DAMAGES AND EXPERT TESTIMONY ASSIGNMENTS

We work for clients across the country and have never lost a motion to eliminate. Further, Nevium's principals are frequent speakers and presenters at valuation and litigation support conferences, have authored peer reviewed articles on damages calculations and valuation and contributed chapters to The Comprehensive Guide to Economic Damages, and Calculating Economic Damages in Intellectual Property Infringement Cases, both published by Business Valuation Resources.

Nevium can provide expert testimony and litigation support services on an hourly or estimated fee basis. We typically interact with counsel to determine a fee estimate before commencing our work. In certain circumstances we can investigate prospective claims and develop a preliminary damages assessment, which allows attorneys and claimants to weigh the pros and cons of litigation prior to filing a complaint.

Nevium's team has access to business performance, M&A and licensing transaction data, and seeks to validate client information with third-party sources and outside research. Our objective is to develop a fact-based narrative to form the foundation of a supported, reasonable and clear expert opinion and damages calculation.
