WANT to give is to open the door for more to enter the wonderful sport of flying.

SPORTS Rehash . . .

Having slipped past the Red Raiders of Loup City, Coach Bill Gogan's Chants face the resurging Ravenna eleven this Wednesday evening; then travel to Albion, Monday, in a Central Ten conference game before returning home to entertain the Gothenburg Swedes, Friday, Nov. 1.

Whether the Chants will go through the season unbeaten until they have their date with Aurora's Huskies may well be decided at Albion, which has frequently spoiled an unbeaten record of the Chants—they did so to Helmut Brockman's lads in the '30s, for instance.

At least two new touches were added this week. Evidently seeking to get the pesky Red Raiders definitely out of his hair, Coach Bill Gogan finally broke down and has followed the trend, a crew-cut.

Then Gregg McBride came up with a surprise Tuesday. He finally rated the Chants—in eighth position in his World-Herald Class B selections.

While attending the North Loup Homecoming game last Thursday, learned from Gil Babcock that former Chanticleer Ron Babcock, now a midshipman at Annapolis Naval Academy, received a severe kidney injury while playing fullback on the 13th Battalion team two weeks ago. He is not expected to be out of the hospital for two more weeks and it has been suggested that his former Chant acquaintances send him a note or card. Ron still follows the progress of the Chant eleven with much interest.

It's about time! Recently we mentioned that Orval Woods of Arcadia had never missed an Arcadia athletic event at home or away in 42 years. At halftime last Friday, Supt. Frank Robbins formally presented a permanent lifetime pass to Woods good for all athletic activities sponsored by the Arcadia school.

Last week, we commented that Ord's major interest in Saturday activities at Lincoln would be centered on the Nebraska high school cross-country championships and notably Dave Pokraka.

Pokraka never let the Chant fans down one moment and there was no prouder fellow on the Ord streets that afternoon than his coach, W. W. Parks. Seems that Parks was unable to make the trek to "Sower city" what with a new arrival at the Parks household and had to delegate Allen Bellingier to act as chauffeur. Parks was also nursing a case of dishwasher hands.

What with pheasant hunting season scheduled to get underway, the Quiz Bill Lee is all primed to get his share of birds with his pet, Pat—however let us caution Bill not to do what happened to another prominent Nebraska hunter.

This one had a dachshund called Gus. Seems that his master and Gus were out in the country someplace in a pickup and Gus was left behind in the cab when the master stopped, shutting the doors and windows so that Gus couldn't roam.

That apparently wounded Gus' pride because he proceeded to push down on the door locks and when his master came back to the car, he was locked out and had to break a window to get a door open.

Recently, Bill locked Pat in the convertible and Pat, evidently a bit put out, proceeded to rip Bill's coat to shreds which Bill had left behind in the car.

'Twas a sure fire demonstration, Dean! Tuesday afternoon, Dean Misko was showing an automatic shotgun to Yankee catcher Darrell Johnson, who is vacationing here after the baseball season, and to J. B. Ferguson and Guy Burrows at his sports shop.

In response to their urgings, Dean was showing how the shell ejector mechanism worked when b-o-o-m, one, shell discharged, blasting a two-inch hole in the 14-foot steel ceiling and second floor flooring before spraying its pellets in the 10-foot second floor ceiling.

Somewhere along the line, the safety catch had slipped. With that, Dean and Darrell decided it was safer to head for the blinds in search of some ducks and geese.

Mrs. Moore told police the youth came to her house about 7 p.m. Friday to collect for the newspaper. She paid him and turned to put change in her purse. The boy then began stabbing her with a hunting knife.

She tried to fight off the boy, she said, and then screamed. The youth stopped and said, "I don't know why I did it. Please don't tell anyone!" He then left on foot.

Mrs. Moore called a neighbor who phoned police for an ambulance. The boy was picked up later and told police he intended to rob the woman but took no money from her.

Chanticleers Romp Past Albion, 27-0; Face Gothenburg Swedes Here Friday

The Ord Chanticleers romped to an easy 27-0 triumph Monday over the hapless Albion Cardinals in a Central Ten conference tilt. It was the last road trip for the Chants this season and set the stage for next week's championship battle with the Aurora Huskies for the Central Ten crown.

Gerald Dunlap took over the starring role as the plucky quarterback scored twice in the third quarter and lugged the pigskin for 119 yards in 10 tries. Coach Gogan swept the bench after the Chants scored their final touchdown early in the fourth quarter.

Friday, the Chanticleers entertain the highly regarded Gothenburg Swedes in what should be the tightest contest of the season. With some players bruised from the Ravenna-Albion encounters, Coach Bill Gogan has avoided any contact work in preparation for the tilt.

Vasicek Goes Over
After two Chant drives were stopped by the Albion Cardinals deep in Albion territory, the Chants scored their first TD on a sustained drive with Vasicek going over. Schamp converted the PAT on a pass play.

Playing without the services of Kent Hornickel, the Chants were unable to get a sustained drive going in the second quarter and the quarter was played in stalemated fashion.

Shortly after the third quarter got underway, Dunlap broke loose on a keeper and rambled 35 yards for a touchdown but the PAT attempt failed.

Dunlap again scored a few minutes later after he made a 22 yard gallop on another keeper to the one yard line, scoring on a sneak play. Osewowski, who was playing in place of Hornickel, plunged for the PAT.

Gogan Sweeps Bench
The Chants' final TD came when Vasicek passed to Bundy for 17

NL Challengers Hit Rockville, 26-12; Play Boelus Thurs.

The North Loup Challengers won their fourth game of the season by clobbering the Rockville Tigers, 26-12, last Thursday night. It was the last home game of the season for the Challengers who close out their schedule this week by traveling to Boelus.

Originally, the Challengers were to have played Boelus in the opening game of the season but heavy rains forced postponement. A win for the Challengers would give them at least a second place tie in the Central Loup conference.

Challengers Score Early
Shortly after the opening kickoff, Robert Lundstedt tallied the first North Loup TD on a sustained march down the field. The try for the PAT was blocked by the Tigers.

A few minutes later, Worrell romped 30 yards across the goal line for the second Challenger TD, but again the PAT try failed. Rockville did not threaten seriously in the first quarter but midway in the second period, Wilson ran 60 yards for the first Tiger TD. The score at halftime found North Loup leading, 12-6.

Lundstedt, Worrell Sparkle
After neither team was able to make any progressive attack in the early minutes of the third period, Williams flipped a pass to Lundstedt for the Challengers' third TD. Lundstedt ran for the extra point, giving the Challengers a 19-6 third quarter lead.

During the last quarter Worrell recovered a fumble behind the goal line for the Challengers' fourth touchdown. Worrell then ran for the PAT.

Smolla came right back for the Rockville Tigers, running 60 yards for a touchdown, leaving the score at 26-12.

Coming off the bench, Dean Williams directed the Challengers in another scoring drive but time ran out as North Loup neared pay dirt.

Arcadia Captures Loup Valley Crown; Down Scotia, 14-0

The undefeated Arcadia Huskies captured the Loup Valley conference crown, Monday, as they halted an inspired Scotia Tiger eleven, 14-0, at Scotia. The game, postponed from last Wednesday due to an outbreak of flu, was the seventh straight win of the current season. It stretched the Arcadia win streak to 28 games without a tie.

ERICSON LIVESTOCK MARKET Sale Starts 1:00 P. M.

4,500 Extra Choice CALVES and YEARLINGS Special Calf & Feeder Auction Friday, Nov. 1st at Burwell

This Friday is expected to be one of our larger Sales of the Season, and it could be the largest. We have a wonderful consignment of top quality calves and yearlings, coming from many of the larger Ranches, including some of the best calves and yearlings of the season. Sale will start at 11 A.M. sharp.

Even with bad roads and adverse weather conditions, consignments at our Sale last Friday were the second largest for the season. Prices on yearling heifers and heavy steers were considerably higher but just a little weaker on the better calves and lighter weight steers. The weather had considerable effect on the market last Friday, as these good calves and yearlings did not look as fresh as they have been. A large share of the buyers this past week were from a long distance, with buyers from Illinois taking a good amount of the cattle. These buyers had started to the Sale several days early and had already reached this state before hearing about the bad weather and road conditions, while many of the buyers in Eastern Nebraska stayed home this past week as they did not figure the cattle could get in for the Auction.

(The following are some of the weights and prices as taken from the records of the Sale last Friday, October 25th.

Farm - Ag Tips

By Bob Perry

Valley County Agricultural Agent

One of those days

How many of you have a day gone in a while like mine Thursday? When I returned from duck hunting, the old whoopee ran out of gas a block from home. As I walked in the door the phone rang. Loup City was calling to see if their agent could ride home from Kearney with me. I'd forgotten completely about the meeting. A mad dash to Kearney to get brought up to date on soils recommendations. No snow there but everything white at Loup City where I discovered part of the car's swerving had been caused by a very low tire.

Home at five thirty where I learn that Mrs. Jan Pokraka was to be at the high school at five thirty to make coffee and the door was locked. After discovering that the Chevy was tired from the Kearney jaunt and wouldn't start, I walk to the school as Richard Pried drove up to open the door. We check things over—find the coffee pot and look at the record player. No needle for the record player and no records. A phone call fixed that so I go home to change for the Achieve-

Transition Arpa Study Group

It has been my privilege to sit in on the monthly meetings at Loup City twice in the last two months with the group that are putting their heads together to study the problems of this particular area.

Sometimes the complexity of the situation seems to lead us in a very circular path but occasionally a gleam shows through the fog that makes us believe there is hope.

Six separate areas of study have been selected on which to spend more time and effort and on which to make comments and suggestions. Three of these will be investigated this winter, school problems, the farming pattern of the future and family living requirements. The other three, credit and finance, industrial possibilities, and the rural church will be studied later.

The committee on farming patterns for the future at the conclusion of their first meeting were agreed on the following observations:

1. Misuse of land causes much of the problem of the transition area. Any farming pattern of the future must necessarily include proper land use to be successful.

2. Pattern of farming for the area is related to the potential irrigation development.

3. Native pastures are the most abused land resource in area.

4. Finance needs for future farms will be greater than now. Professional farm management as a part of credit service will be more common. Credit may be of a different nature than now offered.

5. Cost of living requirements for farm families will increase. A larger farm will probably be needed to meet the cost of living needs.

6. Dairy enterprises will be limited in number. Nature of feed production and limited market contributing factors.

7. The type of agriculture education may change to meet the need for training in fields related to agriculture but not specifically for farming.

Higher operating costs tend to speed specialization.

The committee requested that they be furnished with additional information including: 1. Correlated study of available ground water and soil capability map. 2. More definite information on how specialization works in other areas in the chicken, hog and cattle business. 3. More cost information on machine operation and overall production costs. 4. Expected returns from different types of beef operations for comparison. 5. More information on leases.

The area committee members from Valley County are Mrs. Wallace Coats, Ed Armstrong, Don Cleumet and myself. Any of us welcome an opportunity to discuss agriculture and community problems with others and will carry your ideas to the entire group.

Senior Citizens Recognized

Down at Hastings, a revolutionary concept in providing care for the senior citizens of Nebraska is taking shape.

The Lutheran Good Samaritan Society is purchasing 419 World War II housing units from the city of Hastings, and will convert the units into retirement and nursing homes for the aged. Twenty of the units will be ready by the first of the year. The Lutheran group plans to ultimately develop a real geriatrics center capable of caring for 1500 persons.

The facilities are not run-down wooden barracks. They are of cement block construction and are practically fireproof. Rents will vary from $75 to $175 a month. Some of the guests will undoubtedly be charitable cases, but they will be the minority. There will be facilities for men, women, married couples and older married couples with widowed, handicapped or bachelor children.

The project has already received hundreds of inquiries from elderly couples who wish to retire voluntarily, using their own funds to live among persons of their own age group.

The retirement and medical care of the aged—our senior citizens—is possibly our biggest unsolved domestic problem. It is a humanitarian problem that needs both warmth, companionship, and Christianity in its solution.

No longer are aging parents cared for by their children or living with their children in the tradition of the past. In too many cases, this has become a responsibility of the county, with occasionally, a few children giving lip-service to the request that they aid in support of indigent parents.

Recent court cases in Valley county, and all too many behind the scenes wrangles in our public welfare administration have proven, if anything, that the need is perhaps greater in sparsely settled areas like our county than it is elsewhere.

And more and more of our senior citizens are approaching old age by anticipating this new philosophy of "let the county do it," and are discussing voluntary association with others with similar interests and financial circumstances. Most of these wish to pay a reasonable amount for their accommodations. The capital costs of co-operative apartments and living quarters are beyond their means.

The opportunity of being able to rent or utilize really congenial retirement housing with others of kindred interest would be welcomed by scores of eligibles and their families in this community.

At the same time we must note, that for nearly a year, our Ord Hospital has been bursting a bit at the seams. The time is not too far off when it must, of necessity, be expanded. The time may be here, today!

This editor can envision a combination of these circumstances resulting in a happy solution.

This would take the form of an expanded hospital with perhaps double present facilities. At the same time, wings could be added to provide geriatric care for our senior citizens who are disabled, and motel-like apartments and rooms for those who do not require constant nursing attention and are able to care for themselves, for the most part.

Communal facilities for hobbies such as gardening, sewing, handicrafts, carpentry could be easily provided, along with recreational facilities of the type enjoyed mostly by our senior citizens. Privacy would be a matter of choice by the guests.

The combination of these two institutional needs would ensure economical operation by non-duplicating essentials such as heating, kitchens, laundry. At the same time, the senior citizens would have insurance against their biggest mental hazard, that of being sick with no one to care for them.

Such a project is too big to be handled by one church, one club, one town or even one community. Rather it should be a county-wide project—perhaps even more than one county.

And this editor thinks it important enough to deserve thoughtful and timely attention by our people.

New Job for Spooks

Among the flood of "news articles", pictures, mails, and propaganda in one form or another that comes to every editor's desk is a little folder on Halloween and Unicef.

Unicef, if you remember, is that new fangled idea to take the fun out of Halloween and have the kids solicit money to supplement foreign aid. Regardless of what you might think of the idea (this editor has his own ideas and promised not to restate them this year) the figures put out by the organization offer some interesting comparisons.

A single inflated U. S. 54 cent dollar is supposed to buy:

- Enough penicillin to cure 20 children suffering from syphilis, or;
  - Enough antibiotics to cure three children of trachoma, or;
  - Enough BCG vaccine to protect 100 children from tuberculosis, or;
  - Enough sulfone to treat a child with leprosy.
- If all this is true, somewhere along the line someone must have completely shattered the ethical cash clause of the Hippocrates oath.

Loan Fund Needed

Last week's Quiz told of eight Ord high school students competing for national scholarship awards and also told of coming examinations for scholarships at the University of Nebraska.

Which points up the urgent need for financial assistance by the average high school youngster if he or she is to obtain a college education. Not every one can carry a private work load at school along with studies to pay part of the costs. The cost of a college year—$1500 is average—is more than a lot of parents can stand. And scholarships at the best, pay only a small portion of the load.

The University Regents' scholarships for example, pay less than half of one year's tuition, or less than ten percent of a year's educational expense.

You can make the comment, "Well, the kids don't have to live as high as that."

All of which is true in a sense. However, using the University for a criterion, one can easily arrive at nearly a thousand dollars a year of essential expense, in the form of tuition, board and room, books, all of which are obtained from the university at set prices.

Add clothing, travel expense, laundry and a bit of medical care and the college student doesn't have much left of the $1500 for "high living."

What can we do about it?

For parents, the answer is, simply dig a little deeper, do without, obtain extra income.

For the youngsters, get a job in the summer and save your money, supplement your income in school with a job, keep a firm clutch on the purse strings.

For the general taxpayer, if you are concerned about the education of our young America, dig a little deeper.

There's a fourth method, and one that could well be adopted in Ord and hundreds of other towns.

That's the establishment of a scholarship-loan fund, to help deserving kids whose parents don't have the income.

Last spring a group of us passed the hat and obtained funds to pay the tuition of one deserving youngster who couldn't have made it to college otherwise. A few local organizations, including Rotary, PEO, Farm Bureau have some funds available to help kids but only limited amounts.

As this editor sees it, scholarships aren't as necessary as loans that can be paid back after graduation. Establishing a loan fund here could well be the means of giving higher education to many bright kids who wouldn't get it otherwise. And eventually it should be self sustaining.

Rutted Roads May Be Farm Personality Key

After a close investigation Sunday, I am ready to say that there are, as many different kinds of ruts as there are farmer personalities.

There are the straight kind that run up the center of the road like a surveyor's line. They are made by the farmer who is a bug about keeping everything orderly around the place, or the farmer who is always hanging a cloth mark on the fence so he can plow a straight furrow.

Then there are the Wandering Jew kind of ruts that sashay from this side of the road to the other. They are made by the money farmer who keeps comparing his corn with the neighbors on the other side.

Then there are the ruts that run half way down the road, stop, turn around and go back to the house. These ruts are either made by a farmer who forgets, or a farmer who is henpecked, I can just see him turning the tractor around while his wife shakes her fist at him from the back porch.

The worst ruts of all that I saw Sunday were down around Edgar Roe's place. Somewhere near Edgar lives, it may be Edgar himself, an exuberant farmer.

The ruts here went twenty paces down the road then turned into several circles as the tractor did a do-si-do and Allemande left. The routine was repeated for about a half mile.

"This farmer," I said to my hunting companion, "was really feeling good. Look at the way those ruts waltz around."

"Yep," said my companion, "but it is hard to tell whether the ruts were made by the farmer Sunday morning when he got up feeling good, or Saturday night when he came home — also feeling good!"

"You are SO right," I replied.

Shotgunning my way over the southern limits of Valley county Sunday I believe I have stumbled onto the reason for some of the area's rutted roads.

Practically every primary was rutted—deep craggy affairs that rocked your car like a Ferris wheel carriage. Plenty of them were big enough so that when you drove over them you could feel the rear wheels descend like an elevator, then claw their way up the other side.

Two or three times I was forced to get out of the car and look around. I gave the ruts a good looking over. What I found there caused me to look at several more.

Each told the same story. Each had been fashioned by a set of tractor tires, or the knobby treads of a farm truck.

Musing that information over, I have come to the conclusion that a farmer can't hardly wait until he can get his tractor out and run up a wet road.

The way I picture it, I see him sitting in the kitchen watching it rain. His wife says: "John, what are you watching for?"

John answers: "I am watching for it to quit raining."

"What for?" says the wife.

"So I can get the tractor out," says John, "and drive up and down the wet road."

"Why, do you want to do that?" asks the wife.

"Because," says John, "if I wait too long the road will dry off and I won't be able to make any nice deep ruts!"

So John sits and stares out at the pelting rain.

We hear that the Catholic church people are on a hunt for a suitable location for the erection of a church building in Ord. John Cassidy died very suddenly at the Transit House. Henry Geweke took a plastering outfit out to his Davis Creek farm Monday morning to plaster his new house. He began to build only about four weeks ago. Clearing house certificates were getting scarce, and several people were putting one away as a souvenir of the panic of 1907. Farmer Burns and Jack O'Leary put on a wrestling exhibition at the opera house. Willie Ollis went to Lincoln to enter the state agriculture college. The building formerly occupied by the furniture store has been raised up, and a new foundation put under it.

State Capital News...

Fireworks Starting on Battle of Unions and State Highway Dept.

LINCOLN — More ammunition has been added to the battle which eventually may lead to a showdown on whether the highway construction industry in Nebraska becomen unjuncted.

The fight started slowly, but is building up steam as the mushrooming highway construction program itself gathers momentum.

Union-management fireworks are expected in Lincoln Nov. 20-22, when a special committee of state senators begins looking into the problem of secondary boycotts.

Sen. Ray Simmons of Fremont is committee chairman. Other members are Sen. John Danner of Elgin; Tom Dooley of Papillion; Karl Vogel of Omaha; Sam Klaver of Omaha; Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City and Marvin Lautenschlager of Grand Island.

Originally, the fight in Nebraska began with a demand for the category of "carpenter's helper" be deleted from highway building projects.

The Associated General Contractors Assn., whose members build most of the highways in the state, charged such a move is contrary to prevailing practice and would increase the cost of road construction.

Union leaders say they do not recognize the classification of carpenter's helper.

The move has been interpreted in the Statehouse as an attempt by the unions to try to organize road building in Nebraska.

The union leaders charged the AGC with spreading "false information" via the press media when the AGC said the carpenter's union had signed agreements to make way for Jimmy Hoffa's teamsters on Nebraska road projects.

The AGC has denied it gave out false information. The association said none of our statements are intended to cause the rank and file building industry carpenters in Nebraska, most of whom are honorable men of stature in their communities.

"But," continued the AGC, "We do condemn proposals being made by some of our leaders which would deny workmen in Nebraska the right to join or reject unions and union practices."

To the Editor:

In questioning your editorial in the October 24, Ord Quiz, we wonder why in considering tobacco use, the well-being of the smoker is the ONLY concern. In this so called democratic and Christian nation should we not be wondering how many infants may have been murdered by tobacco saturated homes? Likewise the extent of the damage done to non-users in cases of sinus, tonsils, adenoids, asthma, T.B., bronchial and lung troubles, heart disease and other difficulties?

We know a child that was treated with antibiotics when visitors or smokers spoiled the air, but he did not recover until the smokers left.

We do not know why tobacco smoke can cause a persons throat to swell, head to become congested, eyes to water and the person to strangle. We can avoid poison ivy which may affect the outside of some, but how can we now protect ourselves from the aggressors' tobacco smoke which distresses the insides of us?

All aggressors are not communists even in democracies.

Something Just A Little Bit Different

The old, and vastly over-rated days are passing, when Halloween was another name for Hell-raising. I suppose it was very funny when privies appeared next morning on a well-kept lawn or in the middle of the street.

It was probably comical when a surrey with the fringe properly topping it bloomed from the top of the courthouse or opera house on the morning of Nov. 1, the fruits of arduous hours of work by some poor misguided local yokels who carefully took it all apart, lugged it up and up, then reassembled it to the mystification of all beholders, in a high and prominent place.

Fiendishly funny no doubt, was it when we devilishly dragged heavy beer boxes several blocks and deposited them on the front porch of the town's most eminent W. C. T. U'er, more particularly so since it made her noisily furious and us terrified while we claimed to be coughing.

Foolish, harmless, wasted efforts, amusing to youngsters and young minds, boring to more dignified oldsters.

Tricking and treating doesn't make much sense either.

A harmless entertainment for little tads when duly accompanied by an elder. It represents hours of costume sewing and safety-pinning by Mom. It represents, often, cold fingers and runny noses for little people. The town dogs have a busy evening, excitedly nosing into the sacks of plunder, sharing loot with their little masters almost before it is acquired.

So I think our town and many others have a much better solution this year. Let the small people have their treating and tricking in full costume and full of giggles.

Let the Chamber of Commerce duly sponsor a fine Halloween parade that is just what a parade should be: exciting, fun, colorful, bubbling with children and pets.

(The only bad angle here is that every parading little lad and lass can't have a prize, and every Rover and cunning kitten a fine blue ribbon to wear home.)

And let a collection of pennies be taken up for the thousands and hundreds of thousands of children represented by the work of UNICEF, the United Nations' Children's department. Older girls and boys will be delighted to acquire pennies for their poorer chums all over the world, and older people will give graciously to their little friends who knock in behalf of those little friends who are too far away to knock.

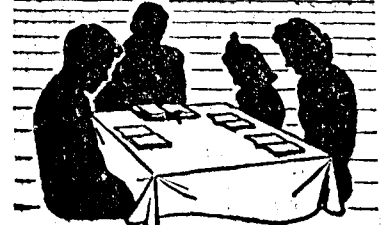

For several years I've admired this program and its work and I know you have also. So isn't it fine that our town has taken it to heart this year and were going to be helping such a good cause? There are so many good causes but this one is so heartwarming.

Probably the only hearts it won't warm will be those of the overworked bankers who have to count the pennies next morning!

—Irma.

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

Read Acts 4:23-31

Where your treasure is, there your heart will be also. (Matthew 6:21.) Possessing a big business and every possible luxury, we busied ourselves in work and money-making. On Sundays we drove to the mountains to our country home, which was surrounded by a large garden. There we toiled all day. But suddenly everything was taken from us.

This great distress led us to reflect upon our lives. The longing for God that had been slumbering deep down in us now became aroused. The grace of our Lord became mighty in us. In the midst of our trials we recognized the loving-kindness of God. We became thankful that we had lost everything upon which our hearts had been set. We recognized in this the leading of God's kind hand.

As the result of losing our earthly possessions, we have time for the Lord. We have learned to pray and to commit to Him all our actions, all our lives. We have gained the peace of God. Now our lives are filled with thanksgiving and an unshakable faith in Christ our Redeemer.

Prayer

Our Father, we find it so easy to forget Thee when we become possessed by our possessions. Forgive us, we pray. Teach us to love and honor Thee, to worship and serve Thee; through the mercy of Christ our Saviour. Amen.

Ouch! Those Fumbles!

Hornickel Whole Show as Chants, in Rally, Down Pesky Ravenna, 14-12

Scoring twice off two costly Chanticleer fumbles, Ravenna threw a mighty scare into the Ord Chants last Wednesday night before bowing, 14-12, two precious PATs by big Kent Hornickel being the margin of victory.

Having shaken off the flu, Kent personally accounted for all points scored by the Chants. The 215-pound fullback ground out 167 of 216 yards gained by the Chants in rushing.

Clark Scores

After Ravenna received the opening kickoff, they were forced to punt near the midfield stripe, Austin returning from his 11 to the 21 yard stripe. Dunlap, Hornickel, and Vasicek alternated carrying the ball, advancing the ball to Ravenna's 30 yard line, where Hornickel fumbled, Ravenna recovering.

Voucher threw a pass to Clark that was good for some 50 yards down to the Ord 19, the Chants holding for down on the 10 yard stripe. Hornickel gained 10 yards in two tries but fumbled on the 20, Ravenna again recovering. Ravenna made it a first down to the Chanticleer nine yard line, then gained another pair of yards before Voucher was dumped on the 16 for an eight yard loss. Voucher then heaved a pass to Clark for the first Ravenna TD.

Highlighted by a Dunlap to schamp pass for 30 yards, the Chants then marched for their TD in the second quarter, Hornickel plunging across from the four and scoring the PAT on another plunge.

Smear Ravenna Attack

The remainder of the first half found the Chants stopping the Ravens cold, the Ravens being smeared for a 26 yd. loss back to their 16 yard line that forced them to punt late in the half. The half ended with the Chants punting to their own 48 yard line after a 15 yard penalty pushed them back to their own nine yard line. Ord led, 7-6, at the half.

Spring Hornickel Loose

Halling a Ravenna drive on their own five yard line when Schamp recovered a Ravenna fumble, the Chants launched another TD drive in the third period. Advancing the ball to the Ord 44, Anderson and Schamp made two key blocks to spring Hornickel loose for 48 yards down to the nine yard line. After Vasicek plunged for two, Hornickel carried the leather across for another TD and converted the PAT to give Ord a 14-6 lead as the period came to an end.

After reeling off a first down,

Blue Bombers Axe Ivan Kaminski

Ivan Kaminski of Arcadia, former Kearney State football tackle, has been cut off the playing roster of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Canadian pro football league team. Former Oklahoma Sooner quarterback, Buddy Leake, also was dropped as the Blue Bombers trimmed their roster to the 12 non-Canadian player limit.

Kaminski had been released last year by the Baltimore Colts during the playing season after an early season injury kept him on the inactive list for two months.

Kaminski's plans for the future have not been announced.

Central Ten West Division Crown Set for Next Week

The stage was set in last week and Monday night make-up games for the show-down battle between the powerful Aurora Huskies and the Ord Chanticleers for the western division crown of the Central Ten loop next week.

Aurora is undefeated in four conference games while the Chants, with their 27-0 triumph over Albion Monday, remain undefeated with three wins.

Columbus, with two wins and no losses, are the eastern conference leaders, undefeated in two conference games.

Tale Spins

by Ken Stevens

A year never slides past but what I run into a story in some magazine or newspaper about famed Amelia Earhart. It has now been over 20 years since Amelia and her silver Lockheed disappeared somewhere in the Pacific. Twenty years since the Navy declared her dead. But never for one minute dead in the hearts of the American people.

It has been about 30 years since Lindy soloed the pond, and nearly 55 since the Wright's escaped at Kitty Hawk, yet these stories still ring enchantment into most ears they fall upon.

These people all flew in and with the best equipment available at the time and although the equipment has changed drastically, people remain the same. Some with the drive to go forward with aviation, some offering resistance.

Aviation has been fortunate to somehow capture the hearts of many of these driving personalities who have penetrated that resistance and made aircraft and flying what they are today.

Some of these have become famous but most of them remain unknown.

Ord has at least one fellow with this vim and vigor toward aviation and toward the Civil Air Patrol. When we organized the squadron last spring, a lot of discussion took place before we elected Bob Lynn to the Commander's post.

Bob is the one who really spearheaded CAP, and he has kept the sharp point driving forward ever since. The job of commander is by no means a small one. It takes hours of work on forms and correspondence (postage out of his own pocket). Hours of study so he can help all his junior officers through tough spots. There are few men who would devote so much time and effort to such a task.

Catch Bob in his office when he isn't with a patient and you will probably find him buried in Civil Air Patrol. Pay for this, you say? Sure, just like the rest of us he pay 10 bucks a year for the privilege of doing it.
