National Dong Hwa University

(NDHU)

No. 1, Sec. 2, Da Hsueh Rd. Shoufeng, Hualien 974301, Taiwan, R.O.C.

The Indian Institute of Foreign Trade (IIFT), Delhi, India and National Dong Hwa University (NDHU), Hualien, Taiwan agree to establish formal academic cooperation in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth herein.

In recognition of the common academic interest shared by the Indian Institute of Foreign Trade and National Dong Hwa University, the objective of this agreement is to establish, maintain and enhance educational interaction between the said schools.

The Indian Institute of Foreign Trade and National Dong Hwa University have agreed on the following terms for the exchange program between the two institutions, effective as of the date of signature.

Exchange of students

1. The objective of this program is to provide students at both institutions with an opportunity to complete part of their studies at a foreign location, thus gaining valuable international experience.
2. Each year a small number of students (minimum of two) from National Dong Hwa University will take courses at the Indian Institute of Foreign Trade for one semester and ideally an equal number of students from Indian Institute of Foreign Trade will take classes at National Dong Hwa University. The exact number of students to be exchanged will be determined as part of this agreement. Each institution will keep a record of the students sent and received in any given year; and will strive to maintain a balance of students exchanged on a biannual basis.
3. Exchange students will be permitted to enrol in any course offered by the host program/institution for which they are qualified, subject to requirements imposed by their home program and subjects to space being available.
4. Following the term of exchange, the host institution will send a formal report to the home university regarding the course of study and performance of each exchange student. Grading will be applied according to the system used by the institution where courses are taken. The grade conversion from one system to the other will be determined by the exchange student's home institution. Each institution agrees that credits successfully earned at the host university will be fully transferable to the home institution, subject to the maximum limit on transfer credits allowed by the home institution and to the applicability of the courses taken by the students at the home institution.
5. Representatives from each institution will exchange regularly their respective academic calendars and other information relative to registration in courses and attending the host institution for the term of exchange. In addition, the host institution will provide exchange students with all necessary pre-registration materials, including a schedule of classes and course descriptions as available, to allow course selections and pre-registration before students leave their home institution.
6. Under this agreement the enrolment of students at the host institution is limited to one semester. This does not preclude, however, that a student may apply to the host institution for admission outside this exchange program (under the regular admission conditions of each university).
7. The home institutions will be responsible for screening and selecting students for this program and for ascertaining that each participating student is academically qualified and is proficient in the language of instruction at the host institution to benefit from a course of study at the host institution. If necessary, the exchange student will enrol in an intensive language course at the home institutions prior to going abroad or in one that is offered by the host institution as available.

8. The home institution will provide the host institution with the names of the participating exchange students, their academic qualifications (if so requested), and their preferred set of courses prior to their enrolment at the host institution.
9. The host institution will attempt to secure housing for students who desire such accommodations but in no event is either institution obligated to provide housing for any exchange student. As is customary, both institutions will assist the exchange students in this regard to the fullest extent possible.
10. The participating students shall pay normal tuition and fees to their home institution, in accordance with that institution's policies. Neither institution shall make charges upon the other or upon the exchange students for tuition or application fees.
11. Exchange students are fully responsible for all expenses (except host institution academic fees) during their attendance at the host institution including books and other necessary course material fees, housing, meals, transportation (round trip air and local ground), and personal and medical expenses. Prior to term of exchange, the host institution will provide the student with an estimate of the expenses to be expected during the period of attendance at the host institution.
12. The participating exchange students will be required to carry adequate health insurance and to provide proof to the host institution that their insurance will cover the costs of health care during the period of exchange prior to starting classes. In the event that students are unable to provide such proof, they will be required to pay for health insurance available at the host institution since neither host institution is able to provide health care without such coverage.
13. Each exchange student shall be responsible for obtaining a visa and related travel documents necessary to pursue studies at the host institution before departing from their home countries. Both institutions will assist as necessary in satisfying host site visa requirements and other necessary formalities for the visiting students.
14. In the event an exchange student withdraws for any reason from the program of study prior to completion of same at a host institution, the withdrawal and refund policies of the student's home institution shall apply.
15. Students participating in the exchange program will receive the degree of the program in which they are enrolled from their home institution if and when the home institution's degree requirements are satisfied.
16. Obligations of this agreement pertain to the direct participants under the program of exchange. Neither institution will be responsible for expenses incurred by spouses and families of visiting students.
17. No monetary considerations will be exchanged between the institutions who are parties hereto.
18. This agreement shall in the first instance be valid and binding for a term of five (5) years from the date of signature and shall be extended with the written approval of both parties. Should either wish to terminate the agreement, it must notify the other party in writing one year prior to date of termination.
