Kassie Mowry & CP He Will Be Epic Claw Their Way To San Antonio Rodeo Title

By Tanya Randall

In 2021, CP He Will Be Epic didn't want any part of the San Antonio Rodeo. If the 17-hand, gray gelding could have found a snowbank left over from Snowmageddon, he would have hidden in it.

"It terrified him so bad," Mowry recalled. "He was so incredibly scared of the noise. He wouldn't go in the arena. He froze up back there and it took someone on another horse and on foot to drag him into the arena!"

Now $22,500 later, Mowry and "Will" are the 2023 San Antonio Rodeo Champions. The $180,000 rodeo, held February 9-25, was limited to 50 contestants and the champion was determined by most money won through a tournament style format.

"We clawed our way through that one," said Mowry, who went through the Wild Card Round, because Will got off to a slow start.

"This year, I thought with the (NFR) under his belt that he would be more ready," she laughed, "But it was the same old Will. He ran with his ears pricked forward and was so afraid to run up into the crowd."

The arena, set up on the San Antonio Spurs' basketball court in the AT&T Center, has open panels instead of walls so horses can see the crowd.

"You literally can see the crowds' faces when you're running the barrels," she laughed. "Especially, when you went as slow as I did my first go. I saw everybody!"

Mowry said that Will, a 8-year-old Epic Leader gelding out of the Dash Ta Fame mare Percilla, needs a lot of convincing to get closer to the people.

"He's not a barrel hitter," she said. "He was more comfortable being closer to the barrels than the people. He's a big scaredy cat."

The all-time leading rider from Dublin, Texas, used her second run in her bracket as a fact-finding mission.

"I put a Loomis on him," she explained. "Never in my life have I ran him in a Loomis. I don't even ride him in one, but I needed it to break him free. He was so rigid because he was scared. He was really wanting to look to the outside at the crowd and I needed something that when I pulled the inside rein, he would get soft and round out more. It did work well but we weren't super-fast because it made him too round. It did help set me up for my third run."

Mowry's third run was that same day in an evening performance and she was first on the ground. She went back to Will's preferred bridle, a big mullen-mouthed O-ring.

"It was all fresh in his mind," she said. "I packed a little bat. I normally never do that with him. It was mostly to keep him focused on me—ears back instead of forward. When the ears are back, he's running. When they're forward, he's not!"

They won the third round of their bracket with a 13.87 to win $2,500, and it was enough to advance her to the semifinals. Unfortunately, she drew a really salty set in the semis and simply got out run.

"I wasn't that far off," said Mowry, a three-time NFR qualifier. "I just got outrun. It was a tough set."

She had one last chance to advance to the Finals through the Wild Card, but she didn't have high expectations because she was last out on the ground.

"I didn't feel very confident that he could advance with that caliber of horses that far down on the ground," she admitted. "Every little thing helps when you're talking about a tenth of a second. I thought we were a long shot, but the round still paid really good. I thought for my long term goal, just getting enough money won to go to the winter rodeos again next year, it paid enough to run him and try."

They won the Wild Card in 13.96 to add $5,000 to their earnings and advance to the Finals with $7,500.

"I was just beside myself that he could pull that off," she said. "To clock what he did where he was on the ground...it was so close. The times were just so close."

Running third on the ground after a rake at five, Mowry and Will turned in a 13.95 to win the $15,000 check to seal the championship.

"I thought he made a really nice run," she said. "He didn't feel like he was running really hard, but I felt like he was super-efficient. He got through it. Everywhere he put his feet, he was moving forward. There wasn't really any stutter steps. He came back tight on the first barrel and rounded out to get around it. He did not want to hit it. I was really proud of him. It's not easy for him when he's in a pen that small. He really did everything right and tried his heart out."

The victory now has Mowry sitting sixth in the WPRA World Standings with $27,302, and Will's lifetime earnings are now over the $385,000 mark.

"I just love him," Mowry said of Will. "Whether he wins or not, I just love the horse. He does his best and that's all you can ask. He's never ornery. If he does something wrong it's usually because he's truly scared. There's always a reason and I know that with him. It's always fun when I get to run him."

Mowry wanted to thank her fiancé Michael Boone for keeping her positive throughout the rodeo.

"He was always 'You've got a shot! You've got a shot!'" she said. "He made me more confident and more positive. I was a bit of a Negative Nancy, knowing my draw and that Will's not the fastest thing in a set up like that. It's always nice to have somebody there supporting you and giving you the push. He's always that for me."

She also wanted to thank the San Antonio Rodeo committee for the drag half way through each performance.

"That was huge," she said. "The rodeo could have turned out a whole different way without that. I thought the hospitality was great and the volunteers were so helpful. We had a nice time. We'll be happy to go back."

Mowry's next rodeo is Rodeo Houston, where she's out in the last set near the end of March. She's hopeful that Famous Ladies Man, last year's reserve champion, will be making the runs.

"He just got the go-head yesterday at the vet," she said. "I don't have much time, but I'm hoping he'll get to run there. He doesn't feel like he's in that bad of shape; he's just soft muscled. He was doing 'a lot' in his stall!"

Jimmie Smith-Tew & A Valiant Nicky Capture Second Winter Rodeo Title in Tucson

By Tanya Randall

Former National Finals Rodeo qualifier Jimmie Smith-Tew captured her second winter run rodeo with a $10,130 victory at the La Fiesta de los Vaqueros, held February 18-26 in Tucson, Arizona. She won the National Western in Denver in January. Both titles came aboard A Valiant Nicky, a 10-year-old Jud Little-bred mare that belongs to Kyle, Deda & Merritt Potter. Tew rode Nicky some in 2021 and has had the mare back in her barn since the fall of 2022.

“That mare is phenomenal,” said Tew. “I think everyone sees that. I’m glad I have her back, for sure.”

Nicky, the daughter of Valiant Hero, out of the NFR qualifying mare Nicky Brick House, by Brick House Bouncy, excels inside and out. She worked exceptionally well in Tucson, nearly sweeping the rodeo.

They were the last barrel racers in the first progressive round, running in the last performance on Saturday. They clocked a 17.10. “She really laid a run down,” said Tew, who also qualified for The American Contender Finals on March 9 in Arlington on the mare. “It was a full on Nicky run. It was flawless.”

Tew was a little concerned about their time though because she was worried the timers didn’t work.

“It was really windy,” she explained. “Jennifer Kalafatic was right before me and right when she was going in the alleyway the timers blew over. They set them up but they didn’t work. Her time ended in an 0 so I knew she got a hand flag. I told (Wrangler official) George (Gibbs) at the gate, ‘Those timers aren’t working. Can you please try to reset them.’ They did. It stopped on the screen, but I’m assuming I got a hand flag also because my time ended in an 0. I don’t know if I did or not.”

The next afternoon, Tew and Nicky were second out after the midway performance drag. They’re second-place 17.45 gave them the winning aggregate of 34.55.

“The ground was a little heavier that’s why all the times were a little bit slower,” she said. “It had rained that morning, but the ground was really good. She just made another really great run. I was just trying to keep her up and maybe made her a little bit freer by the barrels that run. She did awesome!”

The victory put her in the WPRA’s Top 15 with $18,457.

“I’m not rodeoing this year,” the McDade, Texas, barrel racer insisted. “I came to Tucson and entered so I could visit my grandma. I do so every year.”

Tew’s mother’s family is from Arizona. They lost family matriarch, Ruth Naugle, two weeks before the 105-entry, $22,500-added rodeo. She was grateful to get the win in her great-grandmother’s memory and have her grandmother, Pat Naugle-Daniels, witness her victory.

Naugle-Daniels got to watch her granddaughter compete at the NFR in 2020 when it was held in Arlington, Texas, due to COVID. The trip nearly cost her life.

“She got COVID really, really bad when she got home,” Tew explained. “She was intubated for 12 days. They were like, ‘Say your goodbyes over the phone,’ because that was when they wouldn’t let you visit or anything. Thankfully, she's a fighter. She was very lucky."

Although Naugle-Daniels is considered by Tew as her "city grandma," she's very invested with her granddaughter's rodeo career.

"It's funny because she has spreadsheets and she keeps track of where everyone went and how much they won each week and what horses they rode," chuckled Tew. "She watches the Cowboy Channel 24-7."

Jamie Montano & Hesa Mr Moonflash Set Pace at Las Vegas Xtreme Mini Million

By Tanya Randall

Jaime Montano and her 7-year-old gelding Hesa Mr Moonflash ("Diego") took top honors at the Xtreme Mini Million, held February 21-26 at Horseman's Park in Las Vegas. They won $9,295 between the Mini Million itself and their individual open race earnings.

"Every run he makes, I'm just in shock," said Montano, who calls Las Vegas home. "He's just amazing. He's the biggest gift I've ever had."

Montano and Diego were a little long on their first run, a 15.513, but won the 2D in Friday's race.

"The first day, he sat down on the first, hit himself and pulled a shoe," she explained. "It kind of took him by the first. Then coming off it, he was kind of lost because he is still green. I had to get him back over and across to the second."

At home that night, she talked things over with her parents, who had come down to the race from their St. George, Utah, home.

THE RUNDOWN w/ Jamie Montano

Hesa Mr Moonflash ("Diego") 16.1 h, 1,200 lbs.

BIT: Short shank three-piece Merrill usually; Ed Wright Lifter this weekend.

SADDLE: Masters

SADDLE PAD: 5-Star Equine

LEG GEAR: Professional's Choice or Iconoclast on all four

SHOES: Aluminum on all four; shod by her father Vince Montano.

FEED: Total Equine

HAY: Grass, alfalfa mix

SUPPLEMENTS: Adequan

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Chiropractic care, massage, Acuscope; Lame-A-Way products post run

CONDITIONING/TRAINING REGIMEN: No barrels during the week. We just do a lot of riding around, just a lot of loping to keep him fit and keep his air up. Every once in a while if I need a tune up, I'll set up four barrels and do little drills, but very rarely does he see a barrel.

THANKS: Her parents Vince and Kathy Montano for their constant help, Carole Strickland for always being a phone call away and her hauling partner and "emotional support human" Jordan Mevius.

Her parents Vince and Kathy Montano for their constant help, Carole Strickland for always being a phone call away and her hauling partner and "emotional support human" Jordan Mevius.

She also wanted to thank the Xtreme crew, especially Dana Burns and Destiny Shaw.

"The fact that we get to run these horses for the kind of money that's out there now is just amazing," she said. "Dana and Destiny are so awesome. They make everything so easy. No matter what facility they're at, they keep the ground so amazing. They're phenomenal. I can't say enough good things about these races. The payoffs are great no matter how far down you are."

Her dad, Vince, is a retired jockey and racehorse trainer, who still handles the farrier duties for his wife and daughter. Her mother, Kathy, still competes and was $1,100 from making the NFR herself in the 1990s.

"My parents told me to get out of my head and just go make my run," she said. "I watched the videos where I had done really well on him and I just tried to focus on making my run. He just went out there and cleaned house for me."

They had the fastest time of the event to win Saturday's Open and win the Mini Million for a $5,313 check.

"He's a freak of nature," said Montano of Diego. Their 14.799 set a new arena record for Horseman's Park. It was their second arena record in the last 30 days, having dropped the Boulder City arena record from a 14.9 to a 14.6 earlier in the month. "There are no words for me to describe how amazing he is and how grateful I am for him."

At the 2021 NBHA Las Vegas Super Show, Montano began her search for another horse in earnest.

"The little mare that I had been running had done really well, but I was telling my mom that I needed something that could really run, so I could make mistakes and still clock," she said. "Back in 2017, a good friend of mine had said you need a First Moonflash and I had been searching for one since then. So, at that race, I had like 10 friends in the stands searching on their phones. I was like, 'Everyone get your phones out! We're looking for a First Moonflash!' Nobody found anything."

That night, she woke up in the middle of the night and searched on her phone again and found Diego with Carole Strickland.

"I went on Facebook and he was the first horse that popped up," she said. "I screenshot it and called her first thing in the morning. Two days later, I flew to Oklahoma. I tried him and was in love. She had him just lightly loping the pattern. When I tried him, I asked her if I could breeze him through and she said, 'I guess. It's now or never.'"

By National Finals Rodeo sire First Moonflash, Diego was out of the stakes winning Royal Shake Em, Three Ohs Wild mare Royal Wild Time. He ran on the track for his breeder David Wisdom and lit the board three of his eight starts. He was a stakes-placed finalist, having finished third in the North Dakota Quarter Horse Association's Futurity. Strickland picked him up as a 3-year-old from the Heritage Place Fall Mixed Sale for $8,000.

Shortly after purchasing Diego, Montano got sick and had to have surgery which was followed by a nasty case of COVID.

"I was down for a couple of months," she said. "When I got better I started riding him every day at home, taking him slow. I didn't really show him the pattern a ton. I took him to three time onlies and entered him in his first race in January (2022). He won his first race by 4/10ths of a second. I was like, 'What! Is he for real?' He's kind of been on a roll ever since then."

Montano, a hair stylist specializing in extensions and color correction in flamboyant Sin City, is hoping that Diego will make her a rodeo horse.

"I bought him with the hopes of going to the NFR, making a run for it," she said. "My main goal is to have a horse that lasts a long time, is very confident and wants to do it, so I've really been taking my time with him. This spring I'm going to dip my toe into the rodeo world and see how we do and get him seasoned."

Winning the 2023 Permit Finals provides a bonus for contestants.

Each event winner of the Permit Finals, Oct. 7-9 in Waco, Texas, will secure entry into RODEOHOUSTON® in 2024.

"The PRCA has made a concentrated effort to better support permit holders by establishing the Permit Finals. We are excited to join in that effort and promote these up-and-coming contestants by inviting the 2023 Permit Finals Champions of Waco to Houston in 2024," said Dr. Chris Boleman, President and CEO of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

PRCA CEO Tom Glause says this presents an incredible opportunity for the Permit Finals winners to compete against the best of the best.

"The Permit Finals gives our young, up-and-coming contestants a chance to showcase their skills as they prepare to take the next step in their ProRodeo careers," Glause said. "The Permit Finals winners will now have the opportunity to compete against ProRodeo's biggest stars at RODEOHOUSTON®, which is exciting."

The Top 10 contestants in the permit standings will qualify to compete in the Permit Finals in Waco, with three go-rounds of competition determining the champions.

Stetson Wright delivers record-setting ride with San Antonio saddle bronc riding title

Stetson Wright reset the ProRodeo record books a year ago with an historic $927,940 earned, as well as his sixth and seventh PRCA World Championships.

The Milford, Utah, cowboy hasn't missed a beat in 2023. Heading into the finals on Saturday at the San Antonio Stock Show & Rodeo, Wright was sitting No. 1 in the PRCA | RAM World Standings in both the saddle bronc and bull riding.

Three hours before the finals, the roughstock athletes drafted the animals they would ride in the final go-round. Wright was toward the back end of the draw but got the perfect dancing partner in The Cervi Brothers' Ricky Bobby.

In 2021, Wright secured his first saddle bronc riding world championship on that same horse to the tune of 93 points in Round 10 of that year's Wrangler National Finals Rodeo. It was a matchup he knew could carry him to the win in the Alamo City and that's exactly what happened.

His eight-second ride was good enough for 92.5 points and the new San Antonio Stock Show & Rodeo arena record.

"There wasn't much left to pick from, but he was the one that I wanted anyway," said Wright, 23. "I actually won my first world title in the saddle bronc riding on him. So, he means a lot to me, and I just figured let's do it again."

Wright knew with the stock up Saturday night, and the cowboys getting on them that he was going to have to be special to take home the coveted San Antonio buckle. The top four finishers in the saddle bronc riding all registered 90-point scores or better.

"Everybody had stacked picks in our pen tonight," he said. "I know I won and all, but I would've lost the ranch because all my money was on Ryder. That could have went either way, his ride was outstanding."

In total, Wright earned $44,750 in both events while in San Antonio. He said one of the keys to his success is going down the road every day with people who love winning just as much as he does.

"Like I've said before I travel with winners, they make me a winner," Wright said. "I get a lot more excited when my brothers and uncles are doing well too." Stetson Wright earned $44,750 in saddle bronc riding and bull riding in San Antonio.

Other winners at the $1,353,600 rodeo were bareback rider Leighton Berry (93 points on Frontier Rodeo's Gunfire); steer wrestler Jesse Brown (3.1 seconds); team ropers Dustin Egusquiza/Levi Lord (4.1 seconds); breakaway roper Shelby Boisjoli (1.7 seconds); tie-down roper Riley Pruitt (7.2 seconds); barrel racer Kassie Mowry (13.95 seconds); and bull rider Jeff Askey (90 points on Pete Carr Pro Rodeo's Bayou Bengal).

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

When we excel in life, in anything, it's because we gave it our attention, our time, our effort, our natural ability. Obstacles won't stop us. We put it first place in our life. Our marriage, our children, our job. We have to fight to keep those things that have value, right?

As Christians, the number one thing in our life should be God. Yet, so many times, we get so busy doing other things that He gets pushed right down to the bottom of the list. We skip church. We are going to ... fill in the blank). And because we did, we're tired.

So, on Bible study night we are exhausted. Surely God will understand. I know of a guy that said he wants to come to Church at the Barn but it's a bit of a drive.

For 15 years, I team roped with that same guy all summer. Believe me, in Wyoming, you drive to get to any event you enter! I can't ever remember hearing him say the roping was too far... You see, if we start making excuses, any excuse will do!

I heard a pastor ask his congregation this question. "If you can't spend an hour or two with God every week in His house, how in the world will you ever be able to spend eternity with Him in heaven?" That is a very good question!

This week, ask God to show you where you might have your priorities mixed up!
