Investigation Of Earhart 'Clue' Planned

Remains from Saipan Grave Being Flown To San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bones and teeth found in a shallow jungle grave on Saipan were being flown to San Francisco Friday to ascertain whether they may be those of Amelia Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan.

Miss Earhart, called "Lady Lindy" for her daring flights, and Noonan vanished July 2, 1937, while crossing the Pacific on a world flight.

Fred Goerner, 36, a newsman for radio station KCBS, told a news conference Friday he found a grave containing bones and 37 human teeth.

"We are not sure these are the remains of Amelia Earhart and Fred Noonan," Goerner said.

"But Dr. Theodore D. McGown, professor of anthropology at the University of California at Berkeley has agreed to study them."

Goerner said information which led him to the jungle grave came from Thomas E. Devine, a business man of West Haven, Conn.

Goerner said he learned of Navy messages concerning Miss Earhart's flight which never had been made public.

Cmdr. Paul Bridwell, Saipan's naval commandant, expressed a theory that Miss Earhart and Noonan were forced down in the Marshalls, then taken to Saipan where they were imprisoned.

Levine was a U.S. soldier with a post office unit on Saipan in 1944-45, and had trudged over the island. Devine said a native woman asked if he was searching for a grave, and then the shallow burial place was pointed out to him. He said he did not connect the grave with the disappearance of the fliers until years later.

Goerner said an expedition he headed came upon the burial site Sept. 21.

"Excavating in the vicinity Goerner said, "We found a shallow, unmarked grave containing the remains of a man and woman."

"From teeth uncovered, doctors indicated they were Caucasians and quite possibly those of Miss Earhart and Noonan."

There were no dental plates but the teeth had fillings indicating the work of American dentists.

Tax Levy Set At 113.6 Mills, 5.45 Increase

Iowa City property taxes for 1962 will be based on a levy of 113.601 mills, according to figures released Friday by County Auditor William L. Kanak.

The total represents a 5.45 mill increase from taxes paid in 1961. This means property owners will pay $113.6 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation. The levies are figured on assessments made this year, but actually paid next year.

Most of the increase results from a 4 1/2 mill hike in the school levy. The remainder is accounted for by a 1.2 mill increase in the county levy, and a decrease in the city levy of .2 mills.

Coralville's 1962 levy is up slightly more than 4 mills. University Heights also will have an increase — 4.93 mills.

Levies for other taxing districts in the county will be announced next week, Kanak said.

To Select U.S. Space Astronaut Next Week

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Selection of the first American to go into orbital flight is due after next week's expected launching of a chimpanzee into space.

Informed sources said Lt. Col. John H. Glenn and Lt. Cmdr. Malcolm S. Carpenter are the leading candidates.

Iowa Closes Season Against Irish

K Calls for Cooperation 'All Around' with Finns

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev bluntly told Finnish President Urho Kekkonen Friday measures are most necessary "before it is too late to curb the West German militarists," he said.

Then a report by the official Soviet news agency Tass of a later speech by Khrushchev at a luncheon for Kekkonen made clear the Soviet leader is not letting up on the pressure.

He claimed that the Soviet Union does not want to interfere in Finland's home affairs, but nevertheless charged that right-wing "Tannerites" — associates of the Social Democrat former foreign minister, Vaino Tanner — were trying to restore a "brotherhood-in-arms with the West German revanchists and militarists."

"Finnish neutrality is an important guarantee of the preservation of peace" in the Baltic, he said, and the present situation requires "a further strengthening of all-round cooperation between our two countries, requires firm confidence that Finland will abide tomorrow, as it does today, by its chosen foreign policy line" — friendship with the Soviet Union.

Despite the lack of detail, diplomats who feared the Soviet Union was preparing to compromise Finland's home affairs, but nevertheless charged that right-wing "Tannerites" — associates of the Social Democrat former foreign minister, Vaino Tanner — were trying to restore a "brotherhood-in-arms with the West German revanchists and militarists."

The Soviet Union "can no longer regard the north of Europe as an area of peace and tranquility" because of military talks in Norway and Denmark by West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss and plans to set up a Danish-West German military command, Khrushchev said.

"All this looks very much like a military demonstration of sorts," he declared, adding that Norway and Denmark still looked "through rose-colored spectacles" at their military cooperation with West Germany and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, despite Soviet warnings.

Reached at Novosibirsk by telephone they said the Finnish president will make a report in a speech when he gets back home.

The Finnish President last week called for new parliamentary elections for next February in hopes the results would give assurances of stability in the present foreign policy.

5 Soviet Hydraulic Experts To Visit SUI in December

Five Soviet experts in hydraulic research will spend 1 1/2 days in Iowa City in mid-December as part of a two-week exchange visit organized by Hunter Rouse, director of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research at SUI.

The Soviet delegation is scheduled to arrive in Iowa City Dec. 14. The tour of the hydraulic research facility at SUI is one of five such visits planned for the Soviets in as many points around this country.

Nearly two years of effort on Rouse's part went into the proposed visit before finally he and four colleagues — also directors of hydraulic engineering laboratories — went into the U.S.S.R. in September, 1961, on the first part of the exchange.

Rouse, who has traveled widely in connection with research and the SUI institute, began negotiations for the exchange soon after a group of Soviet space scientists came to the Iowa City campus in November, 1959.

Other points on the Soviets' December tour include the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), the Bureau of Reclamation in Denver, the University of Minnesota, and the Army's Waterways Experiment Station at Vicksburg, Miss. The group is due to arrive in New York City about Dec. 7, and will leave from there for home Dec. 21.

Members of the delegation are: Boris I. Komzin, hydrotechnical engineer; Valeri N. Loginov, chief of the Sochi Scientific Wave Research Station of the Ministry of the Navy; Vladimir S. Perekhvalski, engineer of the Ministry of Inland Water Transport; Boris G. Shtepa, head engineer of the Southern State Designing Institute of Water Economy; and Mikhail F. Skladnev, deputy director in charge of coordination of hydraulic research works in the U.S.S.R.

A Russian-speaking Ph.D. degree candidate from SUI, Theodore Strelkoff, will probably accompany the delegation in Denver, Minneapolis, Iowa City and Vicksburg, Rouse said. Strelkoff, now an instructor at the University of California, is a member of the SUI hydraulic research staff and student here from 1953 to 1960. Strelkoff assisted with translation when the SUI physics laboratory was visited by the Soviet group in 1959.

HELSENKI, Finland (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. Olavi Honka, 67, Friday night withdrew his candidacy in next year's presidential election. He was the main opponent of President Urho Kekkonen, who is seeking re-election.

Hawks Seek End To Losing Streak

Iowa's football team, reeling from four straight Big Ten defeats, faces old rival Notre Dame here today in a non-conference season finale which promises little of the drama of earlier games. Game time is 1:30 p.m.

For the Jerry Burns directed Hawkeys, the game presents a chance to bring the season's mark to 5-4 and avoid the stigma of losing five straight. No Hawkeye team has dropped five in a row in 16 years.

The game will also mark the end of the college football careers of 13 Hawkeye seniors.

Although the game was announced a sellout last October, it is believed that some tickets will be available at the gates today. Many students did not pick up their tickets because of the Thanksgiving vacation. A crowd of between 58,000 and 60,000 is expected.

The Fighting Irish, 5-3, bring a balanced running attack and good passing game that has brought voiced respect from Burns.

"We feel that Notre Dame is a good sound football team, which has momentum up after two recent victories. They have good passing from sophomore Frank Budka, fine running halfbacks and a power fullback. The Irish compare closely with the teams of the last four Saturdays which defeated us," said Burns.

Notre Dame's 1961 edition has played a cliff-hanging type of ball winning two games by four points, another by six, while dropping three by a total of 15 points.

The Irish are just recovering from the excitement of last week's controversial "overtime" 17-15 win over Syracuse. Halfback Joe Perowski, who kicked the 41-yard field goal, is the current Notre Dame hero, but there are others who show a flair for the dramatic.

Quarterback Budka is a dangerous passer and clutch performer as he demonstrated against Syracuse last week. The sophomore from Florida passed for both of the Irish touchdowns. For the season, he's hit on 24 of 55 attempts for a 416 completion average.

Leading the team in offense is senior speedster Angelo Dabiero, who at 5-8 and 165 has a running style similar to All-America star Joe Bellino of Navy.

Dabiero has carried 72 times for 488 yards and a 6.9 yards per carry average.

Senior co-captain and left guard Nick Buoniconti leads the Irish defense with 53 tackles.

Top Notre Dame linemen are tackle Bob Bill, 6-2 and 228, and co-captain and guard Norb Roy, 5-10 and 210. The leading Irish end is Les Traver, 6-2 and 190. Traver is fast, a fine pass receiver and outstanding defensive player.

The Hawkeys top pass-receiving threat, Cyold Webb, has been hampered by a sprained ankle. It is not known how much he will be able to play.

Webb's replacement at right end is senior Bill Whisler who had the spot all to himself before Webb made his sensational mid-season bid for conference honors.

Iowa's strong line will again be headed by veterans Bill Van Buren.

Sunny Day

It should be a great day — weatherwise — for Hawkeye and Irish fans in Iowa Stadium today. The weatherman has forecast fair skies and mild temperatures with highs in the 50s for this area.

Sherwyn Thorson and Al Hinton, all making their last appearances as Hawkeyes.

Burns announced that promising sophomore Lonnie Rogers will be starting at right halfback ahead of junior Sammie Harris.

Quarterback Matt Szykowny will handle the signal calling. Joe Williams will be at left half and Bill Perkins will start at fullback.

Notre Dame leads the all-time series 9-7 with three ties, and the Hawks have only a few chances to get the lead over their rivals, for the series will end in 1964. Last year the Hawks humbled Notre Dame 28-0 at South Bend.

Holiday Deaths Near 300

By The Associated Press

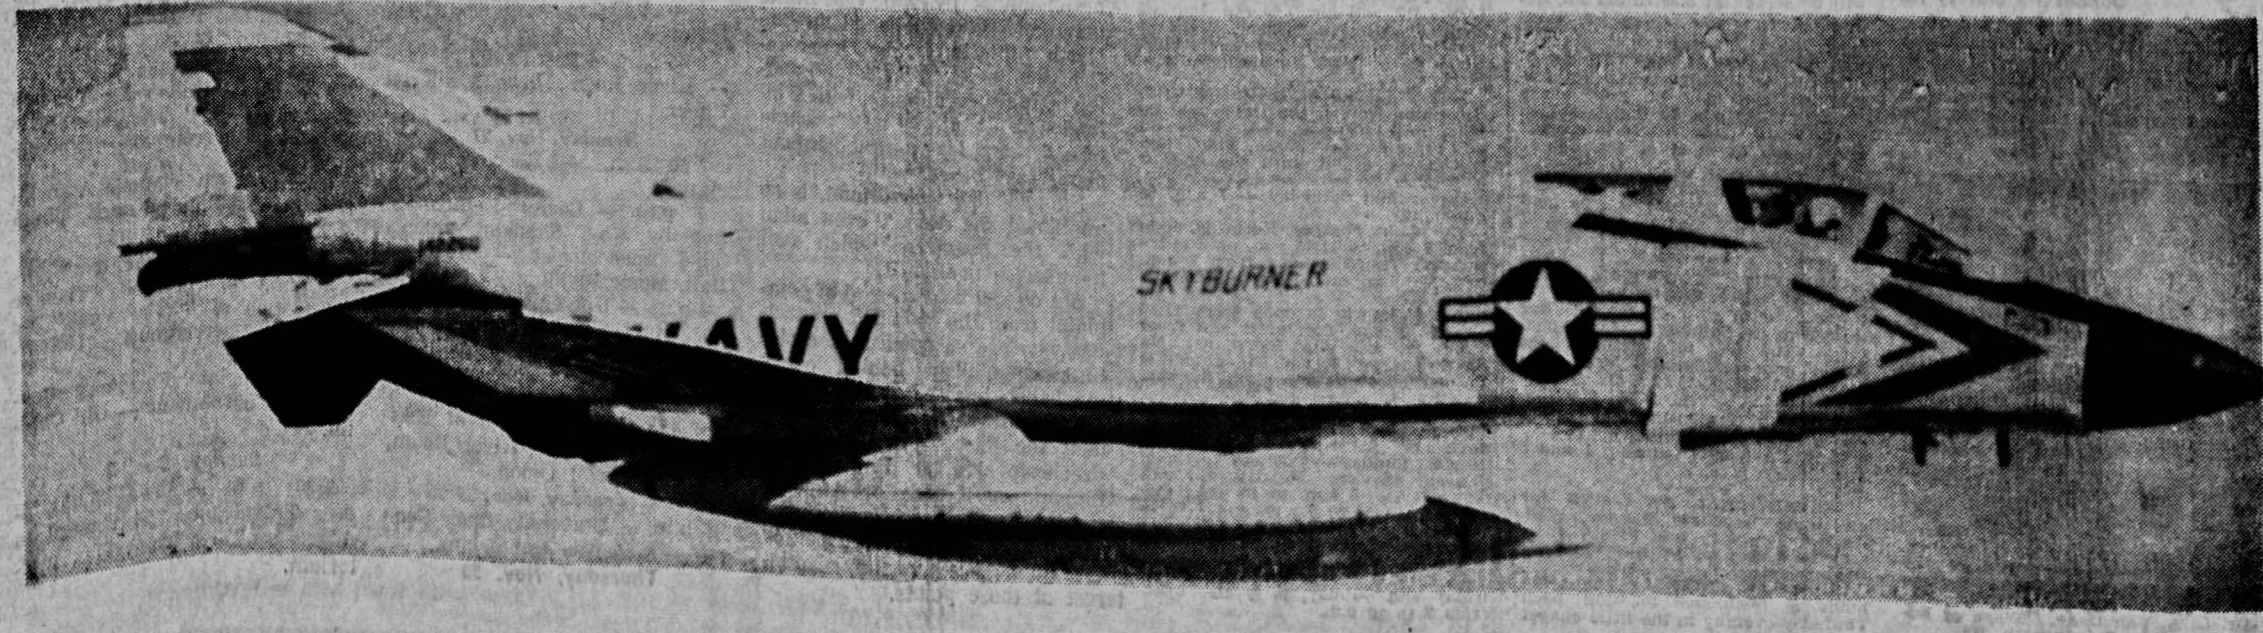

Traffic	213
Fires	21
Miscellaneous	38
Total	272

Traffic deaths on the nation's highways climbed relentlessly late Friday as the Thanksgiving holiday weekend passed the halfway mark.

Traffic deaths totaled 213 since the period began at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday. Fires had claimed 21 lives and 38 others died in miscellaneous accidents. The 102-hour tabulating period ends at midnight Sunday.

Some unseasonable weather made driving hazardous. Snow fell in the Far West and higher elevations of the Rocky Mountain states. Rain also fell in wide sections of the country at intervals since the start of the tabulating period.

The Molotov Tragedy Isn't Really So Sad

It's a pitiful picture. The old revolutionary, thrown to the wolves at 71, is met only by a handful of relatives and a few foreign correspondents as he steps off the train in Moscow. No delegation of dignitaries is present to give him the welcome he became accustomed to during the long years as Premier and Foreign Minister. Asked to comment on the loss of his 55-year membership in the Communist Party and his denunciation by Nikita Khrushchev, he utters only another "Nyet," though a weak one in comparison with the thunderous negatives he voiced at innumerable diplomatic conferences when he was known as "old stone pants."

This is high drama. But let us not start feeling sorry for Vyacheslav Mikhailovich Molotov. He's getting back only what he gave as Joe Stalin's right-hand man. In a way, he's a lucky old man. He's still alive. The other old Bolsheviks are gone, many of them because they didn't jump the right way. Mr. Molotov was shrewd enough to pick the winners, until he tried to dump Mr. K.

Molotov chose the Bolshevik faction during his Czarist underground days. This party came out on top. When Stalin and Leon Trotsky fought for power after Lenin's death, Molotov supported Stalin. Trotsky was exiled and finally murdered in Mexico. He played lackey to Stalin, even when his wife was arrested and imprisoned in the Stalin campaign against Jews a few months before the dictator's death.

He is a double dealer on a big scale, as in 1939 when he signed a non-aggression treaty with Nazi Germany while in the midst of negotiations with British and French envoys for a mutual-assistance pact. His stubbornness in postwar dealings brought on the cold war.

No one in the free world should worry about Mr. Molotov. Whether or not he gets his party card back in an appeal he is reported to be undertaking is not important, though a "democratic" show trial of this nature would be quite a change from the purge trials of his old comrades had when he was Stalin's No. 1 boy.

A Turnabout Election

If it slipped by you in the news, it's worth noting the unusual circumstances surrounding the recent municipal election at Ottumwa.

Ottumwa, you may recall, recently voted to oust the city-manager form of government. The fight to replace it was led by Beryl Kosman, a businessman, who then became a candidate for mayor under the new form of government.

Mr. Kosman was defeated for mayor by a vote of 6,415 to 4,939. The man who defeated him was none other than City Manager Gordon Bennett, whose job in that capacity ends on Dec. 31, just in time for him to take over as mayor on the next day.

That ought to keep the political analysts busy until the primaries next June!

Britain's Calculated Risk

Whether Britain is carrying its share in its alliance with Western countries and keeping an adequate military force is a question bothering Britons and its allies.

Britain has, or soon will have, a smaller force of military manpower on hand than any other Western ally. It now has more than 200,000 in its army, but it plans only 165,000 in the future.

Britain does not accept the conventional war possibility in Europe. It is gambling for all or nothing. If limited war is not feasible, as British thinking asserts, then maintenance of large conventional forces is both wasteful and unnecessary. All that is needed is a small force for very minor hostilities, and a nuclear deterrent.

Britain has economic problems which have forced her to take this all or nothing calculated risk. With tight finances the government does not want to increase defense spending, and is depending on a voluntary professional army, small but highly trained.

The idea is that there is little distinction today between war and peace and nations must be prepared for war but not to the extent that it will endanger their economy.

If Britain has judged wrongly, it will lose its position as a major Western power and will be accused of not supporting its alliances — if it survives at all.

He Says U.S. Can't Let Life 'Slip Away' Is Nation Of Cowards

To the Editor:

The United States is slowly dying. And it is dying because of the lack of positive action by the people within it. We have become a country of frightened, cowardly people. We fear things, yet do absolutely nothing to secure our protection. The United States is dying more and more everyday as politicians act in fear; compromising with their enemies in lack of firm action. We do not act until we absolutely have to, then often it is too late.

Perhaps our first big mistake was our recognition of Russia. Second is our continued talks and compromising with a country that is set out to destroy us! We proudly welcomed the Red assassin to our shores with a ticker-tape parade. We gave him a grand tour of our country, and treated him with great honor. We actually try to create friendship with a godless enemy. We lacked ability in our foreign policy with the failure of our Monroe Doctrine in allowing communism in this hemisphere. Then we blunder in the Cuban fiasco because of lack of planning and lack of support of our allies. We are at present being bluffed in Berlin as we were in Laos, Africa and South Viet Nam. Communism is spreading, freedom is not. Continued actions such as these will lead Khrushchev's reality that our children will live under Communism.

We are also dying internally when our important major social and political organizations are controlled by gangsters. Labor unions have become a playground for hoodlums. Gangland killings took place last week in Chicago. We have political, religious, and racial bigotry in this country as in no other country in the world. Corrupt officials are stealing the American citizen blind, and he has little power of protection. We allow the fear of a nuclear war make us dig holes in the earth to hide in. Bomb shelters are about as sensible as an ostrich burying his head in the sand to protect himself from his enemies. This shows the communists, who are not building shelters, that we are afraid of them. We fear fallout which is much milder than X-ray radiation treatments. And finally we are foolish when we tell other countries that we will not start a war no matter how bad the situation is. This is a lack of common sense.

Our country can be revived, but only by a positive approach. We must rid ourselves of our groundless fears and take actions without allowing corrupt officials and foreign countries bluff us. If we do not act positively soon, perhaps we will not be able to act at all.

Letters to the Editor —

On The Burge Hall 'Raid'

To the Editor:

In the Nov. 14 issue of the Daily Iowan, you printed a letter from Miss Nancy Butts in which she seemed to condemn the raid procedure followed by the women's dormitories on campus. She asked, "Why is it necessary for the Burge Hall residents to sit 'in the dark' for an evening of nonsense?" Evidently Miss Butts is "in the dark" because she does not understand the reasons for following a raid procedure. I did not thoroughly understand the "Whys" of some of the raid procedure rules myself, until I interviewed a staff member of Burge Hall on the subject. The girls must be in their own rooms with the lights out, the drapes must be closed, they must stay away from the windows and remain as quiet as possible. The reason for these rules is to keep excitement and hysteria to a minimum in the dorm, and to discipline the girls so that they will not encourage the "raiders" and thus help to incite the riot.

Miss Butts also writes, "If we are going to have a pantie raid then let it occur but otherwise let us, the Burge Hall residents, continue our normal evening activities." This statement leads me to believe that Miss Butts does not realize that "panties" are not the only things taken in a pantie raid. The staff member I interviewed attended ISU and remembers a raid there a few years ago in which not only lingerie, but sweaters and other articles of the girls' apparel were taken and tossed into gutter bonfires. I personally would rather lose a couple hours of studying time than suffer a loss such as this.

Sincerely yours,
Karen Hess, A1

Among the more logical paraphrases of that slogan, "Better Red than dead," is one attributed to the hungry farmers who have been exerting every effort to get out of Communist China on the theory: "Better fed than Red."

Just less than a month until Christmas and we get 18 days vacation even without the extra day for Rose Bowl. I hope Iowa tromps Notre Dame even though JFK will probably root for the Fighting Irish. I have a bit of Irish in me, too. New tune for Hawkeye fans (to Auld Lang Syne): "May football season be forgotten and never brought to mind . . . etc., etc., etc." And note that we have a 7-footer on the basketball freshman squad.

Student Body Prexy Niemeyer exercised one of his most precious powers at Tuesday night's Senate meeting by politely requesting one "Frosty Malt" and its female companion to leave the meeting. He did, however, give it (the frosty malt) and her their choice as to whether to leave singly or together.

COMMENT ON THE WORLD SCENE: Thanksgiving is over and the commercial Christmas is well under way — the spirit of Christmas now seems to be $$$$. Khrushchev is worrying again over the threat posed by another giant country — Finland (first it was Albania). We hear no chuckles from the Kremlin about Washington's troubles with tiny Cuba?

Pep Club and its card section draws fire from the Student Senate. One suggestion was to induce a dog to run onto the field instead of having card section tricks. The rationale was that this would draw more audience response. Good idea — and why not have the football team stay home too. A pack of dogs would get a lot more laughs than anything any organization can offer — except, possibly, the Senate itself.

Project AID backers are proposing to bring the "Four Freshmen" to SU as a fund-raising affair for the scholarship drive. This would really score a grand slam for AID and SU by providing top-notch entertainment while helping a worthy cause other than the CPC coffers.

COMMENTS ON LETTERS TO THE EDITOR: A former Iowan from Minnesota lauds Hawkeye and Iowa City enthusiasm. Wonder if support for the Hawks will be as evident today? A coed complains that mid-terms and papers near holidays are unfair to the student. I agree. So is tuition, registration, class attendance, grades, instructors, other departmentals, finals, the administration, and anything else you might think of. Why do we come to college, anyhow?

BEST MOVIE OF THE WEEK: "Bachelor in Paradise"; WORST MOVIE: "Goodbye Again"; BEST RECORD: "Genius plus Soul equal Jazz" (Ray Charles); Suggested Reading: "The Peacemakers."

One reader comments that Spartacus was not all bad. So I would like to agree . . . the music was pretty good. Charles Laughton and Peter Ustinov added a spark to an otherwise dead production.

PREDICTIONS: Iowa 21, Notre Dame 10; Scharm Schueyman to be plugged for "Coach of the Year"; Alabama to lose the Rose Bowl; turkey farmers to come out on the short end of the bird this year; and the ACLU to protest discrimination against frosty malts at Student Senate meetings.

FINK OF THE WEEK: Any instructor who gives a test Monday and people who miss the last football game.

Neutralist Interest Lacking in Finland

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst
Using as an excuse a technical arrangement by which a Baltic command is established in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the Soviet Union is demanding a military alliance with Finland which can only be a prelude to a demand for re-establishment of military bases.

Finland, like Switzerland, is so unaligned she doesn't even align with the countries which call themselves unaligned. But do you hear a word of complaint from the so-called neutralists who are so quick to see old-time colonialism behind every non-existent bush?

Freedom for Angola, yes. Freedom for Finland or Poland or Czechoslovakia or Romania or Lithuania or Latvia or Afghanistan or Bulgaria or North Korea or North Viet Nam or Tibet or Estonia or East Germany? No interest at those points.

Kennedy Works on Budget

Defense Plans Are Discussed With Advisors

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) - President Kennedy sat down with the nation's top military and fiscal experts Friday, going over plans for the next year's defense budget, which may hit a peacetime record of $50 billion.

That was only one of a series of meetings. He also talked with commerce and trade experts on trade policies and on the future of the reciprocal trade treaties which expire in mid-1962.

The defense meeting reconvened after lunch for further talks on civil defense.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said the civil defense session was in the nature of a survey of "what the Defense Department has accomplished and what plans it has made for the future since the agency assumed responsibility for civil defense last August."

The current estimate of defense spending in the present fiscal year is $46.85 billion. This estimate does not include $780 million which Congress voted above the Kennedy Administration's request.

The Pentagon announced in mid-October that the extra funds would not be used.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who led two of the Friday conference groups with the President, has said the accelerated buildup in other categories made it unnecessary to spend the money.

Most of it was for extending production of B52 heavy bombers. The outgoing Dwight D. Eisenhower Administration proposed $42.9 billion for defense in early January.

In March the Kennedy Administration revised this figure to $43.8 billion, then raised it again when the Berlin crisis developed in the summer.

The President's series of meetings started more than an hour behind schedule when poor flying weather in the Cape Cod area delayed the Air Force jet plane which brought the officials from Washington to Otis Air Force Base.

The first meeting was on trade policies. After an hour, the President moved to the closed sun room, where McNamara already had started the defense budget session.

Earhart, Noonan Burial Plot?

This box, containing the remains of two human bodies, rests on the burial plot where they were found recently on Saipan Island. Scientists believe they may be the remains of Amelia Earhart, famed American aviatix, and her navigator, Fred Noonan. They disappeared in a flight in 1937 which was taking them across the Pacific Ocean on the final leg of an around-the-world trip. The remains were flown to the University of California at Berkeley for anthropological study. (Story, page 1.)

U.S. Official Arrives In Dominican Republic

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) - A U.S. State Department official arrived unexpectedly in Santo Domingo Friday as U.S. warships patrolled near this troubled country.

There was no immediate word concerning the mission of Arturo Morales Carrión, deputy assistant secretary of state for Latin-American affairs.

He arrived after a night in which tanks cruised the streets of this newly renamed capital and jet planes zoomed overhead to break up mobs looting Trujillo-owned properties.

Armored cars and tanks still moved through the streets, but there was no recurrence of mob violence.

In the United Nations at New York City, Dominican Republic delegates welcomed the presence of U.S. warships as a bulwark against any attempt at invasion by Cuba "or other Communist countries."

"Blessed be the moment that the United States fleet came into our waters," the Dominican delegate, Jose Antonio Bonilla Atiles, told the U.N. Security Council.

Bonilla Atiles, who said he was a member of an opposition party in his country, and Dominican Ambassador Carlos Sanchez y Sanchez both denied Cuban charges that U.S. warships and planes had violated Dominican territorial waters.

Mario Garcia-Inchaustegui, the Cuban delegate, reiterated demands that the council condemn the United States as an aggressor and call for withdrawal of U.S. ships from the area.

He claimed that the Dominican people were not represented by the two Dominican delegates. He charged that the same forces which

DeGaulle, Macmillan Hold Confab

LONDON (AP) - Prime Minister Harold Macmillan attempted Friday night to convince French President de Gaulle that the West now should seek negotiations with the Soviet Union on Berlin.

Aides suggested that the British leader feels the prospects for a successful East-West conference probably are brighter than they have been for several months.

De Gaulle arrived by plane from Paris for a weekend of confidential discussions with Macmillan on problems basic to the whole Western diplomatic posture.

Behind a screen of policemen, the two men went at once to Birch Grove, Macmillan's house in Sussex 40 miles from London.

There they talked about Berlin and the movement for Western European political and economic unity.

For the last two months De Gaulle has enforced what London diplomats refer to as a dead hand on Berlin. He said the Western powers should not hurry to a conference table to negotiate a Soviet-manufactured crisis. He wanted the Soviets to make the first conciliatory move.

De Gaulle may or may not have changed his mind. If he has, this should be shown in Allied policy in the near future.

Informants had predicted that if the talks go well, Macmillan and De Gaulle will give a go-ahead for East-West negotiations.

It was announced in Paris Friday by Foreign Ministry officials that the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany will meet here next month to study Allied diplomatic strategy in the Berlin crisis.

AVALANCHE KILLS STUDENT

GEORGETOWN, Colo. (AP) - A massive avalanche thundered down an Arapache Basin ski slope late Friday and trapped and killed a young student.

The slide swallowed James H. Dorwin, a University of Colorado junior.

His body was recovered less than three hours later.

50-50 Chance That Young Rockefeller Is Still Alive

MERAUKE, New Guinea (AP) - A 50-50 chance still exists that Michael Rockefeller survived a 1/2-mile swim through shark-infested waters and is somewhere in the jungle, a Dutch leader of the week-long search said Friday.

The Dutch commissioner for southern New Guinea, F. R. J. Elbrink Jansen, based his appraisal on the fact that two gasoline cans, a vital element in the hunt, have still to turn up despite the intense search by planes, ships and thousands of men.

Gov. Neilson A. Rockefeller's 23-year-old son used the two cans as a makeshift raft in his swim toward shore Sunday from his capsized native boat. The fact that they are still to be found indicates he may at least reached New Guinea's southern shore and set out for the interior, Jansen said.

Rockefeller, declaring he still is hopeful Michael is alive, said he will remain in New Guinea a few more days. But he indicated the chances for his son's survival were slim.

"I am a realist," said the New York governor, "and I know what he faces if he reached that jungle." A dispatch from Hollandia, the capital of New Guinea on the north coast of the island, said Rockefeller is expected to return there Sunday and to leave for New York via Tokyo on Monday.

Dutch naval authorities in Hollandia still were considering a U.S. Navy offer to send carrier-based patrol planes and a helicopter to aid in the search. Two Australian navy helicopters and one from the Netherlands New Guinea Oil Co. were on the way for flights over the thickly matted mangrove swamps along the coast.

An offer by the Australian army to send in paratroop searchers was tentatively rejected by Jansen. He said they are not familiar with the country and would be of doubtful use.

Jansen said the hut might continue another month "or until we have conclusive word."

13 Hawkeyes To End Iowa Football Careers Today

Thirteen Hawkeyes end their Iowa football careers when they meet Notre Dame here today but only ten of the seniors will be in uniform because earlier injuries sidelined the other three men.

These players have been members of Iowa teams which have won 17 games and lost 9. A victory over the Irish would give these Hawks a mark of .667 for their three-year careers.

There have been many memories for these ball players — some pleasant to recall, others better to forget. On the brighter side is the 8-1 record in 1950 which gave Iowa a tie for the Big Ten title, and a second place in the final UPI poll and third in the AP. In 1950 and again in 1950 their team led the Big Ten in offense.

The homes of these Hawkeyes range from coast to coast. Names of many of the athletes are familiar to Iowa fans but little has been heard of some others.

Among the best-known names are those of Co-Captains Wilburn Hollis and Bill Van Buren. Hollis hoped for a great year but the Boys Town senior broke a wrist in the Southern California game and was sidelined for the season, playing in no Big Ten contests.

Van Buren has led the Hawks since that time and several high honors are expected to be given to the Lorain, Ohio center.

Bob Yauck came to Iowa with Hinton from Saginaw, Mich. The 222-pound tackle has been one of Iowa's steady performers. Emery Pudder, Englishstown, N. J., a tackle who played well in relief roles, was lost for the remainder of the season with a knee injury in the Wisconsin game Oct. 21.

Dave Watkins, Washington, D. C., lettered as an end in 1950. But he was shifted to tackle early this season to make use of his size. Jerry Williams, Tacoma, Wash.

guard, has helped as a reserve. Ends Kevin Barbera, Boston, Mass., and Bill Cervenak, Rahway, N. J., picked to captain the "Mau-Mau" practice team, also will end their careers. Cervenak, however, has been absent since mid-season because of an injury.

The Notre Dame game won't end football for all of these men. Ahead are the post-season all-star games and possibly professional careers.

Cross-Country Team To End Competition with NCAA Meet

The NCAA championship meet, which actually has an international flavor, marks the end of the season for the Iowa's cross-country team. Big Ten champion and unbeaten in dual meets.

The race will be run at Michigan State's Forest Acres Golf Course in East Lansing, Mich. Monday at 11 a.m.

Lead by Jim Tucker, Big Ten individual champion, the Hawkeyes should be among the team leaders. Iowa's highest team finish in this meet was in 1952 and 1959 and "Deacon" Jones won the individual title in 1955.

Top Teams Eye Bowl Bids As Grid Season Nears End

Seven of the nation's top college football teams wind up their regular campaigns today and most of them plan not to get too far away from their telephones.

From Pasadena, Calif., to Miami, from New York to New Orleans and Dallas, promoters of the postseason bowl games will be busy trying to pluck the juiciest gridiron plums.

The latter has a Dec. 2 game with Mississippi State.

Unbeaten but once-tied Ohio State, No. 2, and Minnesota, No. 3, still have Rose Bowl aspirations despite reports that the Pacific Coast is making eyes in the direction of Alabama.

Kansas, No. 10, is host to Missouri and Colorado, No. 7, closes with Iowa State at home.

Arkansas, No. 9, can tie Texas for the Southwest Conference championship by beating Texas Tech.

Bucks vs. Wolverines, Gophers Meet Badgers In Big 10 Sweepstakes

Ohio State, ranked No. 2 nationally, and Minnesota, No. 3, strive to wind up the Big Ten football season as unbeaten co-champions in games today against strong traditional rivals.

Ohio State, (5-0) invades Michigan (3-2) in a game that will be regionally televised. Minnesota (6-0) is host to Wisconsin (3-3) as the two schools meet for the 71st time.

Should the Gophers and Buckeyes both win, ending as co-titlists on the basis of percentage, it will mark the first time there have been unbeaten co-champions since 1933.

Regals Beat DeWitt Team

The Regina Regals, behind a well-balanced scoring attack, defeated St. Joseph's DeWitt here Friday night, 82-50.

Four players, Roger Mulherin, John Miller, Larry Rogers and Dan Delaney all hit in double figures, with Mulherin the leading point maker with 19, coming on eight field goals and three free throws.

High point man for the Warbirds was Bill Bloom, who was high for the game with 22. Mike Malone had 10 for St. Joe's.

Aggies Fire Jim Myers

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Jim Myers, who came to Texas A&M College as athletic director and head football coach when petitioned by 2,292 persons, was fired Friday.

He went the way of four other Aggie coaches over the past 32 years and didn't even attain the average of six years which the last five mentors reached.

Basketball Ticket Sales Announced

Ticket application material for Iowa's 12-game home basketball schedule will be mailed this week-end to about 15,000 prospective purchasers, according to Buzz Graham, Iowa business manager of athletics.

Northwestern dropped a 10-6 decision to Miami (Fla.) under the lights in Miami Friday night.

An Illinois loss would mark the school's first all-losing season in history. An Iowa defeat would establish the Hawkeyes' longest losing streak in 16 years.

Minnesota is faced with one of the greatest collegiate aerial acts in the country. Ron Miller has gained 871 yards with 61 completions. His battery-mate, tawering Pat Richter, has caught 30 passes for 514 yards and 5 touchdowns.

The Hawkeyes open their 24-game schedule Saturday, Dec. 2, at Evansville (Ind.) College, but do not play their first home game until Saturday, Dec. 9, against Miami of Ohio. The home schedule includes five non-conference games and seven contests with Big Ten foes.

'Visit' Opens At U. Theatre On Thursday

"The Visit," a three-act play by Friedrich Duerrenmatt, will open at the University Theatre Nov. 30 and run through Dec. 2. The play will also be presented Dec. 6-9. Curtain time will be 8 p.m.

Tickets for the production will be on sale at the theatre ticket reservation desk in the East Lobby of Iowa Memorial Union Monday. The ticket desk will be open from 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday. Free reserved-seat tickets are available to students who present their identification cards. Admission for others is $1.25.

"The Visit," directed by David Schaal, assistant professor of television-radio-film, is the story of people in a small European town which is on the verge of bankruptcy. When word reaches the townspeople that a world-famous millionaire benefactress is coming to town, a grand reception is planned in the hope that she will save the town from financial ruin.

Claire, the millionaire, is easily persuaded to donate to the town far more than the people need or expected, but with a string attached. The single condition she imposes changes the people into a crowd of single desire — the death of a man whom they had loved and respected before the visit of Claire.

Mrs. David Knauf, Wheelerburg, Ohio, is cast as Claire, and Peter B. O'Sullivan, G. New York City, has the role of the man whose death Claire demands. Mrs. Knauf is the wife of a graduate assistant in the SUI Television Center.

SCORE AFTER SCORE and record after record will follow the play-by-play of today's game, about 3:45 p.m., and continuing until 5:30, you'll be able to hear how the big scramble for positions is coming along and to enjoy some respectable jazz at the same time.

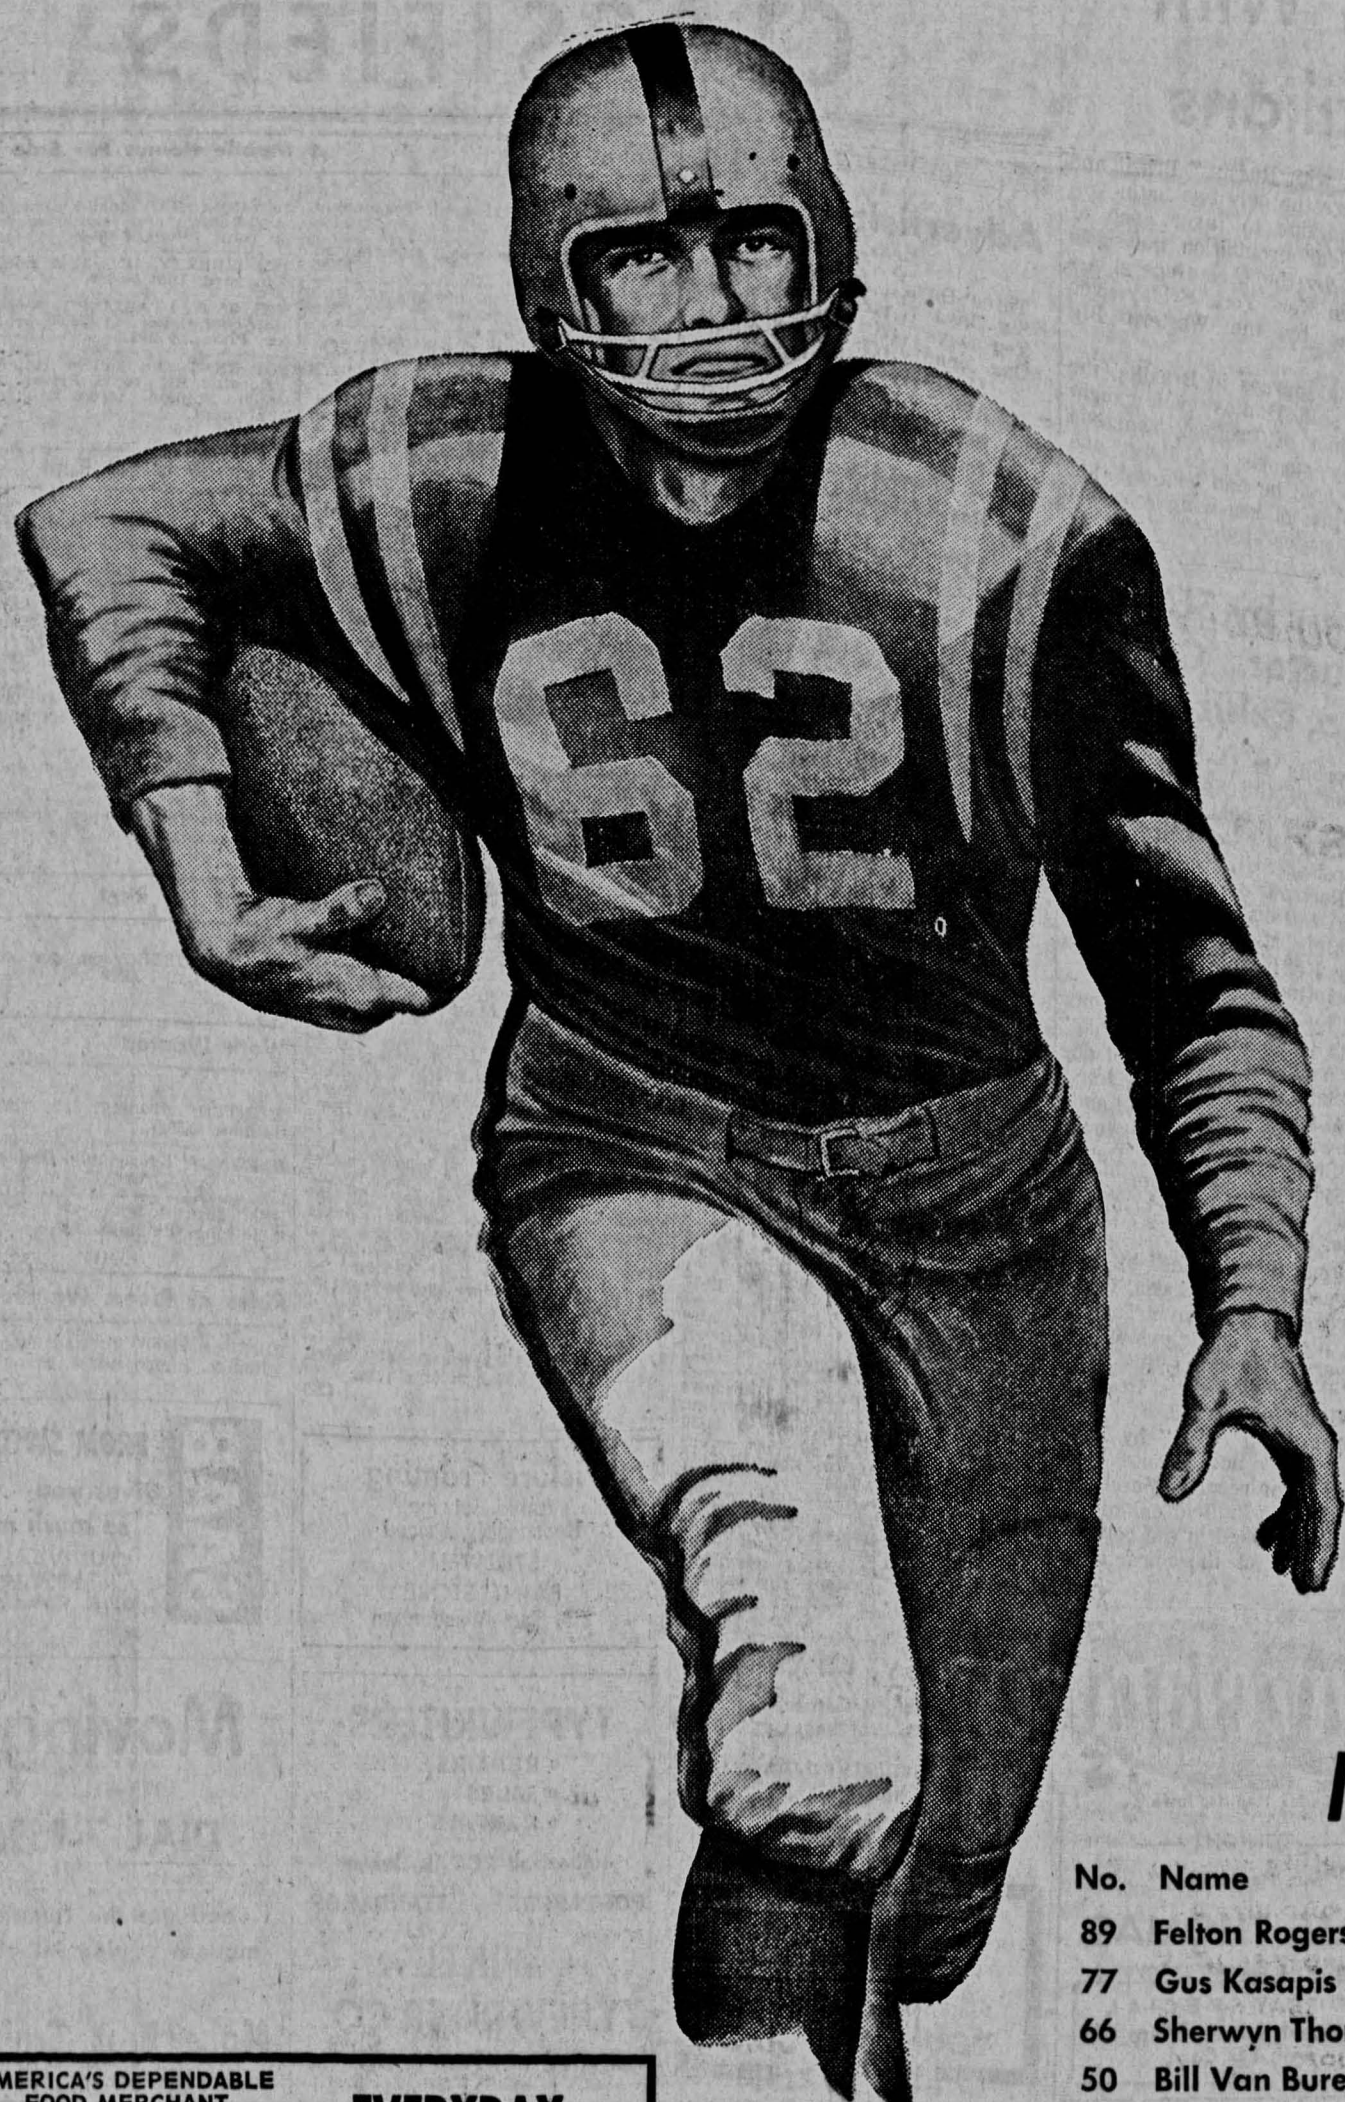

WHEN YOU'VE HAD ENOUGH of that sort of thing, however, should be just about 6 p.m., and our Saturday Evening Concert usually has something special offer. Tonight there are works by Gabrieli, Enesco and Miklós Rózsa, a quartet by Dvorak, and the Symphony No. 7 by Beethoven.

MONDAY AMBIVALENCE: The course in Shakespeare resumes 8:30 a.m.; the Investigation of "Organization Man" is at 8 p.m.

U. Orchestra Choir Present Yule Concert

Wednesday Program
Features 3 Motets
The Christmas Story

The University Choir and the University Orchestra will present a Christmas music program at the Wednesday evening concert in Macbride Auditorium. Admission is free.

Under the baton of Dan Charpentier, director of choral activities, the University Choir, a musical organization that has been expanded to include members from other departments, has been expanded to include members from other departments.

The group will open the concert with Bach's "Cantata 42," written for the Advent season. Soloists for the Bach work will be Guy Hargrove, G. Iowa City, and Wayne McIntire, G. Osceola.

The concert will include three motets — works for three voices following sacred texts. The motets chosen for the program are by Sweelinck, a 17th-century Dutch composer; Victoria, a 16th-century Spanish composer; and Croce, an Italian composer of the late 16th century.

The quartet for the arias includes Patricia Schmulbach, A. Iowa City, soprano; Suzanne A. Sioux Rapids, alto; Guy Hargrove, G. Iowa City, tenor; and Wayne McIntire, G. Osceola, bass.

Another concert number, "The Christmas Story," is by the composer, pre-World War I. This work is for voice and piano. Hargrove will take the role of the evangelist presenting the Christmas story, while the choir will sing verses from the old Christmas carol.

The concert will close with a performance of "G" by Marc Charpentier.

The choir, composed of music and non-music students, was selected by audition last fall. The program includes representative compositions and secular compositions from the Renaissance to the 20th century.

Crowd Enjoy Indian Music

By DAN CLARK
Staff Writer

A near capacity crowd in the main lounge of the Student Center last night was taken to the past via the rhythmic sounds of the sitar, an instrument created by Indian Sitarist Shankar.

After each song the appreciative audience applauded. Kanai Dutta and Nodu C. were deafening. At the end of the performance the applause made several curtain calls.

The sitar played by Shankar is a stringed instrument made of teak wood and a seasonally shaped bowl. It is a neck shaped like a guitar, but with a long neck and a large, rounded body. It is played by moving the strings or by moving the frets.

Kanai Dutta's instrument is a pair of drums collectively known as Tabla. When played, they simulate, somewhat, the tonal qualities of the human voice.

Nodu C. Mullick played the Tamboura, a stringed instrument similar in shape to the sitar, but smaller. It plays a constant rhythmic pattern, clarifying the rhythmic pattern of the song being played.

During the concert Shankar and his two accompanists had been shaking their heads during their playing because they disliked their music because it is the custom to express music appreciation by shaking the head. Shankar was born in the city of Benares, India, and his career in music and art began there.

The musician is giving a series of concerts sponsored by the Society Performing Arts. The music he played is the oldest texts of Hindu music, some two thousand years old.
