

Public Lecture

Demonstration of an Online Collation of Medieval Slavic, Greek and Latin Calendars of Saints

Cynthia M. Vakareliyska

Professor of Linguistics – University of Oregon

Thursday 26 April — 3:30 — 165 Thompson Library

Best known for her work and analyses of the 1354 Curzon Gospel (Add. Ms. 39, 628 British Museum), Dr. Vakareliyska has contributed to original ways of analyzing the “calendar” portions in Slavic manuscripts, especially those oftenfound as supplements to the Gospels.

The lack of consistency among calendars, the sheer number of calendars, and the fact that most medieval Slavic calendars of saints are unpublished have made it notoriously difficult to access and organize the data from such a large corpus, and to identify many of the saints who appear in calendars on more minor feast days.

Cynthia Vakareliyska

Sponsored by the Hilandar Research Library and the Resource Center for Medieval Slavic Studies, the Center for Slavic and East European Studies, and the Kenneth E. Naylor Professorship in South Slavic Linguistics