

Peter Brock Foundation Rose

Black Caviar

DEAR CUSTOMERS AND FRIENDS

Welcome to loyal customers of Knight's Roses, and new clients who have joined us during the year.

We are pleased to present our 2013 wholesale rose catalogue and hope you enjoy reading about the many stunning new releases entering the market in coming months.

The past year has been one of growth and development for Knight's Roses - South Australia's largest wholesale rose supplier, located at the gateway to the Barossa Valley.

A new property purchased on the outskirts of Gawler has enabled our family-owned and operated company to continue its expansion and ensure our rose propagation operations continue to flourish.

This growth would not be possible without the support of our loyal customers, and we thank you for your repeat custom. We also welcome feedback on how we can improve our product, to ensure we continue to meet the high expectations of our customers.

Reflecting on a productive and rewarding year, a highlight of last year was the launch of the Peter Brock Foundation Rose at the National Motor Museum at Bathurst, fittingly on the eve of the U8 Supercars Championship. Attending the launch on behalf of the late motorsport legend was Peter Brock's son, Robert, brother Lewis and Danees Denman from the Brock Foundation

Much like Peter Brock himself, the rose is described as 'luminous' and features bright red blooms and a light perfume.

Importantly, part proceeds from sales of this upright hybrid tea go towards the Peter Brock Foundation to support the work of Variety, the children's charity.

A branded racing car is also made available by Knight's Roses for special events being held by nursery members, enquiries can be directed to Knight's Roses.

Looking ahead to 2013, the release of the Black Caviar Rose (pictured) is expected to be a highlight.

Featuring a vanilla and jasmine fragrance, the old fashioned rose shares its name with the remarkable mare who captured international attention with her record-breaking winning streak.

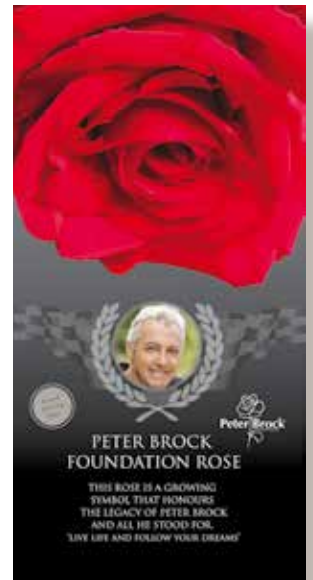

The partnership with Black Caviar's owners has been a success on many levels, with royalties being returned to the racing industry to support the National Jockeys Trust.

Rose enthusiasts should also stay tuned for the pending launch of the new rose in the Fire Star Series in support of CFA, Victoria's Country Fire Authority.

In another exciting development, plans are underway for unique packaging for each of our new release roses sold and point of sale in 2013.

We hope you enjoy browsing the new release catalogue as much as we have enjoyed bringing it to you. Please don't hesitate to contact us with further enquiries.

GUILLLOT COLLECTION

GUILLLOT'S LEGACY OF EXCELLENCE

The Guillot family is proud to have fathered six generations of rose growers. The Guillot Roses story began in 1834, when Jean-Baptiste Guillot established his firm 'La Terre des Roses' (the Terrace of Roses) in Lyon, France, thus establishing the great Lyonnaise rose-growing tradition.

Its first creation was a Bourbon Hybrid christened 'Lamartine', which was produced in 1842. In the following years, the firm accumulated an impressive 81 new varieties. Among these were many of the most beautiful old roses still marketed today, such as Mme Bravy, Pavillon de Pregny, Triomphe de la Guillotière and Comtesse de Barbantane.

Over the next century, the Guillot family revolutionised rose-growing, creating in 1849 the process which would ensure its recognition by rose-growers throughout the world, Shield-Graft Budding On Dog Rose Seedlings.

Guillot's son, Jean-Baptiste André Guillot went on to create 69 varieties, including in 1867 a rose which would change the world of roses forever; the first Hybrid Tea, 'La France' (climber), and in 1875, the first polyantha, 'Ma Pâquerette'.

The firm was handed down from generation to generation, until in 1972, Jean-Pierre Guillot took in hand the destiny of the 'Roseraies Guillot'. It is he who manages the firm at the present time.

After moving the nurseries from Saint-Priest to Chamagnieu, Jean-Pierre tackled the task of the firm's modernisation to meet market requirements.

These days, the firm produces and markets 250,000 rose plants a year. For several years now, two major aspects have guided the firm's policy; the enhancement of old roses and the creation of new varieties.

ENHANCEMENT OF THE OLD ROSES

With an incomparable legacy of more than 500 varieties representing all the rose families, the Guillot family is without a shadow of doubt in the best position to talk about old roses.

After years of research in the collections of rose gardens such as de l'Hay les Roses, Lyon or Bagatelle, Jean-Pierre has grouped together all the 'House' varieties still in existence, and has completed this collection by choosing the best varieties obtained since the seventeenth century, and in 1990 offered amateurs a list of 160 varieties. The following year saw the publication of the first illustrated catalogue entirely devoted to Old Roses.

Their current catalogue offers more than 500 varieties, including many which are not offered by any other rose grower.

Research continues, and the next few years will no doubt see new treasures unearthed from oblivion, to enrich the collections of the more and more numerous enlightened amateurs.

CREATION OF NEW VARIETIES

In this field as well, Jean-Pierre Guillot has continued the work of creation undertaken by the Guillot family since 1834.

Jean-Pierre Guillot has created new roses which combine the charm and diversity of the Old Roses with the qualities of modern roses. They group these 'New Old Roses' under the name of 'Rosa Générosa'. Sonia Rykiel® is a perfect example of this new type of rose.

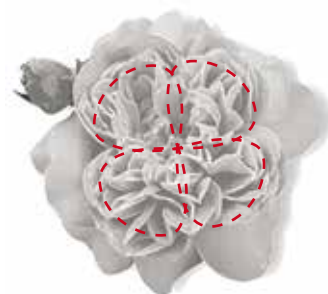

The Roseraies Guillot are renowned for the delicate process of successful cross breeding and first year selections from the Marseillaise region, which benefit from optimal climatic conditions - long periods of warm weather favourable to the perfect ripening of the fruits.

The very carefully elaborated cross-breeding programmes have the following objectives:

- To escape from the constraints of the present standards by looking for variance in shape, habits and foliage, which are the stamp of Old Roses.
- To reinforce and diversify the 'Scented' character, as the rose has the unusual particularity of developing numerous scents. Violets, apple, banana, and lilies of the valley, roses create a whole world of aromas to be explored and tamed.

CYBELLE

Rosa Generosa™ Pillar Rose (MAScybe) STRONG FRAGRANCE

Cybelle produces cupped, fully double deep pink blooms with a mauve touch in the cool. Ideal on posts, small trellis or simply as a tall shrub. Does not need support if maintained and kept cut back to a small bush. Only Suitable as a 1 or 2 year old bush.

Dan Poncet

DAN PONCET

Rosa Generosa™ Floribunda/Border (MASgrama) FRAGRANT

This little rose, dedicated to a Painter, develops like a song in praise of shapes and colours. Plump chubby flowers painted in crimson pink grow at the base of its bushy branches, covered with various shades of dark green foliage. With their pointed petals they could nearly be mistaken for dahlias lost on unusual stems. Perhaps a touch of surrealism but the illusion disappears as soon as one approaches this rose, as the scent of its flowers remind us of its noble origins.

Height: 800mm - 1m

Emily

EMILY Hybrid Tea (MASmajo)

This rose is mischievous, whimsical, and cheerful ... with flowers surprisingly graceful. A shrub with bright green foliage, petite rose buttons (buds) occur in abundance, with many to a branch. And when open, each unveils a rose with more than 40 petals, fluorescent illuminating bright pink with a striking yellow reverse. With a light fragrance, the flowers are quick to reproduce and are excellent for indoor displays or a Show garden. If you are passionate about quality, you will love this sweet little rose named Emily!

Height 60-80cm

Emilien Guillot

GENE TIERNEY

Rosa Generosa™ Floribunda Rose (MASgenti) STRONG FRAGRANCE

Classic, very fragrant fully double golden yellow blooms on a low growing Floribunda. Quick repeat flowering and highly disease resistant. The bronze new growth develops into fresh mild green foliage.

Height 900mm x 500m approx

Joëlle Marouani

JOELLE MAROUANI

Rosa Generosa™ Bush rose Masjorma (Guillot: Massad) VERY FRAGRANT

Here is a flower whose charm is partly due to its hesitation: between flowering singly or in a group, and between a yellow tinge at the base of its petals and a whitish tinge spreading progressively to their tips. But it is also constant: above all, its imposing size and the sixty or so pointed petals that make up this rose with a fruity fragrance. Such a rare pearl on the dark leaves of an upright bush.

Suitable only as a 1 or 2 year old bush.

Height 1.5m

Madame Paule Massad

Martine Guillot

MARTINE GUILLOT

Rosa Generosa™ Bush rose (MASmabay) FRAGRANT

Height 1.4m x 1.3m

Océane

Océane This rose thrives in the heat!!

Rosa Generosa™ Shrub Rose MILD FRAGRANCE

Here is a rose that reveals its charms petal by petal. On straight stems, are masses of flowers that have a similar feel to the wild roses of a bygone era. Large, illuminating Cherry Red petals gradually give way to a heart of lemon yellow stamens. Then comes the surprise of the fragrance with which she adorns herself, a subtle aroma of raspberries that nothing could hint at. Truly a beautiful specimen for every rose enthusiast and just stunning in a massed planting.

Height Approx 1.2m

Paul Bocuse

Phoenix

PHOENIX

Rosa Generosa™ Shrub Rose VERY FRAGRANT

This plant produces roses in two shades like early summer mornings, when night gives way to the day, and before set-a-glow by the sun when the sky becomes tinged with crimson pink.

On dense and quivering bush buds appear opening out into a cup shape, wide and fragrant, where the pink melts little by little into a yellow hue, like a sunrise.

Height 140cm

Sonia Rykiel

ROSEN-TANTAU COLLECTION

100 YEARS OF ROSE BREEDING. FOR OVER A 100 YEARS GARDEN ROSE BREEDING HAS BEEN THE CORE BUSINESS OF ROSEN TANTAU. ROSEN TANTAU HAS SPECIALISED IN DIFFERENT TYPES OF ROSES FOR OVER A CENTURY. 20 YEARS AGO, HOWEVER, THE COMPANY STARTED INTENSIVELY DIVERSIFYING ITS BREEDING LINES TO DIFFERENT TYPES OF ROSE CLASSES.

FOUNDATIONS...

Rosen Tantau was established in the German town of Uetersen in 1906, by nursery gardener Mathias Tantau. With his two brothers, Tantau built up the business through the propagation of garden rose bushes, branching into rose breeding during the difficult years of the First World War. This proved to be a successful move, and in the following years Tantau introduced many famous varieties, including one of the first cut rose varieties to become successful worldwide; the productive and long-lasting red Garnette.

In the 1950s, Rosen Tantau passed into the hands of Tantau's son Mathias Tantau Junior, who significantly changed the company's breeding strategies. Tantau Jr anticipated the market's need for larger flowered varieties with strong colours, which also had good resistance against fungal diseases. One of his biggest successes was in 1960, with the salmon-orange hybrid tea Super Star (Tropicana), which created a sensation with its bright, glossy color, combined with a strong fragrance.

Many other successful strongly perfumed, large flowered varieties with good winter resistance followed, and the company grew rapidly. By 1964, Rosen Tantau had 70 employees, and was propagating 3 million garden rose plants per year, with Tantau Jr winning many international medals and trophies for his outstanding rose varieties.

In 1985, Tantau handed the company over to trusted employee and family friend, Hans Jürgen Evers, and Rosen Tantau went on to become one of the world's most important rose breeding companies by diversifying its breeding program.

DIVERSIFICATION OF BREEDING PROGRAMS...

Garden rose varieties

Hans J. Evers introduced many rich flowering and disease resistant garden rose varieties in different categories, including the famous Santana (1985) Black Magic (1995), Candlelight (2001) and Pastella (2004).

Outdoor cut roses

Evers was one of the first rose breeders who selected and bred specialized cut rose varieties to be cultivated outdoors worldwide. One of the first varieties for this purpose was Diadem, with its different mutations. Later varieties were Monica, Majolika, Softy and today outstanding varieties like Kessy, Mariatheresia and Nostalgie.

Professional cut rose varieties

With the introduction of the varieties Garnette in 1945 and Osiana in 1989, Rosen Tantau's great success story started. The specialized cut rose Osiana was introduced in the Netherlands and then went to South America, and can be seen as Tantau's "door opener" to the very important cut rose market. Later, varieties like Black Magic, Akito and Vendela were launched with great success, boosted by the big increase in worldwide cut flower consumption.

During the last ten years, Rosen Tantau has become a global player in the field of roses, especially due to the diversification of its breeding programs. Today Rosen Tantau produces 2.5 million garden rose bushes of all kinds for cut rose production. The historic grounds of Rosen Tantau have been expanded and reconstructed, and are now the meeting place of rose experts from all over the whole world.

2000 – ROSEN TANTAU'S SUCCESS STORY GOES ON...

In 2000, Hans J. Evers son Christian Evers joined his father in introducing many promising cut rose varieties such as Cherry Brandy, Prestige and Sweet Haze, which have become famous worldwide. Since Mr. Hans Jürgen Evers sadly passed away in August 2007, Christian now runs the company. An accomplished rose breeder in his own right, he has released many brilliant varieties such as Chippendale®, Heidi Klum Rose® Nostalgie® and last but not least the very interesting red-Rose Piano®.

Over the next years we can assure you that you will see even more beautiful and successful rose varieties introduced by Rosen Tantau, whether they are cut roses, garden roses, roses for public green areas, pot roses or roses for other innovative purposes.

A STUDY IN DEDICATION AND THE PURSUIT OF EXCELLENCE

Yorkshire, England, 1860: John and Robert Harkness, teenaged brothers who shared a love for the out-of-doors and horticulture, saved their pocket money and bought their first seeds. Horticulture was to be the life for them.

By the 1880's they were successful exhibitors of gladioli and dahlias, winning championship awards. They expanded their interests to roses, staging 34 exhibits in 22 days at shows all over Britain and winning many awards. This involved over 8000 miles of travel: in the days before automobiles! Roses soon became their primary interest.

In 1895 they established the Rose nursery in Hitchin. Eventually Robert's son Bill, who was a perfectionist, took over the business. Bill's aim was to grow top quality plants of the best varieties. From 1939 to 1956 Bill won the Royal National Rose Society's championship trophy every year it was staged, and held it 22 times in all, easily a record.

In 1961 the Harkness family made a momentous decision to breed new roses. Jack Harkness directed breeding work on a major scale, and within a few years Hitchin-raised varieties were being grown in every corner of the world. 'Mountbatten', 'Alexander', 'Margaret Merrill', 'Compassion' and 'Amber Queen' proved most successful in the early years.

Peter Harkness says "Through peace and war, and changing times, roses have been the anchor of the business: not always an easy way, but certainly a pleasurable way to earn one's living".

IMPROVED ROSES FOR THE FUTURE

To achieve steady improvement in the quality of roses, R Harkness & Co conducts a systematic and precise programme for developing new varieties. The basis of the programme is quality not quantity, designed so that the rose experts at R Harkness & Co can closely monitor merit at every stage.

The process begins with parental planning, arranging a marriage between two roses that have potential to yield a following generation with improved characteristics. At Harkness many of the parents are from in-house 'lines' of breeding that have been carefully developed over previous years.

The chosen parents produce families of seeds, each seed from a pair of parents is similar but not identical. At R. Harkness & Co the annual average quantity of seeds is 40,000. By the end of the first year for the original 40,000 seeds, approximately 2% will be selected for further evaluation. 98% will be discontinued and destroyed.

They then participate in Field Trials. The average period for field trials is 6 years. Each year the characteristics and performance of the roses are monitored, the successful ones are re-grafted, and the unsuccessful ones are discontinued and destroyed. At the end of the 6 year period all that remains is a small group of survivors, usually from 6 to 10 roses, representing 0.0025% of the original 40,000.

These are the improved new roses that Robert and Philip Harkness will use to continue to guide and drive the company into the future.

WE WERE DEEPLY SAD TO HEAR OF THE RECENT PASSING OF ROBERT HARKNESS. OUR DEEPEST SYMPATHIES TO HIS FAMILY.

Claire Austin

CLAIRE AUSTIN™ Climber 2007 (Ausprior).

Good white climbing roses are very few and far between: they are all purity and light. 'Claire Austin' bears pleasingly cupped buds of a pale lemon shade which gradually open to form large, creamy-white flowers of typical English Musk delicacy; their petals are perfectly arranged in concentric circles, with a few more loosely arranged in the centre.

They have a strong myrrh fragrance with dashes of meadow sweet, vanilla and heliotrope.

It forms an elegant, arching shrub with plentiful, medium green foliage. It is even better as a wonderful short climber and is ideal for a rose pillar or is very effective when trained against a wall. It is strong and particularly healthy.

Lady of Megginch

LADY OF MEGGINCH English Rose (Ausvolume)

With its large, richly-coloured flowers, this is a particularly impressive variety. The blooms commence as pretty, rounded buds: gradually opening to form very large, cupped, rosette shaped flowers.

The colour is a very rich deep pink, slightly tinged with deep orange at first and then changing to a deep rose pink. There is a good fruity Old Rose fragrance with a definite hint of raspberry. It is very healthy.

Litchfield Angel

LITCHFIELD ANGEL English Rose (Ausrelate)

The flowers start as deep cups which gradually open to neatly cupped rosettes of creamy apricot and then, as the petals turn back, to a more domed flower of creamy white. The overall effect in the mass is almost pure white.

'Litchfield Angel' will form a vigorous and most attractive, rounded shrub. It will be very useful in a border, as it will go well with all other colours and will act as an intermediary between the pinks and the yellows. The fragrance is generally light, but is strongly clove at one stage.

PRINCESS ALEXANDRA OF KENT

English Rose (Ausmerchant)

The rose that bears her name has unusually large flowers of a warm, glowing pink. They are full-petalled and deeply cupped in shape, all enclosed in a ring of outer petals of a softer pink; creating a most pleasing effect. In spite of their size, they are never clumsy; being held nicely poised on a well-rounded shrub. Because of their size, there is a lot to be said for planting in groups of three, keeping both flowers and growth nicely balanced. A delicious fresh Tea fragrance which, interestingly, changes completely to lemon as the flower ages: eventually taking on additional hints of blackcurrants. It is very healthy.

We are very honoured to name this rose for Princess Alexandra, who is a cousin to Queen Elizabeth II. She is a keen gardener and great lover of roses.

Height: 140cm x Width 80cm.

This rose will delight you with a profusion of fragrant lavender flowers. This is a vivacious, award-winning rose produces giant clusters of high-centered blossoms.

SIR JOHN BETJEMAN English Rose (Ausvivid)

A rose of more modern character than most English Roses. The flowers start as small buds, opening to full petalled, wide open rosettes of a bright, deep pink. As the flower ages the bloom becomes dome shaped while the colour – unusually for the English Roses – gradually intensifies.

The flowers are 2 1/2 - 3 inches across and are produced very freely; having a light, rather 'green' fragrance. A healthy and very bushy shrub of medium size with a slightly arching habit.

With its bright colouration this would be a good choice to create some contrast in a border of other roses of softer colouring. It could also be used in a more formal bedding scheme. Altogether, a strong and healthy shrub that will grow well even in less than ideal conditions.

Betjeman's daughter, Mrs Candida Lycett Green and The Betjeman Society asked us to name this rose after the well-known poet. At the time of his death in 1984 he held the post of Poet Laureate and is commemorated in Poet's Corner in Westminster Abbey. Best known for his poetry, he was also a journalist and broadcaster. He was born on the 28th August 1906.

It is a good choice for both formal and informal areas of the garden and also, perhaps, for a hedge.

Named for the famous RHS Gardens at Wisley, where many English Roses are planted. This variety should not be confused with a rose named 'Wisley' which, although beautiful, did not live up to our health standards.

There is a delicious fragrance that changes with the age; starting as a pure Tea scent and changing to a blend of Tea and Old Rose, with intriguing hints of cedar wood.

WHAT IS FIRESTAR...

The images of Black Saturday have touched us all.

The face of CFA, may be the people in yellow pants and hats, but don't forget the people behind the scenes.

We have all seen photos of those who helped. Dirty, black and yellow, red and grey, exhausted, crying, smiling quietly over the little wins, but never ever complaining. Some stood and waited to be sent to the fire front. Others left to protect their local communities or fought the fires far afield. Their families were left to wait and worry. They gave so much, and expected nothing in return. Sales of the Rose will raise money for CFA.

KNIGHT'S ROSES: A FAMILY HISTORY

KNIGHT'S ROSES IS A FAMILY-OWNED AND OPERATED COMPANY WITH A LONG AND PROUD HISTORY DATING BACK ALMOST 50 YEARS.

From humble beginnings, the SA company has flourished to become one of the largest wholesale rose suppliers in Australia.

Knight's Roses was founded in the 1950s by the late George Knight and his wife Aileen. In the early days George sourced root stock for the nursery, collecting briar and borsal from creek beds and roadsides.

Knowledge about rose budding was scarce and competition fierce, so the couple gleaned much of their information from text books borrowed from the library.

Tragedy struck in 1960 when George, the oldest of four brothers, suffered a severe heart attack. It not only left him hospitalized for six weeks, but changed the face of the company forever.

With 5000 roses in the ground and the outlook grim, younger brothers Julius and Ian left their sheep farm and joined their brother's business to ensure George and Aileen could meet their commitments. It was the start of a successful family partnership that would span many decades and millions of roses.

Officially registered in 1963, the company sourced buds of new varieties from overseas, including Germany and France, which were put through a rigorous quarantine process by Customs Officers on arrival in Australia to prevent potential contamination and disease.

Ironically, the Iceberg variety that has become one of this era's most enduring roses was not popular in the early days. The family found most success with its 'bread and butter lines' which included Superstar, Peace, Mr. Lincoln, Blue Moon and Eiffel Tower. Today, Mr. Lincoln, Blue Moon and Peace are still among the top sellers.

Within three years of operation, the company was planting 100,000 roses annually, phenomenal growth that no one could have foreseen.

Attributing their early success to hard work and back-breaking labour, George, Julius and Ian would often burn the midnight oil packing roses into wooden crates lined with sawdust in preparation for the early morning carrier. Initially selling to retail outlets in South Australia, including GJ Coles and Cashworths in Grote Street, it was not long before the company had expanded its operations into the eastern states.

In 1969 the average standard rose sold for 85 cents while bush roses wholesaled at just 42 cents. But for all its success, Knight's Roses was not without its trials and tribulations. Many un-established roses suffered the devastating effects of bitter winter frosts, hail storms and fierce winds.

Not all root stock varieties were a success in the Adelaide Plains soil either. George was the first to introduce the Dr. Huey root stock from Western Australia but it proved unsuccessful and the family sold it to an opposition grower, who discovered it thrived in heavy clay soil. Today, Dr. Huey is now found among the stocks of every South Australian rose grower.

The company has embraced technology and its modern, state of the art equipment is a far cry from its earliest investment, a two horsepower Landmaster Rotary Hoe which literally bounced the Knight brothers across their 20 acre property.

Ever the inventor, Julius spent hours creating machinery prototypes to make the labour-intensive industry less physically demanding. Perhaps his greatest invention was a foot-propelled machine for grafting. It comprised of a wooden plank between two bicycle wheels that would shunt a grown man along the rows, dispensing with the need to physically bend over each rose to graft it.

It was not only technology that changed — so too did the seasons. While the brothers recall downing tools to listen to the Melbourne Cup in the early 1960s, today, they only start budding in December and rarely have all of their orders in by November.

Around 1970 land was purchased at Willaston and it was also around this time the company diversified into production of cut flowers.

A short time later Knight's Roses returned to its core business and in the 1970s was growing and supplying a staggering 250,000 roses to nurseries across Australia. More than 20 seasonal laborers were employed at the height of the season, carrying out a variety of tasks from digging, pruning and grading, to planting and cutting stock.

The mid 1970s the three brothers went their separate ways. Julius remained in the industry, taking the Knight's Roses brand to Mannum where he and his wife Loraine downsized the company and branched into the retail sector, growing approximately 60,000 roses annually.

After a brief hiatus from rose growing, a new era began for Knight's Roses when Julius' son Daniel became the second generation of the Knight family to join the business in 1985. Inheriting his father's passion for roses, Daniel planted his first crop at the age of 18.

Expanding their holdings into the Salisbury area, the father-son team returned to Gawler in 1992 because of the abundant water and land supply.

Twenty one years later, the company's office and distribution centre is based on 23 acres at Jack Cooper Drive, Gawler, and supplies nurseries in every Australian state as well as Christmas Island. Roses are grown four kilometers away on a large property that enables a good rotation of crops.

One of its greatest successes has been the Climbing Kardinal. The climber became the company's signature rose in 2002 when it was named 'Best Australian Bred Rose' by the National Rose Trial Garden of Australia. The success was relived two years later when Bridal Surprise took out the same honours. The company continues to go from strength to strength and last year produced more than 300,000 roses.

The family attributes it's success to hard work, industry knowledge, practical expertise and a passion for their craft, carefully cultivated over almost 50 years in the industry.

The Knight family continues to grow with Scarlett now 6½ and son Jedison 4½ suggests the company has a bright and prosperous future ahead of it.

GENERAL STANDARD & PATIO VARIETIES

Please see the front section of our catalogue for New Release Varieties that are available on Patio's & Standards

A Standard is any shrub trained into the shape of a tree, with a single trunk. Standards are created by attaching at least two buds of a rose cultivar to a rootstock or understock. Standard's come in heights anywhere from two feet high to over six feet, which is a weeping standard. We have two forms of standard roses available, Patio Standards and Full Standards.

GENERAL SHRUBS & SPECIES

The species in particular make an ideal transition into the native gardens. Most are hardy, with good resistance to disease. Most of this group have one annual flowering in spring. Their charm is their simplicity. Mostly flowers are of single and five petal form. Hardy and vigorous growth.
