

Exploring bisexuality research: From biphobia to bpositivity?

A talk and discussion
by Nikki Hayfield

Nikki Hayfield is a Senior Lecturer in Social Psychology at the University of the West of England (UWE), whose research focuses on bisexualities, pansexualities, and asexualities.

You can read more about Nikki's work here:

<https://people.uwe.ac.uk/Person/Nikki2Hayfield>

Celebrate Bi Visibility Day 2022 on Friday 23 September 2022 by joining this lunchtime webinar at 12:00 - 13:00

Hosted by the Diversity Trust

In this talk, Nikki introduces bisexuality research and considers the recent turn from biphobia to bpositivity. She begins by exploring how biphobia came to be developed as a concept in the mid-1990s and discusses key findings from research on biphobia and bisexual marginalisation. She then highlights the small body of research that has focused on positive aspects of bisexual identities and bpositivity and considers what insights these studies might offer on bisexual people's lives and experiences.

BSL Sign Language Interpreters will be signing the webinar.

To book please email info@diversitytrust.org.uk

Please note the cut-off date for bookings is Thursday 22 September 2022 at 1pm

E: info@diversitytrust.org.uk

T: 07720 294 991

W: www.diversitytrust.org.uk

 Find us on Twitter @DiversityTrust