Drew Dorweiler is recognized as one of North America's pre-eminent valuers of professional sports franchises and properties. His valuation and transaction repertoire includes NHL, MLB, NBA, CFL, English Premier League, European and semi-professional sports teams, arenas, broadcasting, and naming rights.

Mr. Dorweiler has given numerous interviews featured in international television, radio, and print media on valuation, financial, and sports business matters. In particular, he has worked with Forbes for the past 22 years on many sports business-related articles; including the magazine's annual valuation rankings of professional sports franchises. Mr. Dorweiler was a co-panelist (along with Steve Ballmer and Leigh Steinberg) in the Forbes "Top 30 Under 30: Sports" issue (January 2015). <http://www.forbes.com/30under30/#/sports>

Mr. Dorweiler has been featured in several New York Times articles. He also frequently appears on nationwide television and radio broadcasts in Canada on networks such as CBC, CTV (Nightly News), Business News Network, and TSN (The Sports Network).

Mr. Dorweiler was elected to Board of Trustees of The Appraisal Foundation for the 2013-2015 and 2016-2018 terms (and appointed Chair of the Business Valuation Resource Panel for 2015). He was also previously elected to the Board of Directors of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Business Valuators from 2006-2009 (he was the recipient of the Institute's Communicator Award in 2012).

Mr. Dorweiler was named a Fellow of Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors in 2013. He has also been a member of the Board of Directors of the Montréal Chapter of the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners continuously since 1995, having served as President from 2005-2007.

Mr. Dorweiler graduated with a Bachelor of Arts, Economics, Dartmouth College. He obtained a dual MBA, Corporate Finance and Accounting, Lubin Graduate School of Business, Pace University.
