Catalogue $2.00

January 2003

We hope that the New Year finds you well, healthy and looking forward to a wonderful gardening year ahead.

Here it is. Our best catalogue ever, and we think the best selection of Daylilies that we have ever offered. This is our 9th year selling daylilies, our 7th colour catalogue, and will be our 6th year participating in Canada Blooms – Canada's biggest and best Flower & Garden Show.

Thank you to all who have sent us notes & e-mails & phone calls to praise our plants. We work hard and we want you to be delighted with your mail-order plants; we thrive on repeat business and recommendations.

We may be a little shy on the newest high-end plants this year, mainly because we quarantined our gardens and imported no new cultivars last year, while the rust situation played itself out. The good news is that no Canadian gardens that had rust in 2001 found it in 2002, even the ones that did not use fungicides. See the discussion on daylily rust on page 13 of this catalogue.

Import of new cultivars will resume this spring as soon as we clear out some space for them.

Our Internet web site www.ArcadianDaylilies.com is up and running and will continue to improve through 2003. New for this year, our colour catalogue is downloadable from the web in Adobe PDF format. Try it out if you want a copy to keep on your hard disk, or print off an extra copy for yourself or a friend. Let us know how it works for you so that we can continue to improve our service to our customers.

Our summer Open Garden/Plant Sale will be July 12,13 & July 19, 20 in our Etobicoke garden.

“Artist in the Garden” Longtime friend and talented artist Michelle Shook will be painting in the garden and showing some of her work for at least 2 days of the plant sale. Dates to be confirmed. Michelle works primarily in oils, ceramics and pottery. Her bold use of colour infuses her work with warmth & energy. The beauty in her floral works makes her one of our favourite artists. No we are not at all biased – visit Michelle's website @ www.MichelleShook.com and see for yourself.

May your gardens always be filled with love and beauty.

Sandy Carlton & Family

Cover Photo – “Tiny Footprints” hybridized by Corina Carlton is one of the creations to come out of our gardens. Corina received considerable encouragement from several noted hybridizers, to see what she could accomplish. This seedling has drawn the most attention. The tips of the sepals and to a lesser degree the tips of the petals are covered with pinprick sized speckles, maroon in colour matching the eye. These tiny footprints are sometimes so intense as to make the flower look patterned.

El Desperado (Stamile 1991) SSM Runner Up for 2002

AM'2000, HM'98, PC'2000, DCS'2001 $8.00
 Dormant 28" 5" La Tetraploid
 Originally from tissue culture, plant strength, & bloom size & colour have improved year by year. El Desperado is a much awarded and highly regarded cultivar. Our plants are improving but still look pale with weak eye and edge but are much cheaper than field grown – worth the savings?

Note: El Desperado is the only cultivar we currently offer that is originally from Tissue Culture

Reduce Reuse Recycle

We would be pleased to reuse your old nursery pots. Sizes from 1 gallon up, they really should be returned to use, rather than sent to the dump.

Stout Silver Medal Recipients

We grow many early Stout Silver Medal recipients from the 50's, 60's and 70's, that we have in too limited quantities to list in this catalogue. If you are interested in historic daylilies please enquire by phone or email.

Planting Advice – Novice Gardeners

Daylilies are one of the easiest and most forgiving perennials to grow. Here are a few tips to help you get the most out of your plants.

All of our plants come colour coded – green side up.

The crown, where green meets brown should be about an inch below the soil surface. Planting too deep will result in diminished bloom and weakened plant while it grows an elongated crown to come closer to the surface. Planting too shallow can result in exposed roots that are prone to damage.

Daylilies can be planted anytime the ground can be broken and that is only because your shovel won't work too well in frozen ground. There is some evidence that plants divided late in the autumn are more prone to infection and rot, however our experience with planting container grown plants even into December has proven favorable.

Extra care with fall plantings, tamping the ground down around the plant, watering well to settle and mulching after the ground has frozen will prevent frost heaving and exposed roots, which can weaken or kill your daylily.

Daylilies are tolerant of any soil from clay to sand but digging in lots of organic matter (compost, well rotted manure, or other organic soil amendments) will benefit your plants and reward you with more bloom (remember that planting a $5. plant in a $10. hole is wise investment)

Daylilies are shade tolerant but if they don't get 5 hours of direct sun per day you won't get maximum bloom.

Adequate water leading up to bloom season is essential for good bud development (rule of thumb 1.5" weekly)

Everyone has their own opinion on fertilizing. Generally the more sun and water your plants receive the more fertilizer they will utilize. Gardeners that incorporate lots of rich organic matter into their soil can get spectacular bloom with no chemical fertilizers.

Occasionally mid season plantings appear to languor. Daylilies emerge in spring with a vigorous vegetative growth cycle, followed by a reproductive cycle during which bloom scapes, flowers and seeds are produced. The reproductive cycle is followed by a second vegetative growth cycle in the late summer and autumn. Strength is built and energy stored during the vegetative cycles and drawn on during the reproductive cycle. A weak plant in a reproductive cycle can be encouraged to start strengthening itself by simply removing the bloom scape. (if you can bear to do that)

Mail Ordering

Daylilies ship very easily through the mail. Fresh dug plants have the soil washed from the roots, leaves and roots are trimmed to prevent breakage and excess water loss. When dry, plants are packed in a ventilated cardboard box and shipped to you by Expedited Parcel

Past customers will notice that we no longer use Xpresspost. As postal rates have increased over the years we have been shipping daylilies, we have absorbed the losses. Expedited Parcel will bring our cost down with no change in shipments to our regional customers (Ontario and Quebec). Regional shipments will still arrive in one or two days in most cases, with tracking available by telephone. Shipments to west of Thunder Bay & to the Maritimes will take a day longer, most arriving in 3 or 4 days. Xpresspost is still available at additional cost – please phone or email us with your order for the additional cost.

We try extremely hard to meet your delivery requests but at the peak of the shipping season we can be a week or two behind. Early season orders may be shipped a week early unless you specify not to. Shipping priority is given by date of receipt of order.

If an e-mail address is included on your order we will attempt to notify you when your plants are being shipped.

All plants we ship are minimum double fans. Cultivars that grow well for us are often shipped out as triples, quads or better. We find that up to 75% of our bare root mail order plants bloom the first year.

Mail Orders are shipped from April to October. Most are shipped during May and June. We have experimented with early spring shipments and although the plants look very small, the results have been favourable. The extra time for vegetative growth between planting and bloom season helps provide a strong plant at the end of the first season.

Every year it happens – we sell out of something and have to turn away orders for that cultivar – every effort is made to only include cultivars in our catalogue that there are adequate supplies of – the 72 colour photos indicate the cultivars we had the largest inventory of at the end of 2002 – we have learned to expect to be surprised by which cultivars are popular and sell out - if there is something special you want, you are best advised to place your order early – as always plants are committed on a first paid for basis – you are always welcome to phone or email to enquire about availability.

You are welcome to include a list of substitutions.

Canada Blooms – A Symphony of Gardens – March 12 - 16

Garden Visitors

We are one of Canada's largest daylily growers and mailorder sources but do not operate a retail outlet. We operate from home. Garden visitors are welcome by appointment, often possible on short notice, however drop in visitors cannot be accommodated.

Order Pickup

Customers are always welcome to pick up their orders and save the shipping charge.

Summer Garden Sale

We will again be opening our Etobicoke Garden for a plant sale at the peak of the 2003 Bloom Season

July 12, 13 & July 19, 20

From 8:00 am to 4:00 pm

At 14 Paula Blvd. Etobicoke

Daylily Rust

During 2001, daylily rust or Puccinia hemerocallidis spread across North America, arriving in some Ontario gardens late summer. The year 2001 will be remembered by daylily aficionados as a year of angst and fear of this unknown entity. Through 2002, with sane voices prevailing much has been learned and the fear has evolved thru quiet resignation, and ultimately rust has become almost a non-issue.

Evidence seems to indicate that Puccinia hemerocallidis cannot survive Canadian winters without its alternate host Patrinia sp. In the south where daylilies remain lush and green year round the alternate host is not necessary for rust to survive. Southern growers deal with the problem through the use of fungicides, or ignore the rust and breed for resistance. In Canada where daylilies are not grown near Patrinia, rust is unlikely to be a significant issue.

Public Daylily Gardens at Humber Arboretum

Arcadian Daylilies has continued working in partnership with the Humber Arboretum to build a truly world class daylily collection in the arboretum gardens. The highlight of the collection is undoubtedly the Stout Silver Medal bed, which winds for 200 feet through an incredible park-like setting featuring mature trees, ponds, immaculate flowerbeds, & open lawns.

The Stout bed was specially prepared to illustrate the evolution of the daylily since Hesperus received the first Stout Medal in 1950. This is the most complete Stout collection in Canada with room for the collection to expand. The arboretum also features a number of future Stout contenders and a general collection of heritage and modern daylilies.

The Humber Arboretum is itself a Joint Project between the City of Toronto Parks, the Toronto Region Conservation Authority and Humber College.

Located at the back of Humber College north campus the arboretum is open daylight hours, 365 days a year.

Parking for arboretum visitors is free in Lot #1 behind Humber College. Use Entrance "A" to the college.

Access is off of Humber College Blvd west of Hwy 27 and south of Finch Ave.

Guided tours of the daylily beds can be arranged for interested groups during the bloom season. For more information

Fragrance

Most people who buy daylilies for fragrance end up walking around with a lot of pollen on their noses. For the most part Daylily Fragrance is subtle and you need to get up close to appreciate it. Notable exceptions to that rule include 2 species we have encountered that will fill large areas with their exquisite perfume. H. flava & H. citrina are very highly regarded for their fragrance and most fragrant hybrids have one or both of these species in their lineage.

Fragrant cultivars we offer include Admirals Braid, All American Gold, Autumn Minaret, Betty Warren Woods, Bill Norris, Blueberry Candy, Chorus Line, Country Melody, Frozen Jade, Ice Carnival, Lemon Lace, Luscious Honeydew, Ming Snow, Purity, Scatterbrain, Shades of Darkness, Siloam Double Classic, Snow Blizzard, Solomon's Robes, Stella de Oro, Trahlyta, Vanilla Fluff, Wind Song & Woodside Romance.

Spiders

In the early years of daylily hybridizing narrow petaled spidery type blooms were common. During the 1970's and 1980's, hybridizers sought to create dinnerplate style daylilies with wide flat petals. Spiders were very much out of vogue. Today spiders are enjoying a resurgence in popularity, so much so that we have difficulty growing enough spiders to meet demand.

In order to qualify as a true spider the petals must consistently be at least 5 times longer than wide. Spider variants may qualify with a length to width ratio of 4:1

Our 2003 collection of spiders & variants has grown. We are pleased to offer Firestorm, Jan's Twister, Kindly Light, Lady Fingers, Lilting Belle, Long Stocking, Nina Winegar, Nutmeg Elf, Red Ribbons, Tarantula, Tetrina's Daughter & Tylwyth Teg.

UFO's (these don't fly)

Unusual Forms are the most recently defined class of daylilies, inclusion based exclusively on form. The flower must have distinctive petal, and/or sepal shapes. These include: Pinching, Curling, Twisting, Cascading, and Quilling. The following cultivars are officially considered UFO's – Asiatic Pheasant, Enjoy, Jan's Twister, Lake Norman Spider, Lilting Lavender, Morticia, Open Hearth, Orchid Corsage, Prague Spring, Spider Miracle.

Reblooming Daylilies

Here is a list of the Recurrent daylilies that have most impressed in our gardens. Bayou Bride, Canadian Border Patrol, Camden Gold Dollar, Condilla, Custard Candy, Daring Dilemma, Finlandia Gold, Frans Hals, Jason Salter, Leprechauns Wealth, Penny's Worth, Scatterbrain, Siloam Ethel Smith, Siloam June Bug, Siloam Plum Tree, Siloam Red Ruby, Solomon's Robes, Stella D'Oro most daylilies in Ontario start blooming in July. Here is a list of cultivars that we find consistently start blooming in June or earlier. All American Gold, Bayou Bride, Camden Gold Dollar, Charles Johnson, Custard Candy, Joan Senior, Leprechauns Wealth, Prester John, Stella D'Oro, Siloam Double Classic, Siloam June Bug.

Early Season Extenders

Late Bloom

The best September blooms in our Gardens – August Flame, Autumn Minaret, Custard Candy, Daring Dilemma, Decatur Special, Finlandia Gold, Frans Hals, Golden Prize, Scatterbrain, Solomon's Robes, Susan Weber

Dwarf Daylilies

by definition are those that are registered as blooming under 16" tall. Consider these – Leprechauns Wealth (15"), Penny's Worth (10"), Raindrop (12"), Stella de Oro (11"), You Angel You (15"), Little Missy(16"), Siloam Button Box (16"), Siloam Double Classic (16")
These don't qualify as dwarfs but are still real short - Siloam Red Ruby (18"), Neal Berrey (18"), Peggy Jeffcoat (18"), Pocket Change (18"), Jason Salter(18"), Bibbity Bobbity Boo(18")

Miniature

refers to the size or diameter of the bloom – in order to qualify as a miniature the bloom must be under 3" in diameter (can be any height) Bibbity Bobbity Boo (2.75"), Bittersweet Honey(2.75"), Jason Salter(2.75), Leprechauns Wealth(2.5), Little Missy(2.75) Pardon Me (2.75"), Penny's Worth (1.5"), Puddin (2.5"), Raindrop (2"), Siloam June Bug (2.5")

At 3" diameter these small flowers don't quite qualify as miniatures Lilting Lady, Nutmeg Elf, Purity

Doubles

Always popular, our doubles collection for 2003 include Condilla, Forty Second Street, Frances Joiner, Highland Lord, Impetuous Fire, Kwanso, Peggy Jeffcoat, Scatterbrain, tet Siloam Double Classic, Siloam Olin Frazier, Snow Blizzard & Vanilla Fluff.
