AGBU YOUNG PROFESSIONALS NETWORK PULLS WORLDWIDE RESOURCES TO DONATE 2,000 USD TO AUA'S ACM DIGITAL LIBRARY

Since 2001, the AGBU Young Professionals (YP) Network has lent its financial support to the American University of Armenia (AUA) in Yerevan by sponsoring its annual subscription to the Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) Digital Library. More than a decade later, the giving continues with support provided this year by YP Boston, YP Greater New York, YP Lebanon, YP Los Angeles, YP Orange County, and HAIK, a YP Partner organization in Frankfurt, Germany. In total, AGBU YP Groups and Partners have donated nearly $25,000 to this endeavor over the years.

"It is important for the AGBU Young Professionals to support AUA graduate students in their efforts to pursue their studies," says YP Orange County Chairwoman Dora Gulesserian, whose group donated for the first time this year. "The ACM Digital Library is an invaluable resource in providing knowledge about the computing industry and we are happy to be able to direct funds to this important cause."

Advancing the educational and research efforts of AUA graduate students and faculty, the ACM Digital Library is the ultimate resource to the computing industry, providing a vast collection of citations and full texts from current and archival journals, articles, and conference proceedings, both in print and online.

ARMENIANS AND PANTOMIME: THE AGBU ARMENIAN VIRTUAL COLLEGE'S NEW ONLINE PRESENTATION

Well-known Armenian clown Leonid Yengibaryan

An interesting online cultural event "Armenians and Pantomime" was organized by the AGBU Armenian Virtual College in late May 2012. Students rated the activity as one of the most successful online social events implemented by AVC. For many of them this was the first ever experience of getting acquainted with the history of Armenian Pantomime and especially with the art of the king of clowns, Leonid Yengibaryan.

As the Armenian Pantomime Renaissance was intertwined with Leonid Yengibaryan and his art as an internationally recognized Armenian mime, AVC's online instructors prepared an educational and entertaining online presentation enriched with his theatrical performances and other general educational and cultural facts that made all participating students actively join and enjoy this unprecedented event.

This online virtual event was another step forward in AVC's mission to educate its students in Armenian language, history and culture while also creating and providing a strong bond and social network among students from all over the world.

AGBU ARMENIAN VIRTUAL COLLEGE HOSTED RA DIASPORA MINISTRY'S "ARI TUN" YOUTH PROGRAM PARTICIPANTS

Every year, the Republic of Armenia's Diaspora Ministry holds the "Ari Tun" youth program, which aims to bring Armenian youth to their homeland, strengthen the ties between Diaspora and Armenia and instill a solid system of national values among the participants. It has become a tradition for the program participants to visit the AGBU Armenian Virtual College and learn more about its activities.

On June 13 and 20, the first two groups of "Ari Tun" visited the AVC office in Yerevan to get to know the details of the online education offered by the AVC.

AVC online teacher Ms. Ovsanna Tchorokhian greeted the guests and introduced the primary goals and mission of AVC, she spoke about the activities and opportunities provided by AGBU Armenian Virtual College and demonstrated several online courses.

During this meeting AVC Development Coordinator Mrs. Noushik Mikayelian conducted an interesting General Knowledge Contest that was received with great enthusiasm and joy by the young participants.

At the end of the contest prizes were awarded to the winning group. It must also be noted that many of the participants showed interest in the Armenian Virtual College and its online courses of Armenian Language, History and Culture.

TROPHIES PRESENTED AS 6TH ANNUAL AGBU-SPONSORED INTER-SCHOOL CHESS TOURNAMENT IN ARMENIA COMES TO A CLOSE

The winners of this year's AGBU-sponsored Republican Interschool Chess Tournament have been announced, marking an end to the annual 8-month-long competition that attracts thousands of talented youth across Armenia, Artsakh and Javakh, Georgia.

The winning schools, Vanadzor School #5, Gyumri School #3 and Yerevan School #55, which placed in first through third place respectively, progressed through four challenging rounds before receiving their titles. The first phase is held within schools; in the second phase, schools from the same community compete; through the third phase, winners of different communities from the same region participate; and, lastly, the finalists arrive at the regional level. This year, the number of student participants, whose ages range from six to seventeen, totaled more than five thousand. The tournament's widespread popularity indicates the students' commitment to, and passion for, the game, which Inessa Margaryan, the AGBU Armenian Representation Special Projects Coordinator who coordinated the matches, witnessed firsthand. As she commented, "watching the pupils sit across the chessboards, we could sense their high level of concentration and focus on the game. They moved each piece with intention and care, and had clearly developed strategic approaches over the course of the tournament. It was rewarding to see so many students from various schools come together for the occasion," noting that over 1,000 schools were represented.

The awards service, which was held on May 5, 2012, at the Chess Academy of Armenia in Yerevan, will likely be the first of many such ceremonies that this year's participants will have the honor of attending. Present at the award ceremony were RA President Serge Sargsyan, RA Education and Science Minister Armen Ashotyan, Chess Federation vice-president, grand master Smbat Lputyan, AGBU Armenian Representation Managing Committee Chairman Ashot Ghazaryan, Olympic Champion, grand master Rafael Vahanyan.

Since it began in 2008, the Interschool Tournament, which is an initiative of the Armenian Chess Federation, under the auspices of the Republic of Armenia's Ministry of Education and Science, has produced many players who graduate to the professional level and take home prestigious awards from Armenia's Youth Chess Championship, the Republic of Armenia Chess Championship and the international Vladimir Dvorkovich Cup in Moscow. For now, the recent winners of the AGBU-sponsored competition will enjoy prizes such as chess sets, chess clocks and projectors for their schools, as well as souvenirs from the Chess Academy and their local municipality. Those tools will keep them engaged while they continue to hone their expertise and skills, and prepare for the fifth tournament set to begin in October.

SUMMER ACTIVITIES OF THE AGBU YEREVAN SCOUT MOVEMENT

Summer is probably the most anticipated season for the AGBU Yerevan Scouts. For the 5th year in a row “Antranik” scout camp will open its doors to the AGBU scouts from all over the world in July. Meanwhile, AGBU Yerevan Scouts continue to come up with new and interesting initiatives and participate in the youth events carried out in Armenia and Artsakh.

AGBU SCOUTS IN ARTSAKH

On May 7th, members of the AGBU Yerevan Scout movement left for Artsakh to participate in the 20th anniversary events of the Shoushi liberation. They arrived in Stepanakert early in the morning. On the historical land of Artsakh AGBU scouts were met by the members of the local scout movement. After a short rest the group headed to Shoushi, where the famous Shoushi Castle had hosted the jubilee celebrations of the city’s liberation. The events continued the next day in Stepanakert and again the AGBU Yerevan Scouts were among the participants. The scouts returned to Yerevan with a proud feeling of being an Armenian, having an independent country and liberated Artsakh.

A DAY WITH PARADJANOV

As well as standard scout activities, the

AGBU Scouts care deeply about their cultural and educational development. Realizing the richness and importance of our national legacy, the scouts often organize visits to cultural establishments and museums. One of the recent similar initiatives was the visit of 35 AGBU Yerevan Scout members to the Sergey Paradjanov Museum in Yerevan. In the morning of May 20, the scouts gathered at the Arabkir Children’s Center, shared their knowledge of Paradjanov’s life and activities, watched episodes from the Master’s movies “Shadows of Forgotten Ancestors”, “The Color of the pomegranate” and “Ashik Kerib” and with bright and fresh impressions visited the museum of one of the greatest masters of cinema of the 20th century. Amazed and impressed with Paradjanov’s works, his vivid imagination and flexible perception, the scouts spent several hours in the museum enjoying the uniqueness of this great master.

SCOUTS VISIT “MOURATSAN” UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL

Helping others and caring for the vulnerable is an important part of the scout ideology. On June 1st, the International Children’s Day, dressed as children’s favorite cartoon heroes, AGBU Yerevan Scouts visited the children at the Mouratsan university hospital. They entered every department at the hospital and approached every child one by one to make them feel special and not deprived of the right to celebrate their day like all other children outside hospital walls. Another ordinary day for the hospital children turned into a true holiday with lots of presents, signing and dancing. After visiting the children in their wards, the scouts then took them to the hospital hall, not only to dance, sing and recite for them, but also to teach them different poems, songs and dance movements. “Every child needs care, warmth and tenderness. We chose this place because children inside these hospital walls would most probably feel ignored and deprived. We wanted to change their monotonous day in the hospital and prove to them that they are not neglected. There were both moments of joy and sadness during our visit. Our hope is that these children will celebrate June 1st next year with their families, healthy and happy”, said Satenik Eloyan, member of the AGBU Yerevan Scout Movement.

June 15 is the Armenian Day of National Symbols - the flag, the anthem and the coat of arms. A number of festive events are organized in the capital, the biggest of them being the jubilee march with the participation of different units of the RA Armed Forces, the Police and the Ministry of Emergency Situations, students of the "Vazgen Sargsyan" military academy, various dance groups and choirs accompanied by the motorcyclists of the traffic police and the demonstration flights by the RA air forces.

JUNE 15: THE DAY OF NATIONAL SYMBOLS

Scouts participated in the RA National Symbols Day

For the second year in a row members of the AGBU Yerevan Scout movement headed by the Scout Council also participated in the jubilee events. Respect and honor towards the state symbols is part of the scout ideology and is instilled in them from early childhood. As Armenians and as scouts the members of the AGBU scout movement acknowledge the importance of state symbols and are honored to be part of the celebrations of the Day.

"It is an honor for every citizen to participate in this festive march. We kneel down in front of our flag, our anthem and our coat of arms. We are proud to carry the Armenian tricolor in our hands", said the AGBU Scouts. This is an event of pan-national significance. It unites the youth around national symbols, to express their respect and honor the state symbols - attributes of statehood, national identity and dignity. It's also a unique expression of national accord and pride by the free citizens of our independent state.

ONE-DAY CAMP WITH "HAYKAZOUNNER"

The young scouts of the Nork and Arabkir departments of the AGBU Yerevan Scout movement went on a one day camping trip along with "Haykazounner" scouts of the "Hay Ariner" organization. An unforgettable day of contests, scout games, a trip to Hrazdan river, hiking and sharing of knowledge and experience.

The elder participants of the camping visited the nearby military unit, got acquainted with different types of armament and attended an interesting lecture. After a late dinner prepared by their own hands, the scouts returned to Yerevan.

STUDENTS OF AGBU "VATCHE AND TAMAR MANOUKIAN" AND "MANOOGIAN-DEMIRDJIAN" SCHOOLS VISIT ARMENIA

Students of AGBU schools with His Holiness Karekin II in Etchmiadzin

Every year the senior students of the AGBU worldwide schools pay visits to Armenia. These trips give the students a unique opportunity to step foot on the land of their ancestors, get acquainted with its historical and cultural monuments, meet their peers living in Armenia, as well as other public and cultural figures, go to sightseeing trips and have a better understanding of homeland. As part of these visits, a group of 65 students and their teachers from two US-based AGBU schools, "Vatche and Tamar Manoukian" and "Manoogian-Demirdjian", were in Armenia from June 4-19.

During their stay in Armenia the students of both AGBU schools were received by Karekin II, Supreme Patriarch and Catholicos of All Armenians at the Mother See of Holy Etchmiadzin. "Manoogian-Demirdjian" school students also had the opportunity to meet with RA Diaspora Minister Hranoush Hakobyan. (Continued on page 10)

(see page 9) Among their numerous sightseeing trips and visits, the students also dedicated a day to the AGBU projects in Armenia, visiting the AGBU Yerevan office, the Armenian Virtual College and the Nork Children's Center, where a beautiful concert program was prepared especially for them. The AVC personnel had also prepared an interesting course presentation and a general knowledge contest for the AGBU students, the winners of which received presents. The students and their chaperons left the AVC office with bright impressions reaffirming that AVC is a strong and firm bridge for all Armenians, reducing time and distance between them.

Another interesting visit was to the American University of Armenia paid by the "Manoogian-Demirdjian" school students. They got acquainted with the departments and programs offered by the University and learned the possibilities of continuing their education in one of the best and accredited universities in their homeland.

Coincidentally, during those days, AGBU President Berge Setrakian was also in Armenia, and he seized the chance to meet with the "Manoogian-Demirdjian" school students.

The students also visited Tsitsernakabert, Khor Virap, Sardarapat, Noravank, Amberd, Zvartnots, Tsaghkadzor, Sevan, Dilijan, Ha-ghartsin, Garni, Geghard, Matenadaran, Oshakan and historical monuments and cultural establishments.

Through this renewed initiative, AGBU seeks to draw the interest of younger generations to classical music and the Armenian traditional repertoire.

The contest combines modernism, tradition and Armenian inspiration. It seeks to discover young talented composers, help them financially, record their works and distribute them.

The participants to the first Sayat Nova Competition, which was held in 2006 to coincide with AGBU's centennial celebration, overwhelmed an expert jury with their ingenuity. That year, first place was awarded to Artur Akshelyan, whose piece was performed at the Intercontinental Hotel in Paris by the Armenian Diaspora Chamber Orchestra. The performance helped launch Akshelyan's career. In the course of the past years, he has received several international awards, among which the Kiefer-Hablitzel composition Award (Bern, 2012) and the Geneva international Music Competition (first prize in 2011). His string quartet Im memoriam earned him his selection to the workshop and the Arditti Quartet Concert in London (2012). Among other successes, is his participation to the New Music Session in collaboration with the Nouvel Ensemble Moderne (Canada/Quebec, 2011).

This year, AGBU looks forward to receiving submissions that will again introduce today's emerging artists to dignitaries and the broader public.

According to Christian Erbslöh-Papazian, pianist and musicologist who has initiated the competition, "The encounter between classical musicians, of written tradition, and traditional musicians, of oral music, is sometimes difficult, yet, it is very rich in exchanges. Together they create the musical heritage of tomorrow."

To participate, candidates must follow a few basic guidelines. They must be born after September 1, 1972, and their work must include one quotation, in any form, from a text of Sayat Nova in Armenian or translated into a Western language (i.e. English, German, French, Italian, Spanish or Russian). The submitted work must be a composition for a chamber ensemble that includes six instrumentalists, specifically one piano, two violins, one viola, one cello and one duduk, as well as one vocal (spoken or sung). The duration of the piece must be within 7 to 10 minutes.

The deadline for submission is no later than September 1, 2012.

Participants will be considered for three prizes of 2,500 euros, 1,500 euros, and 1,000 euros. The winning pieces will be recorded and produced at a special concert in Paris in December 2012.

VAHE VAHIAN'S "POET'S HEART" COMPILATION OF LETTERS

The presentation of prominent poet, literary critic, education and public figure and editor Vahe Vahian's compilation of letters called "Poet's Heart", edited and published by Aram Sepetjian, Lebanese-Armenian writer, cultural and public figure, took place on May 4 at the Writers' Union of Armenia. An opening speech was delivered by Levon Ananian, Chairman of the Writers' Union of Armenia, who spoke about the genre of letter writing and highly valued the publication of Vahe Vahian's letters.

Speeches on Vahian's life and activities, as well as congratulatory messages on the occasion of the new publication were delivered by Souren Danielyan, Head of the "Spyurq" science and education center, literary critics Azat Yeghiazaryan, Vazgen Gabrielyan, Samvel Mouradyan, AGBU Armenian Representation Interim Director Hovig Eordekian, historian and Vahian's student Gevork Yazedjian, as well as Diaspora-Armenian writer and public figure Manvel Adamian.

Mr. Eordekian spoke about Vahian as a devoted educator and teacher. "Undeniable are the merits of Vahian as a teacher. For almost half a century Vahian has served in the AGBU schools. As a teacher of Armenian language and literature he came to substitute Vahan Tekeyan and worked at Melkonian Educational Institution in Cyprus, then in Hovagimian-Manoogian and Tarouhi Hagopian schools of Beirut. Many Diasporan-Armenians and graduates of the AGBU schools have inherited their love and respect towards the Armenian alphabet and literature, and their patriotism from Vahian. Vahian was also the founder and director of AGBU Yervant Hussissian Center for Armenian Studies", said Mr. Eordekian in his speech.

Those present highly assessed the book's author Aram Sepetjian's hard work and dedication in editing and publishing the book. The 766-page compilation of Vahian's letters includes 449 letters by Vahian and 60 letters addressed to him during the period of 1930-1992.

Congratulating Aram Sepetjian on the publication of the book and praising his contribution and merits, Levon Ananian, Chairman of the Writers' Union of Armenia, awarded Mr. Sepetjian with the "William Saroyan" medal of the RA Diaspora Ministry and the Writers' Union of Armenia. Mr. Ananian also announced that AGBU President Berge Setrakian has applied to the Writers' Union of Armenia and the RA Education and Science Ministry with a request to rename one of the Yerevan schools after Vahe Vahian. Head of the "Spyurq" center Souren Danielyan announced in his turn that Rouben Mirzakhanyan, President of the Yerevan State Pedagogical University, has awarded Mr. Sepetjian with "Pedagogical University" medal.
