Wekiva High seniors graduate

About 475 Wekiva High School seniors graduated Thursday, May 30, at the UCF Arena. Here, some of the students celebrate as they leave the arena floor after the ceremony that drew thousands of family and friends. In the June 7 edition of The Apopka Chief, we'll have a full page of color pictures from the ceremony, as well as from Apopka High School's graduation, which is today, Friday, May 31, at the UCF Arena.

Apopka students follow state with improvement on FCAT

By Sherry R. Brunson
Apopka Chief Staff

Florida students – Apopka-area students among them – improved their FCAT 2.0 writing scores this year according to a report released by the Florida Department of Education released Friday, May 24. Fourth grade FCAT scores were the most improved by nine points in the percentage of students scoring at 3.5 and above. Grade 8 and grade 10 students increased achievement by two percentage points, and minority student scores also increased. Writing FCATs are given to grades four, eight and 10.

Sean Brown
... Wheatley principal in 2012 to 71 this year.

Many of the Apopka-area schools increased their fourth grade writing scores. Dream Lake Elementary had a large increase in their score from 31 team is very strong and works cohesively as a unit," said Gary Schadow, Dream Lake Elementary principal. "When they sit down and plan, they identify what each child needs to succeed. In addition, this year we added a new teacher whose strength was writing and she added a lot to our success."

Wheatley Elementary Principal Sean Brown said he was extremely pleased in the school's jump from 21 points to 53 points.

"I think all the attention that we have given this year to writing and Saturday school has paid off," Brown said. "We are one of five schools in the district that had an extra hour of reading this year and we have practiced over and over and over to the point that we are on a trend to continue the way we are going."

Brown said Connie Jones, a new writing coach at the school had a definite impact.

City Charter meeting June 4 will go long way toward final choices

Citizens who are present at the Tuesday, June 4, City Charter meeting will vote by paper ballot on the issues that have been raised as possible changes to the Charter. The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Apopka Community Center/VFW 519 S. Central Avenue.

City attorney Frank Kruppenbacher said the paper ballots would be used to determine the opinion of those present as part of Mayor John H. Land's "committee of the whole" process for any Charter changes.

"We will have a written ballot with all of the options," Kruppenbacher said. "We will vote on the options, then tally them while we're all there. If there is an overwhelming vote against it, it's not going anywhere. If people vote in favor of it, we'll put it out (later) for the bigger opinion."

Kruppenbacher said the items on the paper ballot will be gleaned from what people have said since the meetings began last October.

"I've gone through the minutes and heard everything everyone has had to say," Kruppenbacher said. "I think we're at a point where everybody has heard everybody else. Here is a chance to check off what you think is a good idea and what is not."

Some of the issues that have been discussed include:

* Strong-mayor form of government vs. a city manager-form. Currently, the city has a strong-mayor form.

* Single-member districts for commissioners vs. the current at-large vote for commissioners, or a combination.

* Term limits. Currently, there are no term limits for elected city officials.

* Making the city administrator, even under a strong-mayor form of government, a Charter position like the city attorney and city clerk.

Kruppenbacher said the issues which receive a consensus then will be presented to the city's voters for a straw vote. The issues which get the OK from that group will then go before the City Council, which will decide what issues are put to the city's voters for a binding referendum later this year.

"The whole goal of the mayor is to assure that everyone gets their say and everyone has an opportunity to voice their opinion. In some ways, it's the ultimate democracy. We are making sure that everybody's voice is heard on these issues."

Editor is media witness to execution

Note: Editor John Peery was one of four media witnesses Wednesday, May 29, to the execution of Elmer Leon Carroll, who was convicted of the 1990 killing of Christine McGowan, a 10-year-old Apopka girl.

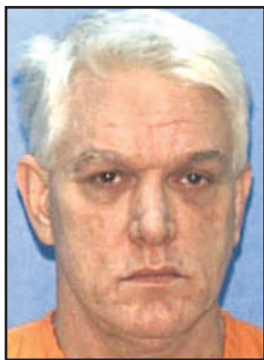

By John Peery
Apopka Chief Staff

When Elmer Leon Carroll was executed Wednesday, May 29, he was paying with his life for the rape and murder of Christine McGowan in 1990.

The little Apopka girl was just 10 when Carroll savagely attacked and killed her while her mother was at work and her stepfather slept in another bedroom in the family's mobile home that sat next to the halfway house where Carroll, a convicted child molester, lived.

As one of four media witnesses, I watched Carroll die.

Yes, for what he did, he deserved to die under our justice system. But, I still knew I would be watching a man die, so I had some reservations when the Florida Press Association called Publisher John Ricketson, who asked me if I wanted to be a media witness.

The professional side of me immediately wanted to say I would do it, but knowing myself well enough, I knew I might have some reservations about watching the execution.

But, I didn't.

While it was a unique experience, it really didn't bother me emotionally like I thought it might. On the 2-1/2 hour drive back from the prison in Raiford, which is about 10 minutes

Work continues on extension

As seen from U.S. Highway 441, a crane lifts debris after tearing up a portion of Vick Road during work for the Vick Road extension to U.S. 441 and State Road 451. The Orlando-Orange County Expressway Authority project is expected to be finished in July and carries a $2.5 million price tag. Southland Construction of Apopka is the contractor.

Honoring America's war dead

Zellwood landfill hearing is June 4

By Sherry Brunson
Apopka Chief Staff

Final approval for a request from the Mid-Florida C&D Landfill at 3602 Golden Gem Rd., Plymouth, to be modified to a Class III landfill will go before the Orange County Commission on Tuesday, June 4, at 2 p.m., at the Orange County Administration Building, 210 S. Rosalind Avenue, Orlando.

The landfill, which currently only accepts construction and demolition materials would, as a Class III solid waste landfill, be permitted to accept yard trash, construction and demolition, processed tires, asbestos, carpet, cardboard, paper, glass, plastic, furniture other than appliances, and materials that are not expected to produce leachate, which poses a threat to public health or the environment.

The Orange County Board of Zoning Adjustment (BZA) approved the request at its April 4 meeting with nine conditions.

The city of Apopka and developers of the nearby Kelly Park Crossing, a development of regional impact (DRI) are not happy with the request.

"Our position is that landfill may have been a compatible use 20 years ago, but not since 2004," said Jeff Welch,

FCAT: Apopka Elementary jumped by 20 points

"We went back to the basics and started writing with simple sentences, then went to paragraphs and the next steps. I am actually looking forward to the next round of FCAT scores because this year we worked so hard and we anticipate doing well on the fourth and fifth grade scores as well."

Apopka Elementary fourth graders increased their score by a significant 20 points. Last year, the school tested at 25 points, and, this year, the score was increased to 45 points. Zellwood Elementary went from 26 points to 41 points. Rock Springs Elementary jumped from 37 points to 63 points. Lakeville Elementary rose from 32 points to 55 points, and Wolf Lake Elementary went from 50 points to 58 points.

Lovell Elementary fourth grade writing scores stayed the same as last year with 35 points, while Clay Springs Elementary dropped from 51 points to 48 points, and Clarcona Elementary dropped from 49 points to 42 points.

Apopka High School 10th grade FCAT writing scores dropped from 67 points to 57 points and Wekiva High School dropped from 56 points to 47 points.

Results of the FCAT 2.0 Writing assessment show overall that students in all grade levels tested (grades 4, 8 and 10) improved their scores with 58 percent of students scoring at 3.5 and higher, up from 54 percent in 2012. Grade 4 students saw the biggest increase with a nine.

"Our students, parents and teachers have worked very hard this year and I'm pleased to see more students achieving at higher levels," said commissioner of Education Dr. Tony Bennett. "Our teachers do a fantastic job every day to prepare students for college and careers. We will celebrate our gains and use these results to continue to work every day to improve."

"We expanded the writing time by 15 minutes, gave the teachers better preparation in how to help the students know what to do, gave the students more attention in the classroom and made the use of supporting material mandatory," Bennett said.

Overall, student performance in Florida continued its climb with more rigorous expectations in preparation for the Common Core State Standards.

"Over the past two years, Florida teachers and students have made incredible gains, including news that Florida jumped from 11th to 6th for the overall quality of its education system, and Florida fourth graders are among the best in the world for reading," said Governor Rick Scott.

"The report that student performance is improving lends further credence to why it was so important we provide teachers throughout Florida with a pay raise. Moreover, we're heartened to see writing scores improving as well as the achievement gap among students decreasing. That means that more and more Florida students are receiving a quality education, which provides more families opportunities to pursue the American Dream, right here in the Sunshine State."

Twenty-five school districts made a 10-percentage point or greater improvement in the percent of fourth grade students earning a 3.5 and higher on FCAT 2.0 Writing. Orange County Public Schools had an 11-percentage point increase.

In 2012, the State Board of Education established 3.5 as the school grades standard for writing performance beginning in 2013; the standard last year was 3.0.

"Although we increased our writing scores we are still waiting to see what the state is going to do because they may not give the school grades like they did last year and we could end up with a lower school score," Schadow said. "We are hoping the fourth and fifth grade scores are ok and then we can probably hold our own. We hope the scores are released soon because the families deserve to know where they stand before school is out."

Witness: It took only a few minutes for drugs to take effect

northwest of Starke, I wondered if I should feel guilty for feeling little emotion about watching a man die.

Over the past month or so that I've known I would be going, it entered my mind that, in January 2002, I watched my mother take her last breath. Because that is still seared into my memory, I figured that if I have already seen my mother die, then watching a convicted rapist and murderer die would be little emotional problem.

And, I was right. About eight hours prior to the execution, Carroll ate a final meal of sunny-side up eggs, bacon, biscuits, sliced tomatoes, fruit salad, and a can of sweetened condensed milk.

In the hours prior, he was visited by a Catholic priest and a death-row advocate. None of his family visited.

When late afternoon eased into the early evening, the execution process began.

Physically, there was little to no movement from Carroll. When the shade was drawn allowing those of us in the witness room to see into the execution chamber, he was already strapped into a hospital-type gurney with his feet closest to us. A digital clock inside the execution room read 6:00 when the shade was raised.

Carroll was covered in a white sheet up to his neck. His arms were strapped in and his hands were hidden by a mitten-like covering.

There were 23 people seated in the 39 chairs in the witness room that was about 15 ft. by 20 ft. From what we were told, there were five members of Christine's family who sat in the front row.

Jeff Ashton, who helped prosecute Carroll and is now the state attorney here in Orange County, was one of the witnesses. He sat in the second row wearing a gray suit.

Everyone was very quiet and stared straight ahead. The only noise was from a room air conditioner and a dehumidifier.

Right after the shade was raised, the man who was the execution team leader picked up a phone that is linked to the governor's office, spoke into the phone and, a few seconds later, hung up the phone.

A microphone in the execution room was turned on so those of us in the witness room could hear what was being said. The leader asked Carroll if he wished to make any final statement. "No, sir," was Carroll's answer.

The execution leader then said, "The execution phase will begin." We couldn't see it, but in another room, a man pushed the buttons that started the process of the lethal dose of chemicals coursing into Carroll's body.

The drugs took their action pretty quickly as Carroll's eyes closed and quit blinking pretty much within a minute or two. Then, at 6:03 p.m., Carroll's breathing became labored. He gulped in a large breath, raising the sheet that was covering him, and by 6:04, his mouth was agape as if he were asleep.

Three minutes later, the team leader started checking Carroll. It looked like he was tapping him on the cheek and chest area. I really couldn't tell what he was doing.

By 6:08, the color had left Carroll's face and his lips began turning a bluish color.

After three or four close checks by the execution leader, a doctor came in from a curtained-off room at 6:11. He looked in Carroll's eyes with a light and then used a stethoscope on Carroll's neck and chest. At 6:12, he turned to the leader and said something that we couldn't hear.

The leader picked up the phone and spoke briefly before hanging up. The microphone to our room was then turned on and the leader said the sentence was carried out at 6:12 p.m.

There was no reaction from anyone in the room during the entire process. Everyone just stared ahead.

We media witnesses were the last ones in and the last ones out of the witness room.

The family and other witnesses left the room after the shade was closed. We were held in the room for just a couple of minutes as the other witnesses were taken away in a van. We then were escorted out of the room and to the van waiting for us, which took us across the two-lane highway where our cars were parked.

There, a statement from Julie McGowan, Christine's mother, was released. It read, "Thank you to all that have worked so hard, and for justice for all, namely Christine McGowan - Rest in Peace."

During my brief visit, I learned a few things about the Florida State Prison, which is located about 10 minutes northwest of Starke in Bradford County.

I learned that a decent amount of money is spent on razor wire. The chain-link fences that surrounded the prison in multiple layers were about 15-foot high and razor wire covered the fences from top to bottom. No, escape is not much of an option.

I also learned that the visitor's waiting room - where we media witnesses sat for about 30 minutes prior to going to the witness room - is one of the few air-conditioned areas of the prison. There were plenty of high ceilings and fans to move air, but the inmate population area does not have air conditioning. That was a surprise to me.

We weren't allowed to take anything in with us other than five $1 bills and our ID. The money was for the snack and drink machines in case there was a stay. Fortunately, there wasn't.

We left the visitor's room at 5:44 p.m. and walked down a long hallway to a van that took us to the witness room. We waited there for about 10 minutes or so before the shade was pulled to reveal Elmer Leon Carroll.

I understand why some people don't agree with the death penalty because, about 30 years ago, I spent some time agreeing with that position. But, now I believe that we, as a society, must mete out punishment that fits the crime.

To rape and murder a 10-year-old girl is an especially heinous crime. It deserves an especially severe sentence. Carroll lived 23 years longer than did Christine McGowan, including 21 years on death row.

Honestly, his death was as antiseptic as they come. While I could see how the electric chair could be considered cruel and unusual punishment, lethal injection is about as calm a way to die as I could imagine. Yes, the final result is the same, but Elmer Leon Carroll suffered no physical pain as he died, certainly not like the pain and anguish he inflicted on Christine McGowan 23 years ago.

Our position

Again, we urge all graduates not to forget their past while looking ahead

It's graduation season for high schools in our area with schools all over Central Florida holding their commencement exercises.

Of course, our focus is on Wekiva High School and Apopka High School.

Wekiva held its graduation ceremony Thursday, May 30, while Apopka will have its today, Friday, May 31. Both ceremonies are at the UCF Arena.

It's very much a tradition for people who have lived life a long time, and even those who haven't, to offer advice to graduating seniors.

As with anything in life, some of that advice will be spot on. Other suggestions, not so much. We say congratulations to all who walk the stage and graduate.

Through the years, we have always urged graduates to make sure they do not forget their past, especially their family and friends, while still looking forward to getting out to experience life whether in college, the military or the work-a-day world. Now is the decision time.

We also have always advised students to not forget their faith. To enter life without God's presence is to enter blindly. We see no way for a young man or woman to begin adulthood without first understanding that faith in God is imperative for a life that has meaning both here on earth and beyond. Not only can God not be ignored, but he must have a central part in our lives in order for them to be truly fulfilled. We say be fulfilled.

Some of the students who graduate will never spend another day in any type of school. And, for many, that will be fine. They will be able to learn a trade or become an entrepreneur, perhaps creating a successful business that will soon hire others, giving them a chance to create jobs so they may provide for their own families. To those, we say be determined.

Others will move to join the military, serving their country, while, at the same time, giving themselves a chance to mature and create lifelong memories and friendships. They also may be able to see different parts of the world as they help protect our freedoms and those of other countries around the world. We are proud of you, and we say thanks.

Still, many graduates will begin the learning process all over again by attending college. Some won't make it to a degree, dropping out because they don't have the discipline to succeed or experience life changes that are beyond their control. Others, however, will be wildly successful, taking their degrees and using them to secure a job that will reward them handsomely in terms of financial gains and personal satisfaction. We say all the best to you.

Whatever trek the individual graduates from Apopka and Wekiva high schools take, we wish them God's blessings and a desire to continue learning whether inside or outside a classroom for their entire lifetime, for to learn is to grow.

Congratulations to the Class of 2013!

Line-item veto important tool

On Monday, May 20, Governor Scott signed SB 1500, the General Appropriations Act, which will serve as the budget for the state of Florida for the 2013-2014 fiscal year. The budget submitted to Governor Scott was set at $74.4 billion.

While Governor Scott signed the budget, he also exercised his right as governor to remove specific items in the General Appropriations Act, totaling $368 million. Among these vetoes was the 3 percent tuition hike at state colleges and universities, as well as $50 million for the trail completion from Titusville to St. Petersburg, and $25 million in water projects for various local communities around the state. The governor used the line-item veto, which is one of the key differences between the state and federal government when it comes to budgeting.

District 38 Report

Forty-three states have some version of a line-item veto, ranging from Alaska to Virginia. The different states all have different versions of the line-item veto. In Florida, the line-item veto is described in Article III, Section 8 of the Florida Constitution, saying "The governor may veto any specific appropriation in a general appropriation bill, but may not veto any qualification or restriction without also vetoing the appropriation to which it relates." In other words, the governor is authorized to veto an item of spending in the overall budget. However, the governor is not authorized to revoke a qualification or restriction to a spending item without vetoing the whole item. The Florida Constitution also says that the State Legislature may override the Governor's line-item veto by a 2/3rds vote in both chambers.

The line-item veto is very important to helping rein in state spending, as it allows the governor an opportunity to consider further reductions in spending from what the Legislature passed. Utilizing the line-item veto, Governor Scott removed an extra $368 million out of the state's budget. If the federal government had a line-item veto and the president vetoed the same percentage of his 2014 budget that Governor

Thanks to Brown for Wheatley turnabout

There is so much for which to be grateful these days for the Wheatley Panthers. First and foremost is a strong and committed leader in the school's new principal, Sean Brown. A Marine reservist, Mr. Brown has led the Panthers from an "F" rating to an elementary school posting some of the strongest learning gains in the district for 2013. The school building is now on the fast track for an August 2014 opening, and the school recently received a state grant in excess of $238,000. This is an impressive turn-around for the South Apopka elementary school.

Mr. Brown took over the helm of Phyllis Wheatley last summer and has been busy turning around the low-performing school ever since. The effort has been intense from training new staff to complying with state and district oversight. In the midst of the extra scrutiny, Mr. Brown took it upon himself to apply for a state educational grant. To his credit, Mr. Brown was successful. The school will receive over $238,000 to support an extra hour a day of instruction for second through fifth grade students. The after-school program will be science and project-based learning that touches every subject area. In addition, the children will have access to a four-day intensive summer school program. When children are behind grade level, time spent on instruction is the key to improving learning outcomes. I hope the Apopka community will drop Mr. Brown a note of congratulations for his dedication.

Thanks are also due for the OCPS facilities staff for accelerating the design and construction of the comprehensive renovation at Wheatley Elementary. In challenging situations like this, success comes with the collaboration of many different people and organizations.

And finally, the children will be celebrating their permanent homecoming in August 2014 with a memorable goodbye to the current 60-year-old facility. They will also receive commemorative T-shirts donated by Ms. Helen Zanders of Zanders Funeral Home, Apopka Rotary Club, County Commissioner Fred Brummer, state Rep. Bryan Nelson, city commissioners Bill Arrowsmith and Joe Kilsheimer, and others

Abortion has cost world much more than we can imagine

MAY 31 – Columnist note: Four days ago, we honored the some 1.3 million brave men and women who died to protect our lives and freedoms. Today, I would like to honor the hundreds of millions of babies who were ruthlessly killed by abortions since the false legalization of this slaughter. What has this cost us in every area of our society? I believe a column I wrote to bring in the New Year on January 3, 1992, illustrates and prognosticates what we have lost in our nation and the world. The headline was, "Just who did we do in?" All this has been intensified by a president coming out of the closet to endorse abortion and sodomite marriage. This is the same three-faced who voted for partial birth abortion in the Illinois Senate.

JANUARY 3, 1992. I was watching Charles Kuralt on CBS' Sunday Morning, and he spent the majority of the last 1991 Sunday program in a memorial to famous people who had died during the year.

As he went through the litany of familiar, and some not so familiar, names, faces and film clips, it seemed like almost everyone I had ever heard of died in 1991.

Harry Reasoner, Fred McMurray, Tennessee Ernie Ford, Red Grange, Joseph Papp, Jim Irwin, "Dr. Seuss", ... the list seemed endless as each name evoked a strong memory of various phases of my life.

Lee Remick was painful. She and my wife looked a lot alike, I thought. Lee was one of my screen favorites and a wonderful actress. (Note: But, I've still got my Marilyn and today's her birthday. Happy Birthday, darling!)

Paul Brown had a big piece of me. In the early days of antennae, tiny TVs, his Cleveland Browns, led by the peerless Otto Graham, was the inspiration of a small black and white screen. Was that snow in Cleveland or was it just the set?

Sir David Lean produced extravaganzas beyond comparison, from the burning sands under "Lawrence of Arabia" to the frozen tundra of "Dr. Zhivago." And, who could forget the storm scene from "Ryan's Daughter?"

Gene Roddenberry, creator of "Star Trek," had a great portion of my 30s, and I even wrote a script for him back in the second year of their production ... way back in the 1960s.

I grew up with Michael Landon on the "Ponderosa," alternating laughs with Danny Thomas, George Gobel, and Nancy Kulp.

Kuralt used the brilliant director Frank Capra as the foundation of his piece, especially the movie, "It's a Wonderful Life." Coincidentally, I caught the end of this film on the tube the day before.

James Stewart playing the role of George Bailey wishes he had never been born, and when his wish is granted, he sees the terrible hole in the lives of those he loved, left by his own non-existence. He also sees the town he influenced evolve as a pit of despair, drunkenness, and sin.

Kuralt employs this point to emphasize how we really could not have done without anyone of those who have lived and died. Everyone has a piece in the overall scene. Fortunately, these people were born before men and women decided they could play God and slaughter hundreds of mil-

Eagle Scout is embarrassed by Boy Scouts of America decision

Editor:

What a disturbing choice the Boy Scouts of America has made by accepting homosexuals into its ranks and turning their backs on 100 years of values promoted to the youth of our nation. I earned the highest rank in scouting, that of Eagle, and now find myself embarrassed by and disappointed by the very organization I, and others, held in such high regard.

By the comment of "turning their backs on 100 years of values," I am referring to both the Scout Oath and the Scout Law. The Oath says: "On my honor, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country and to obey the Scout Law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight." Note the terms "duty to God" and "morally straight."

Every major religion in our nation – Christianity, Judaism, and Islam – hold homosexuality out as breaking the law of God, according to their religious writings. The scouting organization felt for 100 years that honoring God was key to one's growth in life. Now, apparently, right standing with God must take a back seat to political correctness.

The Scout Law says: A scout is trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent. (Funny, at 57 years of age, I can still recite that like when I was active in scouts. I guess that means that what we learn in our youth can be found in our character later in life). So, that the Boy Scouts of America will not be hypocritical, I think I should start a campaign to take the last point out of the Scout Law – a scout is reverent.

I guarantee you that we, as a society, can make a mockery out of almost everything and everyone, but God will not be mocked. Although the scouting organization may be applauded by our society, one day, those making this decision will have

Majority of citizens know nothing of meetings

Editor:

Reading the article regarding what process will be followed at the June 4 Charter meeting was interesting, especially Mr. Kruppenbacher's statement that "he'd gone through all the minutes and heard everything everyone had to say." Obviously, he (and the mayor/council members) have listened to only a small section of Apopka voters, small meaning only those who know of these meetings (at most 50) have attended which is definitely NOT the majority of Apopka citizens. These meetings are and have been skewed in the fallacy that everyone has had input is incorrect because not every voter has known about the meetings or the Charter revision process.

In fact, the majority of citizens know nothing of these Charter meetings because the city has relied only on the city website and articles/notices in this newspaper to inform them. All voters do not read The Apopka Chief nor do they know of the city's website, which begs the question - why didn't our city officials reach out to them by inserting notices in water bills, place notices in every church, or any other public means? For true democratic governing and transparency, why haven't all the voters been informed of the meetings?

More curious is that the city attorney, an unelected official, seems to be the one setting rules for what is to happen at the next, and seemingly final, Charter meeting. As I understand it, the city attorney is hired by the mayor to advise the mayor, city officials and council members. Yet now he sets rules on what items will be discussed and how the "voting" on them will be done, and this process will decide what the voters of Apopka see on the ballot for a city-wide referendum vote?

After reading the minutes of all Charter meetings, it seems that from the very first meeting this revision process has been handled incorrectly, denying the wishes of a former commissioner and the attending majority at subsequent meetings for an independent citizens review board does not serve Apopka citizens well. Apopka deserves so much better.

Old days of dumping into the ground are over

Editor:

There was a letter written to the editor of The Apopka Chief by Mr. Lovelady of Zellwood stating that a majority of Zellwood residents are against the landfill owned by Hubbard Construction Company, Inc., in Zellwood being changed from C&D to class III.

He had stated in his article that he was at a meeting held at NOCIA, home of the Zellwood Sweet Corn Festival, of which I am president. At said meeting, they spoke about adding jobs and what the change would allow different from what they accept today. The problem is that Mr. Lovelady got upset by a questioned asked of him by another person present at the meeting and got up abruptly and left with his wife and children. He immediately went home and fired off emails to every county commissioner and the Orange County mayor in objection to said land use change.

I have no problem with him stating his own opinion, but I feel he should have stayed for the entire meeting and many of his questions would have been answered. There were around 35 people in attendance at this meeting. Four were employees of the landfill, four were Mr. Lovelady and his wife and children, and, of the 27 people left, eight more were children. Of the remaining 19 adults left at the meeting, 16 signed a petition in favor of the changes after they had gathered all the facts.

Hubbard has always been a good neighbor to NOCIA and the residents of Zellwood. They are going way above and beyond what is required of them to operate a class III landfill with the addition of a liner and test wells all around the site. They welcome the public to come out and tour the operation at anytime. They are recycling as much material as possible to be as green of a company as possible.

The old days of just dumping material into the ground are over. Hubbard is also proud that in the 29 years they have been in operation at this site, they have never been cited by any local, state or federal regulatory agency. Will the change allow them to make a better profit? Most likely yes, but is that not what every business wishes to do? Remember, the only other landfill near this area is Waste Management's landfill on Keene Road in Apopka, and their rates are almost double what Hubbard charges.

I will close with stating that the city of Apopka is opposing the change. They are concerned about the damage this will do to the Wekiva River Basin. I believe they truly oppose it due to the fact that it will be near the proposed Kelly Park Commons development to be built off of the new Expressway extension and Kelly Park Road, with an estimated 8 million square feet of homes, retail, schools and offices. If you ask me, this proposed project will do the most damage to the Wekiva River Basin via watershed.

fective leader in Mr. Brown, themselves for the hard work involved to improve the school grade and joy for the acceleration of their new school facility.

It has been a good time to be a Wheatley Panther.

Nelson: Veto allows governor involvement

Scott vetoed out of the General Appropriations Act, it would cut $1.5 billion out of the budget.

Bringing the line-item veto to the federal government has been supported by both Republicans and Democrats in the past. In 1996, the Republican-controlled Congress passed the line-item veto and gave that authority to Democratic President Bill Clinton. Unfortunately, the Supreme Court ruled in the 1998 case Clinton v. City of New York that the line-item veto passed by Congress was unconstitutional. The court ruled 6-3 that the line-item veto gave the president too much control over the federal budget, which is ordered to be drafted and written by the Congress. The court said that the only way for a line-item veto to become federal law would be through a constitutional amendment, which would need to pass 2/3rds of both chambers of Congress and ratified by 3/4ths of the states.

The line-item veto is an important tool available to the governor in the effort to control state government spending. Not only does it allow the governor to be involved in the budgeting process, but it also makes the governor and the Legislature work more closely together. While the Supreme Court has ruled on implementing the concept of a line-item veto at the federal level, the states, including Florida, will be able to continue to exercise the use of the line-item veto and keep state spending under control.

If you have any questions or would like to voice your opinion on the line-item veto, please contact me at bryan.nelson@myfloridahouse.gov or call my office at 407-884-2023.

lions of babies by abortion worldwide.

Was there amongst those babies the discoverer of the AIDS vaccine or its cure? Was the Russian George Washington or Thomas Jefferson flushed down some Moscow sewer at 10 weeks?

It seems to me that we have poked an irreparable number of holes in the canvas of future history, Looking around at a lot of emptiness and desolation of present societies both here and abroad, it seems the question of when human life begins may have become strictly academic to most of the world's people.

"For thou (LORD) hast possessed my reins: thou hast covered me in my mother's womb. I will praise thee: for I am fearfully and wonderfully made; marvelous are thy works; and that my soul knoweth right well." Psalm 139:13-14.

What We Really Mean

I'm not sure when, exactly, political correctness took over the dialog in our country, and our "conversations" about any given thing became reduced to euphemisms and mincing-around-ugly-facts. The when of it is pretty irrelevant... what's more relevant is that that's the way it is now.

Supposedly Americans, for the most part, are straight-shooters; people who prefer facts delivered in a direct manner. I'm afraid that, if it were ever true, it's not true today. Today, what information we get is usually wrapped in words...someone thinks will make the cold, hard truth more palatable to our sensitivities.

As such as Americans want to believe we've been relieved of our old Victorian sensibilities, we still want to hide our behavior, don't we? We're not "having sex" with someone, we're "sleeping" with him or her. Really? You want "us" to believe that all you do when you're under the covers (or wherever), dressed in flannel nighties and P.J.s, you're just talking, and, perhaps even "spooning", until the sandman carries you off to dreamland? Sounds kind of silly, doesn't it? It is. What's sillier is if we'd keep our hands (and other body parts) to ourselves until we're married... or, at the very least, kept our personal, intimate information to ourselves, we wouldn't have to find words to "clean it up", so to speak.

Keeping our personal information to ourselves, brings up the issue of homosexuality, and how its supporters are determined to make other people's sexuality our business... determined to push it on us until we agree that it's acceptable; the norm. O.K... first, I believe that our Constitution protects my right to think whatever I think... believe what I believe. Just as everyone does. Unfortunately, as many of us know, that right, and the documents from which it comes, is not only under attack, but being violently stripped from us... by our own government. Secondly, information about your "sexual preferences" should come under the heading of "Need to Know", and unless I'm personally involved with you? I DON'T NEED TO KNOW! Not only that, I DON'T CARE! That's what I considered the best part of "Don't Ask, Don't Tell"... If I want to know, I'll ask... if I don't ask, I don't want to know, so don't tell.

Another thing progressives have "re-named"? Abortion. And what is being aborted. It's a fetus, not a baby. It's just a blob of tissue, etc. The inconvenient truth here is that a baby has a heart-beat as early as 18-days... before a woman knows she's pregnant. Unfortunately, in today's culture, the real difference between a fetus and a baby is whether it's wanted by its mother... Wanted? A baby. Unwanted? A fetus. The "theory" behind legalizing abortions was to eliminate back-alley abortions... to make them legal, safe and rare. Does anyone believe that the slaughter that went on in abortion doctor Kermit Gosnell's "clinic" is a completely isolated incident? If you answer "yes" to that, you're doing exactly what I'm talking about... attaching a word to an immoral, horrendous act that makes it more acceptable... makes it easier for us to stick our heads in the sand. Even pretend it doesn't exist. Definitely makes the process easier on the woman, but it's still murder on the baby.

Where was it? Early Zellwood Slovak community location a mystery

By Sherry Brunson
Apopka Chief Staff

A question has been burning in Judy Duda's mind – "Where was it? Where was the Slovak settlement in the Zellwood area?"

Duda is a family member of the well-known owners of Duda Farms, one of the largest operating muck farms in the early 1900s in Northwest Orange County.

The Zellwood Slovak community has been documented. Photos and other information are available, but not the location.

"The thirst for freedom from the oppressive rule of the dual emperors of Austria and Hungary was the basis of a mass immigration of 25 percent of the Slovak population between 1900 and 1910," Duda said. "Often, the men would arrive alone, seek work in an industrial area, network with other immigrants and then send for their wives and children. Two groups of Slovak-Lutheran families found their way to Orange County."

Duda said one of the groups, which formed in Cleveland, Ohio, created the Slavia Land Company, a company to purchase farmland in various areas of Central Florida. They settled near Oviedo.

The other group members, from Pennsylvania or Chicago, settled in Zellwood.

"There were undoubtedly some loose connections between the two groups prior to their move to Florida, but the ties were to become stronger as the families became acquainted and shared their faith and culture," Duda said. "The location of the first Zellwood settlement is unknown, but the Ondich, Svrlinga and Slochar families are known to be among the settlers."

The Zellwood community endured many hardships in the early years. They communicated with the Oviedo group, which had begun the St. Luke the Evangelizer Lutheran Church in an old turpentine shack.

Records show that a Slovak pastor from Chicago visited from Slavia to baptize the Ondich and Svrlinga children.

"Later visits were made to instruct the Zellwood children in preparation for Confirmation and the Zellwood families became active members of the St. Luke congregation for more than the next 20 years," Duda said.

Andrew Duda and his sons incorporated their farm in 1926 and began to expand. The farm became one of the largest muck farms on the north shore of Lake Apopka.

For many years, they offered employment to residents of Slavia, as well as to those in the Zellwood area.

Anyone who has information about the Slovak settlement in Zellwood is asked to contact Judy Duda at JudyDuda1@BellSouth.net.

Members of the Zellwood Slovak community in 1911 take a minute to visit. Although the Slovak community has been documented, no one is sure where it actually was located in the Zellwood community.

The Apopka Recreation Department will hold a "Retro Rockin' Summer Camp" program for children entering first through fifth grade, on Monday, June 10, through Friday, August 16 (excluding Fourth of July), between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. at the Fran Carlton Center, 11 North Forest Avenue, Apopka.

"This summer, we're rockin' it old school," said Lorena

Potter, spokeswoman. "Think 'Red Rover,' hopscotch, capture the flag and 'Twister,' add in visits to the Northwest Recreation Complex, weekly field trips, daily reading time, and weekly special events, and your child will have the summer of a lifetime."

In order to receive a multi-child discount, family application fee discount or city of Apopka employee discount, registration in person is necessary. These discounts will not be applied to online registrations.

"At the time of registration, we ask for payment of your first week of camp, a $10 camp T-shirt per child and a $10 application fee per family," Potter said. "While we do spend time inside each day, this is an active outdoor-based camp and personal electronics – including cell phones – are discouraged. Due to scheduling, we do not register for partial weeks during the summer."

The fee is $100 per week per child for city of Apopka residents; non-city residents pay just $142.50 per week per child. Rates include a movie snack each week, special events, fitness activities, and all field trips (except for the large theme park trip on week nine).

Florida Board of Dentists launch interactive website

The Florida Board of Dentistry has launched an updated, interactive website to improve communication between Board members and those they serve.

In addition, the website is designed to enhance transparency, provide better public service to constituents, and increase the accessibility of ser-VICES.

The site contains valuable resources for dentists and dental hygienists, including the ability to apply for, renew or verify a license.

New features encourage public feedback, affording constituents the opportunity to file complaints.

"We understand the importance of sharing information with the citizens we serve, and we are committed to providing this as a resource," said Chairman Daniel Gesek, D.M.D.

"The new website offers clear and direct access to information about the Florida Board of Dentistry."

The new Board of Dentistry website is the third Florida health care practitioner board website to undergo a redesign, following the Boards of Medicine and Nursing.

For more information about the website, visit www.floridasdentistry.gov or on Twitter: @FLDentalBoard.

IFAS offers tips for laundry safety, a healthier lawn, savings

Safety in the Laundry Room

According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, the new single-load liquid laundry packets need to be handled properly to prevent accidents and unnecessary trips to medical facilities. Always keep these packets and all laundry products out of the reach of children and pets. The single-load packets contain concentrated laundry detergent and are harmful if swallowed or exposed to the eye. Packets quickly dissolve upon contact with water, wet hands, or saliva. They can also rupture, releasing contents in to the eye. To prevent harmful ex-posure, do not let children handle laundry packets; do not puncture or pull packets apart; store packets out of child's sight and reach; and keep the container closed.

Rain Sensors Save Water and Money

Since 2010, Florida law requires all automatic landscape irrigation systems require rain sensors or other shut off devices to stop systems from running when it rains. Rain sensors should be checked yearly by simply turning on the system and spraying the sensor with a hose to make sure it turns off. Check that the sensor is installed in an open area to collect rain and not under trees or the eaves of the house. Rain sensors are available wherever irrigation supplies are sold, and a homeowner or irrigation professional can install them.

Mowing for a Healthier Lawn

How short do you mow your lawn? Mowing at the proper height will make your grass more drought tolerant and help reduce pests and disease. To check, simply measure the height from the ground to your mower blades or the height of the grass after a fresh cut.

* St. Augustine the mower should be set at three-to-four-inches

* Zoysia should be one-to-two-and-a-half-inches

* Bahia is best at three-to-four-inches in height

For more healthy lawn information from IFAS, visit <http://tinyurl.com/ppnphcy>.

Apopka, Zellwood World War II veterans fly to D.C. on Honor Flight

Apopka World War II veterans Nick Dini, Lou Boria and Carl Coleman, and Zellwood Station World War II veterans Arch Casebolt and John Payne were royally escorted on an Honor Flight Central Florida trip to Washington, D.C. to visit the World War II Memorial. Dini's son, Greg acted as guardian and Apopka/Altamonte Springs VFW Post 10147 vice-commander Don Mix represented the veteran's organization on the trip. As seen in the above photo, the aging veterans are pushed in wheelchairs to keep them from tiring on the one-day trip.

Zellwood Station resident John Payne (center) points and smiles during his time in front of the World War II Memorial in Washington, D.C.

Arch Casebolt of Zellwood Station is surrounded by smiling females at the World War II Monument on Saturday, May 25.

World War II veteran Carl Coleman talks to an interested young man in front of the World War II Monument. Local officials encourage young people to ask the veterans about their experiences in the war. Often it is the first time the veterans have shared their experience since they were young men in the war.

Louis Boria of Apopka found a kindred spirit in a Vietnam War veteran in front of the World War II Memorial. Boria is active in the Apopka/Altamonte Springs VFW Post 10147 in Apopka.

Nick Dini of Apopka found a kindred spirit in a Vietnam War veteran in front of the World War II Memorial. The trip honors those who fought to save our freedoms.

Honor Your Guests

There are strict rules in traditional cultures concerning how guests should be treated. The Bible is full of injunctions about hospitality, including stories of hosts going to great lengths to feed, comfort, and protect their guests. Peter gives advice that is as relevant now as it was two-thousand years ago: "Show hospitality to one another without grumbling." (1 Peter 4:9) There is a belief in many cultures that we should be kind to our guests, who might actually be angels (or other divine beings): "Do not neglect to show hospitality to strangers, for thereby some have entertained angels unawares." (Hebrews 13:2) There are numerous cases in the Old Testament where people were visited by angels disguised in human form. In the nineteenth chapter of Genesis we hear the story of Lot, who offered to sacrifice his daughters in order to protect the lives of the strangers staying with him, who were indeed angels. Repeatedly throughout the Bible we are told to take care of strangers and sojourners in our land. It may be hard to imagine sacrificing our lives for them, but this doesn't mean we can't at least treat them with respect and hospitality. —Christopher Simon

Local law enforcement truly 'protect and serve'

Protect and serve

The majority of law enforcement agencies throughout this good ole USA orchestrates and encourages the title of this article 100 percent, which proves that it is an absolute necessity for mankind's harmony.

It came to Perrine Slim's gray matter after selecting the subject to pen how significant persons are obligated to fulfill the meaning of "protect and serve" relative to citizens of communities and its positive or negative ramifications.

An article previously penned the important role of Negroes as law enforcement officers at OCSO initiating during Sheriff Dave Starr's administration.

This was precipitated then by James Davis, an educator at OPCS and Florida A&M University, to bring tremendous changes in procedures and policies as to how OCSO, in conjunction with their related areas, deal with the community.

Approximately 30 years ago, Perrine Slim had personally met and knew Captain Kenneth Wilson through Miami Police Department sources of information. Slim was fortunate enough recently to have an encounter per landline with now retired OCSO Captain Wilson concerning his early tenure when less than eight deputies of color were employed by OCSO.

Perrine Slim
Bits 'n' Tips

Captain Wilson, at one point in time in his dedicated illustrious careers at Apopka Police Department and OCSO, was almost on the fringe edge of employment with the likes of "Car 44" (Croons and Demps). However, Captain Wilson's tenures were between the original employment of deputies (Negroes) and Sheriff Mel Coleman's administration.

Often during encounters with him, Captain would advise, "Let it rest, Perrine Slim!," in relation to how actions that were going on in the community were being handled. But, Captain would constantly state how policies and procedures have changed since the days of "good bread alley" in Miami's police precinct district.

The methods employed pertaining to the protect and serve police motto and its relation to citizens versus resolving homicides, has changed tremendously since the 1950-1980 era, precipitating better results.

In the past three years in Northwest Orange County (Apopka), there have been several homicides especially within the areas with the moniker of 'hood, project, bottom, ghetto, and tree that remain unresolved. This is not due to the fact that OCSO has thoroughly and continuously provided unlimited investigation whereas a suspect would be apprehended, charged and held accountable.

Nevertheless, without citizens becoming totally involved by coming forward with reputable concrete sources of information relative to the crimes that have such atrociousness, it places OCSO in a position as though they are not performing their responsibilities so designated.

The average citizen nowadays doesn't entertain the thought pattern of how significant this one of law enforcement's motto role whenever employed by OCSO orchestrates and precipitates positive actions for means and ways.

Over the years since Perrine Slim has been penning the Bits 'n' Tips column in The Apopka Chief, Slim has never shown any partiality for law enforcement agencies (federal, state, county or city) even though most citizens show disdain for law enforcement officers who are to protect and serve regardless of circumstances.

The thing that many people forget is the fact that in many cases of crimes that have occurred, the law enforcement official is not physically present. They also don't have a crystal ball or tarot cards.

So, how can they solve the crime when people who were there or who hear what happened are not forthcoming with any information that could help solve the crime? These officers do try to protect and serve. However, it does take a little effort from those who are being served and protected to help.

Perrine Slim can assure readers against his reputation that OCSO deputies with whom he has associated, in the likes of Cpl. Danny Anderson, Cpl. Rick Wisecup, former Under-sheriff Stewart and Capt. Cain, are dedicated, concerned, and duly qualified to protect and serve.

However, take into consideration Perrine Slim was associated before most present-day deputies were born (smile). It is not intentional to omit numerous other law enforcement officers or deputies.

Schools urge parents to register kindergartners now

Registration has begun for students starting kindergarten during the 2013-2014 school year, which begins August 19.

Early registration means the child is guaranteed to start school on the first day of school. During early registration, long lines can be avoided, officials said.

Early registration also gives principals necessary information to prepare classrooms and make sure they have the correct number of teachers for the new group of students.

Each school has a designated attendance area and the family's address determines which school the student will attend. The Orange County Public Schools website www.

ocps.net has a school locator site. Click on "Find a School" from the homepage. A parent or legal guardian can then go to that elementary school for registration. A child must be five years old on or before September 1, 2013, to be registered.

Necessary information for registration includes: proof of child's age (usually a birth certificate); proof of child's immunization (DOH 680 form); proof of child's health examination within the last year; and verification of residence.

If school personnel cannot determine the student's proper placement at the local elementary school, parents or guardians should contact Pupil Assignment at 407-317-3233.

Landfill: City of Apopka is against change in status of Zellwood landfill

president of Rochelle Holdings, a significant landowner in the immediate area. "That was the year that Governor Bush signed the Wekiva Parkway and Protection Act. Not only does that Act protect the aquifer, it also designated only one intersection on the entire road that would be allowed to have any development within one mile of the exit. Both the city of Apopka and Orange County agreed to make that exit at Kelly Park Road. Mid-Florida Materials landfill falls within that mile. In 2011, the Florida Department of Community Affairs approved a Development of Regional Impact which is now called Kelly Park Crossing. This development has approval for a walkable town center and a college campus. Both would be within yards of this existing facility. Mid Florida Materials is currently operating as a construction and debris landfill. They are requesting to become a Class III facility as well as a larger facility. This new designation would allow for additional materials including asbestos. The Apopka area already has a Class III facility within five miles of this construction and debris facility. We respect the current permits that Mid Florida Materials is operating under. We only object to any variances or expansions of this facility."

The city of Apopka sent a letter to the Board of Zoning Adjustment asking the request be denied. Jay Davoll, the city's community development director, said the city had several concerns, including increased traffic to the site, as well as environmental issues.

There is a Class III landfill off Keene Road inside the city limits of Apopka. Jim Golden, of HSA Golden Engineering, whose family owns the landfill, said that although the landfill has been in the same location for 29 years, the company is willing to work with the city of Apopka on any of its concerns.

Golden said he believes the landfill status change would be compatible with environmental concerns.

"There may be some misunderstanding," Golden said. "This is not an expansion of the facility - it is not horizontally expanding. There will be an additional liner, geosynthetic capping and wells tested. The wells will continue to be tested 30 years after the landfill closes and once it is closed, it will become a park. We are willing to add vegetative buffers and an earthen berm and to address any concerns, although we feel we have local support. There were some complaints about odors from the neighbors, but we have never had a problem with odors, so we believe the odors were from a closed landfill nearby. The next step is for the request to go before the Orange County Commission and we don't know when that will be scheduled."

If changed into a Class III landfill, an additional 42 wells will be added on the facility that will be tested every six months.

Just do what you 'can' for Oklahoma victims

The Victory Church World Outreach Center has invited the community to participate in a fundraiser for the people of Moore, Okla.

"I was praying about how we could help and felt the Lord told me to 'do what you can,'" said Doug Bankson, pastor.

"So we would like people to take a 'can' and put it on their kitchen table to remind them to pray and to put their spare change into the can for the people of Oklahoma. Our church is pledged to do what we 'can' through the month of June."

Bankson said the church is working to set up an account at a local bank and will also put something on their website soon.

"We have a pastor friend that is working in Oklahoma right now and he said Samaritan's Purse and the Salvation Army are the most effective in the process," Bankson said. "He is also working with local pastors and said the best thing would be to send funds."

For more information or to make a donation, call the church office 407-889-7288 or visit www.victorychurchapopka.com.

Lynn D. Vermilyea

On Friday, May 24, 2013, Lynn Donald Vermilyea began reaping the rewards of his faith as he met Jesus Christ, his Savior, face to face in heaven.

Lynn was born in Margaretville, New York in the Catskill Mountains of upstate New York to Ray and Lillian Vermilyea. He married Nancy Rosa after high school and they enjoyed 51 years together before Nancy went to heaven in 2002. After growing up in the Catskills and getting married, he attended Broome Tech in Binghamton, New York where he began to hone his lifelong vocation of drafting as an Electrical Engineer. Lynn used those drafting skills while working with several companies, most notably the over 30 years beginning back in 1958 that he spent with the Martin Company, now known as Lockheed-Martin. He continued to attend and become increasingly active in his church, St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, PCA in Orlando after Nancy's passing.

At St. Paul's, the Lord brought Carmen Seijo into his life. And after several years, Lynn and Carmen fell in love and married in 2004. He volunteered in many capacities at church including as a Deacon, leader and participant in several Bible study groups, as well as helping his fellow senior citizen friends whenever and with whatever they needed. In his free time, Lynn loved to work in the yard, play bridge and golf, travel, and do crossword and Sudoku puzzles.

Lynn will be greatly missed by his family and friends for so many reasons but most of all for his loving, caring and giving spirit.

Lynn is predeceased by his loving wife, Nancy, the mother of his three children, by both his parents, and his brother, Charles. He is survived by his wife, Carmen, and his three children; Linda LaClaire Clough (Ken) of Jackson, MS, Mike Vermilyea (Prudence) of Orlando, FL, and Debra Hardy (Walter) of Orlando. Lynn is also survived by seven grandchildren (Jennifer Bhullar, Julie Gierke, Ryan Vermilyea, Katie DeSanto, Sarah Blair, Timothy Vermilyea and Tyler Clough), 10 great grandchildren, many cousins, nephews and nieces as well as by his entire extended Seijo family each of whom he loved dearly.

A service to remember and honor his life was held at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church located at 4917 Eli Street in Orlando, 32804 on Thursday, May 30, 2013 at 6:00PM followed by a reception where his friends met, had fellowship, and paid their final respects to Lynn's family. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that you prayerfully consider sending a donation to the St. Paul's Presbyterian Church's Deacon Fund. Lynn's final arrangements have been entrusted to the Baldwin Fairchild Funeral Home, Apopka Chapel.

YOUR GUIDE TO LOCAL BUSINESS

Orlando Federal Credit Union offers more without hidden fees or penalties

Are you tired of getting socked with fees, tripped by hidden penalties, or earning low interest rates? Or, are you tired of being treated like a nuisance rather than a customer? And yet, you have little hope that the bank down the street is any better? Who says you have to settle for a bank? Relief could be as close as the nearest credit union.

Orlando Federal Credit Union (OFCU) members get more with CU24. There are nine convenient locations locally to serve their members, over 73,000 ATMs, and a Shared Branching network with over 4,000 service centers throughout the country!

OFCU brings 75 years of experience and service to Apopka, with history that dates back to 1936. It was started by two Orlando employees in the basement of old City Hall and was originally for city workers. OFCU has grown over the years, and still keeps their focus on serving the Central Florida area.

Many people do not understand the credit union industry. Credit unions are member-owned. It is a co-operative that pools local money together to loan out to other local members. If you have an account at a credit union, you're a part owner in the enterprise.

Members own it and not stockholders, like the banking system.

Credit unions are not-for-profit. This status explains why interest rates tend to be significantly better, and fees are less and fewer than at banks. In fact, even the board of directors are volunteers who give their time to represent all members.

Are you eligible? Fortunately for you, anyone who lives, works, worships or attends school in Orange, Seminole, Lake or Osceola counties can join. A $5 deposit in a Share Savings Account is all it takes to be an active member.

What makes OFCU different is that when you come into their offices, they know you are an owner and they want to know you and your financial needs. They will never offer products that you don't need, but will offer suggestions on ways to increase your return, pay less for your loans, and keep your financial future on track.

Some of the services offered at OFCU are no-charge checking accounts (you just pay for the printing of the checks), Dividend Checking, Money Market accounts, Share Certificates of Deposits (CDs), IRA accounts, Club accounts (kids, teens and

McGuffin: Will Scouting survive? People will vote by participation

to stand before a God, who made His standards very clear, and answer for what they have endorsed before children.

This brings me to my final point. As the grandfather of five grandsons and an Eagle Scout, do you think I want to expose my grandsons to the homosexual lifestyle while camping away from home?

Do you think I will feel at ease sending my little boys on a camping trip with homosexual leaders, who have chosen their lifestyle very purposefully and confidently?

(Yes, I know the homosexual leaders weren't approved by the current vote, but that will follow soon. However, all scouts up to 18-year-old Explorer Scouts are included in the current change.)

In life, we value many things. So, at times, our values will clash, pitting one against the other.

In this case, the clear truth about what God says on the homosexual subject, coupled with 100 years of consistent values of the Boy Scouts of America, has intersected with the call to political correctness.

The moral call of the Scout Oath and Law have been set aside in favor of the "higher value" of political correctness.

Will scouting as we know it survive?

Maybe. But people will be voting soon enough with their funding and their children/grandchildren's participation.

Will moms and dads be comfortable with their precious ones going on camping trips, the benchmark of scouting activities?

One of the real measures of a successful organization over time, is they make bold moves, yet at the same time if they missed the mark, they are unafraid of revamping.

I hope the outrage is heard by what I will call mainstream America.

If not, then America will answer soon enough to the One who will not be mocked.

See the story and pictures at the bottom of the page about the Apopka Memorial Middle School's track and field teams. The squads, coached by Bruce McMillian, did well at the

Q. When will the Apopka Blue Darters football team play its spring game?
A. Going down to the final day of May, the Blue Darters will host the Winter Haven Blue Devils today, Friday, May 31, at Roger Williams Field. It will be the first time back on the field for the Darters since winning the Class 8A title last December. It also ends spring practice for both teams.

Mustangs get feet wet with new coach

By Neal Fisher
Apopka Chief Staff

A Class 5A program, Mount Dora's performance in the spring football game was exactly what was needed for the Wekiva Mustangs. The first spring practice and string of firsts under its new coach, Kenard Lang, came to an end as Wekiva found out through the 56-28 loss that there is still more work to be done. The game was played Thursday, May 23, at Mount Dora. Even though the Hurricanes won by 28 points, the lead was only eight points with 3:23 left in the third quarter. The Hurricanes' highly touted quarterback, Bryant Mosher, threw for 342 yards and four touchdowns while completing 14-of-25 passes. Six of the 14 completed passes gained at least 25 yards each. The aerial assault was headlined by Jefferson Vea's performance of three receptions for 212 yards and three touchdowns.

"We started off good and showed we can play well, but it was in spurts," Lang said. "Even though we played well at times, we also played bad at times. We were just too inconsistent. We played better and we are a better team than we were on day one of spring practice, but there is still more work to be done."

"There were too many busted assignments and turnovers. Coaches say that over and over because when it happens, it almost always results in losing. We didn't run anything tonight we hadn't during spring practice. We didn't have a problem during spring practice with turnovers, but

Darters getting plenty of attention as spring football game looms

By John Peery
Apopka Chief Staff

For a spring game, the Apopka Blue Darters' contest against the Winter Haven Blue Devils is getting plenty of attention.

Perhaps it's the fact that the Blue Darters were last year's Class 8A state champions, or maybe it's that they have some highly recruited players like quarterback Zack Darlington, or it could be because it's the only game in Central Florida and one of only a handful across the state.

Whatever the reason, the game will likely attract a goodly number of college football coaches, and it will be broadcast on both radio and television.

The Blue Darters and Blue Devils will battle today, Friday, May 31, at 7 p.m. at Apopka's Roger Williams Field. Admission is $6 at the gate.

WBZW 1520AM will broadcast the game live as the station did last year for all 15 regular-season games. This time, Roger Franklin Williams will handle the play-by-play call and Joe Ferraro will be the color analyst.

In addition, Bright House Networks will televise the game live.

But, no matter the attention the game is expected to receive, Apopka head coach Rick Darlington has some goals that have nothing to do with the final outcome on the scoreboard.

Apopka quarterback Zack Darlington watches the ball into his hands after a snap from Miguel Sainez during practice.

"I just want to be good fundamentally," he said. "I don't want to turn it over. I want to block them no matter how they line up. If we go out there and don't have good fundamentals, that will be a concern."

If things go as they have in practice, the head coach should be pleased after the Blue Darters play Winter Haven.

"Practice has been good," Darlington said. "After the Blue and White (intra-squad) game, we dropped it from 112 players to about 65, and we'll probably dress less than 60 for the game (against Winter Haven) itself. Having more than 100 players out is the highest number we've ever had coming out of spring practice. Our JV (in the fall) will be a little larger than normal."

Under head coach Charlie Tate, Winter Haven has run a 3-4 defense. However, Darlington wants his offensive line to do its duty no matter if the Blue Devils bring a lot of blitzes or stay vanilla.

Up front, Martez Ivey and Sam Janetzke anchor the offensive line, while Austin Ryan and center Miguel Sainez are two of the newcomers expected to start

Apopka Middle School track teams do well in county meet

By Neal Fisher
Apopka Chief Staff

Always one of Central Florida's most recognizable programs, the Apopka Memorial Middle School track and field team recently completed its 2013 season with much of the same result - program which was already thought of as decorated, added more honors.

The boys compiled a record of 5-1. Three wins and two losses was the girls' team's final result. The season ended with the Orange County Championship Meet in which AMMS was once again a program through which the road to championships traveled.

"It was a productive season," coach Bruce McMillian said. "Coaching this team has been inspiring before the week of the county championship meet and during it. The team showed a lot of inspiration throughout the season which built on itself. This season was what it should be about, exposing the athlete to a sport he or she might not be aware of. And with becoming aware of it - the tradition at AMMS - they take it to high school."

"We (the coaches) are excited about next season."

By virtue of the 33 points it gathered, the AMMS boys team earned a tie for fourth place at the county meet. Along with Legacy, AMMS fell by 13 points to Chain of Lakes Middle School. Robinswood (39) and Ocoee (34) middle schools placed second and third, respectively.

The final standings ended with the AMMS girls team taking second place. Lake Nona out-distanced AMMS by a 70-42 margin. Thirty-nine teams competed. Combined, the AMMS program was the third best with 75 points. Lake Nona claimed the overall championship with 91 points while Chain of Lakes came in second place (85) in the final standings.

Although neither team won the overall county championship, multiple individual performances were the best in the county and AMMS had its share of honors.

"The athletes gained confidence and the belief in themselves as the season progressed," McMillian said. "They didn't just want to be good. They wanted to get better with each meet and the work they put in during the practices reflected that desire. We (the

Kevin Harvick snatches Coca-Cola 600 win, his second victory in NASCAR's longest race

Kevin Harvick won Sunday's Coca-Cola 600 at Charlotte Motor Speedway in typical Kevin Harvick fashion. He wasn't one of the more dominant drivers in the race, but when the checkered flag was in sight, he figured out a way to snatch the victory away from those with seemingly faster cars.

Kasey Kahne, going for his fourth Coke 600 victory, appeared to have the car to beat in the closing laps, before the caution flag flew on Lap 386 of 400.

Kahne stayed on the track, figuring that at the least a handful of drivers on the track behind him would stay out as well, providing a cushion between him and the drivers who did stop for fresher tires.

But Kahne wound up being the lone driver not to pit, and that allowed Harvick to restart beside him with two fresh tires. Harvick put the new rubber to work immediately after the restart, seized the lead and drove away, leading the final 11 laps to get his second 600 victory in the past three runnings of NASCAR's longest race. In 2011, he led just two laps in winning. It was his second win of the season, the first coming at Richmond on April 27, where he led just three laps.

He said his strategy of saving his best shot until the end was born years ago out of necessity.

"I like to just take my time and put myself in a position at the end of the race," he said. "I think a lot of that comes from growing up. ... The only way to race the next week was to win enough prize money the week before so you could buy tires, whatever the case may be, to race."

"My dad, anybody I ever drove for before, would probably tell you the same thing. I'm not going to burn my car up in the first half of the race, go out and show off. That's what happens at the beginning of the race."

"Obviously, you want to run as fast as you can, but it really doesn't matter until the end."

For Kahne, who led a race-high 161 laps after starting the day with flu-like symptoms, it was another disappointing end to a race he could have won.

"This is the third time we've been to a mile-and-a-half [track]," he said. "I ran second, have been the fastest car at all three of them, but just didn't get the wins."

Kurt Busch also appeared to have a car capable of winning, but an issue with the battery in his No. 78 Chevrolet knocked him out of the lead and left him scrambling to finish third.

"Well, it was a good 550 miles, it seemed like for us, then the normal something has to pop up, some adversity we have to overcome, came about," he said.

Early in the running of Sunday's Coca-Cola 600 at Charlotte, a cable used with an overhead camera came loose, causing injuries to 10 fans, three of whom were transported to area hospitals, and damaging several cars, including the No. 18 Toyota of Kyle Busch.

NASCAR, in a fairly rare decision, allowed the affected teams to repair their cars under the red flag brought about by the fallen cable.

Race winner Kevin Harvick said he thought his eyes were playing tricks on him when he saw a black streak go by on the frontstretch. If they were, he feared his career was over.

"I tell myself, 'You've got to believe what you saw,'" Harvick said. "I got to the start/finish line, I eased off the gas. I knew what I had seen the lap before. I was hoping it wasn't my last race. I was hoping what I saw was right."

The Fox Sports overhead camera before it came loose, sending a cable onto the track.

The FOX network, which uses the camera and cables, issued a statement saying the camera wouldn't be used again until the cause of the failure could be determined.

Survival and 'a good car' are the most important things to Jeff Gordon at 'The Monster Mile'

After flirting with disaster while dancing with "The Lady in Black" at Darlington Raceway and running NASCAR's longest race at Charlotte Motor Speedway, the Sprint Cup Series drivers now must take on "The Monster Mile" at Dover International Speedway.

Jeff Gordon, whose four Dover wins are second among active drivers — bested only by his Hendrick Motorsports teammate Jimmie Johnson and his seven victories — said the one-mile concrete oval can present a monstrous challenge. He cited high speeds, big corners banked 24 degrees and straightaways banked at 9 degrees. The track's qualifying record is a sizzling 161.522 miles per hour, set in 2004 by Jeremy Mayfield.

"It's just a track where you're on the edge," Gordon said. "There's not a lot of room for error."

And Gordon said that even the best of drivers can become involved in single-car spins at Dover.

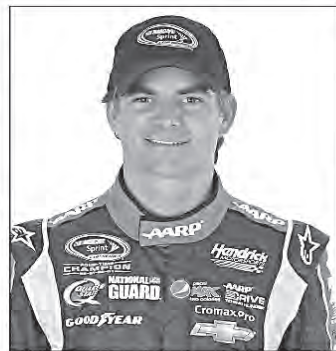

"On your own, you can break your car loose and find yourself in trouble, and it's hard to recover there," he said. "Usually when you have a problem, you're in the wall. And same thing when you're in a group and it happens as a group; there is going to be a big wreck. So, it is definitely a monster."

He said he races Dover much like he runs Darlington, and that means racing the race track itself first, and the competition second.

"You have to really respect the race track," he said. "You can't get too caught up in the competition. If you get track position like anywhere else, you've got to try to maintain it. It's just still very important, even at Dover. But survival, and having a car working good there, is the most important thing."

Matt Kenseth is a two-time Dover winner and made his Sprint Cup debut there in 1998, finishing sixth driving the No. 94 Ford for Bill Elliott, who missed the race to attend the funeral of his father, George Elliott.

Kenseth's performance tied the best finish of the season for Elliott's team, and it helped launch Kenseth's Cup career. "Dover's always been my favorite track," Kenseth said. "Dover is real unique. It's one of those tracks you really have to attack."

Georgia, home of stock car racing's early stars, gets its due on NASCAR Hall of Fame Voting Day

In the earliest years of NASCAR, and even before the current Sprint Cup Series was started, many of the sport's top drivers and its top team were based in Atlanta, Ga. Raymond Parks was the Rick Hendrick of his era, dominating the series with multiple entries of immaculately prepared cars. And Peach State drivers like Red Byron, Gobe Sosebee, Billy Carden, Roy Hall, Lloyd Seay and the Flock brothers — Bob, Fonty and Tim — were among the sport's early stars.

Atlanta was home to the one-mile Lakewood Speedway, known as both the "Indianapolis of the South" and the "Grand Old Lady." It hosted many of the major stock car races in the early years, as well as events for the same open-wheel cars that ran in the Indianapolis 500.

In 1949, the first year of the series now known as Sprint Cup, Byron won the championship, and he and Bob Flock combined to win half of the eight races on the schedule.

But it wasn't until the fifth class of the Charlotte-based NASCAR Hall of Fame that a Georgian was selected.

Last Wednesday, the late Tim Flock, the younger brother of Bob and Fonty Flock, was among five selected as members of the 2014 class. Flock joined Maurice Petty, Jack Ingram, Fireball Roberts and Dale Jarrett. Georgia racing historian Brandon Reed is among those praising the selection of one of the Georgia pioneers. "Given the importance of Georgia drivers and car owners to the birth and development of NASCAR, it has been very frustrating to see people such as Raymond Parks all but shut out," Reed said. "So to finally see a Peach State pilot, especially one as deserving as Tim Flock, who was among those that helped mold and shape NASCAR, is very rewarding and a bit overdue." "Hopefully, the voters will now see fit to put the other racing pioneers from Georgia into the NASCAR Hall of Fame." Flock's Cup career was relatively brief. He ran just 187 races, but won 39 times, including 18 in 1955 alone, and took championships in 1952 and 1955. His winning percentage of 20.86 is second only to another Hall of Famer, Herb Thomas, who finished his career at 21.05.

Flock was born in Ft. Payne, Ala., but moved to Atlanta as a child. His family devoted their lives to racing, and even his sister, Ethel, drove for a time. The Flocks holds the distinction of being the only family to have four members run the same race in the division now known as Sprint Cup. Running on the beach-road course, Ethel Flock Mobley, who was named for the highest grade of gasoline, finished 11th in a race that saw Red Byron take the win over Tim Flock, while Ethel finished ahead of her brothers Bob and Fonty. Like his brother Fonty, Tim Flock was a showman. For a time he raced with a monkey, Jocko Flocko, strapped in the car with him. But in 1964, he was banned for life from NASCAR for trying to help organize a driver's union. He was reinstated shortly before his death in 1998.

NHRA Fuel Champ Antron Brown to test the NASCAR waters

Veteran NHRA drag racer Antron Brown announced last week at Charlotte Motor Speedway that he's going to try his hand at round-track racing. The straight-line master said he was planning to test a NASCAR K&N Pro Series East car at Motor Mile Speedway in Radford, Va., on Tuesday, May 28.

NHRA Top Fuel Champion Antron Brown

Brown, the reigning champion of the NHRA's Top Fuel class, will drive a Toyota Camry prepared by Rev Racing, a team devoted to giving minority drivers a chance to test the NASCAR waters.

"I always wanted to come out here and see if I actually have the ability to turn left," Brown said, adding that he also was swayed by the development program run by Rev Racing and CEO Max Siegel. "I wouldn't want to do it with anybody else. Just the foundation that Rev Racing has ... they develop [their drivers] in all aspects."

Brown said he hopes his experiences at Motor Mile will lead to more time on oval tracks.

"Hopefully, we can take it to other levels," he said.

Brown acknowledged that oval-track, NASCAR-style racing is nothing like what he does in the NHRA.

"I drive for four seconds at a time right now," he said. "This is a lot different, and I know it's a big learning curve and this is just trying to take that step to get familiar with it to see if I can do it."

Although drivers from other racing disciplines often have difficulty adjusting to oval-track stock-car racing, some drag racers have shown some potential in limited appearances.

Cruz Pedregon and Ron Capps have been regular participants in Tony Stewart's Prelude to the Dream charity race at his Rossville, Ohio, dirt track, Eldora Speedway.

Last year, Pedregon drove his way to second place before contact with another car caused him to fade to seventh at the finish. Capps' best Prelude run resulted in a fourth-place finish.

Wekiva has long way to go, but shorter route to get through

Things are hectic this week with the Memorial Day holiday and graduation ceremonies, but I have a few thoughts about the ending of spring football practice.

Wekiva played its spring football game late last week at Mount Dora and while the Mustangs came out on the short end of a 56-28 score, there were some good things that came out of it.

Obviously, there are also some things to work on.

From what I could tell, consistency on both sides of the ball seemed to be the biggest issue.

Yes, Mount Dora scored 56 points, but the Wekiva defense also had some big plays, stopping the Hurricanes more than once on a three-and-out. Plus, some of those 56 points could be directly attributed to the Wekiva offense, which had serious issues with turnovers.

Developing a better down-field passing game and taking better care of the ball are among the things the Wekiva offense needs to develop.

The most encouraging

John Peery
Peery's Extra Points

thing for the Mustangs is that this was the first competition of any type for Wekiva under a coaching staff that is entirely new other than defensive line coach Bryan Gary.

Things can only get better for the Mustangs as they learn under head coach Kenard Lang and his coaching staff, which includes Lang's former NFL teammate Charlie Frye as the offensive coordinator.

That, plus the drop to Class 7A should help the record that Wekiva has this fall. It will take hard work and dedication this summer during conditioning to work toward making that a reality for the Mustangs.

Wekiva's schedule this fall is definitely more equitable for the Mustangs. Apokpa is the lone Class 8A school the Mustangs will face this fall. Edgewater is also on the schedule, but the Eagles are still trying to climb out of an abyss that was caused by the forced retirement of Bill Gierke three or four years ago. They were just not very good this spring and they've got a very long way to go to even win games, much less become a powerhouse again.

Oddly enough, the Mustangs will open with Jones, which Lang coached for the past five seasons. You know those players will give Wekiva a great game, wanting to beat their former coach.

After the Mustangs play at Apokpa on September 13, they have six straight District 7A-4 games with the open date thrown in there, as well. They'll play district foes Oak Ridge, Lake Howell, East River, East Ridge, Ocoee, and Winter Springs, in that order. A home game against University will be on the final night of the regular season.

Out of that district group, there is no one team that stands out. Wekiva has just as good a chance as any of those teams to land a playoff spot by finishing as one of the top two teams in the district.

Time will tell, but a much better season is certainly within the grasp of the 2013 Mustangs.

Apokpa football

The Blue Darters won't end spring practice until they host the Winter Haven Blue Devils today, Friday, May 31, in their spring game.

It's the only game in Central Florida and one of only a handful across the state.

As a result, it's gaining some of what I consider extraordinary attention considering it's nothing more than a spring game that no one will remember in just a couple of weeks unless something very unusual happens.

I fully expect a full slate of college football coaches there to watch the prospects on both sides of the field. Apokpa certainly has its list of guys who will play at the next level with quarterback Zack Darlington leading that list in terms of attention.

Don't be surprised to see a lot of men in various colored shirts hanging out on the sidelines. They'll be congregating together as they know each other from their times as assistant coaches in the college ranks. I doubt any of the college head coaches will be there, but that happens from time to time.

Hopefully, the thunderstorms will hold off and we'll have a nice dry field for the Blue Darters and Blue Devils to play on.

Apokpa's season, of course, will likely begin in South Carolina. Although nothing's been signed yet, the Blue Darters are expected to play the Byrnes Rebels in Duncan, S.C., August 24 at noon on ESPN. It will, no doubt, be a scorcher, but it's certainly an honor for the Blue Darters to play on national television for the third time in the program's history.

As a result of that game, the Darters won't play a pre-season game and they'll get right back into the regular season the following week with a home game against Oak Ridge.

There are now only four teams in District 8A-4, so Apokpa doesn't play a district game until October 4 when they host West Orange.

After an open week, Apokpa hosts Evans in a game that I think will likely determine the district title. I know West Orange will be better this season, but, at this point, I don't think the Warriors will be able to get past Apokpa.

Olympia is the final game of the regular season and the final district game for Apokpa, as the Darters have a second open week on November 8, which is the final night of regular-season action.

In addition to Oak Ridge, Apokpa also will play schedule newcomers Boone and Freedom, while again taking on Lake Brantley and Edgewater. All in all, it's a pretty good schedule with absolutely no Miami-Dade County teams in sight.

Bluegills are hottest fish right now in our area lakes, rivers

Hello Folks,

I hope everyone had a great Memorial Day weekend. Hopefully, you got to do some fishin' because if you didn't, you are missin' some of the best bluegills fishin' since I don't know when.

Folks are gettin' on the water with a bucket of red worms, crickets or grass shrimp and they are catchin' lots of panfish. It doesn't matter where you go because all the chains and lakes in our area are produc'in some nice limits of bluegills. Lake Harney, Lake Jesup, Lake Woodruff, have all been good places to go fishin'. Lake

Jim Keck
Goin' Fishin'

Harney has been really hot as of late especially with last week's full moon. You will find 'em around the shoreline cover and catchin' a limit should be no problem once you locate a bed of 'em.

Up on the Harris Chain, folks are still catchin' plenty of bluegills in Haines Creek, 9th Street Canal, and Dead River. You can catch some bluegills and shellcrackers in the residential canals, too. The bass fishin' on the Harris Chain has been doin' pretty good by flippin' the heavy cover with plastic worms, and small crawdad-type baits.

The bluegills have been bitin' real good in the Kissimmee Chain, too. Most of the bluegills are bein' caught around the shoreline cover and the shell beds in the lake.

Crickets and red worms have been the best baits to catch 'em. The bass fishin' on the Kissimmee Chain has been good, too. You can catch 10 to 20 bass per day.

The bass are feedin' on the pods of baitfish at first light. Once the sun gets up, you need to move out towards the submerged hydrilla clumps and work those areas real slow. The bass are hangin' around the hydrilla clumps and they are bitin' on shiners and slow-sinkin' baits like a Senko, fluke, and a slow-fallin' whacky worm. You need to make sure you are watchin' your line. Those ole big bass will swim off with your bait and you won't know it until it's too late. You will go to set the hook and they might just be under the boat and then you could be in trouble.

The St. Johns River has been good for bass and bluegills. Look for the bass in the mouth of the sloughs and in the mouth of the canals. If you see any runnin' water flowin' into the river, make sure you fish that area. Some nice size bass should be hangin' around those areas.

If you are there at first light, try a noisy top-water bait, swim bait, or a fluke. Once the sun gets up, try Carolina-riggin' a plastic worm on the shell beds. Look for some schoolers real early in the mornin', too.

The Butler Chain and the Conway Chain have been providin' some great bass action. Folks are catchin' some nice bass when they school up chasin' pods of bait fish. Always look for the birds to be divin' on the bait fish. This time of the year, you need to have a Rat-L-Trap or your favorite lipless crank bait tied on in case some schoolers come up while you are fishin'.

Well, that's it for this week. If you get a chance this week, thank a veteran and our military, who are currently servin' our country, for their service.

Tip of the week: bluegills on the beds.

Save a few and good luck!

Sheeler Auto Repair encourages preventive maintenance this summer for your vehicle

It's summer vacation time, the perfect time to visit your local auto repair shop to administer some well-deserved TLC before heading out for summer travel.

It's a fact, regular maintenance can help keep your car running great, improve gas mileage, and boost resale value when it comes time to trade-in.

Sheeler Auto Repair is owned and operated by brothers Demetrius and Odysseus Vergos. Since their beginning in 1998, they have been helping their customers maintain and repair their automobiles and fleet vehicles. They're a full service automotive repair facility, providing repairs and maintenance on all vehicles, cars, trucks, SUVs and imports, and are dedicated to personal service and quality repairs done in a timely and affordable manner.

These professionals know that keeping an eye on everyday wear and tear can stop small problems from becoming expensive headaches down the road. A pre-trip inspection performed by a certified technician at Sheeler Auto Repair consists of a "physical" for your car. It involves inspections of the following systems: cooling, braking, emissions, steering, suspension, fuel, and electrical. Their technicians will also evaluate engine performance, tires, air pressure, filters, AC, gauges, wipers, horns, lights, and mirrors. The staff at Sheeler Auto Repair knows that it's a combination of all these systems working properly that will get you safely from point A to point B and that's why they stress the importance of regular maintenance.

Most car owners are under the impression that, in order to maintain their vehicles' warranty from the dealer, they have to take it back to the dealership for oil changes and service. That is not the case. As long as you have your vehicle maintained and have the service records to show all performed services, there shouldn't be any question as to whether or not your vehicles' warranty remains in effect.

As a matter of fact, Sheeler Auto Repair, being an independent repair facility, can and will keep their prices under the dealerships' in order to help their customers in today's economy. This family business understands that having a safe, reliable mode of transportation is very important. If you have a service book that came with your vehicle, Sheeler Auto Repair will be happy to record any information needed during that service visit. They also keep all your service records on file in their computer system and provide you with a copy at the time of service.

Experience the joy of tasting these treasured recipes from a 1983 cookbook

POT-POURRI of Zellwood: Recipes & Reflections is this week's recipe source. That 1983 Zellwood Community Center cookbook was kindly provided for this column's start in 1989.

Kitchen Kapers
By Ramona Whaley

This treasured nearly quarter-century-old cookbook, pages yellowed-with-age, is by now more loose-leaf than bound as it was originally. Pages now are kept in place only by careful handling, but the book's recipes are still as good as they were back then and this cookbook still is a joy.

The brief "Time Was" reflections scattered throughout the cookbook's pages of recipes are very educational and much appreciated parts of this cookbook. Enjoy both the recipes and some of the cookbook's best "Time Was" quotes below.

"Time was when Zellwood was just a brief stop on the mail route, which was delivered by mule."

"Time was when the original settlers – Frank Gill, Buck Goolsby and the Neal family – were joined by other early pioneers of Zellwood Daniel H. Fleming, J. A. Williamson and R. G. Robinson."

"Time was when the advantages and beauties of Zellwood were proclaimed through the literature published by T. Elwood Zell through his publishing house in Philadelphia. Many retired military officers and their families settled here as a result.

"Time was when Zellwood was the name of Colonel Zell's home and the other residents formally adopted it as the name of the community."

"Time was when Zellwood was the winter residence and hunting grounds of northern millionaires."

"Time was when the big freeze of 1895 hit Zellwood so suddenly that people left their homes with dinners still on the tables.

"Time was when trainloads of newcomers came from Tennessee to develop the reputedly rich farmlands of Zellwood, only to find many crops destroyed by the fickle water level of the mucklands at that time."

"Time was when the Farm and Dehydration Project, assisted by federal funds and research, finally succeeded in "taming the muck" through controlled drainage.

"Time was when the Community Council was formed, dedicated to preserving a high quality of living for Zellwood residents. The council created and became the Zellwood Community Center.

"Time was when everyone would head to the railroad depot when it was time for the mail to come. They would help carry the bags to the post office and sit around talking while they waited for the mail to be put up."

GLADYS WAGER'S
NEW ENGLAND CORN CHOWDER
2 cups cream-style corn
1-1/2 inch cube of fat salt pork
4 cups sliced potatoes
4 cups hot milk
1 sliced onion

Cut the inch-and-a-half cube of salt pork in small slices and fry out. Add onion and cook for about five minutes, stirring often to prevent burning. Cook potatoes in 2-1/2 cups water for 15 minutes, then add the fat and onion. Add corn and hot milk.

Heat the mixture to boiling point and season with salt and pepper. Recipe serves four generously.

CAROL ANN HEATH'S
BLACK BEANS AND RICE
1 package black beans
2 tablespoons olive oil (no other oil should be substituted)
1 whole tomato
1 bay leaf
1 small onion
1/2 green pepper
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 cup olive oil
1/2 cup onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/4 teaspoon oregano
1/4 teaspoon cumin

1 tablespoon salt
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
1/2 teaspoon hot sauce
Hot cooked rice

Mix beans with next six ingredients. Bring to boil and cook, with water, for three and a half hours, until beans are tender.

Discard what is left of the tomato, pepper, onion and bay leaf (if you can find it). Saute the onion, pepper, oregano, cumin and salt in the olive oil, Add wine vinegar and hot sauce. Stir all into beans. Cook for five minutes. Serve over hot rice.

JOY STOKES' ITALIAN EGGPLANT BAKE
1 medium eggplant, peeled and cut into one-inch cubes
1 large onion, sliced
1 medium green pepper, diced
1/8 teaspoon garlic salt
1 teaspoon oregano
2 tablespoons oleo or butter
1 can condensed tomato soup
1 cup water
1/4 teaspoon salt
CROUTONS
Parmesan cheese

Cook eggplant in boiling salted water for three minutes. Drain. Cook onion and green pepper in butter until tender. Put eggplant and onion mix in shallow (10 x 6 x 2-inch) baking dish and season with the garlic salt and oregano.

Heat soup and water and pour over eggplant mix. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Remove eggplant. Top with croutons and parmesan cheese. Turn oven to 425 degrees and return casserole to oven and bake for 15 minutes more.

(This recipe won first place in a boys' cooking contest when one of the recipe contributor's sons was in high school.)

EVERLYN ANDREWS'
CABBAGE PATCH SOUP
1 pound ground chuck
1 large onion, cut up
1/2 head cabbage, shredded
1 large can (46 ounces) tomato juice
Green peppers (optional)

Seasoning to your taste
Brown the beef, onion, peppers and cabbage, browning the vegetables only until golden. Add all the browned vegetables and beef, along with tomato juice and seasonings, to a cooking pot or crockpot and cook soup on low all day. "Gets better every time it is warmed up," a footnote to this recipe says.

SARA TOZIA'S
1896 PRIZEWINNING
SOFT MOLASSES COOKIES
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup sugar
1/3 cup butter
1/2 cup lard
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons cold water
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 heaping teaspoon ginger
1 heaping teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking soda
3 cups sifted flour

Add baking soda to molasses and let mixture foam for five minutes. Cream the sugar and shortening with spices and salt. Add the beaten egg, water and vinegar. Beat well. Add flour and beat until the mixture is just soft enough to handle. Mix well.

Turn onto floured board and roll quite thick. Use a three-inch cutter. Place on cookie sheet and bake in 350-degree oven for approximately 10-20 minutes.

(The secret is to be sure and roll thick, this recipe's contributor added at end of this recipe, which won a $50 prize in the year 1896!)

JANE ANDERSON'S CHERRY FUDGE CAKE
1 package fudge cake mix

1 teaspoon almond extract

Mix together the fudge cake mix, cherry pie filling, one egg and the almond extract. Bake in 13 x 8 x 2-inch pan in 350-degree oven for 35-40 minutes.

Apopka: Darlington, Winter Haven coach are longtime friends

for the Blue Darters. Wes Culison has been out after suffering a concussion, but is expected back for the spring game. If he does, that not only solidifies the fifth spot up front, but it also anchors Ivey and Janetzke into the guard slots, which is what Darlington wants. "If Wes were to come back in the mix, it gives another agile O-lineman and we could balance up without having to move everyone around." Tate came to Apopka's rescue when another team backed out of the game.

Tate and Darlington go back more than 20 years to when Apopka's head coach first got into coaching. "Charlie Tate has been a longtime good friend of mine."

Although some spring games have had limited special teams play and/or had some junior varsity action, the Apopka-Winter Haven contest will be played like it was a game in September with full special teams and varsity action.

The full special teams concerns Darlington because top placekicker/punter Brett Wilson will have graduated from Apopka High early Friday. He's just not sure what to expect except that the kicking game will take a step back.

Defensively, Apopka has concerns about its linebacking corps, although the current crop seem to be improving.

"The linebackers have gotten progressively better." Johnny Robinson has moved from defensive line to play the middle linebacker spot, while Shyeem Covington is the strong-side linebacker, and Roddre Hardwick plays the weak-side position.

Defensive lineman Isaiah Buehler, who is recovering from shoulder surgery, is the only starter expected to miss the spring game.

On the other side of the ball, replacing scatback Jevric Blocker, who rushed for more than 1,700 yards last year is a concern, although Daquon Isom saw plenty of action back there as well and returns after rushing for more than 800 yards last year as a sophomore.

"It's too soon to see what Daquon will do on the perimeter," Darlington said. "I don't think Daquon is going to be a drop-off from Blocker, if at all. Last year, Daquon was either huge or not heard of, but it was not his fault. In some games, some plays worked better than others."

This spring, Darlington has spread out the 20 practices teams are allowed, taking off each Wednesday, while practicing the other four weekdays.

"Spring's always fun," he said. "It's been a long spring, but I like doing it this way. Going Monday and Tuesday, then having a day off is kind of nice."

Wekiva High will hold basketball camp

The sixth annual Mustangs Basketball Camp will be held at Wekiva High School Monday, June 10-Friday, June 14, from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. daily.

Camper's all receive a T-shirt and their own basketball at the end of camp. The cost of the camp is $90 if pre-registered and $100 for walk-ins on June 10. The camp has been a virtual sell out the past four years. Flyers will be available at most area elementary and middle schools by May 15 but can also be mailed or emailed to interested families.

Apopka High football players, coaches still seeking funds for missions trip

Nearly two dozen Apopka High football players and coaches are planning to take a trip to the Bahamas right after the school year ends, but the group needs to raise more funds in order to make it a reality.

AHS football team chaplain Todd Lamphere is heading up the trip that will include having the Apopka players and coaches teach football to Bahamian youth, as well as other activities.

"We have approximately $4,000 to 5,000 that still needs to be raised," Lamphere said. Those who wish to donate can visit www.myvenuechurch.org and click on the Apopka High School mission trip tab. Lamphere said 100 percent of the donations will go to fund the missions trip. People may also call Lamphere at 407-491-0469.

Lamphere said the June 8-14 trip is important not only for those the Apopka players and coaches will be working with in the Bahamas, but also for the young men from Apopka who will go on the trip.

"We've got kids who haven't been out of Apopka hardly, certainly not out Florida. The investment into these kids is worth it," Lamphere said. "As we invest in them, they invest in these Bahamian kids. This will also yield an investment back into the community with some pretty cool dividends."

"We have a community that will help support kids in doing next-level living, developing boys to men and that's what is really exciting about being in this community. We want our men to be grateful for what we have."

No Apopka football players are required to go on the trip, Lamphere said.

"Our players were presented with this opportunity and it's a total volunteer basis with 100 percent parental approval and involvement," he said. "It is separate from the school. It's not a school event but a community initiative."

Those making the trip will hold football clinics for youngsters at C.H. Reeves Junior High School in the Bahamas, Lamphere said, where they will teach the game to students because few know the game in the island nation.

"The school is real excited because their kids are very interested in football. It's not a government-sanctioned sport, so they don't have it. They're just so excited about us coming and just meeting kids from the United States."

The school is not in one of the better areas of the Bahamas, Lamphere said.

"We're going to the non-postcard part of the Bahamas," he said. "There are no pictures on the Internet of where we're going."

Lamphere, who served several years as youth pastor at Trinity Baptist Church of Apopka more than a decade ago, said he is working with the pastor and members of Abundant Life Bible Church in the Bahamas. That church will house the players and coaches, but they must pay for their own food and ground transportation, as well as the roundtrip flight to Nassau, capital of the Bahamas.

"We're charging $400 per person and that's bare bones," Lamphere said. "Some (players) are not paying anything. We asked the players and coaches, 'Does God want you to go?' If it's his will, it's his bill. I'm calling on those who he has blessed to be a blessing to these coaches and young people."

In addition to head coach Rick Darlington, other coaches who will be going on the trip include Jeff Rolson, Matt Anderson, James Delgado, and Bill Caughell. In addition, Rolson's wife, Alicia, is going in case a mom's touch is needed.

To donate money for the trip, visit www.myvenuechurch.org and click on the Apopka High School mission trip tab.

People may also call Lamphere at 407-491-0469.

Wekiva: Turnovers by both teams led to high-scoring fourth quarter

for some reason tonight, we did."

Wekiva didn't turn the ball over during the first quarter, but it ended the game with four lost fumbles and an interception. Mount Dora also scored a safety when it sacked quarterback Bart Bell for an eight-yard loss in the end zone. Mount. Dora lost two fumbles and failed to throw an interception.

Three of the turnovers came during the second quarter and during a stretch of four Mustang possessions.

With 2:41 left in the first quarter, Bell was sacked to give Mount Dora a 9-7 lead. After forcing Mount Dora into a three-and-out following the safety, Wekiva then drove from its 48 to Mount Dora's 15. However, the inability to hold onto the ball began as the first fumble occurred.

The Mustangs scored on their next possession to retake the lead at 14-9 as Deondre Fair broke through the line of scrimmage and bolted 63 yards for the Wekiva touchdown. He broke a tackle at the line of scrimmage and did it again about 10 yards down field. The score came with 7:38 remaining in the first half. The long rushing touchdown came following Bart Bell picking up a first down on third-and-long.

However, the defense couldn't keep the lead as Mount Dora's potent offense struck. Mosher connected with Jefferson Veal on a 70-yard pass. Mosher escaped a sack, stepped up in the pocket and threw to Veal, who had crossed over the field about eight yards past the line of scrimmage and gained the angle on the defensive backs before catching the ball at about the 45-yard line. At that point, all he had to do was turn upfield and run down the middle of the field.

The Hurricanes would never relinquish the lead after that touchdown reception. Even though Mount Dora failed to pick up a first down in its next possession compared to four gained by the Mustangs, the lead was upped right before halftime. Both of the Mustangs' possessions ended with fumbles. The Hurricanes had taken over possession of the ball at the Mustangs' 38, but gained only five yards and lost possession of the ball on downs.

With 21 seconds left in the first half, Wekiva was once again whacked by the big play. A 21-yard Mosher-to-Von Davis pass moved the ball to Wekiva's 49. On the next play and with only 21 seconds remaining in the second quarter, Mosher found Veal again for a touchdown pass. This time, it went for 50 yards. Veal sprinted down the right hashmarks and caught a perfectly thrown pass in stride as the ball dropped in between the secondary at the 37. Veal ran untouched into the end zone to send the teams into halftime with Mount Dora leading 22-14.

From that point on, the Hurricanes were in the advantageous position of playing from ahead by at least a touchdown and a two-point conversion, allowing more flexibility to focus on their strengths.

Both defenses held their ground for most of the third quarter, but what had been an advantageous lead for Mount Dora became a victory secured when Wekiva, for the second time, failed to avoid a sustained period of errors.

With possession of the ball, the Hurricanes profited immensely from two unsportsmanlike penalties on the Mustangs. Both were called while the quarterback was being sacked, although the calls did not come without the price of the referees' judgment as to what the level of physical play should be being questioned.

Nonetheless, the penalties sustained the Mount Dora drive and moved the ball to Wekiva's 35. An offside penalty tacked on another five yards and Mount Dora parlayed the series of slip-ups into a touchdown with 11:57 left in the game. Charod Weaver rambled five yards to increase the lead to 36-14.

A seven-yard interception return for a touchdown by Tavis Smith followed the kickoff. He simply jumped the receiver's route and ran down the right sideline.

Mount Dora's final scores were on a 93-yard Mosher-to-Weaver touchdown pass, a 50-yard run after a recovery of its own fumble, and a 20-yard reception by Davis. On the fumble recovery for a score, Veal ran the ball 50 yards after picking up Jonta Scott's fumble.

Mosher passed the ball from the 7-yard line to Scott at the 22. As Scott crossed midfield, he was stripped of the ball. But the ball bounced off the grass and directly into Veal's hands.

Wekiva had its own big plays as a 91-yard rushing touchdown from Jarvis Scott (11:36) on an inside hand-off and a 90-yard Bell-to-Williams touchdown pass (1:47) accounted for Wekiva's other points.

The 93-yard Mosher-to-Weaver touchdown pass repeated the trend of the Hurricanes striking quickly after a Mustang touchdown. The touchdown pass came two plays from scrimmage after Scott's score.

"The defense made several big plays and put us in good position," Lang said. "(Playing both sides of the ball) Darrion Williams played real well, too. The offense just wasn't as efficient as it needs to be. As a whole and from start to finish, we will have to run it more efficiently. But, while that is the case for the offense, the defense was just too inconsistent. The tackling and the execution of responsibilities have to get better. There was just too much freelancing, players over-running those responsibilities and getting sucked out of position.

"We got some bad calls and Mount Dora made some good plays on their own, but we created a lot of self-inflicted wounds which were too much to overcome."

The game began with the Mustangs scoring after recovering a Mount Dora fumble on the game's first play from scrimmage as Bell and Williams teamed up through the air. The Hurricanes answered with a 19-yard Mosher-to-Porter pass, capping off an eight-play, 70-yard drive.

Wekiva gained 511 total yards. Three of the plays Wekiva ran accounted for 244 of the yards.

Golden Chief

A FOCUS ON SENIOR CITIZENS

Take a break from the city; visit one of Florida's historic state parks

By Ramona Whaley
Golden Chief Correspondent

This is part of the Golden Chief's continuing series on nearby day-trips or longer travel adventures which might interest this page's senior readers and others as well.

"Why?"

With that single-word query, the driver of the car in which I was riding feigned anger, her voice spewing mock indignation as she read the Bulow Plantation Ruins State Park entrance sign on Old Kings Road in the Flagler County.

"Just who is this Bulow? And, why would he ruin a good state park?"

Her joke about the sign wording's double meaning, depending on whether the word ruin is used as noun or verb, was a good laugh, but no one has ruined this still-great state park.

It is in impressive tip-top condition, a very important Florida state park well worth visiting, a wonderful park far from being in ruins.

The park preserves and makes available for public viewing the ruins of the early Florida plantation which once stood on this historical site. Bulow is one of this state's many great historical sites preserved for the future and available for public exploration.

A Florida Department of Environmental Protection Division of Recreation and Parks pamphlet provided for the park's visitors tells well the story of this early-days Florida plantation which today provides Apopkans with a great day-trip destination.

"The early 1800s marked a turbulent era in Florida's history as settlers began establishing plantations on lands that the Seminoles believed to be theirs.

"In 1821, Major Charles William Bulow acquired 4,675 acres of wilderness bordering a tidal creek that would bear his name.

"Using slave labor, he cleared 2,200 acres and planted sugar cane, cotton, rice and indigo. Not long after the plantation was established and in production, Major Bulow died at age 44.

"He left all his holdings to his only son, John. Under John's skilled management, production increased and the plantation prospered until the outbreak of the Second Seminole War.

"Young John Bulow,

like some other settlers in the area, did not agree with the U.S. government's intentions to send the Seminoles to reservations west of the Mississippi River. He demonstrated his disapproval by ordering a four-pound cannon to be fired at Major Putnam's command of State Militia, the 'Mosquito Roarers,' as they entered his property.

"Troops swarmed onto the plantation, taking Bulow prisoner. After a brief unsuccessful campaign against the Indians and with most of the troops ill with dysentery and yellow fever, Major Putnam's command relocated to St. Augustine.

"Realizing that the Indians were becoming more hostile, young Bulow, along with other settlers and their slaves, abandoned his plantation and followed the troops northward.

"Around January 11, 1836, the Seminoles burned 'Bulowville,' along with other plantations in the area.

"All that is left today of this once thriving plantation are the coquina ruins of the sugar mill, several wells, a spring house, and the crumbling foundation of the mansion.

"The cleared fields have been reclaimed by the forest, and the area looks much the same as it did when it belonged to the Seminoles."

"John Bulow, discouraged by the destruction, went to Paris where he died three months later at the age of twenty-six."

Despite that sad-ending story from history about what once was the Bulow Plantation, today, this same site is now a beautiful peace-permeated state park and is a good place to relax in a beautiful outdoor setting just enjoying nature's quiet beauty and serenity.

The Bulows likely would love what their plantation has become today, for generations long after their time there, now an historic-site state park teaching today's generations about how life once was there.

The historic Bulow Plantation Ruins Historic State Park site now mostly is a wonderful woods far from city hustle-bustle, a massive thick still-standing forest which once housed that great now-gone old plantation, a magnificent sylvan escape from life's routine hustle-bustle.

A peaceful quiet walk through the old Bulow Plantation's rustic setting calms and restores today's city-torn nerves.

In addition to teaching history in an unforgettable way,

Learning about the history of this early-pioneer Florida plantation, visitors also enjoy the view at Bulow Plantation Ruins Historic State Park.

this old plantation does well its current job as a state park.

It is very much well worth the relatively short ride up Florida's east coast a bit to Flagler County (enjoying relaxing and scenic A1A ocean views all along the way) to see and experience this forest primeval which once housed a great pioneer Florida plantation.

Bulow Plantation Ruins State Park is located at 3501 South Old Kings Road, nine miles south of Bunnell. For more information and specific directions, call the park office at 1-386-517-2084 or visit <http://www.floridastateparks.org/bulowplantation/>.

Let's Go To Camp!

This summer, lots of us will be going to camp. In my area we have a great Parks and Rec department that offers a day camp for two weeks. I'm planning to go there to play sports and go hiking. Glade, my little brother, chose an overnight adventure camp and can't wait to try out ropes courses, kayaking and mini biking! Check out some camping choices near you. Don't forget that you can have fun camping right at home too. All it takes is a tent in the backyard or a sheet covering the couch and chair in a living room. Don't forget the flashlights, comics and maybe a brother, sister or a good friend to share the fun.

Read the clues to fill in the puzzle with some kinds of camps:

1. card tricks; how to pull a rabbit out of a hat
2. rocketry, robotics, computer programming
3. juggle, clown and even walk on a wire
4. skateboarding, rollerblading, BMX biking
5. white water rafting, rock climbing, mountain biking
6. care for livestock: chickens, pigs, cows; harvest crops
7. play paintball, search for clues and use neat gadgets
8. learn to play instruments or sing rock n' roll
9. learn discipline and self defense moves
10. safety first, then rip around the dirt track
11. windsurfing, boating, waterskiing and wakeboarding
12. one of many kinds of faith-based camp with stories, songs and prayers
13. hip hop, jazz, tap, ballroom, ballet
14. learn about plant life, hike through the woods, learn about survival
15. move and speak on stage performing plays or songs

“A soldier is someone who at one point in their life wrote a blank check made payable to the United States of America for an amount up to, and including their life.”

IT IS THE SOLDIER

It is the Soldier, not the minister
Who has given us freedom of religion.

It is the Soldier, not the reporter
Who has given us freedom of the press.

It is the Soldier, not the poet
Who has given us freedom of speech.

It is the Soldier, not the campus organizer
Who has given us freedom to protest.

It is the Soldier, not the lawyer
Who has given us the right to a fair trial.

It is the Soldier, not the politician,
Who has given us the right to vote.

It is the Soldier who salutes the flag,
Who serves beneath the flag,

WHY PUBLIC/LEGAL NOTICES ARE IMPORTANT

Public Notices are an important tool in ensuring an informed citizenry. They have played a key role in America's participatory democracy where it counts most: how your tax dollars are spent and how policy is made.

When located in easy-to-find sections of your newspaper, they are fully accessible to every one, unlike the Internet. Large segments of the state's population, including more than half of Floridians over 65, and one-third of minority populations, do not have Internet access.

For those who prefer online access, every public notice that runs in a daily or weekly newspaper is automatically uploaded to that newspaper's web site and www.floridapublicnotices.com

The public's right to know cannot be abandoned in favor of cost savings that are elusive.

Consider that less than 10% of U.S. citizens view a government web site daily, according to U.S. Census Bureau. This contrasts dramatically with the 83% of adults who read a community newspaper every week, according to the National Newspaper Association.

Furthermore, a public notice printed in the newspaper produces a permanent record. A newspaper is archived for years, and is not subject to computer crashes and hackers.

Newspapers are easily verifiable, fully transparent and represent an impartial third party. Giving government singular responsibility for distributing public notices is like putting the fox in charge of the hen house.

Newspapers are your watchdogs. Keep it that way. Contact your government officials and voice your opinion about publication of the public notices.
