

Gulf Croton

Croton punctatus

Almost a shrub, this low-growing plant grows in compact rounded clumps a few feet across. Leaves are a silver-green and are slightly fuzzy along with the stems. Flowers appear in small clusters and are a nondescript green in color. Berries are produces that are equally green. This species native habitat includes sandy dunes along beaches. Provides year round interest.

- Perennial - Grows 1 foot - Found on sand dunes, coasts

Jan	Feb	Mar	Apr	May	June	July	Aug	Sept	Oct	Nov	Dec
-----	-----	-----	-----	-----	------	------	-----	------	-----	-----	-----

Flowering Time