TRADE AND EXPORT SUPPLIERS • PLANNING & PLANTING SERVICE

PLANTING & PLANNING

Burncoose offers a full landscaping service from simple planting plans through to patios, pools, paving, fencing and rockeries. With many years experience behind us we can plan and design gardens to suit most aspects. However our particular speciality is creating gardens in coastal or exposed locations.

As well as our landscaping service offered locally we can also provide a design service with suitable planting lists for our mail order customers anywhere in the country. Further details can be found on our website or by contacting the office direct.

NURSERIES

Burncoose is a working nursery of around 10 acres producing one of the widest ranges of plants available by mail order anywhere in the U.K. Although mail order is our main business we welcome locals and holiday visitors alike to Cornwall to the nursery 7 days a week to browse around at their leisure and select their own plants while also taking a stroll through the gardens for inspiration.

GARDENS

The Burncoose woodland garden of some 30 acres, which was once described as "A garden oasis in the mine wastelands of Cornwall", has progressed over the years from being a typical Cornish spring garden into a garden for all seasons. It contains as extensive and diverse a range of plants as can be found anywhere in the West of England. The early spring display of Camellias, Rhododendrons and Magnolias moves on through to the late summer show of Hydrangeas and Eucryphias, then a warm symphony of autumn colours.

WELCOME FROM BURNCOOSE NURSERIES

The UK's largest specialist mail order supplier of garden plants offering the widest choice of trees, shrubs, herbaceous and conservatory plants many of which are rare and exclusive to Burncoose Nurseries

Dear Customer.

The past year has been one of great success for the nursery. In the spring of 2010 we despatched over 3,000 mail order orders in March, April and May; an increase of around 20% over the previous year and an all-time record for our packing shed. This increase has been maintained through the year.

The icing on the cake was another Gold Medal at the Chelsea Flower Show achieved by our young and relatively inexperienced show team staging our superb stand in a heat wave.

The Burncoose landscaping team have completed planting schemes in large gardens near Honiton, Pangbourne and Old Windsor as well as several in Cornwall. These can viewed in more detail on our website. We are delighted to have obtained new projects for 2011 in Southern Ireland, and other distant parts of the UK.

Our website attracted 2,000 unique visitors every day of the year and 1,500,000 visits overall in 2010. Nearly all of the plants listed on the website have at least one picture and the majority now have four different pictures together with full cultural information. Burncoose is therefore well established as one of the very top tier mail order plant suppliers in the UK.

Even the much vaunted new mail order computer system is finally up and running properly.

FOR ALL THESE REASONS WE HAVE DECIDED TO KEEP ALL OUR PLANT PRICES FOR 2011 EXACTLY THE SAME AS IN 2010 (VAT and carriage increases being the only exception).

After several years of heavy investment in our website, pictorial catalogue, packing shed and computer systems we now feel confident that our publicity and reputation for supplying good quality plants on time combined with a price freeze will generate further growth in our customer base

We have always tried to locate, import and grow new and exciting plants from around the globe which are not available in garden centres. This year is no exception and you will find over 200 new plants on our ever expanding website.

A big thank you to all our long-standing and many new customers from 2010. We very much look forward to hearing from you again soon

With kind regards. Yours sincerely

DESIGN YOUR OWN GARDEN The Cottage Garden

Cottage gardens are usually very fragrant and stuffed with long established traditional summer favourites such as lavender wisteria paeonies and roses. Herbaceous plants are planted thickly to cover bare earth and minimise weeding. We can all picture a typical English country village in July but there are plenty of newer and perhaps more modern plants which will do just as good a job and traditions are changing. You will find that our list of suggestions or recommendations contains some of each selected by demand from our customers. If in doubt about how many plants are needed for a particular sized border, a fence or a shady area then email us photographs of your garden and we will try to help.

More information is available on our website: www.burncoose.co.uk

VOYAGE OF DISCOVERY WINS GOLD AT CHELSEA

Burncoose Nurseries Voyages of Discovery Garden, which was once again supported by Terra Firma Capital Partners, was inspired by local Cornish family, the Fox family of Falmouth. The Foxs' are renowned garden creators who, partly through their connections in the shipping trade, helped to popularise new and interesting plants and also helped to create the concept of Cornwall as a sub-tropical garden.

The influence of plant hunting expeditions on Cornish gardens was showcased through the planting of sub tropical plants that now thrive in Cornwall. The Voyages of Discovery Garden also included examples of plants that are now under threat in the wild, yet are seen to be common garden plants.

The garden was design by Louisa Lazarowicz of Burncoose Nurseries who has designed and staged Burncooses' last two Gold Medal winning stands at the Chelsea Flower Show.

Louisa Lazarowicz (on BBC television) visits Fox Rosehill Gardens in Cornwall to talk about the inspiration behind this years design. To see the interview go to www.youtube.com and enter "Burncoose Nurseries Chelsea 2010" in the search window.

Each year, Terra Firma uses their sponsorship at RHS Chelsea to support the work of The Prince's Trust in changing young lives. This year, Prince's Trust Celebrity Ambassador, TV presenter and self confessed adventurer, Ben Fogle visited the stand, he said: "I am delighted to be representing The Prince's Trust at Chelsea. Burncoose's Voyage of Discovery Garden is a fascinating insight into the adventurous spirit of people in the 18th 19th and 20th century. The Prince's Trust works hard to inspire young people to take control, look to the future and be brave in taking their first step. The messages in this garden really showcases the grit, spirit and determination we all have within us if we are passionate. It also shows the importance of conservation and managing our resources, something we can all learn from."

Plant Care and Advice How To Care For Camellias

PLANTING TIPS

Camellias can be grown in full sun, partial or established varieties make excellent even full shade. Dappled shade is perhaps windbreaks: ideal especially for white flowering forms. They can readily withstand the coldest winters and are fully hardy.

They are tap rooting plants and grow very quickly. If planted in a windy area a stake is advisable for the first few years as these evergreen plants can twist and break off at If rabbits can gain access to your garden it ground level in exposed positions. That is may be advisable to put a wire netting not to say that camellias cannot be planted surround around the plant for 2 or 3 years in windy positions as many of the older more until it has grown enough to be out of danger.

(C. 'St Ewe', C. 'Debbie', C. 'Anticipation').

Camellias are best planted in the spring or autumn with some leaf mould, peat or farmyard manure incorporated into the planting pit ideally with a sprinkling of fertiliser. Vitax Q4 is one of the best.

Books from The Caerhays Estate

Caerhays is a romantic castle, historic estate and family home. It is also one of the country's most important gardens and a centre for botanic research. A new book describes the history of the house, gardens and families that have lived there

This book is intended to celebrate the life, times, disaster and amusements of Caerhays. It is a wide ranging introduction to a thousand years of history and a century of botanic gardens. It is also an enjoyable read with sufficient variety of content to satisfy any reader. Around 630 colour illustrations include not only plants but also portraits, plans, family trees, and of course lots of magnolias, and camellias, together with the sort of detailed information, in the appendices, which no gardener can be without.

DESIGN YOUR OWN GARDEN Conservatory or Greenhouse

This is one of Burncoose's particular mail order specialities and we are very happy to make more specific plant suggestions with a few pictures of your own glass covered area. The key thing to remember that if your conservatory is heated with radiators and actually part of the house it will have very low humidity levels. This makes it unsuitable for those tender greenhouse plants which only thrive in moist humid conditions and not in hot dry environments. The plant choice in these conditions is more limited. However, if you have a frost free greenhouse with some heat, good ventilation and plenty of moisture in the air, then you can grow a far wider range of plants only providing heat when the temperature threatens zero degrees below 5°C if you are more cautious. To give colour through each season requires quite a bit of thought about plant selection based on ultimate height, the ability to prune and the level of shading.

More information is available on our website: www.burncoose.co.uk

How we pack and deliver your plants

From our nursery safely to your door

It is rare for any two mail orders to be identical so packing individual orders which might contain a 3 metre tree as well as shrubs and herbaceous plants is a skilled business.

There is no such thing as a standard All larger orders are dispatched by box and part of the skill of the packer overnight courier to arrive on the is to ensure that plants are secure next working day. and fully protected for shipment.

Many customers are concerned about the risks of damage in transit. Our experience is that breakages are thankfully very rare and we hope that this is in no small measure due to the experience and expertise of our packing department.

Smaller orders are dispatched by guaranteed 24-hour service which is traceable and insured. The 24-hour service applies to working days and not weekends.

During the course of one year we will despatch separate orders to well over 20 different countries.

🚺 Recycling

We try to use when ever possible recycled

materials for our packing.

This includes the boxes,

shredded material and wrapping paper.

DESIGN YOUR OWN GARDEN The Woodland Garden

Clearly woodland gardens are not for everyone but, if you have the space or some existing trees, why not use or create the partial shade from old or new flowering trees to develop a woodland glade? Camellias, rhododendrons, azaleas and magnolias thrive in dappled or partial shade from woodland or ornamental trees. The choice is immense and we have selected only a tiny proportion of our customer favourites. Please do browse the pictorial website to see what you like for spring or summer flowering trees or for autumn colour. The key thing about woodland gardens is that they are low maintenance and the grass only really needs cutting once or twice from late June when the spring bulbs and wild flowers have died down or set seed.

Plant Care and Advice

How To Care For Hydrangeas

GROWING CONDITIONS

Hydrangeas are very easy to grow! Anyone and everyone can grow them and they will tolerate most soils and nearly all are very hardy. They will tolerate full sun or full shade but, as a general rule of thumb, some shade is particularly helpful especially for white hydrangeas and also for the clear blue varieties.

SOIL AND FEEDING

A good garden loam is best for hydrangeas - neither too heavy nor too light. You often see hydrangeas in seaside or sandy locations where you will invariably find that they flower red or pink. Where you have a light sandy soil to contend with the soil should be improved by adding peat and leaf mould and/or well rotted manure. Very heavy clay soils can also be improved by adding sand and leaf mould. An alkaline pH of 6.5 is best for hydrangeas that are white or pink. For blue flowers you MUST have a much more acid soil and a pH of around 5 is ideal.

Nestled in a secluded valley above Porthluney Cove, the gardens at Caerhays Castle are one of Britain's horticultural treasure troves.

The estate is one of the oldest in the country and the gardens have been created by the Williams family - who sponsored Chinese plant hunters at the turn of the 20th century and have built up a truly outstanding plant collection.

Choose between four woodland walks through magnificent displays of spring flowers which are amongst the best in Britain. Guided tours of the house are also available for a limited period so pre-booking is essential.

Holders of the Plant Heritage National Magnolia Collection and the original home of the world famous x williamsii Camellias, Caerhays still have many original plants collected in China by the intrepid plant collectors in the early 1900's which grow happily alongside more modern hybrids bred by the Williams family, owners for over 150 years.

Meeting for Business at Caerhays Hold your board meeting or brainstorming day in total seclusion and privacy. Arrange that formal lunch to impress your guests or a casual buffet lunch and garden visit to thank those special members of staff, suppliers or customers. Try a team building break, workshop or arrange a product launch. The possibilities are endless and here at Caerhays we can help you with all of them

Caerhays Castle Gifts

The gift shop can be found in the outer courtyard and the plant sales area is beside the entrance point. Both sell a range of Caerhays specific products along with many other garden orientated gifts.

Magnolia Tea Rooms

Serving a wide selection of foods useing locally sourced produce. From tea and homemade cakes to light lunches or snacks the tea-rooms provide a relaxing place to wind up your visit.

On Location at Caerhays

Caerhays can provide photographic or film locations for a wide and varied range of genre. Over the years many films and TV series have used areas of the estate with perhaps the most famous being Daphne Du Maurier Rebecca which was filmed in the castle grounds.

DESIGN YOUR OWN GARDEN The Town Garden

The key challenges to town gardeners are lack of space, prevalence of shade and exposure. However, by making a careful selection of plants suitable for the limited space available, you can certainly create another semi secluded 'room' in your garden. Using trellis and fencing to best effect with the right climbers you can enclose and divide up your space to provide the backdrop for herbaceous borders, smaller shrubs or container grown specimen plants. The right selection is difficult for us to help with and advise on unless we can see pictures of your garden space and its surroundings.

MAGNOLIA Close up pictures of many of these magnolia flowers can be seen on www.caerhays.co.uk as well as the Burncoose website

Large and Specimen sized magnolias are almost all grafted plants. Many are also very rare.

Large plants are 2-3 year old grafts and Specimen plants 3-5 year old grafts. Different Magnolia varieties grow at very different speeds and therefore the size of a Large or a Specimen plant and the exact pot size it is delivered in can vary markedly for plants of identical age.

Large plants: May vary in size according to variety (and also the time of year) from less than 2 feet to 4 feet in 3, 5 or 7,5 litre pots.

Specimen plants: are usually (but not always) between 4 feet and 8 feet in height in 10, 15 or 20 litre pots.

Magnolias do grow very quickly in a single season but do please ring to check the exact size of your chosen variety if you so wish.

If we are unable to offer a Large sized plant we may well also have smaller plants at a lower price.

CAERHAYS ESTATE

A HISTORY OF INNOVATION

The 100 acre Woodland Gardens at Caerhays Castle are English Heritage Listed Grade II*. The origins of can be traced back to the work of the great plant hunters Ernest Wilson (1876 - 1930) and George Forrest

> J C Williams of Caerhays (1861 and became passionate about gardening. He was quick to recognise the importance of the plant hunters work and contributed £300,000 (in to days terms) of his own money towards Forrest's 1911 and subsequent expeditions as well as being involved in the joint funding of many other trips.

newly discovered species of Chinese rhododendrons, magnolias, camellias, azaleas, acers and evergreen oaks, to mention but a few. A large number of these nique plants can be seen growing in maturity at Caerhays today.

The arrival of this plant material opened up The arrival of this plant material opened up opportunities for JC and his successors, Charles and Julian Williams to engage in an extensive programme of hybridisation work which is still going on today. The origin of the truly hardy, free flowering and easy to grow x williamsii strain of camellias dates from J C's original cross between Camellia saluenensis and Camellia japonica in 1923. Williamsii hybrid camellias now number many thousands of varieties and are still hybridised and grown throughout the world.

CAERHAYS CASTLE GARDENS

Awarded national collection status in 2001. The grounds at Caerhays contain over 650 magnolias, making it one of the most important collections in the British Isles.

How To Care For Magnolias

LOCATION

Magnolias prefer to be grown in full sun but will tolerate dappled shade providing there is plenty of room for them to grow and expand without becoming misshapen and 'leggy'. If magnolias are squashed or competing for light and space with other trees and shrubs they will not flower well.

Although, as explained, magnolia trees and shrubs are totally hardy it is foolish to plant them in windy or exposed areas where not just the flowers but also their large leaves can get damaged unnecessarily. Magnolias you can.

hold their leaves long into autumn which accounts for their phenomenal growth rates. However it makes heavily leafed branches vulnerable to splitting off or breaking in strong winds. Some shelter is therefore adviseable

If you live at the bottom of a hill or a deep valley try to avoid planting your magnolia in the very bottom of a frost pocket. Cold air and frost moves downhill and concentrates in valley bottoms so try to plant uphill if

DESIGN YOUR OWN GARDEN The Coastal or

Windswept Garden

A great deal of effort, cost and ultimate disappointment awaits those who do not properly research plants which will tolerate extremes of wind and salt sprays. One of Burncoose's specialities is in selecting plants which will tolerate coastal conditions. We can readily offer fuller plant lists depending on exactly how close your garden is to the shoreline or how exposed it is to westerly gales in hilly or mountainous locations. Near the coast in hot, dry and sandy soil conditions some more tender plants will survive and prosper but, at higher colder altitudes, the choices can be more limited. If in doubt select your own plant list and ask us to comment on its suitability preferably with an emailed picture or two of your garden.

PROPAGATION

at Burncoose Nurseries

Burncoose Nurseries propagates a great many of the plants which it sells on the nursery and by mail order. In particular we propagate the vast majority of our Camellias, Rhododendrons, Hydrangeas and Azaleas. We also concentrate on many of the rarer and more difficult plants which feature in our catalogue and particularly on conservatory plants.

The secret of our mail order buisness is, however, to provide a constant stream of new and interesting plants to the discerning gardener. In consequence we import many new plants as liners from New Zealand, Northern India and Chile and purchase seed of rare trees and shrubs from all parts of the world.

We do also buy from several other UK liner growers and also from European nurseries in Italy, Holland and Belgium although our prime objective is to locate new plants and offer them commercially through the Show Season and by mail order.

Those of our customers who manage to visit the nursery will be able to see the end results of our team's skill and dedication in successfully propagating many rare plants that are 'rare' for the very good reason that propagation is very difficult.

Plant Care and Advice

HOW TO PLANT TREES AND SHRUBS

2 For best results and, especially when planting trees, add some peat, leaf mould, compost or well rotted manure to the base of the pit and to the soil which will go back into the planting hole. Add a small handful of fertiliser (e.g. Vitax Q4) or Blood

3 Gently ease the tree or plant out of its container or rootball wrapper taking great care not to break the rootball. If the plant is especially pot-bound and the roots are densely intertwined gently tease some of them from the edges so that they can gain purchase on the surrounding soil and grow away properly. Where trees or shrubs are bare rooted spread the roots evenly in the pit and ensure which is at least 2 or 2 foot 6 inches tall. A simple spiral tree quard may suffice where trees have straight stems and are not prone to rabbit damage.

6 If smaller roe or munjac deer are a problem then you need a special deer guard which will require a custom made clear tube and ties. These sorts of tree guard are often used in conjunction with a mulch mat to inhibit week growth around the plant.

planting position.

Fish and Bone to the planting pit.

that they are spread on all sides of the plant.

4 Lower the tree or shrub into the planting position. IT IS CRUCIAL THAT THE PLANT IS PLANTED NO MORE DEEPLY THAN IT WAS IN ITS POT OR PREVIOUSLY IN THE GROUND. THE SOIL LEVEL IN THE POT MUST MATCH THE SOIL LEVEL IN THE GROUND. This is especially true of grafted plants which will quickly die it the graft is buried in soil.

5 If rabbits are likely to be a problem the best rabbit protection is a wire netting surround

7 Staking can be carried out in different ways in different locations according to the size of the plant. The windier and more exposed the location the more essential it is to stake properly. Stakes should always be inserted on the side of the plant facing the prevailing wind so that the plant pulls away from the stake in gales rather than rubbing against it.

a) Large trees need substantial staking as shown below. This may well be a job for an expert or landscaper.

b) Trees of six feet or more in size do need a firm stake and one or two expandable plastic ties until their root system can get established.

c) Smaller trees may need only a bamboo cane and

All stakes and ties should be checked at least once a year so the expandable plastic ties can be loosened or removed altogether as the trunk of the tree grows and expands. Sometimes the expandable plastic ties move on the plant and cause the tree to rub against the stake. This can cause long term damage and again needs regular checking.

Tree spiral guards can normally be removed after three years. It is risky not to do so as ants, slugs and worms can build up soil inside the spiral which again can cause grafts to rot or fail

8 Mulching around your new tree is probably a good idea in formal planting schemes because it will inhibit weed growth but is not always essential in a woodland setting. Careful spraying with weedkiller around the base of a tree in April or May can achieve the same effect which is to ensure that, in dry periods, rainfall gets down to the roots of the tree rather than being absorbed by grass and surrounding vegetation. Never use coniferous bark mulch for this purpose as it can be toxic to ericaceous plants and again never cover the graft with bark mulch as this is just as likely to kill the plant as covering the graft with soil.

• Plants and trees which have leaves which are attractive to slugs and snails (eg especially Magnolias) should be surrounded with slug bait in late Spring (April/May) as the new growth first emerges.

10 Always prune out any growth which appears from below the graft on the rootstock. If the rootstock grabs the energy from the grafted part of the plant it will become starved and die.

11 In periods of drought or dry weather in the first 2 or 3 years after planting takes place watering two or more times a week will be helpful to avoid casualties on stunted new growth. Once watering commences it should carry on until the weather changes

12 A dose of granular slow release fertiliser at the start of each subsequent growing season in March or April will encourage the plant to grow more robustly

- 13 The commonest ways of killing newly planted trees and shrubs are:
 - a) Breaking the rootball during planting
 - b) Planting too deeply
 - c) Covering the graft in soil
 - d) Leaving the plant exposed to deer or rabbits
 - e) Inadequate watering in dry spells, especially where weed growth is not controlled
 - f) Poor and inadequate staking combined with a lack of heeling in after major storms

Plant Care and Advice

How To Care For Rhododendrons

GROWING FROM SEED

Rhododendron seed are best kept over winter in airtight sealed containers which should be dry but not heated. Rhododendron seed which has been baked or dried will not germinate next spring. Those rhododendrons which grow in higher altitudes are best over wintered in a sealed container in the fridge. Some rhododendron seed can even be lightly frozen with no ill effects but, in the main, this is not really necessary.

In March or April, when light levels increase, you should consider sowing rhododendron seed. In the wild or even in your own garden you will find rhododendron seedlings germinating in damp mossy environments in the partial shade of other surrounding plants. Some growers therefore prefer to sow rhododendron seed into trays of moss collected from damp stony sites and re-rooted into a seed tray. However this is not strictly speaking necessary.

ENVIRONMENTAL AND CONSERVATION WORK AT BURNCOOSE NURSERIES

Lithocarpus pachyphyllus - Thick leaved oak originating in NE India.

Magnolia Nitida - now a Red List Endangered Species. First introduced by George Forrest

George Forrest - Plant Hunter - 1873-1932

While climate change and environmental concerns remain high up on the political agenda and affect all of us in one way or another, it is easy to forget the important and positive ways in which plantsmen and nurserymen are saving 'Red List' Endangered plants from the wild and distributing them to gardeners to ensure their survival.

The media tend to concentrate on the peat issue and nurseries and garden centres have attracted particular, and to some extent well deserved, criticism for some years. It is easy to forget that peat only came into use as the main potting medium in the early 1970's as a replacement for fine loamy soil and leaf mould.

At Burncoose we are strongly committed to the reduction of the peat content in our potting mixes and we already use 25% non peat products (mainly bark) in the mix. However, the ericaceous plants which we grow, (e.g. rhododendrons, magnolias and camellias) demand acidic compost and simply will not grow in the new green alternatives which include shredded paper, composted waste and coir. Peat free potting mediums may well be an achievable goal one day but not yet! Reverting to using loam/soil mixes with all the attendant weed and other problems would put most nursery growers straight out of business.

What the public tend to overlook are the ways in which nurseries contribute to and enhance our gardens by introducing new plants from distant countries. At Burncoose we import plants from growers, hybridisers and other professional nurserymen in Chile, New Zealand, China and the USA as well as throughout Europe. Relatively few of the 4,000 or more plants offered in our catalogue are native to the UK although many of them have been so well established for so long that we often think that they are.

For instance only 3 of the 600+ species of rhododendrons found growing in the UK today originate in Europe. Most were discovered in China in the early 1900's by the great plant explorers, in particular Ernest Wilson and George Forrest. The seeds brought back from their labours were then grown on and marketed by UK

nurservmen

Podocarpus salignus - a Chilean nature plant, which is now endangered in the wild.

The same is true today. If you search on our website by Country of Origin you will discover just how many new introductions of plants which are new to UK gardeners which Burncoose is now offering from Chile, South Africa and New Zealand.

We read much of invasive or dangerous non native plants and animals introduced to the UK which are a threat to our own native species. However nothing is ever said about the immense contribution that plants sourced and grown by UK nurserymen make to our gardens. Very few indeed of these new species from overseas do anything other than improve the biodiversity and variety of our gardens and landscapes.

More especially, nurserymen, working in co-operation with plant collectors and overseas Botanical Gardens, are helping to preserve rare species whose future in the wild is threatened by habitat destruction and timber logging. These are not the irresponsible acts of a plant thief but essential measures necessary for the conservation of endangered species.

Burncoose and Caerhays work with individual plant collectors, international societies and botanists in helping fund and distribute seed of new and endangered species. Over two thirds of all magnolia species are now considered to be endangered in the wild and yet many of these are still widely available to Burncoose customers. Some of these are recent arrivals from collections by individuals working in Northern Burma and Northern Vietnam.

Burncoose has also been involved in work to re-establish a species of Chilean conifer Podocarpus salignus which is now almost extinct in the wild but is widely grown in Cornwall and seeds prolifically.

Without plant nurseries like Burncoose the preservation of such plants in the wild would be very much more difficult. This key role in conservation work is so often overlooked
