

Service Description: Dell™ International Consumer In-Home Hardware Service

Your System. For purposes of this Agreement, a System is identified as a Dell system comprised of the following components: monitor; central processing unit (CPU); input device (such as a keyboard); a data storage device (such as disk drive); and any other components that are described specifically on your invoice or are standard components (at the time of purchase) of the model of the Dell System you purchased. The System covered under this Agreement is described on your invoice.

The International In-Home Hardware Service provides service and support for a customer's Dell portable notebook computer while traveling outside of the country in which it was purchased. This service is only available in the Dell direct countries listed on this website. http://www1.us.dell.com/content/topics/global.aspx/services/en/prog_portables?c=us&cs=555&l=en&s=biz

When a customer travels outside of their home country and experiences a problem, they can request international service in any country that supports their particular line of notebook. Service details and parts availability may vary between countries. Customers should be aware that depending on remoteness or accessibility of product location, international service may take longer than 1 or 2 business days following completion of Remote Diagnosis.

How to Use Your Service

1. 30-Day Getting-Started Assistance. Dell offers a standard 30-day telephone support programme at no additional charge for installation optimisation, configuration, and limited usage questions during the critical 30-day period after delivery of your system. This program is available on factory-installed operating systems and desktop/notebook applications.
2. 24/7 Comprehensive On-line Support. Dell's standard support website provides on-line assistance, including troubleshooting information, problem diagnosis tools and downloads.
3. Call Dell for Telephone-based Assistance. There are three methods for engaging technical support when traveling internationally. Customers may call:
 - a. The call centre of the country they are currently in.
 - b. The call centre for their home region from abroad.
 - c. The International Queue at 512-728-7424. If in the US or Canada, the toll free number is 800-285-1653.
4. Prepare for the Call. You will help the Dell telephone technician serve you better if you have the following information and materials ready when you call: your System's invoice and serial numbers; service tag number; model and model numbers; the current version of the operating system you are using; and the brand names and models of any peripheral devices (such as a modem) you are using.
5. Explain Your Problem to the Technician. Now you are ready to describe the problem you are having with your System. Let the Dell telephone technician know what error message you are getting and when it occurs; what you were doing when the error occurred; and what steps you may have already taken to solve the problem.
6. Cooperate with the Dell Telephone Technician to Solve Your Problem. Experience shows that most System problems and errors can be corrected over the phone as a result of close cooperation between the user and the technician. Listen carefully to the Dell telephone technician and follow the technician's suggestions.

7. UNTIL YOU HAVE COMPLIED WITH THE ABOVE PROCEDURES, DELL CANNOT DISPATCH A SERVICE TECHNICIAN TO PERFORM ONSITE REPAIRS.
8. On-site/In-Home Service. This Service provides a service technician and/or parts at your location to repair and/or replace parts in the main system unit (including monitor, keyboard and mouse, if not ordered separately) for issues covered by Limited Hardware Warranty following telephone and/or online Remote Diagnosis, and the issue cannot be resolved remotely. Subject to the terms of this Agreement, on-site service (“On-Site Service”) is available in the country in which the system was purchased. Please tell the Dell Telephone technician both the full address of your System’s location and whether that location is a residence or business. If you follow these procedures, a service technician and/or part will, in most cases, be dispatched to arrive at your location for On-Site Service on the next business day during 9:00 to 17:00 local time; Monday through Friday, excluding regularly observed holidays, following completion of Remote Diagnosis. If the service technician is dispatched for On-Site Service after 17:00 local time, the service technician may take an additional business day to arrive at your location. The term “Remote Diagnosis” means the determination by online/Dell telephone technician of the cause of your issue and it may involve you accessing inside of system and multiple or extended sessions.
9. An Adult Must Be Present At Residences. For service provided at a residence, an adult must be present at all times during the service technician’s visit.
10. Assistance You Must Provide. The service technician must receive full access to the System and (at no cost to Dell) have working space, electricity, and a local telephone line. If these requirements are lacking, Dell is not obligated to provide service.
11. If You Miss The Service Visit. If you or your authorized representative is not at the location when the service technician arrives, we regret that the service technician cannot service your System. If this occurs, you may be charged an additional charge for a follow-up service call.
12. Customer Replaceable Units and Whole Unit Replacement. If the Dell telephone technician determines that the defective unit is one that is easily disconnected and reconnected, such as keyboard, monitor, hard drives in portable computers, or any other component designed from time to time as a component that may be replaced by the customer, you may receive such component to install without a service technician arriving on-site. Also, if the Dell telephone technician determines that the System is one that should be replaced as a whole unit, a whole replacement unit may be sent directly to you. You are required to return the defective unit within ten (10) days. If the Dell telephone technician determines that the defective unit is one that is not easily disconnected and reconnected, you authorized the on-site technician to act as your service agent to deliver the replacement unit to you in person and to return the defective unit to Dell.
13. Warranty Parts. If the Dell telephone technician determines that your System needs a replacement part, you authorize the on-site technician to act as your service agent to handle the delivery and return of the warranty parts necessary to render on-site repairs. You may incur a charge if you fail to allow the on-site technician to return non-working/unused units/warranty parts to Dell. If the replacement unit is not delivered in person by an on-site service technician, then you may incur a charge from Dell if you fail to return the non-working/unused unit/warranty parts to Dell within the ten (10) days return period.

Replacement parts may be reconditioned or refurbished where permitted by local laws and are replaced on the basis of specification and not on brand and model.

14. Service Exclusions. Without limitation, the scope of Dell’s fault diagnostics and In-Home Hardware Service does not include support for the following:
