SENATE DISCUSSES LAND FOR SCHOOLS

MOTION TO WITHDRAW RESERVES FROM SALE

Senator Davis Speaks of Increased Value Advising That Western Lands Be Leased

CASE BEFORE PEOPLE AND IS THEN DROPPED

Sir George Ross Says Lands Could Be Taxed as in Case of University

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—In the Senate this afternoon Senator Davis moved that in view of the rapid increase in land values in the western provinces the senate is of the opinion that school lands in these provinces should be withdrawn from sale and leased only until they can be sold to the best advantage. There had been a good deal of the land sold, but much remained. In Manitoba he estimates the school lands at 1,550,000 acres; in Saskatchewan, 7,822,000 acres; and in Alberta, 8,900,000 acres.

In nine years the government has received $2,100,000 for school lands sold. The government got only ten per cent as a first payment and five per cent each year thereafter until the land was paid for. That is, the government was getting five per cent a year on land which was increasing in value at the rate of 20 per cent a year.

The arrangement was a good one for speculators but not for the schools or the government. It would be better to have the lands. By leasing for grazing purposes the government realized more revenue each year and promoted the stock-raising industry.

Senator Loughheed said there were some phases of the situation Senator Davis had not dealt with. He proposed that 18,000,000 acres of land should be withdrawn from agricultural production and turned into grazing areas. It would mean that the area would be withdrawn from taxation.

When school land was sold it became taxable and the provinces needed the revenue for the roads and public works. The revenue by leasing would be very much less than the revenue from sales. Government lands were now leased, in some cases, at two cents an acre.

Sir George Ross said no reason could be seen why lands could not be leased for farming.

Senator Loughheed said he was certain this could not be done. Senator Ross said he was not convinced upon this point. Men with limited capital might be found who would prefer leasing to buying lands outright. The school areas had been of the greatest advantage to education in Ontario. Most of these were sold, but some had been let on long-term leases and the University of Toronto was deriving the greatest advantage from them to-day.

Sir George Ross saw no reason why the lease of the land should not be taxed. He said the University of Toronto leases were taxed. He could not understand how school lands could be leased for so small a fee as two cents an acre. Where land was worth $70 an acre it could command a rental of from one to two dollars an acre.

GRAND TRUNK, NEW ORLEANS AND ATHABASCA BEFORE COMMITTEE

Million Dollars for Improvements at Montreal—American Line Described as Trap for Unwary—C. P. R. Buys Alberta Central Charter and Will Build Two Thousand Miles

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—At the first meeting of the railway committee of the House of Commons yesterday W. H. Biggar, on behalf of the Grand Trunk Railway Company explained the company's bill to authorize perpetual debenture stock. He said the company desired to raise additional stock to the amount of $1,000,000 for improvements and additional tracks in Montreal, including probably a line from Jacques Cartier Junction to the east end of the city. The bill was reported.

H. H. Stevens, of Vancouver, objected to parliament voting money to build terminals in the United States. He moved an amendment declaring that the money must be spent in Canada.

Hon. Frank Cochrane said the government had assurances that the money would be spent in Canada. "I would not give much for that assurance," said Mr. Stevens. He proceeded to say that the operations of the Grand Trunk Pacific townsite company were nefarious. The company should spend money voted for legitimate purposes.

Hugh Guthrie said the Grand Trunk had been permitted and encouraged to build lines and terminals in the United States. It should not now be prevented from maintaining them. Mr. Stevens' amendment was then declared lost. The bill was reported.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company's bill, authorizing it to issue perpetual or terminable debenture stock to an amount not exceeding $2,000,000, was then considered, with the question of control of its operations outside of Canada. Mr. Biggar said there would be no objection, as the company had no lines or terminals outside of Canada.

Hon. H. E. Emmerson charged the New Orleans & Grand Isle Traction, Light & Power Company, Limited, with a desire to gain authorization to issue share warrants under the sanction of the parliament of Canada. The company was incorporated by letters patent in Canada, and came to parliament to have its name changed under the provisions contained in the bill.

Mr. Emmerson wished to know why they came here.

Mr. Fripp said it was a device to catch the unwary. It was worse than the G. T. P. Townsites Company.

Mr. Emmerson took objection to a bill applying for an extension of the time for the construction of the Alberta Central railway and its branches. Mr. Emmerson declared that the railway had been incorporated in 1901, and suggested that the bill be placed at the bottom of the list.

Col. Thompson, who sponsored the bill, explained that during the new year the charter had passed into the hands of the C. P. R., which company intended to proceed with the construction of the line. The railway was to be about two thousand miles long, was to run from a certain point in Alberta westward to the Yellowhead Pass, eastward through Saskatchewan and LePas to Churchill and Nelson, and southward through Moose Jaw to the boundary.

Mr. Emmerson believed that the terminal were not sufficiently indicated and Hon. Frank Cochrane agreed. "If it were not an old charter," he said, "we would turn it down."

On application of the Athabasca Northern Railway Company for an extension of time, Mr. Pugsley, counsel for the company, admitted that nothing had been done under the original charter, which caused Hon. Frank Cochrane to remark that he did not see any object in renewing charters when nothing was being done.

A. C. Boyce suggested a fine in the shape of a fee for every renewal of a charter.

Hon. Frank Cochrane said the principals of the company should appear and say what they propose to do.

J. G. Turfille, in whose name the bill stands, explained that the delay in construction was due to the difficulty of raising money in the British money market.

David Henderson said the committee should start right this session. He was opposed to the everlasting renewal of charters.

George Bradbury pointed out that the charter had been renewed several times. He said that the C. N. R. was already building to Athabasca Landing.

J. A. M. Aikens said he would oppose the bill because a renewal of it might prevent other companies from building. It was finally decided to defer the consideration of the bill until the promoters can be heard from as to their prospects of construction being proceeded with.

DIAMOND POINT TO BE LEPER STATION

INHABITANTS WILL
NUMBER ONLY FIVE

Three on Way From San Francisco and Two Now Resident There

Port Townsend, Wash., Jan. 22.—Antonio Volcano, a leper from Spokane, was brought here last night and sent to Diamond Point quarantine station. He was placed in charge of John Earle, the leper from Tacoma, who, when he was sent to Diamond Point, was made an attendant. Volcano was sent to Diamond Point quarantine station by order of the department of public health service at Washington, D. C. Surgeon Earle, in charge of this district, having been notified to receive him. The department has also instructed Surgeon Earle to receive Fred Warren and E. R. Grable, lepers, who are being detained in San Francisco and are awaiting means of transportation from that city. Warren went to San Francisco from Idaho and Grable from St. Louis, for medical treatment, not being aware of the nature of their ailment until they were pronounced lepers.

A negro ex-soldier is also at San Francisco awaiting transportation to Diamond Point as a leper.

The action of the department in sending lepers to Diamond Point is in accord with the rumors in official circles that it is to be abandoned as a quarantine station and converted into a leper station, where victims of that disease will be sent from Pacific coast points. The quarantine station will be moved to some point on Port Townsend Bay, an effort having already been made to secure old Fort Townsend for the new station.

SUFFRAGE SITUATION PRESENTS GRAVE ASPECT IN COMMONS

Sir Edward Grey May Vote Against Franchise Bill If Suffrage Amendment is Defeated—House Divided on Four Points—Cabinet Crisis May Follow

London, Jan. 22.—The woman suffrage agitation has developed an exceedingly grave aspect. The following statement was made on high authority last night:

"If the suffrage amendment is defeated, and Sir Edward Grey feels that the decision has not been arrived at on the merits of the case, without consideration of any possible danger to the government, he will feel compelled to vote against the franchise bill."

It was on the understanding that no consideration except that of suffrage should be allowed to enter into the division that Sir Edward Grey agreed to the course adopted by the cabinet in this instance, and Mr. Asquith will probably make it plain this week that that is the attitude adopted by the cabinet.

With regard to the general question of suffrage, the House of Commons may be divided roughly into four great parties, namely:

1. Those opposing woman suffrage.
2. Those supporting woman suffrage.
3. Those supporting woman suffrage in a limited degree.
4. Those who support Premier Asquith before anything else.

These are the possible main developments. In the first place, Sir Edward Grey's amendment to omit the word "male" from the franchise bill may be defeated. In the second place, it may be passed, and then all the definite woman suffrage amendments may be defeated. In the third place, one or the other of the woman suffrage amendments may be passed in committee.

Of the three alternatives, the defeat of Sir Edward Grey's amendment would cause the government the least embarrassment. Its acceptance, followed by the defeat of all the definite suffrage amendments would cause the government the most trouble and serious embarrassment since the course taken by the House would then have been most illogical. The acceptance, on the other hand, of one of the three suffrage amendments would probably involve the government ultimately in the greatest embarrassment of all.

If Sir Edward Grey carries out his threat and votes against the third reading of the franchise bill, a cabinet crisis of the greatest gravity, reaching beyond his own resignation, can hardly be avoided. In such a case the position of the other cabinet ministers who vote for his amendment, David Lloyd George, John Balfour, Augustin Birrell and Sir Rufus Isaacs, to mention only the more prominent, would be extremely delicate, and it is more than probable that his resignation would be accompanied by that of one or more of his suffragist colleagues.

Meanwhile the campaign is growing daily more fast and more furious. Paid canvassers in the outer lobby of the House are now supplementing the efforts of the members within the House to secure a victory in Friday's franchise fight. In Parliament Square the placard propaganda of the rival sand-wich women adds to the ridiculousness of the game.

Even the House of Commons post office is feeling the burden of the crusade, members receiving more literature for and against the enfranchisement of women than has ever been the case before in connection with a parliamentary proposal.

TURKEY SURRENDERS BALKAN WAR ENDED

GRAND COUNCIL TO GIVE UP ADRIANOPLE

Berlin Skeptical on Hearing News From Constantinople of Turks' Action

BULGARIA SETTLES ROUMANIA'S POINT

Naval Port Ceded at Mangalia Removes Block in Negotiations

Constantinople, Jan. 22.—The surrender of the fortress of Adrianople and the acceptance of the terms of the allies as contained in the ultimatum delivered by the European powers to the Turkish Grand Council are reported to-day. The decision to end the war and the opposition to the Balkan allies demands was reached to-day at a special session of the Grand Council of the Ottoman Empire called to give consideration to the requests of the powers. There were about 80 delegates present, including all the state ministers.

The result of the session means the end of the Balkan war, because the terms which the powers submitted to the Turkish government will meet with the approval of the Balkan allies, they having approved them prior to their submission to Turkey. The main point of the terms is the surrender of Adrianople, which now goes to Bulgaria.

The note handed to the Porte on January 17 by the European ambassadors at Constantinople called the Ottoman government's attention to the grave responsibility it would assume if by resistance to their counsels it should prevent the re-establishment of peace. It would have only itself to blame, if the prolongation of the war had as a consequence to put in question the fate of the capital, and perhaps to extend hostilities to the Asiatic provinces of the Empire.

The document continued: "That in that case the Turkish government could not count on the success of the efforts of the powers to preserve it from the dangers against which they had already warned it, and which they once more warned it to avoid."

The powers then called the attention of the Ottoman government to the fact that after the conclusion of peace it would have need of the moral and material support of the powers, to repair the evils of the war, to consolidate its position at Constantinople and to develop its vast Asiatic territories.

The note pointed out that the Turkish government could count on the efficacy of the benevolent support of the powers only so long as it deferred to their counsel, inspired by the general interests of Europe and Turkey.

The powers then advised Turkey to consent to the cession of Adrianople and to leave to them the fate of the Aegean islands.

HON. W. S. FIELDING ASKS FOR PROOFS

Reciprocity Not Antagonistic to National or Imperial Interests

London, Jan. 22.—Hon. W. S. Fielding has a long letter in the Morning Post to-day demanding that those who condemn the reciprocity agreement shall point out by actual quotation where the wrong is. "I have never been able to get it into my head," says Mr. Fielding, "that in endeavoring to open foreign markets we have been doing anything antagonistic to national or imperial interests. I sincerely wish some one would explain to me why it is all right to arrange a favorable tariff in a market 5,000 miles away and all wrong to facilitate the sale of the same product to our nearest neighbor."

HENRI BOURASSA SAYS CANADA NEEDS NO NAVY--IS LIKE THIRTEEN COLONIES

Dissatisfaction Against Borden for Advocating $35,000,000 for English Warships—Nationalist Leader Tells Americans "We Need No Favors From You"

Boston, Mass., Jan. 22.—"The feeling between Canada and England to-day is much similar to what the feeling was between England and the Thirteen Colonies in 1775, and it will ultimately end in absolute freedom for Canada," said Henri Bourassa, the leader of the Nationalists, in an interview to-day.

"The greatest question of the day in Canada is that of contribution to Great Britain. Canada is a transcontinental country and as long as we are not represented in affairs of the Empire, we should be under no obligations to the Empire. It is the same thing to us over again of your original Thirteen Colonies—taxation without representation. Anti-imperialists and indeed many other political classes, have turned against Borden because of the dissatisfaction he has created by advocating a $35,000,000 appropriation for English warships.

"Opposition arguments that we receive protection from England and should therefore contribute to it, is but the merest incident. With no representation abroad, we should no more contribute than did the thirteen original colonies. Canada needs no navy. Canada does not need coast protection, especially the mouth of the St. Lawrence.

"We don't desire to secede from Great Britain, but we would much rather undergo natural development of independence under the Nationalist idea than to have constant friction, disagreements and distrust under imperialism. Independence is the moral outcome of any colony. As far as the United States is concerned we believe that we can get along without your help. We need no favors from you," the speaker added.

Mr. Bourassa said the sentiment in favor of reciprocity is principally in Western Canada, which he thought was due to the poor transportation facilities which created a long wait between harvesting and the realizing of money for the same.

"These facilities improved," he said, "and you will no longer hear from Western Canada the cry for reciprocity."

UNITED FARMERS OF ALBERTA TALK ON ELEVATORS AT CONVENTION IN CALGARY

Calgary, Alta., Jan. 21.—Elevators provide the big question before the representatives of the 14,000 or more men comprising the membership of the United Farmers of Alberta, the annual convention of which opened in Calgary this morning. It is generally believed among those who know that the government of Alberta, through Premier Sifton, is committed to a policy which contemplate guaranteeing the bonds of some company akin to the Union to the extent of $1,000,000 for the construction of eighty elevators throughout the province.

Some time ago, and during the absence of Premier Sifton in England, a story was sent over the Western Associated Press to the effect that legislation looking to this end will be introduced at the forthcoming session of the legislature. A quasi denial of the story was given out by Acting Premier Mitchell, but the talk here to-day is that the government is going to do it, and the representatives of the farmers of the province who have lost millions of dollars worth of grain through lack of elevator facilities are correspondingly happy.

The report of the elevator commission in guarded language, helps to confirm this impression, and the talk of two of the Sifton ministers who addressed the meeting to-day, was practically an endorsement of this scheme. The ministers, however, had their views up and proffered to be talking for themselves and not for the Alberta government.

AMENDMENT TO BANK ACT MEETS CRITICISM FROM A. K. MACLEAN

Auditors Should Be Appointed by Other Than Directors of Institutions

Amalgamation as Suggested in Bill Not to Liking of Member for Halifax

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—Agreeing with Hon. Mr. White that the Canadian system of banking had worked out very well in the past, A. K. Maclean, member for Halifax, speaking in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon on Hon. Mr. White's bill to amend the Bank Act, took exception to many of its provisions, saying first that one of the great benefits of inspection was its effect on bank officials and managers. He suggested safeguards for the depositors, and thought that the appointment of an auditor should come from some other source than the directors. A staff of auditors might be a wise movement. He criticized the provision with regard to amalgamation of banks. Mr. Maclean expressed doubt as to whether the proposal to create a central gold reserve would prove to be a good one. It should be explained fully to the banking committee in order that it might be better understood. That provision would prevent irregularity to any considerable extent. He thought, perhaps, it would be better if the banks were to increase their capital. It was also possible that they were keeping an unnecessary high reserve, and thus allowing a large amount of money to be kept out of circulation.

Mr. Maclean agreed with the finance minister that the suggestion that depositors should be guaranteed against loss would be fundamentally unsound banking. In conclusion he expressed the view that the curtailment of the voting powers of the shareholders to one vote each might not be a bad thing. In moving the second reading of the bill Mr. White said it was generally admitted that the present bank act had given good satisfaction. Under its provisions great progress had been made. The combined assets of the Canadian banks are approximately one and a half billion dollars, or six times as much as in 1891, and three times as much as in 1901. Deposits are approximately one billion dollars and current loans and discounts the same, the increases in both these items maintaining the same proportion as the increase shown in the asset column. The provision in the bill calling for an external audit was designed to afford additional safeguard against fraud on the part of officials. Since the last revision of the act a number of failures had occurred, and the question of the desirability of adopting additional safeguards had been generally discussed.

"In my judgment," said Mr. White, "a system of government inspection would be ineffectual and illusive. It would give a false sense of security, and would in a large measure, relieve the directors of their sense of responsibility."

Mr. White went on to say that the very essence of Canadian banking is the loan upon personal credit, as distinguished from loans upon security, such as are given by loan companies. This was demonstrated by the fact that of assets amounting to one and a half billions, nearly one billion of the assets consist of loans and discounts. In connection with the question of government inspection, the geographical distribution of bank branches must be considered. Of these there are no less than twenty-eight hundred in Canada, divided as follows:

Ontario, 1,075; Quebec, 467; Nova Scotia, 110; Prince Edward Island, 14; New Brunswick, 76; Manitoba, 19; Saskatchewan, 37; Alberta, 25; British Columbia, 24; Yukon, 2.

In addition, Canadian banks have seventy-seven branches outside the Dominion.

Mr. White figured that the branch system made government inspection practically impossible. Owing to varied general and industrial conditions, inspectors could not pronounce, as to the character of loans. The local managers of banks are alone fully acquainted with these conditions. The safety of the Canadian banks must always rest on the integrity of the bank officers.

Mr. White said that the question of inspection was not new. Twenty years ago, Mr. Foster, when minister of finance, brought in a bill to provide for a government audit. It was opposed by Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. Edward Blake, Sir Donald Smith, now Lord Strathcona, and in the end, Mr. Foster withdrew the bill. In 1900, Mr. Fielding, when revising the act, had stated, on the reply to a question by Mr. Foster:

"I think the finance ministers in the past have found great difficulty in connection with the question of government inspection. The difficulties which then existed still continue."

Referring to bank failures, Mr. White said that since 1900 the York, Ontario, Sovereign, St. John, St. Hyacinthe, and Farmers' Bank had gone under. On the whole the record was a good one. While a number of comparatively small banks had failed, the total loss to the public was less than one-half of one per cent on the total liabilities of the banks.

Mr. White called attention to the system of bank inspection already employed by most of the large banks. It was a sort of system of internal audit. The inspectors visited the branch offices, checked over the cash securities, etc., looked very carefully into the loans, considered the statements and advised the head office. It would be impossible for the auditor appointed by the shareholders to visit every branch bank. He could audit the inspectors' returns and audit the head office.

He had considered carefully the legislation passed in 1900, and he had adopted the same provision as they had, which was that the shareholders are compelled to appoint an auditor and the government has power to employ this auditor to secure additional information. The same provision was in force in Australia. He thought that the moral effect of a firm of auditors going into an office would exercise a strong influence, and was hopeful that it would have been effective in preventing some of the disastrous failures of recent years.

Mr. White said that under the act ratification must be sent by the shareholders as to what firm they suggested as auditors. As far as he knew, there was no case on record of collusion between auditors. There were severe penalties for breaking the provisions of the act, running up to five years in prison. There was also liability for directors in the case of negligence. As the law stands at present, a director is not held guilty for mere negligence. He has to have actual knowledge of wrong-doing.

Hon. R. Lemieux asked what the punishment was for negligence. Mr. White replied three years' imprisonment. He thought, however, that the act should not be made so drastic that good business men would hesitate to go on the board of directors. It must, however, be impressed upon them that they are trustees of the depositors.

Mr. Lemieux—Is there any definition of negligence? Mr. White—The courts have never defined negligence, and it is hard to lay down a hard and fast definition. The courts would have to consider all the circumstances.

E. A. Lancaster asked if there was anything to prevent a man holding a dual position as manager and president.

Mr. White replied there was nothing in the bill. If the honorable gentleman thought it desirable he might bring the matter before the banking committee. It would be given every consideration.

E. W. Nesbitt could not see that the banks guarantee the deposits of such as they do in the case of notes? Mr. White—That would necessitate the creation of a fund of fifty million dollars. It is not sound, in my mind. It is not good law to make all the banks responsible when they have not all a hand in the management of each bank.

He thought the notes were in an entirely different position. If deposits were guaranteed banks would be more reckless in their efforts to get deposits, and the well-managed banks would be at the mercy of badly managed banks. Oklahoma, he said, was, as far as he knew, the only English-speaking place where this system was in force, and this information was that it was breaking down. He regarded it as unsound and unfair.

Colonel McLean asked if the minister had considered relieving shareholders of the double liability.

Mr. White said that he did not think it advisable to change the present plan now.

The minister added that a suggestion had been made that the Dominion make a large note issue, say from one hundred to four hundred millions. It was not clear whether it was supposed to be redeemable or irredeemable. But the lesson of inflated currency in England during the first half of the last century and in the United States until 1875 made him absolutely opposed to it as unsound finance.

DEFECTIVE FLANGES ON ENGINE WHEELS

Railway Commission Issues Bulletin Based on Inspectors' Reports of Locomotives

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—That railways are running on passenger trains locomotives that are defective, is declared in a bulletin just issued by the railway commission. The board has issued a circular to those in charge of motive power in railroads.

The board's inspectors are reporting quite a number of locomotives in service with sharp flanges on the wheels of both locomotive and tender, the flanges in many instances, it is said, being worn down to and below the master builders' standard allowance gauge.

Some of these locomotives are running on fast passenger trains, and while it is understood that freight cars and locomotives may sometimes be found with flanges on the wheels in the condition described, it does not seem reasonable nor safe to allow locomotives in service with wheel flanges worn so badly that they would not be accepted on cars at interchange points.

SIMPLE RECIPES FOR BEAUTY AND HEALTH

PROPER WAY TO SHAMPOO—In the first place, never wash the hair with soap as it makes the hair harsh, brittle and takes away the glossy look. Try shampooing with a teaspoonful of castor oil dissolved in a cup of hot water, rinsing thoroughly with clear water. This shampoo dries very quickly and is used by the best hairdressers to make the hair fluffy and lustrous. The abundant lather cleanses as no other shampoo will and checks scalp-irritation immediately. It is inexpensive, and makes shampooing a simple, easy undertaking.

TO REMOVE BLACKHEADS AND WRINKLES—To get rid of blackheads, premature wrinkles, freckles, large pores and similar facial blemishes, use the following greaseless cream-jelly which can be prepared at home at small cost: Mix one ounce of almond oil and two teaspoonfuls of glycerine in one-half pint cold water. Stir and let stand a few hours. This cream-jelly will keep in the skin soft, smooth and satiny when used as a massage-cream cleanses the pores perfectly and will restore the youthful color to a faded, sallow skin.

SAFE EYE-REMEDY—Tired, dull, inflamed eyes can be made strong, clear and sparkling by using the following simple tonic: Dissolve one ounce crystals in a pint of cold water. It is very soothing and strengthening and has enabled many to do away with wearing glasses. For granulated lids and eye-troubles generally, the results have been remarkable.

GOOD HEALTH-TONIC—To tone up the system, restore lost appetite, purify the blood and give new life and strength to a run-down body there is no better remedy than this old-fashioned, home-made tonic. Dissolve one ounce of Epsom salt and one-half cupful of sugar in one-half pint alcohol (not whisky). Then add hot water to make a full quart. A tablespoonful taken before each meal will brace you up with pure, rich, red blood and give strength and vigor to every tissue of the body. This fine tonic is a wonderful health-restorer and quickly removes skin-eruptions, sallowness and other signs of poor health.

POP PUFFY GROWTHS—With a little Epsom salt and borax, delatone to cover the hairy surface, apply and after two or three minutes remove, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This delatone treatment is harmless, unfasting and banishes hair or fuzz without marring or discoloring the skin.

PREMIER IN DEPRESSING VEIN ANSWERS OPPOSITION IN HOUSE

Had the Floor for Two Lugubrious Hours—Treats of Navy and Oriental Questions—Absolute Lack of Either Conviction or Enthusiasm—Outlines Policy

There was a funeral session at the House yesterday afternoon when the premier had the floor for well on to two hours, and in a lugubrious, inconsequent way meandered through all manner of labyrinthine verbiage out of which there seemed no exit. It might have been described as the pursuit of the obvious to no conclusion. His tones were as cold and flat as the great marble pillars around the chamber, and the applause which followed his carefully-worked up effects was of a sporadic nature and infinitely depressing. The whip should have been instructed to organize an applause brigade. It would have heartened the galleries considerably.

The speech was ostensibly a reply to Parker Williams' brilliant effort of Monday, but the riposte to every attack by the opposition was so feeble and half-hearted that even amongst his most ardent supporters the premier could work up but an infinitesimal enthusiasm. Standing with his hands clasped behind his back and one of them grasping the tails of his coat, went on his platitudinous way, unheeding and unheeded.

The Navy Question.
Very early in his address he treated of a subject on which many people desired to hear his expressed opinion, but the premier carefully avoided making any really specific statement, and confined himself for the most part to generalities and pious reflections against the fact that the navy question had been dragged down into the arena of party politics, quite forgetting or oblivious to the fact that the present prime minister of Canada was the first to take the matter up as a party issue in the year 1910.

Sir Richard later waxed sarcastic on the subject of ships Niobe and Rainbow. He took the attitude of condemning the proceeding of Sir Wilfrid Laurier whereby the ships Niobe and Rainbow were sent out to this coast. That the late prime minister of Canada had brought ridicule on the Dominion or that action, was the premier's condemnation; he had felt that a crisis was at hand and had taken this poor means of meeting whatever might befall. The premier was not magnanimous enough to admit that the real reason why Sir Wilfrid had sent the two vessels to this coast—namely, to obtain men for the service; nor was he broad enough to recall his own message of welcome when as first minister of the province he had greeted the Rainbow at its home at Esquimalt, and had punctiliously pointed out at that time the value it would prove in being the vessel in which Canadian men could be trained for the defence of the Empire.

Proceed Slowly.
Later in his harangue also he played into the hands of the opposition when he pointed out the wisdom of proceeding slowly in the formation of a defence for this coast; to get first the men trained to man the ships, and this immediately after he had rebuked the great opposition leader in the federal House for that very cause. He had every confidence that Premier Borden would in course of time enunciate some kind of a policy which would express the Imperial sentiment of the Dominion; and that the province would in due course witness the establishment in these waters of a fleet large enough and powerful enough to give that measure of protection to which British Columbia was entitled. At present we were living on the Pacific seaboard without the slightest protection of any kind.

On the previous day the leader of the opposition had quizzed the premier on the fact that his eyes were ever glued on the western horizon looking for the ships of Japan to come and make this province an adjunct of Nippon. Yesterday he made himself clear on the point.

Potentialities Attract.
"We are pointing out to the world the rich variety of our resources and the magnitude of our potentialities as a great nation of the future, while across the sea a wonderful people—the Japanese and the Chinese as well—are intensely engaged in nation building. They cannot but note the conditions which obtain in this province."
"They cannot but be interested in regard to the great resources and the potentialities of this land. They are not to blame if they take more than a healthy interest in this part of Canada, and if in an unguarded hour the naval forces of these countries, or either of them, should cross the seas to take possession of some of our desirable territory, we in Canada should have ourselves chiefly to blame."
He was not a sensationalist nor alarmist, nor had he any special predilection for militarism, but he believed, he expressed, the opinion of the whole of British Columbia in saying that it was as well to be well prepared for whatever the future might chance to bring.

Wants More Thought.
"We do not give sufficient serious thought to the position we occupy."

was his indictment. Here presently will be the terminals of three transcontinental railroads. Not only must these be regarded from the national viewpoint, but to those who have put their money into these railways and into the development of our resources we are, to a certain extent, responsible for its security. We owe it to our own people and to these investors to secure our coastline and this western territory of the Dominion the fullest measure of both sea and land defence. Where is the nation in the building with so great an apparent future as British Columbia that would evince such apathy and neglect in failing to assure protection of such immense national assets as ours?

He praised the policy of Mr. Borden in providing thirty-five millions as a contribution to the British Admiralty. It was not necessary, he averred, for them to beg favors of the Dominion, but the government of Canada could not be expected to grasp all the complicated details and prepare to meet all the various necessities and conditions without very careful investigation and continuous, exacting study. The government would have to take time and borrow assistance from the best technical service, so that it would be able to form a policy that would be in every sense worthy of the great country which it governed.

Better Terms Commission.
One piece of good news the premier did announce and that was to the effect that a draft order-in-council had been received from Ottawa providing for the appointment of a better terms commission; within a few weeks he expected that this important body would be giving consideration to the claims of Western Canada for a larger measure of assistance from the federal government. In the matter of an Indian commission, too, the premier was able to announce that a commission was soon to take in hand the investigation of reserve issues, and it will be empowered to decrease the allotment of land in these reserves if it thinks such a course necessary. While on the other hand it is empowered to increase allotments if it thinks or discovers that the accommodation is inadequate. The surplus land of reduced areas will be sold by auction and the proceeds of the sale divided equally between the Dominion and the province.

It has also been determined that in such cases as the federal government may judge meet and proper, the Indians will be entitled to, and will receive Crown grants in the same manner as white citizens.

Oriental Question.
On the Oriental question the premier was more verbose than lucid. He still advocated, he said, the white British Columbia, and still maintained that the province was entitled to that protection which hitherto she had been denied. Their case had been submitted again to the government at Ottawa and he was encouraged to feel that relief would be granted by Mr. Borden, where the last government had failed. He had no quarrel with the people of Japan or of China. He even looked with admiration upon the development of that most go-ahead little country of the Orient. But he could not help but feel that the first duty was to home. He knew that in preserving his own high standard of civilization the white man could not hope to compete with the yellow.

Service in Emergencies

An unforeseen event affecting the entire city, such as a conflagration, earthquake, accidents to light or water supply, etc., will suddenly cause a rush of calls from ten to twenty-five times greater than normal. While ample provision is made to handle the usual variation in the hourly number of calls handled, we think it will be generally agreed that the keeping of a sufficient force constantly on duty that would give an entirely satisfactory service in emergencies such as the above would be, to say the least, highly impractical.

In an emergency, reserve operators are at once called in and other unusual measures are taken to ensure a good service but, notwithstanding, some waits may occur. These waits, however, are never comparable to the inevitable ones in other business, which are accepted uncomplainingly, because their causes are better understood.

V. & S. AND CITY.

Mr. A. H. McNeill, who is president of the V. & S. Railway Company, and acts as counsel for the Great Northern, has told the council of Victoria that the latter company will agree to the payment of $75,000 in liquidation of the claims of the city and province for repayment of interest for twenty years on bonds of the Victoria & Sidney Company, but that the other conditions of the proposed settlement "are matters for the consideration of the Minister of Railways for British Columbia." To which the council of Victoria might very properly reply, "Fiddlers!"

Every person who reads the Times will remember the proposal. It was that the city and province would wipe out a claim for $300,000 provided the company paid $75,000 and practically rebuilt the seventeen miles of road between Victoria and Sidney and operated an up-to-date ferry to the Great Northern terminus on the mainland. The company is willing to pay the money, but to agree to the other conditions, Mr. McNeill says, is beyond the company's powers. Mr. McNeill, it must be remembered, speaks in the capacity of president of the V. & S. and also as counsel for the Great Northern. As an eminent lawyer retained to present the case of Victoria he would laugh such a plea to scorn if made by counsel for the railway.

The city council should stand pat on its recent decision. If the company be sincere in its recent proposals to put the road in proper condition, it must say so in the bond. The Minister of Railways has nothing to do with that, although he would have something to say, under the railway act, about what "proper condition" meant. A contract in settlement of our present difficulties with the companies can surely be made between the parties concerned without reference to either the Minister of Railways of British Columbia or the Railway Commission of Canada, provided that nothing in the contract shall contravene the laws of the province or of the Dominion.

The important part of the proposed agreement is not the $75,000 to be paid by the company, but the betterment of the road and its efficient operation as a part of the Great Northern system. Let us have the latter if we never get a dollar of the interest back. The council did not propose to settle because it expected the Great Northern would improve the road and operate it. If Mr. McNeill means what he says, the council will be compelled to reconsider its position.

WHICH IS IT?

It is axiomatic that no man can honestly support and oppose the same proposition at the same time. Most assuredly it is beyond the powers of the Premier, even on the basis of a well-developed dual personality. When, therefore, he sought to balance himself in his discussion of the navy question yesterday afternoon the effect was ludicrous. It is indeed questionable if even his most ardent admirers to-day believe that he bridged the hiatus between his trumpet-tongued demand for naval protection for the Pacific Coast a few months ago and his support of a programme which does not contemplate any such protection.

He began with an expression of regret that the question of a Canadian navy had been dragged into the political arena. This, undoubtedly, was aimed directly at the Canadian Premier and his supporters in the House, who, Sir Richard, well knows, were the first to make a party football of the subject. Following this came his demand for early naval protection for the Pacific Coast; a description of the immense interests in these waters which require safeguarding against attack; a respectful but significant reference to the growing might of the Oriental nations and the possibility of an Asiatic menace. He attempted to the measures adopted by the United States and pointed to the South American republics which were taking up the duty of defence at sea.

The implied reflection upon Mr. Borden's attitude in 1910, taken with his remarks on the urgent necessity of naval protection for this coast, conveyed the impression that Sir Richard had very little sympathy with the substitution of a cash contribution for a permanent policy as advocated by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Quick to realize this, he made a desperate (shall we say heroic?) attempt to regain his equilibrium, and blundered into a maze of contradictions, inconsistencies that would have brought tears to the eyes of a high school debating class. For instance, after proving to the hilt the case for adequate naval protection of the Pacific Coast; after making it quite clear that this should be provided at the earliest possible moment, he gravely announced that a permanent policy could not be embarked upon without "some thinking, some time, careful consideration and much study."

Surely he knows that this "thinking, time, careful consideration and much study" were given to the subject of a Canadian navy in the year 1899 by both Liberals and Conservatives in the Canadian House of Commons, and by the Admiralty in the following summer, and that Australia has now the nucleus of a splendid fighting organization and is building her own ships as a tangible result of that profound deliberation four years ago. How much time, study and consideration would Sir Richard give to the problem? Mr. Borden favors twenty-five years or half a century. What about the exposed condition of our coast-line which Sir Richard quite rightly deprecates in the meantime?

Again in dealing with this question of a permanent naval policy the Premier said there must be no experiments; no more purchases of Niobes and Rainbows. Does he not know that all navies must have an experimental stage? Australia is just emerging from it. But was he fair in his reference to the two vessels just mentioned? He knew they were purchased for training purposes and not as fighting ships. In his speech of welcome to the Rainbow when she arrived he showed that he knew what her functions were to be. Notwithstanding this he endeavored to convey the impression that they were the standard upon which the Canadian navy under the Laurier policy was to be based. We hope the Premier's lapse in this connection was unintentional. The first minister of the province of British Columbia should be too big a man to resort to deception to make a political point.

A few minutes later he said we must have men to man our ships whenever we did start with a permanent policy. But how can we train men to man the ships without having training vessels? Yet Sir Richard opposes the purchase of the Niobe and Rainbow, which were brought to Canadian waters for this very purpose.

We make no apology for the length of this article. The Premier of the province undertook to explain his attitude towards a very important national question, and it is important that the people of British Columbia should know where he stands. He did not enlighten them yesterday. Had he the courage he could have done so. But of this we are sure, when emphasizing the necessity for protection for the British Columbia coast he was most happy; it was only when he tried to shuffle out of this position for party considerations that he blundered. Why not be a Canadian first, Sir Richard, and a Tory afterwards?

IT CANNOT BE.

Colonel Sam Hughes is reported to be slated for the portfolio of railways and canals. Hon. Frank Cochrane, the present minister, is to be translated to the ineffable calm of Government House, Toronto. It is said the colonel would be glad to try his hand on the other department, but we cannot credit that. We cannot believe that he would desert his first love. He could never bottle up his martial ardor; forsake the Pegasus and Niagara manoeuvres, the salutes, the trips abroad to inspect foreign armies, the association of dazzling generals and colonels at the departmental headquarters, the pleasing duty of infusing a warlike spirit into clergymen and railroad presidents, by making them honorary heads of regiments. Only the other day he proudly announced that Canada was ready for war. At headquarters Mars is impatiently strutting up and down, nervously fingering the hilt of a sword that has rested in its sheath for a long time. The Kaiser and the Archduke Ferdinand may be holding their dogs on the beach, but they have nothing on the colonel. He, too, is ready, eye ready and not an enemy in sight.

No, we cannot believe the colonel will leave the militia department. The ghost of his South African record would rise from the vault and call him traitor. The memory of that exploit, reported by him with a wealth of stirring detail, in which, with the gallant Turpin and six or seven others, he surrounded General Villiers and a battalion of British troops, would haunt him and wormwood. It is true the faithless Villiers, after promising in writing to surrender, failed to keep his word, but nothing can dim the splendor of the colonel's achievement. If, however, what seems to us impossible actually threatens, we would commend to the colonel the heart-broken valedictory of Othello:

"Farewell the tranquil mind! Farewell content! Farewell the plumed soldiers, and the bird wars! That make ambition virtue."

O, farewell! Farewell the neighing steed and the shrill trump, The spirit-stirring drum, the ear-piercing fife, The royal banner, and all quality, Pride, pomp and circumstance of glorious war!

"Farewell!"
Last year 96,789 immigrants came to British Columbia. The number of pre-emptions was 3,655, an insignificant proportion. And yet we are told a vigorous policy of land settlement is being carried out!

By the end of next year a new factor will have appeared in the commerce of the Pacific. The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company has in view the operation of modern trans-oceanic liners between Prince Rupert and the Orient.

The Premier was on firm ground yesterday when he said that the community system under which the Doukhobors lived could not exempt them from the operation of our laws. No consideration should be allowed to stand between any people in this province and the law.

Cannot something be done to disperse the grim melancholy which broods over the legislature. The only cheerful individual in the House yesterday was Parker Williams, who, unhappily, could do nothing against the concentrated gloom of the government majority. A large grate with a bright fire in it would help somewhat. Cheer up, gentlemen; the worst is yet to come.

It is charged that Orientals are displacing the striking miners at Cumberland. We do not know that this is so, but should not an investigation be undertaken by the government to ascertain the truth of the situation? Why not let the labor commission conduct an inquiry there? If the report is declared unfounded the company will be cleared of all suspicion in this connection. If the contrary is proved, the authorities would merely have to enforce the law.

Australia is about to lay the keels of one cruiser and two more destroyers in her own yards. Why on earth cannot Canada do likewise? If we don't, we shall have to get Australia to protect us if war should break out on the Pacific. It is somewhat ridiculous to say that Australia will not be able to man her ships with blue-jackets equal to those in the British navy. May we point out that not Australia alone, which is just beginning, but no other nation in the world has blue-jackets as good as those who man the ships of Old England. But is that any reason why we should not make a start? Are we to understand that Canada should not embark upon a permanent policy because she cannot turn out sailors as well trained as those in the British navy, which has been in existence many centuries? Such an argument is preposterous. It is not the view of Lord Charles Bessford, the London Times, Lord Milner or the Right Hon. Winston Churchill.

Amendment of Hospitals Act.—W. F. Salisbury, a director of the Tranquille Sanitarium, has suggested to the provincial government that an amendment should be made to the existing hospitals act which would allow the hospital to charge outside municipalities for the maintenance of patients from such municipalities, the rate suggested being $2.50 per diem. Burns' Concert.—His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Patterson have signified their intention of being present at the Burns' anniversary concert this evening at the Victoria theatre, this being the twenty-fifth successive occasion on which the organizer has offered this entertainment to his fellow-countrymen and the citizens generally. An invitation has been given to and accepted by a number of the old ladies now resident in the Old Ladies' Home, two boxes having been reserved for their use, and there is little doubt but that those of them who are daughters of Scotland will avail themselves of the opportunity once again to hear the shrill of pipes and the picturesque songs of the North.

De-Luxe Monthly.—For some time past the public has been looking for the appearance of the De-Luxe blue book monthly which the publishers promised to publish some time early in the New Year. The first edition of this has appeared and is exciting complimentary comment by its attractive appearance, tasteful arrangement, and interesting society news. The latter forms the bulk of the contents, and is catalogued under a number of headings, weddings, engagements, bridge, music, art, the theatre and similar things, Victoria and Vancouver news being arranged separately. Among the portraits of society women, which form an attractive feature, are Lady McBride, Miss Winona Troup, Mrs. C. G. Henshaw and Mrs. M. A. McLean. The magazine also contains notes on motoring, hunting, and a short sketch of some of the province's leading men, and is altogether one of those much-needed media for general social notes which hitherto has been unknown in the province.

A LINE O' CHEER EACH DAY O' TH' YEAR

BY JON M. BIRCH-SARGES.

THE C
I shall not sit, and mope and sigh,
Because of winter and the storm,
But forth upon the way I'll hie
With eager heart to see if I Can't make Somebody warm!

The sleet and chill, and bitter air,
The blasts that bluster on the sea,
And all the notes of wild despair
Are but the call of Woe and Care
Sent forth to summon me.

So blow ye winds from yonder north!
Upon my way I'll sally forth
All heedless of your noisy rout
To do what Service lies without!

Was Anderson, Not Matthews.—In the report of the meeting of the Esquimalt council in the Times the name of Councillor Matthews was erroneously substituted for that of Councillor Anderson in respect of a statement that he opposed paying the expense account of the sewerage commission, and also in another place.

Knights of Columbus Ball.—Owing to the high demand for tickets, the committee having in charge the Knights of Columbus' annual ball, to be given on Wednesday, January 29, at the Alexandra Club, has decided not to sell beyond the limit, to avoid overcrowding. ## CREW OF POLERIC BATTLE WITH FIRE

BLAZE UNDER CONTROL AFTER 4 DAYS' FIGHT

Feared Fire Would Spread to Sulphur Cargo—Was Weathering Hurricane

Seattle, Jan. 22.—For four days and nights in storms and hurricanes, lives hung in the balance while officers and men on the Weir liner Poleric fought a fire in the bunkers. The fire started in mid-Pacific January 12. Apart from the danger of the fire itself every person on board was spared through sleepless days and nights from Sunday until Thursday morning in a grim and unequal struggle to subdue the flames before they could reach the sulphur cargo.

Following the 96-hour struggle the Poleric is dumping sulphur on her shoals lines at the foot of Seneca street, and her officers and men, still smacking of the sulphurous fumes, utter no word of the near tragedy so recently escaped. All under the iron discipline of the commander face the discipline of broken silence, but mute testimony of escaped disaster is borne by charred and splintered woodwork and furnishings in the starboard 'tween decks and in other parts of the vessel.

Sunday morning broke with the old Pacific tortured by storm and wind. At about 4 o'clock, as the Poleric, mostly laden with sulphur and tea, labored in the heavy seas, the starting news that a fire had broken out during the night in the 'tween deck bunkers was brought from below to Chief Officer Robert P. Owens, who was on watch. Owens sent word to Capt. Dye and piped on deck all hands, including the watch which had just turned in, to aid in extinguishing the flames.

Buffeted by the storm, which then was raging the Poleric pitched and tossed so much that those on board found extreme difficulty in even getting the hose to work. By the time Chief Engineer Thomas Blair and his staff in the engine room had sent an effective stream through the pumps the fire had spread alarmingly, and Capt. Dye and his officers realized that a serious position was being faced.

Toward midnight when officers and crew were in a state of heroic exertion the storm which had commenced the day was whipped to a hurricane and in the 90-mile wind which hit the heavily-laden hull it became almost impossible for those on board to keep their feet.

Fighters Lashed to Posts. At this juncture with no light but the flames from the burning coals to handle the hose had to be lashed to their posts while their mates drenched with water to save them from the heat. In this precarious work several of the men met with minor injuries, though serious accident was avoided.

All night long this work went wearily forward until the fire in its 24 hours' progress had rendered the decks and cabins of the vessel so hot that the very possibility of being able to maintain the fight was being called in question. Along with this suggestion came the thought that with the howling elements outside those on board would just as surely be doomed to destruction with the small boats in the heavy seas, as on the burning ship.

At daybreak on Monday, after a struggle of 31 hours, it was found that the flames were making rapid headway, and had run along to the main bunkers. To every one on board this meant a life-and-death struggle to prevent 20,000 bags of sulphur on board from catching fire. With the ignition of this sulphur and men felt that help would be needed to save the summer cargo.

On board the Poleric the summer cargo was separated from the bulkheads by a partition which under ordinary circumstances rendered it safe. With the steamship now a roaring furnace in mid-ocean it was another story. Heated bulkheads or the spread of the fire on the upper decks and in the main cabin, would have meant that it was necessary to fight the fire. As the men fought to save the sulphur from catching fire the fumes from the burning coal pouring in their faces became overpowering and as a precaution Capt. Dye had the vessel's head turned away from the tempest. The Poleric was bucking in order to allow the huge volumes of smoke to be flung to windward.

On Beams End. In turning from the wind the vessel came nearly being wrecked, and twice was on her beams end. Nevertheless the Poleric struggled and still was being held in the bay Wednesday night when the sea was that the fire was at last under control. It was brought to Capt. Dye. Then for the first time in all that terrible fight those on board lay down and slept where possible. For the rest of the voyage to Seattle the vessel was so hot that the officers and men could not remain in their quarters.

The Pacific coast steamship Senator is making one more trip in the "Frisco" Victoria service, and will arrive here on Friday morning from the Golden Gate. The City of Puebla from "Frisco" is due to take the same trip from Victoria yesterday, but she had not completed her overhaul, and the Senator was postponed into service.

MONTEAGLE DELAYED THREE DAYS IN SAILING

One of the longest delays a C. P. R. liner has suffered for some time in getting away for the Orient has befallen the Monteaagle. An announcement was made this morning that the steamship will not sail for Yokohama until Saturday. She was scheduled to clear to-day.

The overseas mails did not reach Montreal until yesterday, and if the train is held up by snowstorms the Monteaagle will be still further delayed. The weather on the Atlantic, which is the worst known in years, held back for several days the liner carrying the mail bags.

The Marama, Capt. Rolfe, of the Canadian-Australian line, is not leaving until late to-morrow night, the mails also delaying her. She should also have sailed to-night.

GLASS WAS STEADY DURING WHOLE TRIP

CYCLOPS MET EXCELLENT WEATHER COMING ACROSS

Lost Four Days Between Liverpool and Singapore—Has 3,000 Tons for Victoria

"The finest trip I have ever had across the Pacific, with the sole exception of a voyage in the old Ping Suey several years ago," was the way in which Capt. Arthur, master of the Blue Funnel liner Cyclops, described the run across the Pacific from Yokohama, when questioned regarding the kind of weather which fell to the lot of the big steamer.

The Cyclops came into port early this morning, after being forced to remain off William Head all night. She was unable to make quarantine before sundown, although she was driven hard up the Straits.

Capt. Arthur said that the Cyclops got away from Liverpool on time, but was delayed at her different ports of call between there and Singapore and lost in all four days. The steamship was driven at full speed in the hope that schedule might be maintained, but one setback succeeded another and the Cyclops cleared from Yokohama four days late which accounts for her delayed arrival.

Throughout the trans-Pacific stretch of the voyage the Cyclops had beautiful weather. Capt. Arthur says that the glass remained steady and not a squall was encountered. The sale of wind weather of the trip was excellent yesterday when the Blue Funnel liner was off the coast of Vancouver Island.

New Commander on Cyclops. Capt. Arthur is on his first trip to Victoria as master of a Holt liner. He was last here as chief officer on the Antioch several years ago. Since that time he has been on steamships operating between Liverpool and the Orient.

The Cyclops brought to this coast a full cargo of general freight and had 160 Chinese for Victoria. After the Orientals had disembarked the Cyclops left for Tacoma to discharge her 3,000 shipment of silk. It is expected that she will return here about Saturday to put off one of the biggest cargoes ever brought to Victoria by a vessel flying the Holt flag. She has a vessel of general merchandise to discharge at this port and will be here about four or five days. For Vancouver the Cyclops has about 5,000 tons and for Sound ports her cargo amounts to 4,000 tons.

ISSUES WARRANT FOR FREIGHT CLERK VAUX

VANCOUVER CORONER'S ACTION FOLLOWS VERDICT

Inquiry Into Cheslakee Disaster Draws to a Conclusion

Vancouver, Jan. 22.—Coroner Jeffs at noon to-day issued a warrant for the arrest of Gilbert John Vaux, freight clerk of the Cheslakee, on the charge of manslaughter. The warrant was placed in the hands of the provincial police. The coroner's jury blamed Vaux, declaring that if he had obeyed orders it was probable no loss of life would have occurred. Vaux is a youth of 29 or 31. He was formerly a butcher.

Wharfinger Richards, of Van Anda, who gave evidence before the marine court of inquiry into the Cheslakee disaster this morning, declared that the partner of John Courtenay, one of the victims, told him that Courtenay was "too full" to get out of his cabin. The indications are that the inquiry will finish with its witnesses to-day.

Mr. Richards gave evidence as to taking the lines when the Cheslakee came in the first time. When she left he did not notice any list.

"What is the opinion on the coast about the Cheslakee?" "Well, we all thought she was a good boat. We have had better service from her than from any other docking." "Did she have any trouble docking?" "No, she had an excellent landing. The passengers behaved well. The captain said he did not want a panic. Most of the passengers were fully dressed and ready to go ashore."

"Did the crew go ashore first?" "Not to my knowledge." "Did you see any in particular doing rescue work?" "Yes, the captain, pilot and purser stayed with it to the last." "Did you see the mate?" "I helped to pull him out of the water."

"Did you hear anything afterward about people being drowned in the rooms?" "Yes, a man at the hotel said that his partner, Courtenay, was too full to get out and he was drowned." "I suppose that after the accident there were all kinds of rash statements?" "Yes, principally by people who did not even get wet."

Captain Eddie took up the examination of the witness on the point regarding Courtenay's death, and Mr. Richards' reasserted that the partner of Courtenay said the latter was "too full" to get out.

ADMIRE JUDGMENT OF CHIEF OFFICER. Coroner's Jury Gives Verdict in Cheslakee Case—Two Officers Failed in Duty. Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 22.—The coroner's jury in the Cheslakee case, in which six persons lost their lives, sat all night. At 6:30 o'clock this morning the verdict was ready, all the evidence having been gone over and fully considered. Following is the verdict: "We, the jury, find that Miss Pepper and Mrs. Simpson and John Courtenay came to their deaths by drowning at Van Anda, B. C., on January 13, 1913, through the sinking of the steamer Cheslakee, and are of the opinion that had Freight Clerk G. J. Vaux obeyed orders as directed by the captain, the order given to him by Captain Steward George John Booth, when he came on deck, did not realize the danger the ship was in of sinking, for had he done so he had ample time to have all the passengers called, as per section four of the company's printed rules and regulations.

FAST PASSAGE MADE BY GERMAN BARQUE

VIGANELLA IS IN ROADS 31 DAYS FROM GUAYMAS

Was Caught in Gale Off Flatery and Ran Offshore—To Load Lumber at Vancouver

Although she was a number of days beating about in the Gulf of California the German barque Vignella, Capt. Neckel, fell in with a steady, favorable wind after rounding Cape San Lucas and blew up the coast in good time, making the Royal Roads at 3 o'clock this morning, 31 days out from Guaymas. Had it not been for the bad weather off Cape Flatery the sailer would have been in three days ago. Her passage, however, was one of the swiftest made to the Sound for some time. The tug Tye brought the Vignella to an anchorage.

Three days ago the Vignella brought up off Cape Flatery. The glass was high, and Capt. Neckel decided to turn in as the wind was fair. Half an hour later, however, a Vignella was put about and headed offshore. The wind-jammer scudded away with her sails cut down to lower topsails. When the gale subsided the Vignella commenced to work back to the Straits. She slipped inside yesterday afternoon, and the tug Tye placed a line aboard and brought her into the sailer's anchorage.

Nothing of unusual interest happened during the passage. In the Gulf of California the sailers were able to paint the ship. There was little wind in the Gulf, and the Vignella drifted about for some days.

As soon as she has dropped her ballast overboard, the Vignella will load to Vancouver, where she will load cargo of lumber at Hastings Mills. Capt. Neckel has not been advised as yet as to the port he is to take the lumber.

The German barque is a small vessel of but 700 tons, and will not stow in her holds much more than a million and a quarter feet of lumber.

ONE STARTS, OTHER FINISHES LONG RUN

Bellerophon and Cyclops Lie Side by Side—Record Shipment of Flour Goes Out

Side by side at the outer docks this morning were moored two big Blue Funnel liners, one the Cyclops, Capt. Arthur, which had just completed the long voyage from Liverpool, and the other the Bellerophon, Capt. Debb, which was ready to clear on her homeward trip to the Mersey. The latter was riding almost to her Pinnacel mark, the 12,000 tons of cargo which had been stowed in her at coast-ports had been a draft of 23 feet aft.

The Bellerophon sailed on time despite the fact that loading operations had to be suspended at times owing to adverse weather. Since the Bellerophon has been on this side of the Pacific it has either rained or snowed every day. In order that no delay might be experienced the crew of the Blue Funnel liner had to turn to and assist the longshoremen in stowing the cargo.

At the last moment the Bellerophon had to squeeze some cargo in her holds which the Osaka liner Canada Maru, sailing yesterday, was unable to handle. Included in the cargo were 200,000 sacks of flour from Puget Sound, the largest single shipment of the product ever sent from a North Pacific port. Half of the flour is consigned to Manila and the other 100,000 sacks to Hongkong. The liner also carried 44,000 cases of canned salmon for London and Liverpool, 500 tons of wool pulp for Yokohama, 350 tons of copper ore for Marseilles, France, 100 tons of hay and 100 tons of oats for Manila, 300 tons of cotton for Kobe and Yokohama, thirty automobiles for Manila, seven automobiles for Yokohama and small shipments of machinery and general merchandise for various Oriental ports.

Twenty-five Chinese embarked at this port.

'FRISCO'S MARINE NEWS. San Francisco, Jan. 22.—The American ship Erskine M. Phelps, which arrived here last month, has been purchased by the Union Oil Company, and will be converted into a tanker for use on the coast and to Honolulu.

The British steamer Bithor, under charter to Waterhouse & Company, chartered off Port here yesterday morning, and received orders to proceed to Puget Sound.

The Norwegian collier Thor left Aepulco Sunday for Nanaimo. She is under a five-years' charter to the Western Fuel Company for service on the coast.

DRUNKENNESS CAN BE CURED.

Old Fallacy That Drunkenness Cannot Be Cured Exploded.

Many men drink who desire to stop the habit. Whiskey, however, has un-dermined the constitution and created an craving that is not to be denied and the man must have whiskey or something that will remove the craving and build up the system and restore the nerves.

Samaria Prescription stops the craving, steadies the nerves, builds up the general health and makes drink actually distasteful and nauseous. It is tasteless and odorless and can be given with or without the patient's knowledge, in tea, coffee or food. It is used regularly by physicians and hospitals. It has cured thousands in Canada, and restored happiness to hundreds of homes.

Read what Mrs. G., of Hull, says of it and what it did for her. "It is four months to-day since I started to use your remedy, and created the directions and had the best of results. One week after I started using your remedy I had not drunk a glass of liquor since. I hope you will accept my heartfelt thanks. Hoping God will bless your remedy wherever tried, I remain, Mrs. G., Hull, Que. (Name withheld by request.)

Now, if there is anyone in your town who needs this remedy, tell them of it. Practical philanthropy can take no better form. If you have a husband, father, brother or friend who drinks, help them help themselves. Write to-day.

A FREE TRIAL PACKAGE of Samaria with booklet giving full particulars, directions, testimonials, prices, will be sent in a plain sealed package to anyone mentioning this advertisement.

Correspondence secretly confidential. Write to-day. The Samaria Remedy Co., Dept. 78, 49 Colborne St., Toronto, Canada. Also for sale at Hall & Co's Drug Store, Cor. Yates and Douglas Sts., Victoria, B. C.

CROSS OR FEVERISH HALF-SICK CHILDREN

Mean Their Bowels Are Waste-Clogged—Liver Sluggish and Stomach Sour

Your child isn't naturally cross, irritable and peevish. Mother! Examine the tongue; if coated, it means the little one's stomach is disordered, liver inactive and its thirty feet of bowels clogged with foul, decaying waste.

Every mother realizes after giving children "Syrup of Figs" that this is the ideal laxative and physic for children. Nothing else regulates the little one's tender stomach, liver and bowels so effectively, besides they dearly love its delicious fig taste.

For constipated bowels, sluggish liver, biliousness, or sour, disordered stomach, feverishness, or sore throat, bad breath or to break a cold, give one-half to a teaspoonful of "Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, sour bile, undigested food and constipated matter will gently move on and out of the system without griping or nausea and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful. Full directions for children "of all ages" and for grown-up plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine and reliable "Relief" anything else offered.

WHO WILL BE NEW COMMISSIONERS?

Speculation on Personnel of License and Police Commissioners for City

Now that the municipal elections are a thing of the past the next two or three weeks will see the appointment by the government of the members of the License and Police commissions in the municipalities. The nature of the appointments has been the subject of much criticism in the past, and the composition of the commissions is such that the appointments may well be called in question, as the nominees are placed in a majority of the boards, and are almost always friendly to the administration in power at James Bay.

The report of the municipal commission recently presented to the government does not suggest any change in the system, in fact the commissioners oppose the ex-officio board, which has frequently been proposed, composed of the mayor, county court judge, and police magistrate, on the ground that the latter two officials would be called upon at times to pass judicial judgment on acts of their own as administrators.

The late city licensing board consisted of the mayor, Alderman Anderson and F. W. Vincent, and the police board was composed of the mayor, Alderman Okell, and A. G. Sargison, Messrs. Vincent, Okell and Sargison were on the respective boards under Mayor Morley in 1911.

The police commissioners will have two important matters to deal with this year, those of the proposed superannuation for the city police, as recommended to them by the late board, and the new jail on Fisguard street, when the funds are available by the sale of debentures. It is to be hoped a strong board will be selected by the government, and it is almost certain that it will be composed of present and past aldermen, as appears to have been the practice in Victoria for some years.

WILL BE FIRST IN CANADA.

New Kaiserhof Hotel Will Lead the Way With Afternoon Tea Garden.

The new Kaiserhof hotel, at the corner of Blanchard street and Johnson street, includes many unique features, not the least interesting of which will be the afternoon tea gardens, which are being laid out beside it by a landscape architect, at which tea will be served to parties during the summer months. The very latest ideas in tea gardens are to be embodied in it and Victoria will be the first city on the continent where such an institution is in existence.

The appointments of the hotel itself are of the very finest, and the bar-rooms, when the walls are properly sized for the artists, will be frescoed with paintings representing famous "beer-gardens," such as the Rathskeller at Wiesbaden, Germany.

One of the best features of the new hotel is the catering department, which has a handsomely appointed kitchen with several white chefs, whose specialty is the preparation of the finer high pastries. Mr. Kosten-vader, the proprietor and manager, stated to the Times yesterday that it is the intention of the management to make a specialty of catering to ladies.

PRAIRIE PEOPLE FOR AN EARLY ELECTION

LEGISLATORS PREDICT TORIES' DEFEAT

Minister and Speaker of Provincial Parliament Say Growers Are Restive

"Let them bring on their election as soon as they please. We'll make it ten members next time and do the business thoroughly. Borden has steadily ignored the existence of Saskatchewan since the twenty-first of September, 1911, and when the next election is over the Tories won't have a seat left them in our province." The speakers were Hon. J. A. Sheppard, Speaker of the Saskatchewan legislature, and Hon. A. P. McNab, minister of works in the Scott government. Accompanied by their families they are spending their winter vacation here, at the Empress hotel. With them is Mr. J. F. Bole, member for Moose Jaw in the Saskatchewan legislature.

"Redistribution?" they continued, speaking to the Times. "We don't care what the issue is! But if we get what is our due Saskatchewan will have six new members. If we do," said Hon. A. P. McNab, a strongly built man with the fighter's pay, "we'll take the whole sixteen seats. Liberalism is very much alive in our province, and with us reciprocity is not even an ailing—much less a dead issue."

A Very Vital Issue. "A dead issue!" exclaimed Hon. J. A. Sheppard. "Reciprocity? Call it the wider market question and you'll more closely approximate the vital issue for our grain growers. The Hudson Bay route, the Panama canal route, the American market—we want all of them! And even then," he added, "we want still other markets for our crops."

"This year," said Hon. A. P. McNab, "our wheat crop is over one hundred-million bushels, say, roughly, one hundred and ten. What is the situation? The market in Canada is in such a condition that the farmers are storing it, to hold for higher prices. If we had a chance at the American market, where prices are fine, look what a boon it would be to the grain growers. Take the flax crop as another illustration. We have grown ten or twelve million bushels of flax. Where is the market for all this in the Dominion? Why, we can supply the whole of the American market if we had a chance at it. Take oats. We have a crop of between one hundred and twenty-five and one hundred and thirty million bushels. We've got to have those markets. What's more, we're going to get them! Reciprocity a dead issue? Not in Saskatchewan, Manitoba or Alberta! Call it by any name you like! What we want is a wider market."

Proud of Province. Both gentlemen are enthusiasts in discussing their province. "The finest province in the Canadian west" was the way Hon. J. A. Sheppard described it. "It is the largest in population, and easily the richest in natural resources."

"What results have you had in securing control of your own natural resources?" asked the Times, recalling the strenuous fight the people of the eastern province have made for better treatment by the Dominion government.

"Results?" Hon. Mr. McNab laughed. "Why, R. L. Boplen doesn't even let us know that he is aware of our existence! On his western tour before the last election he was voluble on the necessity for giving better treatment to Saskatchewan. We were going at last to have control of our own lands. Millions of acres of virgin prairie were to be turned over to us for development. That was during his western tour. Now we can't even get him to acknowledge our communications. Manitoba has got her better terms. So has British Columbia. But not us."

The minister of works then discussed the railway question in Saskatchewan. "We are giving all reasonable encouragement to all the railways entering the province, but only on the construction of branch lines tapping new territory. We guarantee their bonds up to $1,000 per mile, but we go no farther than that. We don't believe in allowing them free townships at all; but railways are very important to the development of the province and we give them all encouragement within reasonable limits."

They Like Victoria. The distinguished party has been travelling through the west for the past fortnight, spending last week in Vancouver. "We were going to go on down to Southern California," said Hon. Mr. Sheppard, "but the climate here has opened our eyes," he continued. "A revelation to us, this city. The climate in Victoria is delightful and from what we have seen of the people here, from the courtesies extended to us even in the brief period since our arrival, they are charming. We were greatly impressed by the evidences of prosperity on every hand as we came through the province, and we can now appreciate the accuracy of the statements about it we have heard on the prairies."

Sir Richard McBride has extended to them the courtesies of the government and to-day entertained them at luncheon. During the day they called upon Hon. William Treenman.

Edward cleaned up $10,000 yesterday. Edwin—Great. How did he do it? Edward—Oh, easy enough. Used one of these new machines for washing bank notes.

The Kaiserhof will have all its furniture, etc., installed by Friday and the whole house will be open for inspection to the public that evening.

SENATORS CONQUER VANCOUVER IN THRILLING HOCKEY STRUGGLE AT TERMINAL ARENA

Tommy Dunderdale Scores Winning Goal by Brilliant Rush in Final Half Minute of Play—Victoria Seven Shapes Up as Coming Champions—Winners Give Grand Display of Team Work—Score 5 to 4

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 22.—Defeating Vancouver in the most sensational game staged in the Terminal City this winter, Victoria went farthest ahead in the race for the coast hockey title, five thousand fans witnessing the downfall of the Millionaires. The final score was 5 to 4, with the Senators being carried off the ice, winners of the game that may give them the championship of the P. C. H. A. It was a glorious win, and that Victoria pegged another spike in the Capital City's Paterson Cup aspirations is due more to the hockey ability of the Senators than to any turn of luck. Victoria outplayed Vancouver all through the piece and the Terminals were fortunate to tie up the game in the last period. It was a grand exhibition of hockey, a repetition of the struggle in Victoria four days previous. The winners, as in that match, went right out on the drop of the hat, Vancouver being up against a stern chase, with Victoria finishing in whirlwind style.

Dunderdale's Winning Goal.
It is doubtful if a game has ever been pulled out of the fire like that of last night. There remained less than five minutes to play when Taylor would through the Victoria defence for the goal that tied up the score, and but twenty-eight seconds showed on the timekeepers' watches when Dunderdale went through alone and drove the rubber past Parr for the winning tally. The rink, a perfect bedlam early in the fray, became inhabited with maniacs as the contest waged, the last period producing continuous cheers. Dunderdale's winning goal sent the small knot of Victoria rooters wild with joy. Every man on the Victoria team massed around Lindsay, but the whistle cut the air before Vancouver had a chance to shoot. It was a great game to win and a grand struggle to lose. Victoria had much the better of the play in the first and second periods, Vancouver being very lucky to score the first goal, while twice was Victoria called back off-side.

Victoria Bettors Cop Roll.
Betting remained at ebb as that Vancouver would down the league leaders and quite a few dollars returned with the supporters of the local team as a result of the victory. Victoria fans had every confidence in the ability of the Senators to defeat Vancouver, and the team itself felt sure that it could win. Conditions favored Vancouver, Victoria having spent four hours and a half on the boat, while the home ice certainly gave the Terminals an advantage. If there was such, however, Victoria soon dispelled this superior-ity by their amazing aggressiveness, the fierceness of the Senators' attack proving the downfall of the Vancouver septette. The game should never have gone as close as it did, Victoria having the score doubled, four to two, with eight minutes to play. The closing moments of the match were heart-breakers, Vancouver throwing every man into the attack, while the Senators, after a siege of defence, broke through, Dunderdale netting the winning goal on an individual effort that Parr had no chance to save.

Senators Lead From Start.
Lester Patrick gave Victoria the only score of the first period, when he took the puck from behind his own nets and went the length of the ice for a beautiful single-handed effort. Victoria's back-checking and boring in had Vancouver beaten back on their own nets and the Terminals had to work overtime to keep the Senators from piling up a big lead. Small made it two when he took Rowe's pass from behind the nets and jammed the puck through. Victoria suffered from an aerial flight when Lester Patrick was sent to the fence for checking Jack MacDonald too hard, and Kendall battered the first Vancouver goal in from a scrimmage directly in front of the nets. Vancouver missed several chances before Manager Patrick returned to the game, Rowe putting Victoria further ahead when he scored from another mixup. Tommy Dunderdale and Goldie Proders got their signals mixed for the "boob" play that gave Vancouver their second goal, the puck dribbling out from behind the net to Kendall, who slapped it past Lindsay, while the Victoria pair were deliberating as to who would take the rubber.

A Grand Wind-Up.
There was surely some excitement in the final session, the Vancouver team imploring their favorites to tie up the game, while Victoria played a set, yet aggressive game to hold the lead. Tommy Dunderdale made it four to two on the prettiest run of the night, his perfect shot from a difficult angle taking Parr by surprise. Vancouver attacked fiercely and from a mix-up in front of the nets, Harris notched a lucky goal. "Cyclone" Taylor became the idol of the Terminal City fans when he went through alone and hoisted one past Lindsay that barely caught the corner of the net, Proders being off at the time. Less than five minutes remained to play and the crowd settled back for an overtime battle. Frank Patrick missed a chance when he over-skated the puck in front of the goal, and Dunderdale took the rubber through the entire team, beating Parr cleanly on a shot that broke the heart of the Vancouver team, the timers' whistle sending the Millionaires to their training quarters, a sorrowful-looking squad of hockeyists.

Winners Deserved Honors.
Viewing it from every angle one cannot dispute Victoria's right to the game. The Senators suffered more penalties than did the Vancouver septette, and four men were sent to the fence in the last period, yet the league leaders still had something on the home team. Vancouver's attack lacked the dash that featured the play of the winning forward line, the latter giving their best display of the year. Never has a coast team shown such checking ability as that of the present Victoria septette, and they simply mauled the Vancouver seven all over the ice. The maroon and white team never started a rush that the Victoria forwards did not break up, their use of the poke check and intercepting of passes being one of the bright spots of the night's play. Victoria's combination was beautiful to watch, the players showing absolutely no tendency to hog the puck, the disc being slapped from man to man for a shot at Parr, every time Victoria commenced to rush matters. The defence "were there" and in the matter of condition a comparison shows Victoria a much better squad of players. The winners stood the pace, while Vancouver certainly wilted. Checking Very Close.

Penalties almost cost Victoria the game, Vancouver scoring three of its goals while the Senators were a man short. The officials were rather severe on the visiting team. Frank Patrick got away with a very deliberate check of Small, while Harris should have been banished for his attempt to kick the same player in the face with his skate. The game was strenuous after the first period, the closeness of the score causing the players to wade into each other with a recklessness that stirred the men to greater efforts. Vancouver was beaten by a team that is in the very best of condition, one that has perfected team-play and back-checking, a combination that is extremely hard to beat, with the spirit possessed by the Victoria hockey squad.

Team Looks the Best.
There was no need to bring on any of the spares, and Lester Patrick will no doubt stand pat on his present lineup for the rest of the season. He could hardly improve on the team as it is now constituted. Lindsay never played better, while Lester Patrick and Goldie Proders complete the best defence in the league. Tommy Dunderdale leads the scorers, and with a worker like Poulin coupled with him in mid-ice, there is not another pair on the coast that can match this duo. Bobby Rowe and Walter Small are steady, consistent wing men, both being sturdy checkers and good shots. Every man on the team performed in brilliant style last night, the defence rushing well, while the forwards took all sorts of chances, Parr's great stopping alone preventing a larger Victoria total. Dunderdale's individual efforts for the fourth and fifth Victoria goals, coupled with Lester Patrick's single-handed effort at the start of the game, were the dazzling features of a sensational contest.

What's the Matter Here?
Vancouver is not playing at the speed at which the Millionaires started the year. Si Griffis and Frank Patrick are not the same players, while their line has lost all semblance of team play. Taylor, it is true, is easily the greatest player on the coast, while Kendall is proving a wonderful little scorer, but the team is not travelling as well as when they first met Victoria. Both Griffis and Patrick were suffering from colds, and could not put the same "zip" into their efforts, but Jack MacDonald and Harris are beginning to mar their play by rough work, the latter in particular being very wicked when at close quarters. Victoria has beaten Vancouver three times this season, and on last night's form will score many more victories over the Terminal City septette.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Victoria's Grand Win at Vancouver.
It is doubtful if a more pleasing bit of news was ever flashed over the telegraph wires than the report which was sent out from the Vancouver Arena last night that the Senators had won from the Millionaires. The importance of a win away from home in a league in which all three teams are so evenly matched cannot be overlooked. Victoria now has the other teams in the Coast League on its hip and the Senators surely look the one best bet for the championship. Right now there is not a team in the world that is playing as brilliant hockey, and the victory over Vancouver last night will open the eyes of the Mainland fans to the strength of the Capital City septette. Lester Patrick's proteges play Westminster Friday night, and while the locals will certainly make a big effort to win, the chances are overwhelmingly in favor of the Royals. They have not played for two weeks, and will be facing a home crowd. Victoria, on the other hand, has two games so far this week and will find the going rather tough to win three matches in a week; two on the road.

Senators Have a Big Advantage.
Even should Victoria lose Friday night, they will have the edge on the other clubs. Westminster and Vancouver meet in Vancouver before Victoria again plays, and then the Senators will meet the Royals at the Willows Arena. It looks as if Westminster will be the team to give Victoria an argument, unless the Royals trip up when they commence to play off their postponed games. Vancouver certainly cannot beat Victoria out of the championship, while Westminster will have to win the title at the expense of the Vancouver septette. Barring injuries Lester Patrick's team should not lose a game on their home ice. Winning these matches will give Victoria the title, with the probability of New Westminster and Vancouver breaking even for the balance of the schedule. The Senators are enthusiastic over the chances of a trip East after the Stanley Cup and Lester Patrick has promised his club the trip if they win the honors.

RUGBY DOUBLE-HEADER CARDED

A Rugby double-header with the "class" of the province as the opposing teams will be Saturday's sport feature at Oak Bay, when Vancouver and Victoria meet in a word of Inter-City Rugby features. Bruce has been received that the Vancouver Rugbyists, including the Senior and Intermediate teams will leave Vancouver Friday night. The Senators are determined to capture the third game for the McKechnie cup series and will come over the night before so as to be in perfect condition for the contest.
Teams Chosen.
A meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union was held yesterday, when the following teams were selected for the game. The intermediate match will start at 1:45 o'clock, the seniors going on just as soon as the intermediates have finished. The teams:
The teams selected are: McKechnie Cup—Fullback, Johnson; three-quarters, C. Martin, D. M. Grant, G. C. Grant and F. Gallher; halves, J. Shree and A. N. O'Neil; forwards, G. Heiney (capt.), R. Edwards, H. Wat-

NEW WESTMINSTER RINK WILL BE READY FOR FRIDAY'S GAME
Royals Expect to Have Ran. MacDonald in Line in Effort to Down League Leaders at Opening of New Arena—Si Griffis to Handle the Game

There is little doubt that the New Westminster rink will be ready for Friday night, when the Senators play the Royals in the latter club's new arena on the banks of the Fraser. Manager Jimmie Gardner stated to the Times representative after the Vancouver-Victoria game last night that the rink had been flooded, and he expected the Royals to have a workout today or to-morrow on their home ice. Gardner says that the horse show building has been converted into a very modern arena, everything that would afford additional comfort to the rink patrons having been secured.
MacDonald May Play.
The rink will seat about 3,500, while about 1,500 can be accommodated as standing room fans. This will give New Westminster a rink that will hold 5,000, and adds another artificial arena to the coast chain. The promoters hope to complete this circuit by the addition of Seattle and possibly Portland next winter. There is a chance that Ranny MacDonald, the Westminster rover, who injured his side, breaking two ribs in the last game here, will play against the Senators. He has been out to practice and will certainly go on if he can stand the pace.
Griffis to Officiate.
Si Griffis has been agreed upon as referee with possibly Allan Parr as judge of play. The Victoria team will hold a light workout Thursday afternoon, and will leave for Westminster on the morning boat, Friday. A big crowd of rooters is expected to accompany them. Seats for the game at Willows Arena on Friday, January 31, will go on sale at the Pit-Rite store on Monday morning.

"TY" DUNDERDALE'S BIG LEAD

Victoria Centre Jumped Farther Ahead When He Notched Brace of Goals
When Tommy Dunderdale wound his way through Vancouver's defence for a brace of tallies which won last night's game at the Millionaires' Arena last night, the Victoria centre jumped away ahead of the other forwards in the race for the coast scoring honors. Dunderdale is, incidentally, the first to break into double figures, and he now has ten tallies to his credit. Carl Kendall, the diminutive Vancouver centre ice star has topped Si Griffis for the position of runner-up, and he promises to give Dunderdale a race for the title. Walter Small, Bobby Rowe and Lester Patrick also boosted their totals, Victoria's forwards jumping a number of positions. Victoria and Vancouver monopolize the scoring honors, these teams dividing the first seven positions. New Westminster, of course, has played a couple of games less.

Parr's Good Record.
Allan Parr has the best defence average, but Bert Lindsay is not far behind, and the betting is even that Lindsay will have a better record than Parr before the season closes. The complete goal scoring record follows:

Player	Goals
Dunderdale (Vic.)	10
Kendall (Van.)	9
Griffis (Van.)	6
J. McDonald (Van.)	6
Taylor (Van.)	6

CALIFORNIA TEAM OUT IN THE COLD

Southern University Took Stand the Union Could Not Countenance

San Francisco, Jan. 22.—The resignation of the University of California from the California Rugby Union has been unanimously accepted. This action was taken at a meeting of the Rugby Union, and means that, save for the intercollegiate game between the University of California and Stanford University, over which the union has no jurisdiction, none of the teams in the union will play any Rugby games with California during the coming season.

The action was only taken after all the delegates of the clubs and colleges present had voiced their opinions and had expressed the sentiment that the university across the bay had assumed a stand that could not be countenanced if the union expected to live and at the same time preserve its dignity.

The annual intercollegiate game between California and Stanford will not be interfered with by the resignation.

The British Columbia teams, Vancouver and Victoria, are affiliated with the California Rugby Union through the mother body and will no doubt accept the ruling of the California Union, which further extends the isolation that the University of California will experience.

SAMMY GOOD WILL MEET CHARLIE REILLY

Vancouver, Jan. 22.—Because Ernie Barrieau failed to post a forfeit to guarantee his appearance in the ring on Thursday night against Sam Good, the manager of the Hastings Athletic Club last night called the match off and substituted Charlie Reilly, a San Francisco lightweight. According to the Hastings Athletic Club official, Barrieau can have a match a week from next Thursday, but he insists on the former amateur champion posting a weight forfeit of $50. Barrieau had promised to make 135 pounds at 6 o'clock for Good, but no articles had been signed.

SIR MICHAEL GETS A "BOOST"

Bob Brown, Vancouver Mogul, Looks for 1913 Bees to Be Pennant Contenders

"Mike Lynch will make a real ball club out of the present material that he has in Victoria, and I look for the Bees to be one of the real contenders for the Northwestern bunting this season" was the compliment that Bob Brown, the Vancouver magnate handed to the Victoria Baseball Club, at Vancouver last night. Bob is a died-in-the-wool hockey fan, and never misses a game, incidentally he is a pretty busy fellow these days, rounding up players for his 1913 Beavers.

Boosts "Our Mike." Brown thinks that the Victoria management made a ten-strike when it secured Mike Lynch to head the locals, and thinks that the former Tacoma centre fielder will strengthen the Bees just where they have always shown a weakness, in the outfield. "Lynch will win many a game by his brilliant batting and fielding, while his generalship and knowledge of the batting strength of the other clubs in the league will aid him materially in handling the Victoria twirlers this year," continued the Vancouver magnate. According to the plans, the Vancouver ball park will be a sporting palace second to none on the Coast this summer. Work is now in progress, and owner Brown expects to have everything in readiness for the Vancouver opening on April 17, when Tacoma starts the ball season in the Terminal City.

Percy Grove will probably box providing he can get his hand in shape, the entries to date shaping up as follows:

All my gold filled frames are stamped that way, meaning the best quality. All others are of little value.

It was dinner time, and the conversation turned to sport.

"Did I ever tell you about my brother Tom winning the cup in the Marston race?" said Terence to his mate.

"One cup—why, that's nothing. Mike, My uncle Dennis has cups for swimming and running, medals for wrestling, and watches for football."

"Bodad, and he must be a great athlete," said Terence.

"Begorra, and ye're wrong," replied Mike. "He's a pawnbroker."

POULTRY BODIES HAD SUCCESSFUL SEASON

ENCOURAGING REPORTS AT ANNUAL CONVENTION

F. W. Laing, Revelstoke, is New Head of B. C. Poultry Association

The annual meeting and convention of the British Columbia Poultry Association opened this morning in the Women's Building, exhibition grounds, the president, W. G. Goggs, in the chair. W. E. Scott, deputy minister of agriculture, who was to have given the opening address, was unable to do so owing to a previous engagement.

During the morning the election of officers for the ensuing year took place, this resulting in F. W. Laing, of Revelstoke, being appointed president, and J. A. McCallum, of Grand Forks, vice-president.

EXECUTIVE REPORT

The report of the executive committee for the past year was read by the secretary, J. R. Terry, and in addition to giving a report of the provincial show held in Vancouver in January of last year, reported that 25 local shows had been held during the past year. The report also announced that, owing to the number of shows among which the government grant had to be divided, the amounts received by each association was much smaller than in previous years, but to overcome this difficulty a suggestion would be made during the convention to forego the August meeting of the directors in order to curtail expense.

SECRETARY-TREASURER'S REPORT

The second annual report read by the secretary-treasurer, J. R. Terry, reflected on the continued progress on the part of the association, pointing to the manner in which the industry had grown in the province. Credit was given the local associations for their aid in fostering the poultry branch of the livestock industry.

This evening, W. A. Brown, Dominion poultry expert, of Ottawa, who was sent out by Hon. Martin Burrell, minister of agriculture, to attend the convention, will lecture on the "Marketing of Eggs." Dr. Seymour Hadwen, Dominion pathologist, Agassiz, will lecture on the subject, "Poultry Diseases," and H. E. Unton, provincial poultry inspector, will talk on "Feeds and Feeding."

It was decided at this morning's meeting that, owing to the unfortunate explosion at Nanaimo and the subsequent financial loss to the Nanaimo show, an additional grant of $100 would be added by the association to the funds of this affiliated association.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By RUTH CAMERON

A young married woman was offering an older woman the loan of a magazine.

"Are you sure your husband is through with it?" asked the older woman.

"Oh he doesn't read that," said the younger matron. "That's mine. Those are his magazines on the table."

"I must say I can't get used to your talk of 'his' and 'mine,'" said the woman of the older school. "In my day we used to call everything 'ours,' and it seems to me that word brought us closer together. Tell me, child, why should some of the magazines your husband buys be called his and some yours? Does he buy some of them especially for you?"

"No, he doesn't," said the "child" warily. "He buys his own magazines and I buy mine."

The old woman smiled indulgently. "But it's all his, isn't it?"

"It is not. My magazines are bought out of my allowance. No I won't call it that. Out of my salary that Fred pays me for doing my part of the home-making. Fred gives half of what is left from household expenses and saving to me and keeps the rest. Now do you see any reason why I shouldn't call what I buy, mine, and what he buys, his?"

"Well I don't," said the woman of the older school, with the unconvinced air of the woman convinced against her will. "It does seem to me as if married people ought to be able to have a common purse without quarreling over it. I know I'm old-fashioned, but I do like the word 'ours,' and I think a home has a better foundation when it's built on that word."

Whereupon the young married woman, realizing that they were travelling in circles, wisely changed the subject.

Which do you think is a better foundation for financial satisfaction in the home, an uncertain, indefinite "ours" (which is painfully likely to be a synonym for "his") or a straightforward square division into "his" and "hers"?

I don't suppose I need tell you which way my sympathies lie.

It is hard for an absolute monarch not to become a tyrant. It is hard for a man who is absolute master of the purse strings not to become tyrannical. And by tyrannical I do not necessarily mean stingy or selfish, but arbitrary and unreasonable. He may give with lavish generosity one day and grumble at being asked for a few cents another.

Absolute power is as bad for the ruler as the ruled.

Can the wife who has to ask her husband for the money with which to buy his Christmas present be as contented with her financial lot as the wife who is made financially independent by receiving a fair share of the surplus, be it ever so tiny, and who receives it not as an allowance given her out of her lord's kindness of heart, but as a well-earned salary for her services as home maker?

SMALL PARISHES.

The recently-issued official bluebook of the British census contains some curious figures, but it is hard to beat in regard to the population of three Buckinghamshire civil parishes. In the parish of Petsoe manor in 1901 the population was six, and in 1911 three.

In Luffield Abbey parish the population in 1901 was six, and in 1911 seven; while at Creslow in 1901 the population was five, and in 1911 eight.

Hon. F. Carter-Cotton, for many years president of the executive council in the local legislature, and formerly proprietor of the Vancouver News-Advertiser, is in the city, at the Empress hotel.

W. D. Burdick, secretary of the Province River-Canneries Association, arrived at the Empress from Vancouver yesterday. Mr. Burdick is one of the oldest pioneers of the province and very well known throughout British Columbia.

J. F. Bledsoe, proprietor of the Alberni News, and one of the best known Liberals in the province, is staying at the Empress. Mr. Bledsoe is responsible in no small measure for the development of the Peace River country.

City Engineer Rust, who has already held the chair of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers, and the American Society of Municipal Engineers, is now in receipt of another honor, having been chosen a vice-president of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Lorne Campbell, general manager of the West Kootenai Power & Light Company, which supplies power over an area of hundreds of miles for mining, and light for many towns in the Boundary section, arrived at the Empress hotel from Rossland last evening.

Some months ago Dr. Yen was commissioned to seek in America that one invention, not already known to the Chinese, which, in his judgment, would bring the greatest good to the country.

Dr. Yen declared that he considered the "movies" to be the most wonderful invention of recent years.

PREMIER IN DEPRESSING
FEIN ANSWERS THE OP-POSITION IN HOUSE

He knew of no white working men who went to Japan, and if there were any such they would not have the slightest chance of obtaining work. He was quite sure that no international complications would result from any legislation of this kind. So far as it lay in the ability of the government, nothing would be left undone to make British Columbia a white man's country.

As Touching the Doukhobors,

As to the matter of the Doukhobors, on which head Parker Williams had hurled accusations against the attorney-general to the effect that the laws of the province had not been fully enforced against these settlers, he said that while the investigation by the commissioner was in progress, he had communicated with the attorney-general urging that the work would be made easier if no further prosecutions were initiated until the completion of the inquiry.

For this reason a suspension of the law had been authorized in this one instance only. The commissioner's report had been presented and would be in the hands of the House very shortly, and members would see that Mr. Blakemore had taken great pains with his work and that his report was a document of very important character. It was not his intention either to criticize or to commend the findings as the commissioner had presented them. It must, however, be understood both by the House and the country at large, that no report could or would be permitted to come between the people and the law; and that while, for the special reasons stated, the attorney-general had seen fit to suspend the operations of the law in a specific instance, in future all the laws would be strictly enforced.

But One Law,

In all British Columbia there was but one law for all, and it was imperative that law be obeyed. The Doukhobors would get fair play and every recognition to which they were legitimately entitled, but they must at the same time observe the laws of the land or receive their just punishment.

While he was speaking the attorney-general handed the premier a letter from A. R. Eyalonka, which the first minister read as follows:

"I have the pleasure to inform you that Mr. Peter Verygin was empowered by the Doukhobor community to visit Victoria for the purpose of securing your assistance in settling the various differences between the government and themselves, but was unfortunately stopped at the United States frontier, so I came on alone. The Doukhobors recognize from your report the friendly attitude of the government, and desire to open up negotiations for the purpose of bringing about such a compliance with the schools and registration laws as will satisfy the government. They believe this can be secured along the lines suggested in your report, and I therefore write to ask if you can arrange for an interview with the attorney-general at which this and other matters of importance, including communal life and the protection of the Doukhobor property can be discussed."

Must Obey,

The House might take this letter as evidence that the Doukhobors are prepared to recognize their position in British Columbia and to comply fully with the laws of the land. He would not offer any opinion as to their abilities as agriculturalists or on the subject of their success in the development of their holdings. But whatever their status, beliefs or abilities, they as well as all others would be obliged to obey the laws strictly.

The Labor Commission,

The premier then took up the thread of his discourse with regard to the labor commission, the personnel of which had been lambasted by the leader of the opposition on the previous day. He dubbed as erroneous the statement that nominations to the board were to have been left in the hands of the British Columbia Federation of Labor. He described in detail what had actually happened. After the presentation of the resolution of the federation he had stated that a labor commission would be appointed to investigate all labor problems and conditions generally throughout the province. The labor men had asked if their nominations would be considered and the reply had been in the affirmative. Names were subsequently submitted, but no appointments had been made from these.

The premier went on to praise the composition of the commission, and demonstrated how it met both the great interests of capital and labor.

Railway Development.
The one interesting part of the whole address was that dealing with railway and tramway development of the province. He dealt in turn with progress on the Canadian Northern, the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Pacific Great Eastern. The low gradients would enable the lines to furnish cheaper and more expeditious transportation facilities to British Columbia. All the works undertaken by the Mackenzie & Mann interests were being carried out according to their agreements.

In a similar manner the electric lines were developing beyond all knowledge and he looked for an even greater advance in the year to come than in the past.

Only routine business was transacted by the House in that portion of the sitting during which the first minister was not upon his feet, this largely consisting of the advancement of petitions. The adjournment of the debate was made upon motion of Mr. C. E.

Tisdall, who will be followed by Mr. Forster, Mr. Pooley and possibly some four or five others of the government supporters, Mr. Place, of Nanaimo, hoping to close the debate.

LIBERAL WARD MEETINGS.

Four Dates Are Set, and One Has to Be Arranged—Ward Five Fixed for To-morrow.

The annual meetings of the various ward Liberal Associations will be held at the headquarters rooms, Cornmarket street, on the following dates: Ward One, January 30; Ward Two, January 28; Ward Four, Friday next; Ward Five, to-morrow night. Ward Three meeting has not yet been arranged. At these meetings officers will be elected. AUFSEAS MINE DEVELOPMENT.

Director of Silver Creek Property Outlines Plans for Year's Work.

"We are constructing a road from the transcontinental highway on Silver creek into the property and have let the contract for a tunnel which we are driving, and we expect to have the mine on a producing basis by June at the latest. We expect to strike ore within three hundred feet," said Mr. H. V. Dardier, of Hope, a director in the Aufseas gold mine on Silver Creek. We intend to have a spur built in from the main line of the Canadian Northern as soon as possible.

Mr. Dardier arrived at the Empress hotel yesterday on business connected with the mine, which is largely controlled by English capital. "Mr. Chas. Cammell, Dominion government geological surveyor, in his report for the year, has spoken very highly of the property, which gives ore running from thirteen to one hundred and twenty dollars per ton, with an average of eight dollars for copper. Now that we have transportation in that section we anticipate great mining developments round Hope, as there are some very rich prospects there which have had their development retarded hitherto by the lack of such facilities."

Mr. Dardier further announced that capital to erect a smelter near Hope, the construction of which is to be commenced in the fall, is already assured; but its erection is dependent upon the success of the Aufseas property.

He reports Hope booming and quite a little activity in real estate there. The Coquahalla hotel there, is reported to have been leased from G. I. Wilson, of Vancouver, the owner, by Mr. Hugh Springer, for three years at a rental of $5,000. Mr. Dardier will spend three days in the city before returning to the interior.

WILL HEAR YEAR'S REPORT.

Two Presbyterian Churches to Hold Annual Meetings To-morrow Evening.

The First Presbyterian church and Knox Presbyterian church will hold their annual congregational meetings to-morrow evening, when reports from the various departments of the respective churches will be handed in, these including the report of the managing board, the missionary boards, the Ladies' Aid Societies, the Sabbath schools and the Young People's Societies. The First Presbyterian church meeting will take place at 7.30, and will be opened by the moderator, Rev. Joseph McCoy, who will also open the Knox church congregational meeting at 8 o'clock at the latter place. The meetings will be of exceptional interest, as the societies will present their financial and statistical reports. After the business meetings at Knox church is concluded, the ladies of the church will serve refreshments.

Are You Drinking Pure Cocoa or Cocoa Mixed with Starch?

Cocoa is made by grinding cocoa beans and pressing out some of their fat or "cocoa butter". The removal of the excess fat leaves the cocoa more perfectly digestible.

A common way to cheapen cocoa is by adding starch.

A leading English physician says that starch added to cocoa reduces the "nutritious gluten and stimulating theobromine."

Lowney's contains no starch. It is as pure as cocoa can be made.

It is produced in our spic-and-span factory at Montreal. Lowney's Cocoa conforms with every requirement that goes to make cocoa wholesome and appetizing.

You will never learn how delicious cocoa can be until you have tasted Lowney's.

Sold by grocers. In tins—10c to 50c sizes.

Elaborate as are the arrangements for the Deutscher Verein banquet each year, the plans of the entertainment committee of the club for the anniversary of the Kaiser's birthday next Monday are more ambitious than ever.

The German Emperor will be 54 years of age on Monday, and having been for a quarter of a century a leading figure in international politics, the German colony here always sets itself out to do honor to him on his natal anniversary.

The dinner will be held as usual at the Empress hotel, and the provincial premier and ministers will attend. Short speeches are to be the order of the day, and these will be followed by a brief musical programme. The German consul, Carl Loewenburg, will preside, and he will be supported by F. W. Kostenbader, president of the Deutscher Verein, and leading Germans of the province.

PROGRESS AT POWELL

RIVER PULP MILLS

Vice-President Scanlon States That New Mill Will Soon Be Finished

"We are producing at our first mill about one hundred tons of news-print paper per day, and we expect to have the other mill, which has a capacity of one hundred and fifty tons, finished at an early date. Our product at present is in good demand both on this side and in the United States, and we sell all through the Pacific Coast country. We are having no difficulty at present in obtaining all the labor we need in our logging camps, and there is a decided improvement in the supply of men trained in the paper manufacturing business. When we first started we had to contend with the difficulty of obtaining men of this type, but we have been educating new men in the business and it is steadily becoming more widely known that we have mills at Powell River, with the result that men are coming in in gradually increasing numbers and finding work at our plant."

The foregoing briefly sums up the conditions at the plant of the Powell River Pulp & Paper Company, at Powell River, to-day. Mr. M. J. Scanlon, vice-president of the company, is staying at the Empress hotel for a few days, and expresses great satisfaction with the progress made during the past few months. Though comparatively recently in operation, the plant finds a good market for its product, and as it becomes more widely known it is expected that there will be even greater development of its business through the western part of Canada and the United States.

Mr. Scanlon is typical of the best factor in the industrial development of the province of British Columbia. A tall, strongly-built and erect man of middle age, he is rather youthful in appearance, has a most engaging personality, and unconsciously gives one an impression of solidity and strength of character. He is widely known to a great many in the western section of the province, either personally or by reputation.

Discussing the resources of the company Mr. Scanlon said: "I think that we may be said to have a perpetual supply of timber. We are taking care in our slashing to remove any element of danger from fire; in fact I may say we have reduced that risk to a minimum. The question of re-forestation we have not yet gone into thoroughly, but it is our intention to do as much as possible to secure the growth of younger trees."

Asked what he thought of the spruce supply Mr. Scanlon stated that the company has found that just as good pulp may be obtained from other varieties of timber.

NEW B. C. ELECTRIC TERMINAL.

Corner of Douglas Street and Pandora Avenue for Offices and Suburban Depot.

The British Columbia Electric Railway Company has purchased the old Pythian Castle hall, corner of Douglas street and Pandora avenue, together with property abutting on Cormorant street, and will construct on the site acquired an office building, with suburban depot for the Saanich line.

The property has been acquired from the vendors, C. F. Todd, for the block, and Andrew Wright, for adjacent properties, and it is the intention to build a ten-story block, the lower floors of which will be occupied as offices by the departments of the company. The other floors will be available for public rental, being brought into service as opportunity offers.

The terminal depot will be of the same substantial character as those at Vancouver and New Westminster of the same company.

BACKACHE-RHEUMATISM, QUICKLY VANISH

Even Most Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After a Few Doses Are Taken

Backache, urinary disorders and rheumatism are caused from weak, inactive kidneys, which fail to filter out the impurities and keep the blood pure, and the only way on earth to permanently and positively cure such troubles, is to remove the cause. The new discovery, Croxone, cures such conditions because it reaches the very roots of the disease. It soaks right into the stopped-up, inactive kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering cells and glands; neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and muscles to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism; it neutralizes the urine so it no longer irritates the tender membranes of the bladder, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped-up, lifeless kidneys so they filter and sift all the poisons from the blood, and drive it out of the system.

So sure, so positive, so quick and lasting, are the results obtained from the use of Croxone, that three doses a day for a few days are often all that is required to cure the worst case of backache; regulate the most annoying bladder disorders, and overcome the numerous other similar conditions.

It is the most wonderful preparation ever made for the purpose. It is entirely different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth to compare with it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

You can obtain an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give desired results, regardless of how old you are, how long you have suffered, or what else has failed to cure you.

SMOKING IN RINK.

To the Editor—I would like to draw public attention to a matter of importance to those who attend the hockey matches. I think I am voicing the sentiments of the majority of fair-minded people when I say that measures should be adopted to put a stop to the practice of selfish individuals smoking in the rink. I don't see why the management allow it, for besides being a nuisance to those who do not smoke, to the ladies and the players, there is a grave danger of fire, and what would happen in a crowd like the one at last night's game should fire take place? The building is all of wood, and the exits by stairs, the one from the galleries having many winds. As one of last night's crowd I hope to see conditions improved before the next match takes place.

FAIR PLAY.

Victoria, B. C., January 15, 1913.

CARELESS EDUCATION DEPARTMENT.

To the Editor,—If there is one thing more than another for which our education department is noted, it is carelessness. For instance, as you will see from the parliamentary records, it actually published in the annual school reports of 1907 that a pupil had passed the entrance examination and when questioned by a member of the legislature why the pupil did not get a certificate, it stated that it was a clerical error and the pupil had not passed. Again, it stated that the teacher of the Crofton school, who had been dead and buried in November, 1905, was working hard for the improvement of that school in March, 1906. When questioned by a member of the legislature, it stated that the department did not know that the teacher had been dead and buried in November, 1905.

This school is in the E. & N. belt, and the teacher was paid by cheque direct from the education department, so that it is possible that he is not only working hard for the improvement of that school, but he may still be getting his monthly cheques from the department. Again, if you go carefully through these annual school reports you will not find the name of the late Miss Agnes Deans Cameron in the list of certificated teachers in 1910 or 1911. On page 4 of the 41st annual public school report, just issued, you will find this definition: "A graded school consists of at least two divisions, having as its teaching staff a principal and at least one assistant." On the same page, under the heading "Grade City Schools," you will find five schools which are not graded schools. For instance, Sandon, where there is only one division, one teacher and a total enrollment of 15 scholars.

I ask you to be good enough to publish these few facts to put on guard those who do not know our education department.

OUR LETTER BOX

"The Resurrection of Lazarus" is one of the great Bible stories in motion pictures. "The Angel of the Desert"—Subjected to indignities by a shameless husband; Anne is protected by a good man. The man is driven from the mining camp into the desert by the husband and his pals. The woman goes to rescue him, but reaches him too late. Fearing to return to the camp, she empties the canteen and dies for her. "Best Man Wins" is a biograph comedy. "Rival Engineers"—Thorn and Fletcher, engineers, are rivals for the new engine. It all culminates in a sensational collision between the two engines. "Between Two Girls" is a mirth maker. "Bite Of a Snake" is a farce comedy.

Hunt Pictures. All the dogs which Paul J. Rainey took with him on his hunting expedition to British East Africa, motion pictures of which will be exhibited at the Victoria theatre, January 23, 24 and 25, were picked with great care. The main pack consisted of bear hounds that had been trained in the cane brakes of Mississippi. The second set of dogs were mongrel in breed, but scrappers of the most vicious sort. The latter, forming an auxiliary attack, bore the brunt of the battles with the lions, and did the actual tackling, the others confining their work to taking up the trail and running the beasts to cover. These would be called off when the lion was ready for a fight, and then the mongrels were unleashed and plunging into the fray would tackle the king of beasts with the ferocity of bull dogs. One or two of them were killed, but all the bear hounds escaped unharmed.

Empress Theatre. Patty Brothers, gymnasts and balancers offer a thrilling number at the Empress theatre this week. They do a number of feats while in the lion's head position. One descends a flight of stairs on his head.

The playlet, "The Fire Escape," a farcelet, is offered by Charles Deland, Mary Carr and their company. The action takes place in a hotel following an alarm of fire. The Manning Sisters open with a song accompanied by acrobatic dancing and follow with some soprano and soubrette, entertaining the audiences with her singing and her Persian art songs, representative of famous paintings. The Great Westin is an impersonator who portrays a varied number of living portraits of noted historical personages, including royalty and other characters.

Many startling results have been produced by the use of the Robinson Thermal Bath. Prominent physicians are abandoning drugs in many cases for this new treatment.

Open up the pores and the change seems almost miraculous; nerves are strengthened at once, kidneys get well; eczema, pimples and skin diseases vanish; bad colds, lumbago, rheumatism, dyspepsia, throat and lung trouble, insomnia and constipation disappear.

Every man or woman can now have a Robinson Thermal Bath at home, at a cost of but a few cents.

This can be done only by the Robinson Thermal Bath Cabinet which is a model of ingenuity. No matter what the size of your purse, you can have one of these cabinets.

The Robinson Thermal Bath Cabinets are now being exhibited, and are on sale in Victoria by C. H. Bowes, 1228 Government street.

Ask the dealer also for that great book, "The Philosophy of Health and Beauty." The regular price is $2.00, but now free for a limited time.

If you cannot go and see these cabinets, just send your name and address to-day to the ROBINSON THERMAL BATH CO., Suite 287, Robinson Bldg., "Glede, Ont." for full illustrated information, free.

BIRTHDAY CALENDAR

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

An unpleasant journey is in store for you and disappointments will occur. You should guide your conduct with the greatest care and try to foresee events.

Those born to-day will have wandering dispositions and will be disinclined to make sustained efforts to accomplish anything. Only wise care and patient teaching will save these children from aimless frivolity and shallowness.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

The attempt of the Mother Country to bind and restrict her colonies in their trade regulations was one of the chief causes of the American Revolution. With regard to her newer American provinces Great Britain, not at once, but inch by inch, receded from her old position that the needs and resources of colonies were to be exploited for the benefit of her own merchants. Until comparatively recent years, however, Canada and other colonies were included as a matter of course in the commercial treaties made by the Imperial government. But as Canada's foreign trade expanded, and as her commercial policy became more inconsistent with England's broad free trade, a change of plan seemed desirable, and in a despatch dated January 22nd, 1878, the Colonial Secretary, the Earl of Carnarvon, announced that in future no commercial treaty would be made by which Canada would be bound unless she herself assented to it. Now the Dominion would be free from any commercial treaty obligations save those of her own making. In negotiating such treaties it is the custom for a Canadian statesman to be associated with a representative of the British government, and though both sign, the Canadian takes the leading part in the negotiations.

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE

REPORT OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE ANNUAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS

TUESDAY, 14TH JANUARY, 1913.

The forty-sixth Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of The Canadian Bank of Commerce was held in the banking house on Tuesday, 14th January, 1913, at 12 o'clock. A large number of shareholders and others were present.

REPORT.

The Directors beg to present to the Shareholders the forty-sixth Annual Report, covering the year ending 30th November, 1912, together with the usual Statement of Assets and Liabilities:

Table with 2 columns: Description and Amount. Includes items like 'The balance at credit of Profit and Loss Account, brought forward from last year' and 'The net profits for the year ending 30th November, after providing for all bad and doubtful debts'.

All the assets of the Bank have been as usual carefully revalued, and ample provision has been made for all bad and doubtful debts.

In accordance with an agreement entered into in December, 1911, this Bank took over on 1st March last, the business of the Eastern Townships Bank, with headquarters at Sherbrooke, Que., and ninety-nine branches and sub-agencies, chiefly situated in the Eastern Townships District of the Province of Quebec.

There were issued to the shareholders of the Eastern Townships Bank in exchange for their stock in that institution 60,000 shares of new stock of this Bank, having a par value of $2,000,000.

In addition to the offices acquired from the Eastern Townships Bank, the Bank has opened during the year the following branches:

Branches listed: British Columbia—Rook Creek, North Vancouver, Powell Street (Vancouver), and Oak Bay Avenue (Victoria); Alberta—Athabasca Landing, Hanna, Tilley, Vulcan and Youngstown; in Saskatchewan—Elaine Lake, Laird and Lewvan; in Ontario—Brockville, Cornwall, Ingersoll, Niagara Falls, Port Colborne, Port Stanley, West End (Sault Ste. Marie), Smith's Falls, St. Thomas, Sudbury, Tillsonburg, Danforth and Broadview (Toronto), and Eglaricourt (Toronto); in Quebec—Fraserville, Maisonneuve (Montreal), Prince Arthur and Park (Montreal), Nicolet and Three Rivers; in New Brunswick—Fredericton; and in Newfoundland—St. John's.

The Directors again desire to record their appreciation of the efficiency and zeal with which the officers of the Bank have performed their respective duties.

B. E. WALKER, President.

GOOD PROGRESS ON THREE CHURCHES

Quadra Street Will Soon Be Centre of Church Life in Victoria

The three churches in course of construction on Quadra street are making satisfactory progress. The tower is under construction at St. John's church, and a large quantity of inside work is receiving attention.

The large amount of rock struck in the excavation for the First Baptist church, Fisguard street, in the vicinity of the three churches named has delayed the preparatory work, somewhat on this handsome church, which will have the largest auditorium in Victoria.

REFLECTIONS UPON RECENT CIVIC ELECTION

Labor Men See Improvements Both in Register, and in Preparation of Ballot Paper

The recent civic election and the effect of the labor vote thereon has been the subject of much discussion in labor circles. There is more or less objection taken to the method of making up a list without the addresses of electors, for although there are cases where surnames and initials are identical, the location of the voter by residence qualification would be much easier.

Another objection taken is to the form of the ballot paper. It is suggested that the lower line of the square allotted to the candidate should be a broad one, with a narrow white space before the broad line bounding the square of the next candidate.

As a matter of policy the labor men admit that too much emphasis was given to the labor question in city work, and too little to the general good of the whole of the citizens, and that a little too much insistence was made on the platform of the socialistic views of the majority of their nominees.

MR. MEREDITH COMES FROM SOUTH TO-DAY

Fourth Quarterly Report on Sooke Waterworks Will Be Presented to Council Soon

The fourth report on Sooke waterworks will be presented to the water commissioner shortly. Mr. Meredith is expected in the city to-day from the South, having come from California for the purpose of his quarterly report on the progress of the work.

The Sooke waterworks specifications require that at least fifty-five per cent. of the contract shall have been completed in twelve months from the commencement of the work, but it is anticipated that the amount will, in the judgment of the city's consulting engineer, fall below that figure.

The public is coming to the same conclusion as the water commissioner that Victoria will have to get through another two summers without Sooke water, unless some extraordinary development occurs to expedite the present progress on the big contract.

ST. PAUL'S SHOWS EXPANSION.

The presentation of a handsome engraved gold watch fob to W. W. MacIntosh and of a beautiful silver writing set to Mrs. MacIntosh on the occasion of their departure from the congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, where they have been leading workers for many years, was an interesting feature of the annual meeting of that church last evening.

Reports indicating a steady, continued progress were presented by all the various organizations of the church, but Rev. Dr. A. D. MacIntosh pointed out that the real progress in spiritual life could not be tabulated in figures.

The communion roll of 175 was $6 larger than that of last year. The total revenue of the church was $2,222. The Sunday school roll had increased from 98 to 128, with an additional 63 names on the cradle roll. The Ladies' Aid raised $31 and increased its membership to 15.

These gentlemen were elected to the board of management for the ensuing year: George McCann, William Sloan, A. W. Semple, Frank Morrison and John Gotsford.

BUSY MORNING FOR FIRST COMMITTEE

MANY MATTERS BEFORE THE OPENING MEETING

Twelve Petitions Examined by Standing Orders and Private Bills This Morning

Several petitions praying for incorporation, together with a request to amend the charter of the city of Vancouver, came before the committee on standing orders and private bills which sat in the legislative House this morning. The first petition discussed was the one asking for an amendment of the incorporation of the city of Vancouver. The various clauses of the amendment were outlined, and as they were found to comply with the standing orders, the petition will be passed up to the House at an early date. A petition was received also for a private bill to extend the powers of the Okanagan Telephone Company, allowing it to operate a telephone exchange within the county of Yale. A motion was carried that the petition be reported as having complied with the standing orders. A prayer for incorporation was the text of a petition widely signed from Fort Moody, on the south shore of Burrard Inlet. Resolved, that it be reported as having complied with the standing orders. Somewhat of a hitch occurred when the petition from the residents of Shaughnessy Heights was presented, as it was discovered that the necessary amount of newspaper advertising, in accordance with the standing orders, had not been complied with. Mr. Burns, however, was in attendance, and he explained the full circumstances of the case and the committee agreed to report that the petition had not complied with the standing orders, but to recommend also that the bill be allowed to proceed. This petition was for a private bill to incorporate as a municipality succeeded from Point Grey, under the name of this municipality of Shaughnessy. A Port Coquitlam petition praying for incorporation was shown to have complied with the standing orders, and will take the usual course. A petition to ratify and validate the Sooke Harbor Company's agreement with the city was presented; it was shown therein that the company had provision for passing 16,000,000 gallons per day into the city, and could also feed a townsite en route. The petition will be reported to the House in the usual way. To validate two North Cowichan by-laws was the object of a petition for that district; this also took the usual course. Another was from the St. Mark's Anglican hall in Vancouver, praying for permission to make rules and by-laws for that institution and to affiliate with a theological college, to borrow money without security and to enable them to better carry out their activities. They were reported as having complied with the standing orders, and the report will be presented to the House in due course. Other petitions praying for certain

DEAN REFUSED WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

Mr. Justice Gregory Finds No Reason for Discharging Prisoner Without Trial

The habeas corpus application for the discharge from prison of Charles Dean has been dismissed by Mr. Justice Gregory, who said in his judgment that no references were filed by the applicant's solicitor showing why, in the circumstances alleged, the accused was entitled to his liberty. His Lordship referred to the fact that Dean was charged with stealing $200,000 from the Bank of Montreal at New Westminster, and said that he did not feel it his duty to be astute or diligent to find means of giving him his liberty without a trial. There was a provision in the Habeas Corpus Act whereby he could apply for bail, but that was not the motion before His Lordship.

The judge said that Dean was held on a warrant of commitment which directed the jailer to keep him safely until he should be delivered by due course of law, and it was not material to decide whether an application for traverse had been made at the recent assize.

COMMISSIONER IS COMING.

Commissioner Rees, head of the Salvation Army in Canada, is coming to the coast again. He will be accompanied by Col. Rees on this occasion.

The dates set are February 8 and 9, and the commissioner will speak on the new general of the army, Bramwell Booth. On the Sunday afternoon he will be at the Crystal theatre, with the premier, Sir Richard McBride, in the chair. In the evening there will be a meeting at the Citadel.

Col. Rees is in relation of the commissioner, but is head of the men's social work of the army in the Dominion. A number of officers will visit Victoria on that occasion, including Brigadier and Mrs. Green.

FIRST MEETING OF CITY SCHOOL BOARD

Will Organize This Evening and Appoint Members of Committees

At the school board meeting this evening the principal business will be the election of chairman. Committees will also be appointed.

It is not expected that Trustee Staneland will be in a position to take up his work in connection with the board for some time. He is now in California recuperating.

The board will probably have to determine its policy with regard to the financial stringency, both in its aspect concerning the buildings under construction, and the structures scheduled in the new schools by-law. Architect Watkins has been preparing plans for the new schools, and these designs will be ready for the board by the time that money is available to make a beginning with the work. The money available will be expended by the middle of February, and then some new method must be discovered to proceed with construction.

How She Discarded Unsightly Complexion

(Mona Morrow in Town Tattler.)

"How often I exclaimed as I beheld my ugly complexion in the mirror, 'if I only could tear off this skin!' And, do you know, I've learned how to do that very thing? Not to actually remove the entire skin all of a sudden; that would be too heroic a method and painful, too, I imagine. The worn-out cuticle comes off in such tiny particles, and so gradually—requiring about ten days to complete the transformation—it doesn't hurt a bit. Day by day the beautiful complexion underneath comes forth. Marvellous! No matter how muddy, rough, blotchy or aged your complexion, you can surely discard it by this simple process. Just get an ounce of ordinary mercerized wax at your druggist's, apply nightly like cold cream, washing it off mornings.

My wrinkles I got rid of by an equally simple method. By dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half-pint which hasel and bathing my face in the solution, every line completely disappeared. First the finer lines, finally even the deep crow's feet, vanished entirely.

"CAME IN LIKE A POLICEMAN."

New Definition of Rough Behavior Given By Jewish Witness.

Describing the rough and violent manner in which he maintained Roy S. Goldberg entered his premises two days ago, Henry Sher informed Magistrate Jay in police court this morning that Goldberg came in "just like a policeman."

He accused Goldberg of assault and submitted a broken finger as "Exhibit A." Both are tailors, and the difference arose over some work done by Sher for Goldberg. The description of the scuffle differed in essential details as given by the two principals, and his worship decided both were too excited to be sure just what happened. The charge was dismissed.

R Warning to Beer Drinkers

Read every word in this opinion. Remember it is not our statement, but the deliberate opinion of a great scientist working for perfection in beer.

Pure beer is food and tonic. G. Beck (Bierbrauer, 1881, No. 8) finds that

"beer in light bottles deteriorates more quickly than beer in dark bottles when exposed to the direct sunlight."

His tests were continued for three weeks and proved that beer in light bottles had acquired a very disagreeable, nasty taste and flavor and was unfit for consumption.

The Brown Bottle with Schlitz is not a fad. Its use is based on scientific principles.

We have adopted every idea, every invention, every innovation that could make for purity.

Schlitz is sent to you in Brown Bottles to protect its purity from the brewery to your glass.

Why don't you make Schlitz in Brown Bottles your regular beer?

Hudson's Bay Co., Distributors, Victoria, B. C.

See that crown or cork is branded "Schlitz."
